Board Approves Relocation — Tables Finalization — Purchases Service Contract

Following a thirty-four minute closed Executive Session, the Lee County Board of Supervisors held their monthly meeting Wednesday morning, September 2. The board was unanimous in making the following actions:

The Lee County Board of Supervisors approved the relocation of the Lee County Extension Office. That office is presently located in the Harris Building. This move is expected to save the county $5400 annually in rent, plus about $1500 yearly in electricity bills, plus telephone service bills (no amount given), for a total of at least $6900 annually.

The move, when completed will place the VPI Extension Service in the present County Registrar's Office and the adjacent office used by two members of the County Clerk's Office. The Registrar's Office will be moved to rooms located below the Lee County Jail. The personnel and records of the County Clerk will be moved to basement rooms accessible by a stairway in the County Clerk's Office.

In further action, the board appropriated $3,000 to the Pennington Gap Rescue Squad at the request of Don Scott. These funds will be used for operational expenses.

The board also approved the purchase of a one-year service contract with John son Controls, of Johnson City, Tn. The $2600 contract will cover the expenses of servicing and repairing the air conditioning of the Courthouse.

Tabled until the next regular meeting was a motion to accept a finalization of agreement for the purchase of the Woodway site for the building of a new high school. If the board had approved the motion, the county would have been "locked in" (required) to purchase the site, according to County Administrator Wilson.

The board also approved the transfer of three used automobiles from the Sheriff's Office to the Board of Education. After repainting, these cars will be used in Driver's Educational courses. If necessary, court approval will be obtained before the interagency transfer is made. A fourth automobile has already been transferred to the County Building Inspector.

Sheriff's Department Is More Modern, Efficient, And Effective

Computer Aids Local Police

The Lee County Sheriff's Department now has the latest piece of crime fighting equipment on the market.

After three months of documenting the need for such a machine, and several months of waiting for approval and its installation, the department has received a Racal-Milgo Teletype Computer. The computer's value is listed at approximately $12,000.

Sheriff R.V. Chadwell stated that, "We're making every effort in updating the department. With it (the teletype computer), we've got immediate contact with any department, town, county, or state, in the U.S. - except Hawaii."

A computer check may be made by entering a Vehicle Identification Number, a tag number, or serial number of a stolen item, a person's name, a social security number, or a date of birth. Within seconds, the computer readout will give a car owner's address, if stolen, if a lien exists, or if a warrant has been issued against the driver.

The day after a state police training session, a stolen vehicle was recovered in Lee County due to the information received from the teleprinter. Sheriff Chadwell stated, "the teleprinter will be the most help to the officers in the field - where it's needed most."

The computer's main sources of information are: Washington, D.C.; Virginia State Police Headquarters in Richmond, and the National Crime Information Center in Phoenix, Arizona. A routine license plate check usually takes less than ten seconds on a Virginia license plate.

Since the computer is hooked into a national net work of terminals, the department can receive information on any crime or

Jewels Returned By Mystery Caller

The $16,000 worth of diamonds and ruby rings, believed to have been stolen from Renee's Fashions on August 25, were returned to store owner, Bob Mullins, under mysterious circumstances.

On Wednesday, September 2, around 9 p.m. Mul lins received a phone call and was told if he wanted his jewels returned he must drive his car to a designated spot, leave his car unlocked, and walk away for a certain length of time. Mullins left immediately.

After following these directions, Mullins returned to find a case with the jewels lying in the front seat. Mullins stated he did not know who made the telephone call.

"I really want to thank the people involved in getting the jewels back," Mullins said. "I'm especial ly grateful to the (Lee County) Sheriff's Office and all the others who worked so hard on this case - Seargent Wells (of the Virginia State Police), M.O Radcliff (of the Lee County Sheriff's Department) and (Pennington Gap Town Police) Curtis Minton. They've all done an outstanding job."

As the NEWS stated in that earlier edition, the purchase of a monitor is required by pediatricians before a baby may come home and there is no other way to raise the money other than through dona tions from the public.

We are aware of how difficult it is to reach one more time into your wallet or purse to make another donation, therefore we have contacted the managing editor of THE POST in Big Stone Gap, Bill Hendricks, who has volunteered his time and effort to help raise the necessary funds from his readers in the Big Stone Gap area. (Christina's paternal grandparents are Wise County citizens and her maternal grandparents are Bruce and Loleeta Carter of Seminary.)

Gospel Sing Friday To Assist — Beta Sigma Phi Operation Fund

Little Christie Nicole Vanhook was born on April 11, 1981 at Lonesome Pine Hospital in Big Stone Gap to Dale and Lisa Vanhook, her grandparents are Mr and Mrs. Gene Vanhook and Jenaine Harman of Appalachia. The doctors soon discovered little Christie had a rare birth defect that could be cor rected only with surgery The parents do not have the money or insurance for this surgery, so the Zeta Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi of Big Stone Gap will be raising funds to help with the expenses, they are asking if you have a little love to share with four month old Christie.

James Jenkins is spon soring a benefit sing at Tri County Auction, in the old Jasper school building located in the corner of Lee County, Friday, September 11 beginning at 7:30 in the evening. James has invited many gospel singing groups, if you have not received an invitation, consider your group welcome.

The families that do not attend Friday night will miss one of the greatest singing experiences of a lifetime, gospel songs are an inspiration and when they serve such a great need as raising funds for little Christie Nicole Vanhook you will be doubly rewarded, says Jenkins.

Bring your love offering and share with someone less fortunate, also see pretty little Christie, one day perhaps she will walk out on that same stage and say "thank you."

God heals, and he gives the doctor and knowledge to perform surgery, but expenses have to be paid. Help her, urges Jenkins, no admission charge, just your love offering.

Christie Vanhook

Christie was born with a rare birth defect known as Cruzone syndrome. This is a rare craniofacial birth defect which causes her skull to grow abnormally and asymmetrically. She possesses a mixed type of craniosynostosis, a condi tion in which premature closure of one or more of the cranial sutures occurs This problem which is ex tremely rare in the general population is usually treat ed in a craniofacial center such as the University of

Lee County — Reunion Sunday

In Noblesville, Indiana, a Lee County reunion has been planned for Sunday, September 13 at Forest Park to bring those Lee Countians together that long for the hills "back home" ..... where a handshake, song or a brief embrace is all that is needed to bring a smile to the face or a tear of pleasure to the eye.

Plans will be made to share more happy hours in Lee County and perhaps a few will remind relatives and friends that they want their final resting place to be Lee County.

Many former Lee Countians have been brought "back home". Two recently were Mrs. Helen Wainscott from Florida and Arthur T. Burchette from Bristol. They worked, shopped, reared their families and worshipped here, evidently enjoying the years. They were both members of Pennington Gap First Baptist Church, giving their time in support of a cause they believed in.

Mrs. Wainscott was employed by Lee General Hospital. She and her husband, B.H. working with Dr. G.B. Setzler, (now retired), and others helped lay the foundation that has now expanded to Lee County Community Hospital, a very valuable asset to Lee County. New medical services and personnel have been added and now a new building planned for the foreseeable future. Only a few Lee County residents did not know and respect Mrs. Wainscott when she left her desk at the hospital.

Mr. Burchette was for twenty-four years clerk of Lee County, he wasn't referred to very often as a politician, but being elected three times as clerk, he surely must have been a politician with Lee County always first. He was serving as supervisor-at-large when he and his wife, Iris left for Bristol to make their new home.

They and others left an indelible footprint in Lee County yesterday, those of us who have the responsibility to shape Lee County now, will we do as well tomorrow?

Remember Lee County is yours and mine, and all those former Lee Countians who wish to return.

Tobacco Cutting Machine

Martin Miles, left and Larry Burke are shown operating a tobacco cutter on Wallen's Creek near Stickleyville. The tobacco cutter is a three wheel tractor costing less than $4,000. It has two fingers which run on each side of the tobacco stalk and a saw which cuts the tobacco about 2 inches from the ground. Miles and Burke were averaging 4 sticks of tobacco every 10 minutes. They will probably get faster as they become more familiar with the tobacco cutter. If all the indications are correct, we will have a tremendous tobacco harvest this year.

Charlottesville Medical Center. A team of plastic surgeons and neurosurgeons treat such defects.

If Christie's defect goes untreated it can cause severe deformity of the skull and facial bones and can produce mental retardation. As the brain grows rapidly in the first six months of life it cannot expand evenly and thus, the bones of the head and forehead may appear deformed. Blindness and neurological complications can result if the sutures are not surgically opened between the second and sixth months of life.

Christie's surgery has been scheduled for September 15 at the University of Charlottesville Medical Center. Dr. John Jane and Dr. Barry Zide will release the cranial sutures to relieve the pressure on the rapidly growing brain. In a second procedure weeks later they will again open the skull to reshape the remainder of the bony deformity. This must be done in two separate procedures simply because a small child can only withstand a certain amount of blood loss. Christie will be hospitalized approximately two weeks for each procedure

She will be seen by the doctors on a follow-up basis two and six weeks following each operation. It will take approximately two months for the swelling to subside after each operation. Follow-up will frequent in the first year and annually thereafter. She may require more surgery when she is older if it is apparent that her craniosynostosis is not totally corrected.

The surgery little Christie will require is very expensive and Dale and Lisa do not have insurance to cover medical expenses. The Beta Sigma Phi sorority has set up a fund to help with little Christie's expenses. Help is greatly needed from all civic organizations, churches, and individuals in the area to assure that Christie will lead a normal life. Financial help is needed before her operation on September 15.

Won't you share your blessings that God has given you. Share a little love with little Christie Vanhook. Send your donations today to Beta Sigma Phi, Little Christie Vanhook Fund, P.O. Box 813, Big Stone Gap, Va. 24219 or call 523-2225 or 523 3161.

she will have days, weeks, or possibly months to wait until you realize that you know that you never made an effort.

In the July 15 edition of the Powell Valley News, a story about a Lee County baby that needed a breathing monitor assisted in the raising of over $800. In that story it was stated that, "Hopefully, we shall not need to buy another (monitor), since the two monitors will be available to any future S.I.D.S. baby in the county."

On Wednesday after noon, September 2, Mrs. Barbara Ashburn, chairman of the Lee County March of Dimes, reported that a third Lee County baby had been diagnosed as having Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (S.I.D.S.).

Our hope was not fulfilled and the two monitors previously purchased are still in use.

Unlike other charitable contributions you may make, the funds raised for this effort will remain in Lee County. Like the other two monitors, the equipment will be maintained by the community hospital and be available to other Lee County babies with S.I.D.S. Any money raised in excess will also stay in the county to aid other families.

Tax deductible donations for this cause should be made to The March of Dimes and mailed to: Barbara Ashburn, P.O. Box 132, Pennington Gap, Va. 24277. The price of this monitor is also $800.

Lee County has already experienced one "crib death" this year.

This machine will not cure S.I.D.S., but it will make alert the parents when breathing stops, and they must wake the child or begin cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

These unique machines have only recently been put on the market (many medical supply warehouses do not carry them), but it is the only method we have of preventing another "crib death" in Lee County.

S.I.D.S. is the major cause of death in infants after the first month of life. In the U.S., about 6500 babies die of S.I.D. syndrome each year, an average of two per 1,000 live births. Since this malfunction is not hereditary, there is no greater chance for it to occur in one family than in another and it cannot be predicted or prevented. The age at S.I.D.S. death is usually four weeks to seven months, however, most doctors require an infant to use a monitor for at least a year and sometimes for as long as two years.

If you wish to know more about this syndrome, you may write: National S.I.D.S. Foundation, Inc., 310 So. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60604; or Council of Guilds for Infant Survival, 1800 M Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, or contact your public health facility, or ask your doctor.

criminal in the country. Simply by entering a person's name or social security number, the computer will report any warrants against the individual within minutes.

Lieutenant Charles Janeway pointed out the geographical location of Lee County makes it "a crossroads for all sorts of criminal activity. Traffic flows in and through the county from three states Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. The cooperation of our police is necessary in working with Tennessee, Kentucky and adjacent Virginia county and state law enforcement agencies. The teleprinter will greatly speed up the flow of information so that the Sheriff's Department can assist fellow law agencies."

Lieutenant M. O. Radcliff, Deputy John Martin, Deputy Brenda Ball, and Karen Morrison each made comments about the increased effectiveness and efficiency the department now has, thanks to the teleprinter. All of them agreed that this machine was greatly needed in Lee County.

In addition to aiding county deputies, the teleprinter is also available for use by local town police and to state troopers in the area. Prior to the teleprinter installation, the law enforcement officers in the county had to contact Gate City by telephone and request information. Naturally, the Gate City department placed their own needs first and Lee County's needs second. Sometimes, this resulted in as much as two hours of waiting for critical information.

Another grant has given the department its own office copy machine. The Minolta EP-310 copier was a grant from the State Department of Corrections and is worth approximately $4,000.

Previously, the Sheriff's Department secretary had to leave the office unattended for several minutes while she went to other offices to make copies. Now that the office has its own copier, the on-duty officers, as well as secretaries and dispatchers, are able to make copies of arrest reports, warrants, etc., at any time of day or at night when other offices are closed.

Both grants, the copier and the teleprinter, are the result of several months of documentation by the Sheriff's Department of the need for the equipment from the state. These two grants, plus the VASAP police cruiser and the repair of the jailhouse plumbing, has resulted in the Sheriff's Department updating its facilities and capabilities for the service and the protection of Lee County's Citizens.

Jr., made a motion that building permits be issued to FHA Home Loan applicants which will be valid until the applicants receive their loan and six months after construction begins. The motion was carried unanimously.

The board also approved a $25 fee for a Building Soil Erosion Control permit. This fee will go toward repairing and cleaning any road damaged by soil erosion during the construction of a new building.

The board agreed to meet again at 9 a.m., September 9, when it is expected that County Administrator Wilson will present a five election district rezoning plan. The rezoning is required following the 1980 census which showed an increase from 20,321 to 25,956 in population of Lee County. Wilson met with Scott Pettit of the Richmond Division of Legislative Services on Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning to verify the new plan. Legislative Services is designated by the General Assembly to aid localities in re-districting plans.

Died September 9, 1980

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true
Oh, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore.
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face.

Extension Office Offers Inexpensive Energy Conservation Ideas

Virginians searching for practical, low cost solutions to rapidly rising energy prices don't have to look for as help is as close as the nearest Extension office.

"Everyone wants to reduce home energy bills with little expense," said Samuel P. Bowen, Virginia Tech professor and assistant director of the Virginia Center for Coal and Energy Research. Although this usually can be done, it takes a knowledge of how a house uses energy, and some detective work

"The Energy Extension Service will provide that knowledge and guide Virginians who are ready to take steps to reduce their energy bills. The program will emphasize inexpensive conservation measures which are less known than insulation and storm window installation," Bowen continued

The Extension specialist said that following a year's work at Virginia Tech, materials have been developed which provide more than 100 different low-cost methods for home energy conservation improvements

One agent from each of the 109 extension offices has been trained to supply information on home energy use. The local offices also have been supplied with question and answer books, fact sheets which offer energy saving tips, an energy bibliography and a source book which can lead consumers to detailed information on a wide range of energy saving topics

"Access to these materials is as simple as seeing or calling your nearest Extension agent, says Bowen

The newly created Energy Extension Service is jointly sponsored by the Virginia Cooperative Extension Service and the Energy Division of the state's Office of Emergency and Energy Services. The program is supported by a grant from the United States Department of Energy. Immediate information can be obtained by calling your local Extension agent or the Virginia Center for Coal and Energy Research at (703) 961-5038

Letters To The Editor

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Last Wednesday evening, for reasons still unknown, my neighbor walked over between his house and mine, put a shotgun to his head, and took his life.

My wife, Janice, who is eight months pregnant, and my two small sons were home alone because I had to work late that evening. Janice, upon hearing the shot, ran out to see what had happened and found my neighbor lying in a pool of blood. She quickly gathered the boys into the house and locked the door, not knowing if the man had shot himself or been shot. She frantically telephoned the Pennington Gap Police Department to report what had happened. Because we live outside the Pennington corporate limits, the police department spokesman told my wife the incident was out of their jurisdiction and would have to be reported to the County Sheriff Department. Almost overcome by the shock of what she had witnessed, Janice asked the policeman if he would call the Sheriff's Department for her. He refused!

My wife had to be hospitalized overnight to calm her down and keep her from going into an early labor. My question to you and to the Pennington Gap Police Department is why did that policeman refuse to make a call to help a woman who was so obviously overcome by what she had just experienced? It was always my understanding that a law enforcement agent is someone dedicated to protecting and aiding the private citizen while upholding the law, not someone who turns his back on a fellow human being in a time of need. Granted, the officer was a Pennington Gap Police Officer and the suicide was out of his jurisdiction. However, a life had been lost, and another deeply affected by a tragedy. Couldn't this officer have extended a helping hand to a woman is such obvious distress? After all, a phone call was all she was asking of a man whose job is to uphold law and order and assist the public. That is an officers job. Or is it?

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir

I would like to locate some of my mother's ancestors. My grandfather, Jefferson N. Wilson left Virginia about 1878 for Missouri with a couple years stopover in Washington County Arkansas.

With him, he brought his wife Sarah Arnold Wilson and their eight children, one being my mother. He left behind his first family of children -- by then grown and probably married.

They were: Alexander B. born 1844; Richard, 1847, Elmina, born 1848 and Andrew J. Wilson born 1851. In 1860 they lived in Lee County but later moved to Scott County -- near Pattonsville.

Any descendants of above mentioned Wilsons please write me. Be sure to tell me the connection.

Thank You

To whom it may concern

I am writing concerning our girls sports at Pennington High School. First, the girls Junior Varsity Basketball, I don't understand why these girls don't get any recognition. They don't have enough uniforms for one thing and another thing they aren't furnished with duffle bags for what uniforms they do have.

The cheerleaders didn't even cheer for them last year because they said they were only suppose to cheer for the varsity. So who is responsible for ways to raise money for these girls? We need to find out why the girls in J.V., Varsity, Girls Track and Volleyball don't get any recognition in anything they do. We have a great group of girl athletes at PHS. So lets support them as well as the boys.

We have great coaches that have worked hard and long hours with these girls. So lets show them we appreciate by supporting these girls.

Monday night was "Meet the Bobcats Night," what about our junior varsity, and varsity basketball teams, why weren't they recognized along with the football team. They have put in a lot of hard work and effort also.

Signed by
Wanda Lundy and all concerned parents of all girl athletes of PHS

Pension Offset May Affect Spouse's Social Security

People working in a Federal, State, or local government job not covered by social security should know that the pension from this work could affect the social security benefit they were expecting to receive as a husband or wife, R.L. Kelly, social security manager in Norton said recently.

This is because the social security benefit for a husband, wife, widow, or widower will be reduced dollar for dollar by the amount of the government pension. This offset will not affect the amount of the government pension or the amount of any social security benefit the person receives based on his or her own work covered by social security.

In addition, Mr. Kelly said, the law provides an exemption to some people. A person is exempt from the offset if:

*He or she is eligible to receive a Federal, State, or local government pension before December 1982 even though he or she does not apply for it, and

*He or she meets all the requirements for wife's, husband's, widow's, or widower's benefits in effect in January 1977. At that time, a man had to have been dependent upon his wife for more than half of his support to be eligible as a husband or widower, and a divorced woman's marriage had to have lasted 20 years, rather than the 10 years now required for her to be eligible.

The purpose of the offset is to prevent windfall payments to retired government workers who have their own pensions and would also receive social security benefits as a spouse or surviving spouse, he said.

In addition, the offset will not apply if the person's government job is covered by social security on the last day the person works.

More information about the government pension offset can be obtained at the Norton Social Security office. The phone number is 679-2404.

OUR SHEPHERD GOD

Psalm 23

This, the most beautiful, loved and used of all the Psalms, is as precious today as it was when it was written.

Possession Of The Believer – Psalm 23:1

David derived great satisfaction from the fact that the Lord was his present and personal possession. Being a good and faithful shepherd himself, David knew the duties and responsibilities of a shepherd. All that David was to his sheep, the Lord was to him, and far more. He rejoiced that the Lord would never forget, fail or forsake him. He had the assurance that his Shepherd would supply his physical, intellectual and spiritual needs, because His riches were unsearchable, His love was unchanging and His faithfulness was unfailing. David found great satisfaction in the fact that the Lord knew him personally, loved him devotedly, supplied his needs bountifully, and guided him daily.

Provision For The Believer - Psalm 23: 2-5

Sheep have no care as to what or where they shall eat or drink, for the shepherd chooses the pastures and locates the water. Nothing proves his ability more than his knowledge of where the green pastures are located and where adequate supplies of water can be found.

Inasmuch as the Lord was his Shepherd, David knew that rest, relaxation, refreshment and revitalization would be provided for him each day. When sheep go astray, the shepherd goes after them and brings them back. Likewise, when Christians go astray, our Lord restores them to fellowship and effective service.

When illness brings a child of God into the shadows to him the Lord says: "My grace is sufficient for thee." Those who are called to go down into the valley of bereavement because their loved ones are removed from them can find encouragement in the words: "Yea, though I walk through the valley."

Another valley into which people go this Psalm calls "the shadow of death." Loved ones can neither keep a child of God from entering this valley nor accompany him through it. Only the Good Shepherd can accompany the children of God as they go through the valley of the shadow of death. With the assurance of His presence and companionship there is no reason for complaint or fear. The fact that "Thou art with me" is a positive guarantee that all will be well. His presence with His own is a certainty. Comfort is also provided for the believer - "Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." The rod refers to authority and the staff speaks of aid.

Verse five portrays a banquet table prepared for us by the Lord in the presence of our enemies, but in perfect security from them. God cares for His children providingly, affectionately, faithfully and constantly. Our cups will continue to overflow with His grace, mercy and blessings as we keep on living for Him.

Prospect Of The Believer – Psalm 23: 6

God expresses His goodness to His children in His wonderful acts of mercy in His dealings with them. Goodness has ever been the root of which mercy has been the fruit, or the former has been the cause and the latter has been the effect.

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Is refunding worth the time and trouble?

By June Fuller

"You make refunding seem so easy," Lois said as we stood in the checkout line "But if I value my time at a few dollars an hour, I don't think that it's worthwhile '

I was too busy to debate the matter with her When I stand in line, I'm getting myself organized'

But Lois didn't have the last word I let the cash register speak for me

The cashier deducted $8 75 for my coupons and $24 for the free-product certificates I received last week My supermarket specials saved me more than $20

I walked away with more than $100 worth of food and other items for a little more than $52

But Lois did make a point that I would like to answer So I hope she is reading this

Yes, my refunding does take time – about four hours a week If I valued my time at $6 an hour, my savings would shrink by about 50 percent

But the hours that I spend clipping, filing and sending for refund offers are not those in which I would otherwise be earning money They are leisure hours

If I wasn't working on my refunding, I might be out spending money (I shouldn t call refunding "work because I enjoy it as much as other people enjoy hobbies or sports)

If I stopped refunding and got a job for those few hours assuming anyone would hire me – I would wind up spending money on gasoline, baby sitters and income taxes

I think I am doing much better spending the time at home I am comfortable. I am with my family and my refunds are tax free'

Because of refunding and the money I save, I am able to try a lot of new products Some don't suit me, but many become family favorites I prefer to select from the national brands knowing that refunding and couponing will substantially reduce their cost than to take my chances with most generics whose quality seems to change from week to week

Last but not least I have become good friends with the many refunders with whom I trade refund forms by mail or at coupon-club meetings No one can put a price tag on these relationships

If you are reading this column for the first time, or if you have never tried organized refunding, I hope that you will continue reading in the coming weeks We're going to get back to the basics of refunding

If you are spending $75 to $125 a week on your groceries, refunding can save you as much as $50 to $100 a month So, join me next week and I will get you started on this wonderful way to beat rising food prices

Here s a refund form to write for Tylenol Free Toothpaste Offer P O Box 5528, Maple Plain Minn 55348 This offer expires Oct 31 1981

Here is this week's list of refund offers Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country

Today s refund offers are worth $8 98

—Billy Gillespie, pastor of the Powell Valley Methodist Circuit, was the guest minister at the Senior Center Monday. He read from John 20 and Proverbs 15, and from Fred Bower's Daily Devotional, tying it all together and bringing it to the listeners in an inspiring manner. Rev. Gillespie sang a solo, "In The Garden," with Golden Gilley joining him on the last chorus in a duet. He gave a brief history of how the song came to be written by the author C. Austin Miles, while walking in the garden and visiting the tomb where Jesus lay.

—Judy and David King were Saturday dinner guests of Hattie and Hayden Johnson.

—Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Harber of Florida were luncheon guests of Eva Rush, Grace Davis, and Katherine Higgenson last Tuesday. They were happy to attend Camp Meeting while visiting in Lee County.

—Emmitt Rose of Summersville, Fla., spent the Labor Day weekend with his sister and brother-in-law, Hattie and Hayden Johnson.

—Jan Scoby and daughter Sara have returned to their home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., after spending a month with her mother, Inez Scott and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B.F. Daugherty. Mr. Daugherty is ill in Lee County Hospital.

—Carson Vannoy and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Mitchell of Lone Mountain, Tn., were Sunday guests of their sister-in-law and aunt, Sallie Woliver. They went to the grave site of Lou Ann Vannoy, at Millers Chapel Cemetery. This was the first time for Mr. Vannoy, as he was ill and unable to attend his wife's funeral and burial.

—Wednesday guests of Sallie Woliver were her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Quinley.

—Jonesville First Baptist Women met at the church Tuesday afternoon for their Prayer Study Group. Golden Sanders, Prayer Group Leader, led the meeting, with Nell Bush (Mission Support), Mary Speak, Loraine Russell, Vesta Muncey, Gaynelle Baumgardner, Lizzie Minor, Sybil Collins, and Wilma Carson joining in the program.

—Thursday night, the churches of Powell River Baptist Association came together for WMU Associational Workshop at Jonesville First Baptist Church, under the direction of Betty A. Harless, WMU Baptist Associational Director. A group of men met for the pastors workshop. The women met in several groups, with their teachers, for training in their departments.

—Several patients in Lee County Hospital this week that you may like to know about are: Peggy Jones, Elizabeth Richmond, Virginia Holt, Lola Gibson, Gary Burgan, Mae Shackleford, Agnes Daugherty, B.F. Daugherty, Ascha Bush, Richard Hays, Hazen Pennington, Laura Boone, and Rose Bellamy. There are many others, and all need your prayers, cards, and visits.

—Sallie Woliver, Kate Livesay and Gaynelle Baumgardner attended the Mountain Empire Older Citizens Advisory Council on Aging, Friday, at Mountain Empire Community College, Big Stone Gap. The president, Mary Emily McKinney, called the meeting to order. Marilyn Pace, Nancy Jeffrey, Oma Williams, and Bob Kelly were the speakers. A vote on the amendments to the By-Laws carried as did a vote on ten new members to the Advisory Council. The vote was unanimous to support the Virginia Office on Aging on Long Term Health Care Services for the Aging and a proposal to change the Virginia Office on Aging to become the Virginia Department for the Aging. There was a good turn out of members and visitors.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gary Terry of Willowick, Ohio spent their Labor Day vacation with their mother, Lorene Terry. They visited their grandmother, Lillie Carroll, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baumgardner.

—Paulette Nixon and daughter, Stacie of Charlottesville, Va., spent last weekend with her mother, Vesta Muncey.

—Bobbie Carroll and son Robbie, Taney Town, Md., was a weekend guest of her mother-in-law, Ida Carroll. They visited her aunts, Cora Howard and Lillie Carroll, and June and Joe Napier.

—Helen and Hudean Howard, Lebanon, were Sunday visitors of his mother, Cora Howard, and June and Joe Napier.

—What does one do while on a vacation in Florida? Mostly sightseeing. True? Well, not one of our local young men. Scott Muncy, while on a week's vacation in Daytona Beach, entered a Talent Show as a soloist, and won second place. He went to the show and then decided to enter, as he sure loves to sing. Guess who beat him for the number one place? A young girl, beautiful, and a professional singer at that. Thats about all that could have won first place from Scott. Most of the people around Lee County have heard Scott sing and know that he's no. 1 with them. The song he sang was, "Desperado." Scott is the son of Billie Ann and John (Bud) Muncy and the grandson of Vesta Muncy all of Jonesville. Vesta is the president of the Jonesville Senior Citizens Center. She's proud of Scott, as she should be. Scott is in Berea, Ky., where he has entered his third year of college.

Serving ethnic food to your family can be a welcome change of pace, especially when you're faced with that same ground beef once more! Transform plain meat into an exotic international meal by preparing Meatball Risotto. This variation on the standard Italian meatball theme combines beef, rice, spicy spaghetti sauce, and cheese for a simple meal that's bursting with Italian flavor.

Shape ½ pound ground beef into tiny balls and brown well in 2 teaspoons butter or margarine. Add 1½ cups spaghetti sauce and 1½ cups water and bring to a boil. Stir in 1½ cups pre-cooked rice and ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese. Cover, remove from heat, and let stand 10 minutes. The packaged enriched pre-cooked rice is a tasty alternative to the usual spaghetti and absorbs the rich tomato flavor and spiciness of the sauce. Just add a tossed green salad for a tasty meal that serves four.

"The Heiress" To Be Barter's 50th Anniversary Tour

"The Heiress," hit of Barter Theatre's 1980 season, has been chosen as the 1982 50th Anniversary touring production.

Audiences were enthralled by Barter's production of Henry James' romantic novel "Washington Square," adapted for the stage as "The Heiress" by Ruth and Augustus Goetz.

"The Heiress" unfolds amid the opulance of the gaslit era of 1850's New York.

In this elegant lifestyle, a shy and awkward young girl, heiress to an incredible fortune, is courted by a handsome and charming young man of modest income. The romance is opposed by the girl's suspicious father, always critical and only too quick to point out her shortcomings. Complications arise in the form of the girl's flighty aunt who is eager to make a "good match." She becomes the confidante of the young man and the champion of his cause.

"The Heiress" is one of the romantic classics of the stage, and its surprise ending gives the play a mystery-like twist.

"The Heiress" will tour during March and April of 1982, and is now accepting bookings. Already scheduled are engagements in Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Ohio.

For more information on "The Heiress" tour, write Barter Theatre in Abingdon, Virginia 24210, or call (703) 628-2281.

From the time you drop a letter into the mailbox to the time it is delivered, there are 22 separate steps in handling it.

Nancy Rowlett Completes Training

Ms. Nancy Rowlett, a Social Work Supervisor/CPS Coordinator with Lee County Department of Social Services, has recently completed nine days of specialized training in the area of Child Sexual Abuse. The training was offered by Child and Family Services of Knox County, Inc., through The Knoxville Institute for Sexual Abuse Treatment Training (KI-SATT), one of five such centers funded by The National Center for Child Abuse and Neglect.

Child Sexual Abuse is a hidden, but serious problem in the United States, but the best studies indicate that between 17% and 50% of all children are victimized. About [illegible]% of these are victimized by a relative or someone they know.

KI-SATT is operated in conjunction with the Project Against Sexual Abuse of Appalachian Children (PASAAC), a clinical demonstration project which serves over 200 families from Knoxville and surrounding rural counties each year. The training is provided by the counseling staff, as well as other national and local experts.

Appalachia Top's Jonesville In Battle Of Bulldogs

The Jonesville Bulldogs opened their home season last Thursday night on the grid iron. It was a rainy night in Jonesville, and Neil Johnsons Bulldogs went home wet from the rain, and wondering about their season ahead, if it might change for better or for worse.

The Jonesville Bulldogs were beaten pretty good by Haysi last week, but when they tangled with Appalachia, they got a lesson on football. Tom Turners Bulldogs barked big against Jonesville, as they won 40-24. Both teams gained 359 yards on the ground, but one man got 285 of Jonesvilles yardage. He is Tim Baker. He scored two touchdowns for Jonesville, with one being a 80 yard run from scrimmage. Jonesville also got a 37 yard field goal from Andy Rosenbaum. Rosenbaum also kicked three extra points after touchdowns.

Tom Turner was much more satisfied with his offense than he was when they played Pennington. This time he got some players moved around, and got some more point production.

Jonesville's coach Johnson felt that Appalachia could have rolled the score up if they had wanted to.

Appalachia was led by Joey Clay with 142 yards on the ground. He scored three times in the first quarter.

The winning Bulldogs also had an 87 yard kickoff return against Jonesville by Bill Hampton.

The difference in Jonesville's loss from their first loss is their defense, as their offense picked up and scored 24 points, but the defense is allowing too many big plays.

Jonesville will play at Rye Cove this week in their first district game, while Appalachia will host the J.J. Kelly Indians from Wise.

Appalachia	20	6	7	7-40
Jonesville	0	7	10	7-24

Appy - Clay 4 yard run (Davis kick)

Appy - Clay 57 yard run (kick failed)

Appy - Clay 5 yard run (Davis kick)

Appy - Gibson 2 yard run (kick failed)

Jonesville - Baker 5 yard run (Rosenbaum kick)

Appy - Lewis 50 yard pass from Gibson (Davis kick)

Jonesville - Rosenbaum 37 yard field goal.

Appy - B. Hampton 87 yard kickoff return (Davis kick)

Jonesville - Rosenbaum 14 yard pass from Chadwell (Rosenbaum kick)

Jonesville - Baker 80 yard run (Rosenbaum kick).

Jenkins Paces Ky. Win

Randy Jenkins, a graduate of Pennington High School, threw two touchdown passes and Greg Long intercepted three passes, returning one of them 91 years for a touchdown, as Kentucky defeated North Texas State 28-6, Saturday in Lexington.

A Commonwealth Stadium crowd of 55,262 watched as Jenkins hit Lawrence Lee with a 13-yard scoring pass and Jim Campbell with a TD pass from nine yards out in the second quarter as Kentucky jumped to a 21-0 halftime edge.

Norton Holds Off Pennington 18 - 13

Last Friday evening the Norton Black Raiders came to Bobcat country, and edged out the Bobcats 18-13. For the second straight week, Pennington lost when the opposition ran some big plays with authority.

After Pennington took the opening kickoff and failed to move the ball, the Bobcats punted. The Black Raiders returned the punt to the Bobcat 33 yard line. Norton quarterback Joe Stallard called his own number and took the snap from center. He circled around the left end and rambled down field for the games first touchdown. The extra point attempt was blocked by the middle of the Bobcat line.

Again when Pennington was unable to move the ball, they were forced to punt, Norton took the ball around the two yard line. On the first play, they gained only one yard, moving the ball to their own three yard line. Stallard handed off to Mike Cornette, the first man through the line. Cornette ran straight off the right side of the Bobcat line and raced into the end zone 97 yards away. He went the distance untouched. The attempted pass for two points was knocked down incomplete by Gary Collier.

Pennington finally scored midway through the second quarter with Tommy Gibson grabbing a 11 yard scoring punch from Bobcat quarterback Chris Bowen. The Bobcats set up to kick the extra point, but instead pitched back to Collier who threw a pass intended for Gibson. It fell incomplete, with the score running 12-6 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Tommy Gibson put the Bobcats in good field position with a 25 yard punt return. When Gibson was tackled, the ball was on the 21 yard line. Bowen sent Collier around the right side, and a host of Raiders stopped him at the five yard line. Again Collier got the call, and went around to the left side for the score. Tony Bailey split the uprights for the extra point giving the Bobcats the lead at 13-12. After Norton moved the ball to the Bobcats 20 yard line, on some big running plays, it took a one yard run on fourth down by Stallard to put Norton back in front at 18-13. The pass for the extra point was no good.

The Bobcat defense tightened up in the second half of the game. In the first half, it seemed as though Nortons running backs were gaining yards whenever they wanted to, but after halftime the Bobcat defense led by Todd Kirk wasn't giving up near as many big gainers as in the first half. Kirk ended the game with 18 tackles, with 12 coming with assists.

Jeff Moore was a workhorse in the game for Pennington as he racked up 125 yards in 18 tries. The Bobcats called on Moore constantly. Stallard and Cornette gained a combined 249 yards in 19 carries.

Dryden Dumps Pound 49 - 32

Dryden treated their home fans to a win last Thursday evening, when they dumped the Pound Wildcats 49-32.

The Crusaders took a 13-4 first quarter lead and never looked back. After Pound cut the nine point deficit to seven at halftime, the Crusaders put the finishing touch on Pound with an 18-7 third quarter advantage.

Cheryl Reasor was the big gun for Dryden as she pumped in 17 points. Vickie Kirk tossed in 10 points, while team leader Joyce Swain was held to just seven tallies.

The Crusaders are now 4-0 on the year. Coach Jimmy Peters is a fine coach, and has been doing a fine job with the Dryden girls for the past four or five years. He has his team playing better team ball each game. The Crusaders are just now jelling.

Rasnake and Mullins were point leaders for Pound with seven points each. The Wildcats played two Cumberland district teams last week and lost both. They stand 0-2 on the year.

Dryden will host the Jonesville team tomorrow night in an important district game. The Crusades will face Pound again but it won't be until October 28th.

Powell Valley Defeats Twin Springs 57 - 41

The Twin Springs Titans had their home opener spoiled last Thursday evening, when the Powell Valley Vikings defeated them 57-41.

Powell Valley has now defeated two Cumberland district teams. Viking leader Angie Hamilton led all scorers with 20 points, while teammate Pam Forester chipped in with 10 markers. Powell Valley is now 2-0 on the year. The first and fourth quarters were won by the Vikings on big point margins, and this is where the Titans were beaten. The Titans are a smaller team than Powell Valley but gave a gallant effort to win. The Titans were led by Michelle Donelson with 14 points, while Jo Ann Begley and Teresa Laforce added 10 points each.

Twin Springs will host the Keokee Mountaineers tomorrow night.

Pennington Falls Prey To Wise Indians

The Bobcats just can't get any scoring punch from anyone except Sandra Ely. She burned the nets for 25 points last Thursday evening in Penningtons home opener, but it all went down the drain as the Bobcats fell to the Wise Indians 61 56. Kim Roberts did chip in with 15 points to help Pennington, but the Bobcats defense is just allowing too many points. Maybe they will come together a bit more soon

Wise was led by Taylor's 23 points while Saboites added 16. The Indians played nine different players, with seven getting in the scoring column. The Bobcats will travel to Wise on October 19th, to try and reverse the decision.

If the Bobcats hadn't fouled so much, they could have beat Wise, as the Indians made 24 points at the charity stripe.

The Bobcats will host Rye Cove tomorrow night, needing a big win to boost the teams spirit. Pennington is 1 4 on the year.

Score By Quarters:

Growing Child

The nursery school teacher smiled as she read the note.

"Lynn really does have other dresses," it said, "but she insists on the red corduroy every day. I can't get her to wear anything else."

Lynn's mother was embarrassed that her daughter wore the same favorite outfit every day for weeks, but the teacher knew better. The child was simply expressing herself.

Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, notes that children don't really have "bad taste." Like adults, they just like to dress to express how they feel inside. Unfortunately, sometimes we think it looks horrendous on the outside.

A child who insists on mismatched colors, pants that are too short, tacky costume jewelry, or a favorite item that gets worn and worn — and worn —can exasperate and sometimes embarrass parents.

But we should remember that adults, too, dress to express how they feel inside. We feel prettier in bright colors, more comfortable in well-worn jeans, braver in boots.

Through years of experience, we know how to put things together to make a "look" that becomes us.

Children need time to develop that sense. Rather than fight it, parents can help the child along by finding out just what it is the child likes about a certain piece of apparel — and working from there.

You may be surprised to find that there's one specific feature that your child is attached to. Lynn, for instance, liked the way the red dress fit — no buttons, no snaps, no belts, no buckles. So her mother made her a half dozen jumpers in all colors and they both were happier.

Ask your child why he like something. It might be the big shiny zipper on that old windbreaker. Or the ladybug applique on those too-short overalls. Or the sparkle of rhinestones in that gaudy costume jewelry.

Maybe it's how the piece of clothing fits. Stretch pants that don't bind, for instances, or velvety fabrics that are soft. Find out, and make use of his preferences.

Transfer the applique to a new pair of overalls. Get a small barette with rhinestones. Buy a new velour shirt. Together, you can "put together" a look that you're both comfortable with.

Jonesville Tops Pound's Wildcats 44 - 34

Joe Robinson's Bulldogs went to Pound on Tuesday of last week, and came back happy, as they topped the Pound Wildcats 44-34, behind Dee Dee Brooks 17 points. This was Brook's lowest point output of the season, but she was still the games high scorer.

Pound was led by Mullins and Strouth with eight points each, while Lisa Anderson and Sharon Jerrell scored eight each for the winners. Jonesville now 3-1 on the year hit 14 of 21 free throws for 66%, with Brooks and Cindy Terry leading all players pulling down rebounds.

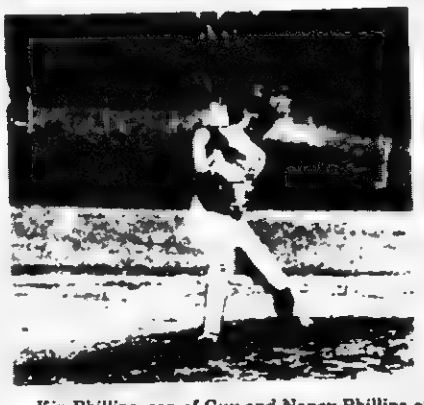
Jonesville won the game by ten points, after leading by eleven at the first break, but the game could have been a little closer or different, had the Wildcats hit a better percentage of their shots.

Jonesville's only loss was to Dryden in the finals of the Powell Valley Classic tournament, and they will be out for revenge tomorrow night, when they travel to Dryden to face the tough Crusaders in a district contest. The winner of this Dryden-Jonesville game tomorrow night will be the Powell Valley News sports writers pick to win the Cumberland District Crown this year.

Score By Quarters:
Jonesville 15 8 8 13-44
Pound 4 12 12 6-34

Individual Scoring:
Jonesville [44] Brooks 17, Anderson 8, Jerrell 8, Richmond 5, Sutton 4, Terry 2.

Pound [34] Strouth 8, Mullins 8, Cantrell 6, Rasnic 6, Goss 4, Rasnic 2.



Kip Phillips, son of Guy and Nancy Phillips of Keokee, made the baseball team at E.T.S.U. He is a 1981 graduate of Keokee Combined School. He made the ALL DISTRICT TEAM four years consecutively. He was voted PLAYER OF THE YEAR for the 1979-80 school year. His family, teachers and friends would like to wish him the E.T.S.U. Buccaneers luck in the coming season.

Powell Valley Rolls By Pennington 60 - 43

On Tuesday night of last week, the Pennington Bobcats traveled to Big Stone Gap, to face the Powell Valley Vikings in the season opener for both teams. The Vikings came out on top, as they rolled by the Bobcats 60 43.

Pennington led by one at 11-10 after one quarter, but it wasn't to last long as the quicker Vikings took command of the game with an 18-5 second quarter advantage.

Powell Valley placed all five starters in double figures, with Angie Hamilton leading the way with 16 points. Hope Gilliam tossed in 13 points, with Page Slagle canning 11 tallies. Pam Forester and Rhonda Burke each added 10 points. The Vikings hit 9 of 16 free throws for a 56.4% clip.

The Bobcats now 1-3 on the year, were led by the games high scorer in Sandra Ely. She burned the nets for 22 points, but outside of Kim Roberts adding 12 points, Pennington didn't have any scoring punch. They shot 45% from the charity stripe as they made only 9 of 20 foul shots.

Both teams will meet again this year, but not until the last game of the year, on October 29th. Maybe the outcome can be different next time.

Score By Quarters:
Pennington 11 5 11 16-43
PV 10 18 11 21-60

Individual Scoring:
Pennington [43] Ely 22, Roberts 12, James 4, Byington 2, Woodard 2, Gilham 1.

Keokee Sports Talk

By David Hansel

The Keokee Journalism Class had an interview with Coach Litton. She was asked four important questions about the up coming girls basketball season.

"Are you optimistic or pessimistic about the upcoming season?"

Coach Litton. "Both, the Lady Mountaineers are improving."

"How?"

Coach Litton, "Their attitudes are much better than in the past few years, and their skills have improved. I really think they're more aggressive this year."

"Who do you think will come out on top this year?"

Coach Litton, "Dryden."

"Why?"

Coach Litton, "Because they have experience and ability. They have a winning tradition, and they will try to stay with it, regardless. They have tasted victory and won't settle for defeat."

Starting With Promise .....

The Lee County Vocational School is settling in to its 17th year with all signs including a great year ahead. The student headcount this year is 514, an increase over last year's enrollment.

Student representatives have been selected for the forthcoming school year. Each department elects a representative for that class, at the beginning of each year. The responsibilities of the representatives are multi-functional; as a group they assemble for monthly meetings with the principal, Mr. C.B. Marcum.

Secretaries are chosen to serve the morning and afternoon representatives – Miss Kim Clem was elected by the a.m. class, and Miss Cindy Williams, and Miss Starlene Mooneyhan were elected by the p.m. class. During their monthly meetings they discuss ways in which to improve the school; air complaints and problems students bring before them; and in turn represent the posture of the principal to students, then agree upon ways to solve these issues. The above picture is Secretary Cindy Williams ready to begin a new day. The representatives held their first meeting with Mr. Marcum on September 5.

TAX FREE INTEREST

COMPARE THE ADVANTAGE OF TAX-FREE SAVINGS

If your family income is:	your tax-bracket probably is:	the interest rate you'd have to receive to net 12.61% after federal income tax:
$50,000 or more	50%	25.22%
$35,000	40%	21.02%
$25,000	30%	18.02%
$20,000 or less	25%	16.82%

Figures above are approximate and based on 1981 tax tables.

Congress has just passed the President's Tax Bill. It allows us to offer you TAX-FREE INTEREST ON YOUR SAVINGS.

Farmers and Miners TAX-FREE SAVINGS CERTIFICATE permits an individual to exclude up to $1,000 of interest income ($2,000 in the case of individuals filing a joint tax return) from one-year certificates issued by qualifying financial institutions after September 30, 1981, and before January 1, 1983. While the certificate issuance period is only 15 months, the interest exclusion is effectively available to taxpayers for over two years. This is due to the fact that interest earned on a certificate issued on December 31, 1982, will not be taxable until December 1983.

The interest rates on the certificates must equal a rate at the date of issue that will permit the yield to equal 70 percent of the yield on 52 week Treasury bills. Thus, if the most recent issue of 52-week Treasury bills were discounted to yield 18.02 percent, the yield on a qualifying certificate would be 12.61 percent tax-free. Once established, the yield on the certificate will remain unchanged during its entire one-year term.

Unlike some other investment plans, our TAX-FREE SAVINGS CERTIFICATE is insured by the FDIC. Each depositor is protected up to $100,000.00.

Board Reviews Redistricting Plan

The Lee County Board of Supervisors was presented with a proposed redistricting plan which will redraw voting district lines inside the county for the next ten years.

County Administrator Odell Wilson presented the plan at a Wednesday, September 9, 9 a.m. meeting. "This plan," Wilson said, "will meet all requirements." The original desire was for a seven district plan, however Wilson determined that this was impossible to do and meet all the requirements. "Five falls in best," according to Wilson.

The redistricting is required by Article VII, Section 5 of the Virginia Constitution which says, in part, "the governing body shall in 1971 and every 10 years thereafter, reapportion the representation in the districts in a manner provided by law." Since the objective is equal representation with populatiea the controlling criterion, the 1980 Census, which revealed a population growth of 27 percent

You Did It Again!

Last week's plea in the Powell Valley News along with a similar plea in the POST has resulted in another baby being able to come home to be with her parents.

According to Barbara Ashburn of the Pennington Gap March of Dimes, our readers have responded by contributing enough money to pay for Christine Louise Maggard's monitor and no further funds are needed.

"This baby will be taken care of," said Barbara last Monday afternoon," ... thank all the people that helped."

On behalf of Ms. Ashburn, the NEWS, the POST, the parents, grandparents, and Christine Louise Maggard -- THANK YOU, READERS!

Rose Hill - Paternal Home Of Big League Baseball Player

When the Toronto Blue Jays appear on television, you can be sure that several Lee Countians are watching their screens waiting for a close-up view of the Blue Jays Catcher - Ernie Whitt. Ernie is the son of Hobert Ernest and Dollie Whitt. Ernie's father is a former resident of Rose Hill and his mother is originally from Clinchco, Va.

The parents now make their home in Roseville, Michigan. However, Ernie still has several close relatives right here in Lee County. His grandmother, Mrs. Hallie Whitt DeBusk, his uncle, Jim Whitt (a teacher at Thomas Walker High School), and his aunt, Freda Whitt, are residents of the Rose Hill area. Ernie's great aunt is Cora Carter of Stone Creek. In Dickenson County, Ernie's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Frances Perrigan of Clinchco.

Ernie's relatives were able to see him briefly several times on television earlier this season when he came to bat against the Oakland A's. Ernie requested umpire Terry Cooney to check the ball and the Oakland A's manager, Billy Martin, came storming out of the dugout. The incident that followed was replayed on national television several times, written about in nearly every sports section of the major newspapers, and may be presented in a court of law.

Meanwhile, Ernie is completing his second full year of professional baseball with the Toronto team. The statistics from the first half of the 1981 season are not available, however the stats on Ernie's eight year career show him to be a steadily growing baseball star.

Born June 13, 1952 in Detroit, Michigan, Ernie stands 6'2" and weighs 200

Conflict Continues Over Special Election

The validity of the August 18 Special Election has been challenged by the suit filed by Sam Massengill and Odell Wilson.

The thirteen-paragraph suit filed in the circuit court contends that the special election results should be nullified because the U.S. Attorney General's approval of changes in election laws enacted after 1964 had not been sought or obtained. The suit claims that the "preclearance" of the Attorney General is set forth by the Voting Rights Act of 1964, '65, '78. The second basis of contention in that Article VII, Section 4 of the Constitution of Virginia states that "no law may reduce the term of any person holding office at the time the election is held."

Furthermore, before this election is determined as valid, it must be approved by the Department of Justice which is presently investigating a possible violation of Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Massengill and Wilson filed the suit after discussions with Jonesville attorneys H. Ronnie Montgomery and Les Bailey.

Controlled Growth Planned By Powell Mountain Coal

Powell Mountain Coal Company began construction of a preparation plant just north of the Bonny Blue Community in January of this year and expects completion of the facility in November. They have also started in July of this year a deep mine with modern coal mining equipment and plan to start several other mines or contract mines in the years ahead.

"Our project is on time and on schedule," according to L.E. "Eddie" Meade, the senior vice president and general manager of Powell Mountain Coal Company, Inc. "We now have approximately fifty people and I expect that number to at least double in the near future," he said.

However, this is not a call for job applications, according to Meade. "We are blessed with an area of hardworking, qualified people," Meade said as he pointed to several thick

Squads Join Hands In Search Effort

The two branches of the Lee County Rescue Squad, Pennington Gap and Thomas Walker, and a unit of the Appalachia Squad combined forces last week in the 10½ hour search for Harrison Morris of Sandy Ridge who allegedly drowned in the Powell River.

The emergency call was received at the Pennington Gap office at approximately 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. After substantiating the emergency, search operations began at approximately 9:15 p.m. and lasted until 4 a.m. Thursday morning when the search [illegible] because of [illegible] fog made the search dangerous for the rescuers.

In five boats, the rescuers returned to the scene and continued the search for Morris. Operations continued until 11:30 a.m. Thursday when the rescuers decided to break for lunch that was provided by the Lee County Rescue Squad Ladies Auxiliary. The ladies had also provided food for the men and women on the emergency team during the night at around 2 a.m.

When the search resumed after lunch, one of the four boats headed upstream from where the victim's hat had been found. The boat's pilot, Mike Reuille, had spotted "something red hanging in the bushes over the water." Just before reaching the bushes however,

(from 20,321 in 1970 to 25,956 in 1980), was the primary guideline. Also, lines must follow natural boundaries (such as rivers, and mountain ridges), existing highways, and meet the one man/one vote requirements, according to Wilson.

Under Wilson's proposed plan, Lee County's population will be divided into five districts with a variation of no more or less than five percent. The population within the proposed districts are: 5,148 in District I; 5342 in District II; 5286 in District III, 5025 in District IV; and 5,155 in District V.

The board approved the publication of the plan in the Powell Valley News for two weeks beginning with the September " edition. (See page 4B) There will also be a Public Meeting to hear comments and recommendations from the public. It is tentatively scheduled for October 7, at 10 a.m. in the Circuit Court Room.

After publication and public meeting, the board will be able to make any changes and then submit a final plan to the Department of Justice by October 31. The Justice Department has sixty days to approve the plan and the process by which the lines were drawn. This process is required by the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

If approved, the plan will become effective in January 1982, but not be felt until 1983 when local elections are to be held. A five district plan will eliminate one seat from the present Board of Supervisors, beginning in 1983.

Wilson spent approximately 50 hours of work in coming up with the proposed plan. He was assisted by Scott Pettit of the Richmond Division of Legal Services which was appointed by the Virginia Legislature to assist local governments in redrawing voting district lines binders of job applications stacked on his desk.

Even though the preparation plant will have the capability to process 500 tons of raw coal per hour, (coal which has been previously unmarketable due to impurities) this coal company is planning to grow according to their contracts which are based on estimates of the next 15 to 20 years. (Their current contracts are all domestic.)

In addition to controlled growth, Powell Mountain Coal has established a policy of selecting local labor and local contracting firms where possible to participate in the construction of their facilities. In a press release, the coal company stated, "this project is a statement by Powell Mountain of confidence in the strength and dependability of the people in the Lee, Wise, and Harlan County areas."

The release also stated, "(we) will continue in the future with the same policies, such that residents of the local area receive the maximum economic benefits possible from our mining efforts." Meade stated, "This project can assist in alleviating the economic problems" in the area.

"Our Powell Mountain Coal Company people are assured of a good, dependable income year round (year after year without interruption for work stoppages) with sound medical and other benefits for all our family members," Meade said. The company is a non-union company. "I believe that representation by outside parties such as labor organizations leads only to inefficient practices and work stoppages that are costly both to the families of employees and to the coal company in general. It destroys the strong, positive, personal relationship such as the one that now exists among our employees. I know all of our employees very well."

In addition to General Manager Meade, the company's vice president in charge of the coal mining and processing at these facilities is Mr. Steve Dula. Mr. Randy Napier is in charge of the "Mountain Top Mine" and Mr. Bill Peters is in charge of the operation of the preparation plant.

Sunday School Lesson

OUR PLACE IN GOD'S WORLD
Ecclesiastes 3: 1-15

In his search for happiness, Solomon discovered that the acquisition of knowledge did not satisfy. Then he decided to pursue happiness in the realm of pleasure, but his experiment was very disappointing. He also sought it through the accumulation of wealth. After amassing more wealth than either of his predecessors, it dawned upon him that he was very foolish to spend his life in accumulating wealth that others would dissipate soon after his death. Regardless of one's brilliance, wealth, position, Power, and fame, whether it be Solomon or one of us, any person who disregards the will of God for his life thereby deprives himself of true happiness and satisfaction.

What people think, what they are, and how they conduct themselves are matters of vital concern. Just as there is an orderly progression in an orderly manner. Just as each of the successive seasons has its own purpose and use, so do the various seasons of life. And all of the seasons of life are of God. Since it is God's prerogative to give life or to take life, the person who wants the very best in life must get right with God, accept with gratitude the blessings which He provides, cheerfully yield to His will, faithfully work at the task which He assigns, wield a wholesome influence over those with whom he associates, and earnestly strive to please and honor Him in and through what he does. Such a manner of life will enable one to avert great disappointment and much regret, and afford true joy and great usefulness.

After establishing the fact that everything has a set time, the writer proceeded to list several pairs of the activities of men, and in each case the second is the antithesis of the first. Just as there was a time for the coming of each of us into this world, in compliance with the will and purpose of God, so there will be an appropriate time for the departure of each of us from the earthly scene. Each of us was born when God wanted the birth to take place, and each of us will die when his work is finished and his place should be occupied by his immediate successor. How grateful each of us should be that God has permitted him to live and afforded him a glorious opportunity to render an acceptable service to God and a helpful service to his fellowmen in the Lord's name!

Just as there is a time to plant, so there will come a time when that which has been planted should be plucked up - when it has proved to be barren, unfruitful and useless. There comes a time when a building should be razed and a far better one erected in its place; when stones should be removed from the soil and used in building terraces and fences; when it is both appropriate and needful for one to refrain from speaking, and other times when one should boldly declare the gospel in the presence of others, both in private and in public. This life is one of spiritual warfare for the Christian, as he battles the flesh, the world and Satan, but when he goes to be with his Saviour and Lord he will not be disturbed again by either of these enemies.

The writer knew that man's knowledge of the future is limited, because God has not seen fit to permit him to understand everything that He is doing, or that He plans to do. He resolved that he was going to make the most of the life which God was giving him, and he wanted others to do likewise. He counted it a joyous privilege to do this, and believed that genuine gratitude constituted a sufficient reason for doing so.

Although man cannot understand all the ways of God, he should enjoy to the fullest the blessings which God bestows upon him, and then manifest a cheerful spirit to others because the time is coming when such is no longer possible. As long as God permits us to live here, let us worship Him, witness to others about Him, and work faithfully for His glory and for the welfare of others with whom we come in contact.

Congressman BILL WAMPLER Reports from Washington

High interest rates are now being called our "public enemy number one", and concerned citizens thoughout the Nation have expressed their fears for the economy if a solution to the problem is not found in the near future

Our domestic housing market is probably the most visible indicator of the negative effects of high interest rates. Housing starts in June of this year were only about half what they normally would be, as compared with past trends. Industry, small business, agriculture and their interactions with rural banks and other financial institutions are all hurt by these high rates

As most are aware, interest rates are not set by the President or the Congress, but by the interaction between the demand for money and credit and the supply of money and credit Supply is largely controlled by the Federal Reserve System, and actions by that board have a major effect on interest rates Other circumstances affecting supply or demand for money also contribute to these rates. Inflation and the Federal budget deficit are major factors today in pushing up interest rates When it is necessary for the government to borrow more money to finance its deficits, less money is available for the private sector, and this decreased money supply leads to a higher cost of borrowing The Congress can take action to eliminate the deficit by balancing the budget

Earlier this year the House of Representatives did adopt a resolution recognizing the damage high interest rates are inflicting on our economy, and called for actions to combat the situation In separate actions, the Congress adopted proposals to reduce Federal spending and lower taxes the first two steps in the President's overall economic program. Rational, but immediate action is needed to further economic goals to restore health to the economy Some current suggestions include cutting proposed defense spending, and possible additional cuts in nondefense areas

The first steps toward a manageable budget have been taken to reduce spending Balancing the budget is not the sole solution, but it will help get government out of the private capital markets With less competition for available money, interest rates should fall A balanced budget would be a clear signal of the government's intent to effectively fight inflation

Jr., and the firm of Earls, Wolfe, and Farmer of Norton. Massengill's position as supervisor-at-large will be abolished and Wilson's position as County Administrator will also become optional on January 1, 1982 if the election is declared valid.

According to Montgomery, who is also Chairman of the Lee County Republican Party, "Legally, we found that we are on solid ground after examining the law." Montgomery also stated that the circuit court judge may choose to act in one of the following three ways: He may dismiss the entire suit; declare particular parts as valid; or accept all the requests of the suit.

But, according to Attorney Thomas L. Rasnic who filed the original petition for Ezra F. Cooper which brought about the special election, the basis of this suit does not apply. Rasnic said, "The basis of the suit is invalid. The Virginia Constitution does not apply because the statute deals with constitutional officers, not county officers." (Roger Adams, reading and studying law under Mr. Rasnic, explained that the county administrator and supervisor-at-large positions are set forth in the Virginia State Code, not in the Virginia Constitution.)

Also, Rasnic claims that, "The Voting Rights Act does not apply. It deals with the one man, one vote concept. If it does apply, then the previous election (the election adopting the present board form of government) is illegal and we've been operating with an illegal government for the past 10 or 12 years."

According to Adams, "To quote a famous county official, 'they (the plaintiffs) are grabbing at straws,' unquote."

The suit requests a hearing date of September 21 for the plaintiffs to argue their position before the circuit court. There is no known deadline for the Justice Department's report.

As the January 1 deadline for changing Lee County's form of government comes closer, the question of what form of government it shall use in the future is still uncertain. If the circuit court or the Justice Department finds any legal irregularities in the procedure of events of the August 18 Special Election, then Lee County will continue to use the present Board Form of government -- unless a new petition is filed, a legal election is held, and the voters of Lee County again choose a different form of government.

However, if the circuit court and the Justice Department finds no irregularities, then the County can proceed to rearrange its departments and people according to the "traditional" form of government.

Be Calm During Emergency Calls

In reference to the letter-to-the-editor written by Mr. Steve Riggs and appearing in last week's edition, a check with the Lee County Sheriff's Department revealed that the Pennington Gap Dispatcher on duty on September 2 called the Sheriff's Department at 6:25 p.m. He reported that a Mrs. Riggs had called to report a shooting, but was so frantic that he was unable to determine her location.

While efforts by both dispatchers were being made to determine her location, Mrs. Riggs called the Sheriff's Department at 6:31 p.m. The Sheriff's dispatcher was able to discern from Mrs. Riggs frantic description the location. The Lee County Rescue Squad was notified at 6:32 p.m.

Both the Pennington Town Police and the Sheriff's Department stressed the need for any one reporting an emergency to remain calm and give concise, concrete descriptions of the location and events. The NEWS urges everyone to enter the appropriate emergency numbers in the front of your telephone book in the spaces provided.

Squads

the other two members of the boat, Alden Payne and Anthony Stacey (junior members of the Thomas Walker Rescue Squad) located the body submerged in six-feet of water. "I never found out what that red thing was," said Reuille.

"The squads worked real well together," according to Clarence Peters of the Pennington Gap division. "All our officers were on the scene," he said, "and the Ladies Auxiliary was a big help."

Even though this emergency had no positive results, it was a fine demonstration of the responsiveness, organization, training, and concern that characterizes Lee County's Volunteer Rescue Squad members. We are pleased to have them as members of our community.

lbs. While playing the catcher's position during the 1980 season, Ernie hit .237 in 106 games, appearing at bat 295 times with 70 hits including 6 home runs, 2 triples, and 12 doubles. He accumulated 34 runs batted in, 22 bases on balls, and only 30 strikeouts.

His power at the plate has been responsible for several noteworthy home runs. His first major league hit was a homer off of Milwaukee's Jim Colborn during a brief appearance with the Boston Red Sox in 1976 when he was responsible for four runs with four hits in eight games. After being selected by Toronto from Boston in the 1976 American League Expansion Draft, Ernie tallied his second homer during a home game against Chicago pitcher Rich Dotson in a 3-1 Blue Jay win. His third homer was a 3-run shot off Jack Morris in Tiger Stadium in a 7-5 loss. Only ten days later in the Kingdome, he hit a solo shot off Glen Abbott in a 5-0 Blue Jay win. In a three for three batting day, Ernie slammed a homer off Ed Figueroa in a 4-2 win. His final homer of the season came October 1. This time, Mark "The Bird" Fidrych of the Detroit Tigers was on the mound in Toronto when Ernie blasted the ball over the fence. His bat and his defensive ability has established Ernie as a capable major league catcher.

His minor league career began as a 12th round selection by the Boston Red Sox in the Free Agent Draft when he was signed by Morri deLouf. His best minor league season was in 1973, when he hit .290 with 50 RBIs for Winston-Salem. He has played first base as well as being a catcher. In 1979, he helped Syracuse in the International League finals and received the Sporting News Golden Glove Award.

Ernie and his wife, Christine, were married in June 1974, make their home in Roseville, MI. and have three children; Ashley Renai, Ernest Jordan, and Taylor. He has two sisters, Melinda and Bernadine, and one brother, Mike. Ernie graduated from Carl Breblec High School and attended Macomb Community College in Warren, Michigan. His hobbies include hunting and fishing.

munity; cooperate with other youth and adult groups to make Pennington Gap a better place to live; learn and develop leadership abilities; and to strengthen our youths' self-confidence, integrity, Christian values and community concerns

Last spring, six Lee Countians participated in the Model General Assembly (MGA), an annual event where teenagers learn through participation to be more knowledgeable about our judicial system on local and state levels and make wise decisions on public issues. Anthony Robbins served as Senate Chaplain in the 1981 MGA.

The sponsoring organization for Pennington Gap Co-Ed Hi Y is the Virginia YMCA, a non profit organization serving Virginia for over 100 years. Virginia is one of a few states with a YMCA which works with young people in communities that do not have a YMCA building.

The Pennington Gap Co-Ed Hi-Y needs our financial support. The generosity of people in Pennington Gap has enabled the Virginia YMCA to maintain a low membership fee. Each member only pays $4 00 of the approximate cost of $25 per person Statewide, affiliation dues paid by Y club members account for only 7.7 per cent of the budget.

A tax-deductible contribution will be an expression of your leadership in our teenager's preparation for community leadership Checks made payable to the Virginia YMCA should be mailed to: R. Herman Grigsby, Finance Chairman, P.O. Box 36, Pennington Gap, Virginia 24277

Mrs. Claude Davis Hosts W.O.C. Of Mt. Carmel Presbyterian

On Tuesday, September 8, the Women of the Church of Mt. Carmel Presbyterian met in the home of Col. and Mrs. Claude Davis for their regular Bible Study.

For opening worship, Mrs. Charles Emmett, president, led the group in singing "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee", followed by a circle of prayer, closed by Maud Bales.

Devotional thoughts were then shared by Mrs. Emmett based on Ephesians 5:1 and 2 on the title He Maketh No Mistakes. She spoke of the Christian Dream which requires a drastic and revolutionary change in many of our attitudes toward people, Society, and the World since so many have been conditioned in their thinking by science, Technology, and even technocracy

"Christians," she stated, "must take a position that no longer reflects the mentality of a world controlled by a handful of people whose self interest comes first; but, Christians must stand, work, and pray for a better world for all."

In the Bible Study from Isaiah 55, throughts were shared about the "Great Invitation Come Home" by the leader; "The Everlasting Covenant" by Maud Bailes; "The Power of God's Word, and, The Joy of the New Exodus" by Mrs Lawrence Fugate. Mrs Dan Richmond then shared ideas on "The Word Became Flesh", followed by "Return of the Lord" by Florence Bayless

The lesson concluded with Reflections from a Third World Prespective by Mrs Davis in which she summarized that "The Dream of God's New World demands active thinking and response the kind of action that springs from hearts that have acquired new attitudes and values. This dream demands Courage!"

Following the study, the hostess, Mrs. Davis served refreshments during a period of fellowship.

Lee County Fair Winners

This year's fair was a great event in that it was an opportunity for the people of Lee County, from the beauty pageant girls through the entertainment groups to the horse show riders, to take center stage and be recognized for their talent and hard work. While other fairs need Nashville musicians to beef-up their programs, the Lee County Fair has again demonstrated the talent and ability of home-grown people to draw a crowd.

The talent shows were full of local talent. For many of us, it was the first opportunity to hear some of the most talented singing by our fellow Lee Countians and we were not disappointed. The Carters, Wilma Lou with Leadfoot, Bobby Ray and the Okays, and the Christianaires have won many new fans thanks to the exposure from their appearance at the 1981 Lee County Fair.

The 1981 Fair crowd was "a little better than last year" according to Helen Gilbert, treasurer of the Lee Athletic Association in charge of ticket sales. Paid attendance for last year was over 10,000 and general attendance is always much higher due to the number of people using passes for admission for either working or showing exhibits.

Both exhibit barns were chocked full of homemade items. From art to zinnias, the blue, red, and white ribbons were nearly lost in the abundance of fine examples of Lee Countians' handiwork with over $6300.00 being awarded in prize money. (The owners and employees of the NEWS came away with three Blues, three Reds, and two White Ribbons.)

The top exhibit winners of the 1981 Fair were: Department A - Youth Department - bonus prize - most entires - Flatwoods FFA, most blue ribbons - Susan Jones; Department B - Farm Crops, Joe Lyle; Depart C - Horticulture, Pauline Lyle; Department D - Foods, tie between Emily Parsons and Geraldine Artrip; Department E - Canning, Stella Robbins and Rosetta Crumley; Department F - Needlework, tie between Polly Phipps and Guenna Robinette; Department G - Clothing Construction, Charlotte Brooks; Art - best of show, photography - Teresa Cole, painting - best of show, Fred Griffith.

Department M - Floriculture, Pauline Lyle; most points by civic club - Pioneer Extension Homemakers.

Once again, the Friday and Saturday evening Horse Shows drew horsemen from all over the tri-states area and an appreciative audience.

In the Pulling Contest, the winners were: Class I pony team under 48" - Bob Delph, Marshall, Ind.; Class II pony teams over 48" - Merle Middleton, Dryden, Va.; Class III horses - David Sauls, Chilhowie, Va.

In the Friday night Horse Show, the winners were:

Virginia Tech Extension Service agents provide continuing education — programs, information, services — for everyone. Miss Moore is with the Lee County office at 346-1522

The telephone number for the Child Abuse Hotline is 1-800 552-7096. According to a specialist in Child Protective Services, the Hotline has other uses than the reporting of child abuse and neglect. Counsellors are glad to talk with parents who feel they may have a problem or would like some advice on how to cope with a particular situation. Hotline counsellors can also advise if certain situations could be hazardous to a child and considered abusive or neglectful. In all cases, attempts are made to refer callers to local resources for assistance.

Many children are exposed to situations that parents do not realize can be hazardous. One of these is lead poisoning.

Lead poisoning is always serious. It can cause severe brain damage or death in children

Older homes and apartments often have layer after layer of paint. In time, these layers peel off. Children can develop lead poisoning by chewing on these flakes of paint. It can also be caused by chewing on toys and furniture that have been painted with paint containing lead

Inhaling fumes containing lead can also be poisonous. A person can become a victim of lead poisoning by inhaling fumes from a fire containing old paint cans or automobile batteries. Also, anytime that paint is burned off a house, dangerous fumes are present.

Lead poisoning is very difficult to diagnose. If a mother finds her child eating paint chips or inhaling smoke or fumes containing lead, she should have the child checked by a doctor We need to protect children from lead poisoning. We can protect them by not allowing them to chew, lick, or bite on painted surfaces inside or outside the house. Always remove flaking, peeling, or blistered paint from walls or windows, clean up pieces of paint that might have fallen on the floor, and never burn painted wood or automobile batteries. Your children's health depends upon it.

Jonesville Bulldogs Down Twin Springs 54 - 43

Joe Robinson's Bulldogs are rolling along after posting a 54-43 district win over the Twin Springs Titans, on Tuesday evening of last week.

Jonesville led by twelve points at the half and by seventeen heading into the final quarter. After only scoring 23 points in three quarters, the Titans mounted a comeback effort in the final stanza with 20 points, only to still fall eleven points short. Twin Springs scored 15 points at the free throw circle, out of 25 tries for a 62% clip. The Titans are winless on the season, but will definitely win some games as they have some good potential athletes. Don't be surprised if the Titans upset some of the top teams if their defense can come together a little better.

Tiersa Laforce led the Titans with 12 markers while teammate Joann Begley scored 10 points. Michelle Donelson added nine points.

Jonesville by winning ups their overall record to 6-1. Their only loss coming at the hands of Dryden. The Bulldogs were led by Dee Dee Brooks with 12 points, which is way below her game average. Cindy Terry hit the twine for 11 tallies. Jonesville scored at a 42% clip at the charity stripe, making 6 of 14 shots. The Bulldogs will have their hands full tomorrow night as they will travel to Ewing, Virginia to play the always tough Pioneers at Thomas Walker. Then on Tuesday night of the next week they will be at Rye Cove. Go out and support all these local high school girls teams, because they all need the support. Fan support has been fairly low at this point of the season, as the gyms have been quite empty. Come on, don't wait until tournament time and then go. Lets fill the gyms like it was at the Powell Valley Classic earlier in the season.

Emory & Henry Recognizes Local Athletes

Head Football Coach Larry Bales of Emory and Henry College is hoping to win the Old Dominion Athletic Conference championship and will be relying upon three Lee County graduates to help his team.

Roy Flanary, Jr., a 5'8", 190 lbs. center is currently in close competition with two other freshmen for the starting lineup. He snaps the ball on all field goal attempts. Roy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fleenor of Route 4, Jonesville and is a history major at Emory and Henry.

Bobby Ledbetter, a 6'3", 215 lbs. Defensive Tackle, is currently running as a second team defensive tackle, but will play in any pass rush situation. Coach Bales says he has excellent potential and feels that with experience, "Bobby is going to be a factor in the future of Emory and Henry." He is an engineering major and is the son of Cordia Jean Alsup of Route 1, Pennington Gap.

Dorris Miles, a 5'10", 190 lbs. place kicker, has already made a contribution to the team's kicking game since transferring to the college. Due to his speed and size, he will be given an opportunity to play fullback. Coach Bales says "Dorris will be an integral part of our efforts to win ODAC." He is a physical education major and is the son of Mrs. Emma Miles of Jonesville.

Emory and Henry College is a senior liberal arts college of the Holston Conference of the Methodist Church since 1836.

Dryden Keeps Rolling - Tops Rye Cove 58 - 39

Dryden's Crusaders are for real! Last Tuesday they continued Rye Cove's streak for them. The streak is one that the Eagles don't like too much and that's a losing streak. Dryden topped the Eagles by a score of 58-39, in a game which they never trailed. The closest the Eagles got was by two points at 12-10, at the end of one quarter.

Dryden now is 5-0 over all on the season. The Crusaders placed four lassies in double figures with Joyce Swain leading the way with 15 points. Cheryl Reasor added 14 points with Vickie Kirk and Robin Woods scoring 12 apiece.

Rye Cove 0-3 on the year, was led by Kim Tipton with 12 markers. Neysa Osborne added 11 points.

This could be another banner year for the Crusaders, as they keep or at least seem to be playing better together as a team each game they play. Keep it up Crusaders, but beware of all the district teams, as they are out to beat you!

T. W. Pioneers Top Flatwoods 57 - 49

The Thomas Walker Pioneers finally got their regular season on the way last Thursday evening. Their season opener was suppose to have been at home on Tuesday of last week, but was cancelled. So the Pioneers opened on the road at Flatwoods and went home with 57-49 win over the Eagles.

Sonny Brooks Pioneers trailed only as the Eagles opened up a 16-9 first quarter lead and led by six points at the half. Thomas Walker got their running act together in the third quarter as they outscored the Eagles 11-6, to trail only by one point. The final quarter saw the Pioneers score 18 points, while their defense held Flatwoods to just nine points.

Thomas Walker now 3-1 on the year saw eight different players score, with Sallie Bailey leading the team with 11. Missy Brooks and Pam Hensley tossed in nine points each. Kim Davis who is a regular starter, saw her first action of the year. She scored 6 points.

Sherry Barber had her best game of the year, despite the loss, to lead the Eagles with 24 points. Brenda Graham added 10 tallies, while the Pioneers defense held the Eagles center Karen Glass to just four points.

Once Kim Davis gets back into tip top shape, the Pioneers will be a team that could give Jonesville and Dryden problems, as she is a team leader, and usually leads the Pioneer scoring attack. So beware Bulldogs and Crusaders as the Pioneers are out to get you!

Last Thursday evening, the Keokee Mountaineers traveled into Scott County, at Twin Springs, to face the Titans. The Titans never trailed in the game as they crushed Keokee 62-27, placing three players in double figures.

Twin Springs had a well balanced scoring attack with Pam Clark leading the way with 16 points. Tiersa Laforce canned 14, while Michelle Donelson added 10 points. When the game was over, eight different Titans had scored.

Things won't get any easier for the Bobcats next week either, as they will face the fast improving on Tuesday. Bobcats Defeat Twin Springs 7-0

The Pennington Bobcats gave head coach Bucky Meade his first win as coach at Pennington, on Friday of last week.

After coach Meade saw his troops lose a heart-breaker to Norton the week before, he had the Bobcats ready on defense as they completely shut down the Titan offense to win 7-0.

After a scoreless first quarter, Bobcat quarterback Chris Bowen found Tommy Gibson with a 27 yard aerial pass midway through the second quarter for the games only score. Tony Bailey split the uprights for the extra point.

Pennington piled up 277 yards total offense, with 222 coming on the ground. Gary Collier was the ground gainer for the Bobcats as he picked up 127 yards, lugging the pig skin 23 times. The Titans who were picked to win the district this year, got a total offense of 191 yards, with 171 coming on the ground. Mark McCarty had 150 of the 171 yards. He is a fine ball player, and will definitely make some college team a good player.

Pennington's defense was much better than it has been all year. The defense was led by the all around play of Todd Kirk, who was in on 17 tackles, and picked off one pass.

Bobcat fans can see their team in action again this Friday night, as they host the Honaker Tigers.

Jonesville Bulldogs 27, Rye Cove Eagles 0

Jonesville Bulldogs got their first win of the football season last Friday, with a 27-0 shutout of the Rye Cove Eagles.

Neil Johnsons Bulldogs went to work in the first quarter, with Tim Baker going over from one yard out for the games first score. Andy Rosenbaum, who is usually accurate on his point after touchdown kicks, was off wide to the right. Later in the same period Baker again scored from one yard out. Rosenbaum added the extra point, for a 13-0 first quarter lead.

The only scoring in the second quarter came on a 32 yard pass play from Joey Chadwell to Gary Oaks. After a scoreless third quarter, Bill Lambert closed out the scoring with a eight yard run, with Rosenbaum again kicking the extra point.

Joey Chadwell, the Bulldog quarterback was three for three in passing for 70 yards, with Oaks catching the biggest pass. Baker was the leader on the ground with 124 yards in 31 trips. Mark Rollins led the Rye Cove ground game with 52 yards.

The Pennington Bobcats seem to be in line for the best shot at the district crown as they need only a win over Rye Cove to set up a showdown with Jonesville in the last game of the season, provided the Bulldogs get by Twin Springs whom they need to beat to set up the showdown. Or should the Bulldogs lose to the Titans then the race for the crown could be on!!!

Flatwoods Eagles Squeaks By Pennington 45-44

Flatwoods traveled to Bobcat country last Tuesday night, for the district opener for both schools. It was a real squeaker with the Eagles coming out on top by the score of 45-44.

Flatwoods enjoyed a 13-8 first quarter lead, but saw the lead cut to three points at halftime behind some clutch outside shooting from the Bobcat's Sandra Ely. Midway through the second stanza, the Bobcats fell behind 17-10, but Ely hit three straight buckets cutting the lead to one point, before Flatwoods hit a shot to take the three point lead at the half. The Bobcats could never get the lead in the first half, but could have behind by a much bigger score if it hadn't been for Kim Roberts work on defense, as she pulled down numerous rebounds and hit a couple of key shots.

After Pennington took a 11-10 third quarter advantage to cut the lead to 31-29, the stage was set for the fourth quarter in which the lead switched hands several times before the game was decided.

With only thirty one seconds showing on the clock, Lisa Gilliam hit her only bucket of the game to give the Bobcats the lead. But after Flatwoods missed a shot, the Bobcats rebounded with twenty six seconds left. With the Bobcats controlling the ball, trying to run the clock out, Jackie McNie stole the ball and got fouled in the process. She hit both ends of a one and one situation to give the Eagles the lead at 45-44 with ten seconds remaining. Pennington came up court and was called for double dribbling. With four seconds remaining, the Eagles were called for the same violation. Sandra Ely put up a shot off of the inbounds pass, which rimmed in and out. Linda James tipped the ball up at the buzzer it just wouldn't fall.

Ely led the Bobcats with 22 points with eight coming at the charity stripe. Kim Roberts who was outstanding on defense was next with 13 points. Pennington shot 30.2% from the field, making 17 of 56 shots. They hit 10 of 20 free throws for 50%. Flatwoods was led by center Karen Glass who tossed in 16 points. Sherry Barber scored 15 points, with seven coming on a 7 of 8 performance at the free throw circle. It was Barbers free throw shooting that kept Flatwoods from falling apart in the last quarter. Jackie McNie, who hit the game winning points finished with eight points.

Even though Pennington lost the game, it has to be the best one that the Bobcats have played so far this year. The Bobcats like the Eagles made numerous turnovers in the game, but as a team Pennington seemed to play better and cut down on their mistakes more than any of their first five games.

Pennington is now 1-5 on the year and will be at Keokee tomorrow night to try and better their won loss record. The Bobcats only win, came over Keokee in the tournament held at Jonesville earlier in the Flatwoods by winning, ups their record to 2-2. The Eagles will have their hands full tomorrow night as they travel to Dryden to take on the Crusaders

Dryden Edges Jonesville Bulldogs 46 - 45

The Dryden Crusaders are now in the drivers seat, heading towards another district crown, after edging the Jonesville Bulldogs 46-45 last Tuesday at Dryden High School

Jimmy Peters' lassies had to come from behind all during the game, as they trailed 16-7 at the first rest stop. They started their comeback by taking the second quarter by a 14-12 margin, and then the third stanza by 11 7, to set the stage for the action packed fourth quarter. Cheryl Reasor and Long led the fourth quarter surge, to bring the Crusaders from behind. They also led Dryden in scoring with 13 and 10 points respectively.

Jonesville is now 4-2 on the year with both losses coming at the hands of Dryden. The Bulldogs were led By Dee Dee Brooks game high of 25 points. Sharon Jerrell added eight points in the loss. Jonesville made 3 of 9 free throws for 33.3%, while Dryden connected on 8 of 15 for 53.5%.

Both teams will meet again on October 8th at Jonesville, and should both teams keep winning until then, the game could be the key factor in determining the district winner.

Prayer by Nettie Mae Hopkins, scripture reading by Willie Sergent, Golden Gilley talked on Love, and Gaynelle Baumgardner read an article on Prayer. Mrs. Gilley played the piano for the singing —A business meeting was held in the afternoon with Vesta Muncey presiding. Different items of business were conducted, committees appointed, and a vote taken for the election of a member to serve on the Area Agency Advisory Council on Aging of Mountain Empire Older Citizens, Inc. Florence James was elected as the Advisory Council member.

—Mary Elizabeth Ratlifee of Rockville, Md., visited some of her cousins over the Labor Day weekend. She visited Vesta Muncey, Ellen Fletcher, Ruth Rutledge, Ollie Orick, and others in the Jonesville area. Some of them drove to Tazewell, Tn. to visit a cousin, Edward Burke, and another cousin, Lillie Eggers in Knoxville.

—Lee County Chapter No. 2765, American Association of Retired Persons held their meeting at Lee County Library, September 9. Stella Kelly, Vice President, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Betty E. King. A black candle was lit and Stella read a poem, in memory of Frank X. Bisceglia a member who has died since the last meeting.

—The guest speaker at the Chapter meeting was Lucille and Benita Peters, CPR of the Lee County Rescue Squad (Pennington Gap Unit) and gave much information about their work. They gave a demonstration of mouth to-mouth resuscitation on baby and adult mannequins. They gave a list of what to do in cases of drowning, heart attacks, strokes, suffocation, overdose, strangulation, electrocution, etc.

—The Rescue Squad is to be praised in the work they are doing in the community. They worked day and night Wednesday and Thursday when Harrison Morris did not return from a fishing trip. His body was found around 1:00 p.m. Thursday. He is the husband of Mrs. Maude Morris, one of the senior citizens of Jonesville.

—Julia Trivett, Irma Snodgrass, and one whose name I have misplaced, were at the Senior Center, Wednesday, making pictures for the Mountain Empire Older Citizens I.D. Discount Card Program. There were ten older citizens taking advantage of this program. Watch the Powell Valley News and listen to the radio for the time when they will return. Margaret Mullins, a member of the program, was unable to be with them due to the death of her husband on the preceding Sunday.

The guest speaker was Mr. Lowell Williams, Principal of Jonesville High School, and he spoke on Education. The Woman's Club is planning a bazaar for November 3. More about that later. Winnie Swenson read a poem, "Recipe For A Happy Life," before the meeting adjourned.

—Patients in Lee County Hospital need your prayers, cards, and visits. Here are some that we know and thought you may like to know about them, also. Roscoe Reynolds, James E. Poteet, Clarence and Laura Boone, Gerald Edens, Parr Wallen, B.F. Daugherty, Lola Gibson, Ascha Bush, Euna Mae Sexton, Don Hawkins, Thelma Barber, Jean Baumgardner, Ica Stewart, Rosa Tonker, Agnes Daugherty, Cephus Russell, Larry Bledsoe, and Clyda Newberry.

The National Republic

The Citizen's Responsibility

This Republic is as much endangered today by the indifference of millions of people, inheritors of the traditions and opportunities of this greatest of all nations, to their own duties and responsibilities, as it is by the activities of the open and secret enemies of American institutions.

Half of our citizens do not even take the trouble to vote. Most of the remainder consider their duty to their country discharged when they have cast their ballot and go about their business during the intervals between political campaigns, giving little or no thought to the national welfare.

Elements antagonistic to American institutions are not so indifferent or so idle. They are ceaselessly at work, in the open and under cover. They are never off the job of undermining the faith of the people in their country, in spreading unrest, in arousing discontent, envy and hatred -- those passions out of which violent revolutions are fashioned.

George Washington expressed the hope that the United States of America would not follow "the usual course of nations." The usual course of nations has been of the tide in its daily movements -- to rise and then fall. This nation cannot escape the usual fate of governments except through the vigilance of its citizens

It is human nature to take an inheritance for granted; to accept it as a matter of course, to deem it unnecessary to defend that which others have fought for, that it might be ours. And so, with many voices raised in criticism of American institutions, American traditions and American ideals, few think it worth while to call attention to the incalculable value of these institutions, traditions and ideals. How is a new generation to learn that there is anything worth while in them?

To fight for one's country when its life is threatened by violence is noble and heroic; to stand up for it in peace time is a virtue quite as necessary. And unless there be such virtue in citizenship, our traditions will be forgotten, our ideals neglected and our institutions will crumble.

What is more important to every citizen of this Republic than the perpetuity of the institutions which protect his life, his liberty and his property; what is of more priceless value than the national ideals and traditions which have given this nation its proud place in history? Yet how little thought the average man or woman gives to this most vital of all questions affecting the most precious things in life!

Institutions, governments, do not preserve themselves. They can be preserved only by the vigilance of those to whose guardianship they have been committed. Upon you, as a citizen of the Republic, rests a responsibility which cannot be shirked without danger to your country. Its future is worth something of your thought, so much of which is given to matters of less moment

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Are you tossing away handfuls of money?

By June Fuller

This year the companies whose products fill the supermarket shelves will make more than 9,000 different refund offers

These offers will return to smart shoppers more than $500 million in cash refunds, free products and a wide variety of gifts.

Are you getting your share of these refunds?

If you are like most supermarket shoppers, you are throwing away the box tops and labels that could easily earn you a mailbox full of refund cash. You may not realize it, but you have been tossing out handfuls of dollar bills!

But dry your tears of regret. I'm going to show you the secrets of refunding that will help you turn all those box tops and labels into cash. Even those of you who read this column regularly may pick up some new pointers

Forget about the people who say, "I couldn't be bothered." They are the same ones who cry the loudest about rising food prices

Refunders aren't crying. We're taking the vacations and buying the products that a lot of people have had to give up

Is refunding difficult?

No, refunding is easy. It is as simple as tearing the top off a box of cereal, writing your name and address on a refund request form and putting them in the mail

Today's typical refund offer is worth $1.25, and refunds of $3 and $5 are becoming common. Experienced refunders send for 10 to 20 refunds a week. That adds up to a lot of money

Wouldn't you like to have it in your pocket?

How much can you actually save by refunding?

Figure it out for yourself. Just add up the prices marked on all the national-brand boxes, bottles and cans as you throw them away. At the end of the week, divide the total by three

The resulting figure is the amount that you could be saving if you became a refunder. If the total came to $60, then refunds could put $20 back in your pocket

If this is the first time that you have read this column or if you have never given organized refunding a try, why not begin right now. Start saving all your national-brand box tops, labels, net-weight statements, Universal Product Code symbols and proof-of-purchase seals

You are soon going to be turning them into refund gold

Next week I will tell you about refund forms and where to find them

Here's a refund form to write for: Hershey's Summertime Savings, 19 E. Chocolate Ave., Hershey, Pa. 17033. This offer of a $1 refund and two 50-cent coupons expires Nov. 30, 1981

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below. Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Hal Clary Named CVC Coach

Clinch Valley College today announced the appointment of Hal Clary as an assistant coach in men's basketball. Clary's principal duties will be in scouting and recruiting, as well as running the Cavalier's pre-season conditioning program.

Coach Clary is a native of Hillsville, Virginia, where he taught and coached at Carroll County High School for the past four years. Three of those years were as an assistant to Dave Bentley, with whom he is reunited at CVC.

"Hal has worked with me for three years, and already has an excellent knowledge of our system, and has quickly acquired a good understanding of our personnel," stated Bentley. "His help, particularly in recruiting, will be invaluable. Recruiting is of utmost importance, and I feel very confident of Hal's ability in that area. I'm sure his on-floor coaching will help us greatly as well."

"Coaching at the collegiate level has long been a goal of mine," Clary said. "I feel that this is an excellent opportunity for me. The program here at CVC definitely seems to be moving forward, and I feel I will be able to make a real contribution."

Utility Rates Rise
$111,500 Upgrades St. Charles Water & Sewer

Congressman William C. Wampler announced last monday that the Farmers Home Administration has approved a grant of $65,500 and a loan of $46,000 to the St. Charles Water and Sewer Authority. The authority presently serves about 502 customers and the money will be used to improve waste water treatment and water transmission and distribution facilities. There are no plans to expand existing water lines in the area.

According to Wayne Garrett, a plant operator for the Authority, "They need it bad because right now a man has to work 24 hours a day to keep it going." He further explained that the money will be used to convert the plant's operation from manual to automatic. In addition to being more efficient, the automatic operation will free workers to do more work on leaks, meters, and all around better service As an example, Garrett said, "In the past, we spent three hours a day testing the water With this new system, testing will take ten minutes."

Jim Mooneyhan, the Mayor of St. Charles, said the plant was built in "1967 or 68" with a $320,000 FmHA loan and had never been upgraded

He also pointed out that the money will help repair some flood damage that had not been covered by the Flood Relief Program.

The St Charles Water Authority made the application about two months ago after several months of preparation of the information required by FmHA.

Much Interest Shown In Thomas Walker Unit Rescue Squad And Auxiliary

Not too many of us are aware of the great services being performed in our county by our Volunteer Rescue Squad - many people who give hours of their time and effort, without pay, and are on the job at any hour of the day or night when an emergency arises that needs their assistance. Neither do we realize the tremendous expense of the vehicles and equipment necessary for saving a life.

They are not asking anything for themselves, but they are asking for the interest and financial support of the citizens of this area, and of this county that the equipment they use - (one a makeshift ambulance) - may be in good repair and serviced with gasoline and good tires to keep it ready for traveling when a call for help comes.

These Volunteers have also spent many hours in C P R training classes that they may do their job efficiently and well.

Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation classes are open to those who are interested in becoming volunteer helpers, and are being taught without financial assistance by William Henry Brock and Mrs. Dickie Crumley.

The number of Emergency Medical Technicians now number thirteen, and they must continually pass the National Emergency Tests.

The Thomas Walker Unit now owns two ambulances, one of which is badly in need of repair. Does anyone know what it will cost to buy a NEW AMBULANCE?

Wade Wilson, Principal of Rose Hill Elementary School, is the acting Captain until such time as an election of officers is held this coming December.

Beulah Johnson has recently been selected to head the Auxiliary with the primary purpose of educating the public to the services rendered by the Rescue Squad and the financial needs of the Thomas Walker Unit.

Miss Johnson will solicit the help of interested people who will work with her in this Volunteer effort to support our much needed and busy Rescue Squad. They need Equipment.

Contributions may be sent to: Lee County Rescue Squad, Inc., P.O. Box 241, Ewing, Virginia 24248.

Molasses Making - (Almost) A Lost Art

Many years ago, a "stir-off" was a good reason for farmers to get away from their own harvesting chores and combine their labor to produce some good old sorghum molasses. It took a lot of hands to cut, crush, strain, skim, and can, but with all the neighbors gathered around, it was a chance to socialize as well as work.

The spirit of cooperative farming and neighborly socializing has not disappeared in nearby Poor Valley. Last week on the farm of Loren and Margaret Parsons, several experienced hands at "molasses making" joined forces to produce some of the thick, sweet stuff.

Helping Loren and Margaret were Clay and Lillie Jones, Cecil Evans, Hasque and Nell Slagle, Bertha Mae Fleenor, Luke Neely, Ross Brunner, Bruce Jones, John Parsons, and several other neighbors and friends who just happened to drop by to do a turn at the skimming pan and enjoy the aroma of warm mollasses.

On Tuesday, these "Mollasses Makers" cut cane man of the Board, Glenn Martin said, "We were in desperate need. A lot of people don't realize it, but all this money will do is to replace wornout, dilapidated equipment."

Martin further pointed out that users can expect a rate increase due to: a previous FmHA loan which has been in delinquency for several years, this loan of $46,000, and the ever present economic inflation that increases operational costs.

A Public Hearing is scheduled by the Authority for Wednesday, October 7 at 8 p.m. in the office of the Mayor of St. Charles All users of the facility shall have the opportunity to be heard concerning the proposed rate increase of $8.00 for the first 2500 gallons, $3.12 per 1000 gallons above 2500 gallons for the residential water rates, and a increase of $16.00 for the first 2500 gallons, $6.67 per 1000 gallons above 2500 gallons for commercial users

Proposed sewage rates will be one half of the water rates

According to Martin, "It was either this loan and operate or go out of business."

The football game and the presentation of the queen and her court were the highlight of Spirit Week at Pennington High The week long event was noted with awards for students and teachers dressed in school colors and home rooms decorated in ways to foster pride and spirit in the student body for their high school.

Community Boundaries Set For Lee County ASC Committee Elections

Community boundaries have been set for the Lee County ASC (Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation) Community Committeeperson elections to be held between November 27 and December 7, reports Roy J. Myers, Chairperson of the County Committee.

Lee County is divided into ten ASC Communities for ASC election purposes.

ASC Communities are local administrative areas which help provide farmers with effective farm program administration. According to Myers, these areas are reviewed yearly to determine whether boundary changes would benefit farmers.

A list of ASC Communities and the number of farms within each community is available to the public at the ASCS Office in Jonesville from Clay Jones' field and made about 35 gallons. On Wednesday, they returned to cut the cane from Loren's field and were busy when the NEWS was there. According to Loren, his field of cane would yield about 150 gallons of juice which would then be cooked to yield about 18 to 20 gallons of mollasses.

The critical part of the process is when the juice is cooking and the impurities rise to the top. Some people call this "frogeyeing", but according to Cecil Evans it's called "batwinging".

There's an old saying about too many cooks spoiling the broth, but in this case, all the cooks were experienced enough not to get in each other's way and the final product was the best this ol' boy ever tasted.

club's manager who learned that Wilma Lou was a country singer.

The club manager passed the word to the band that was performing that night and they invited her to join them as their special guest on stage.

Since she had just met the band members that night and had no chance to practice with them or even warm up her vocal cords, it was a grand opportunity to fall flat on her face - performance wise. On top of that, a Nashville audience is used to nothing but the best, more than one artist has returned from there with their dream of success smashed by the city's demand for quality.

Within minutes, Wilma Lou had this audience clapping their hands and stomping their feet in time to the music. She had a good audience response and her dreams are still intact. The city's demand for quality was met that night when Wilma Lou sang in Nashville.

Wilma Lou reports that her agent, Tony Searles of Nashville, is still working on arrangements for two appearances on television and a theatre appearance. He should not have any trouble now that Wilma Lou has "broken the ice" with the Nashville audience.

New Hospital

shows what cooperation can do."

Many hours of planning and working has been spent since August 1, 1977 when the hospital began operation as a non-profit community hospital to meet the health needs of Lee County and surrounding areas.

This new medical facility will consist of a four story hospital building containing approximately 68,000 square feet and three prefabricated medical office units and has entered into a contract with HBE Corporation, St. Louis, Missouri for both the design and construction of the hospital. HBE was formed in 1965 and has been or currently is involved in the design and construction of some 400 hospitals and related medical facilities.

The hospital building will be of brick and concrete construction and will have central air conditioning, a coal-fired boiler (with a standby dual-fired oil and gas boiler) for heating, smoke detectors, fire sprinklers and an emergency electric generator system.

The first floor of the new hospital building will contain approximately 27,900 square feet and will house the administrative and business offices, a lobby, medical records office, a five-bed emergency suite, a four-bed recovery room, two general surgery operating suites and one outpatient surgical suite, a six-bed intensive care/cardiac careunit, radiology, nuclear medicine, laboratory, pharmacy facilites, respiratory and physical therapy facilities and a gift shop.

The second floor of approximately 18,100 square feet will contain laundry, dietary, cafeteria, maintenance and storage and supply facilities, and will include all mechanical, meeting and inservice education areas. The third and fourth floors will each contain approximately 11,000 square feet and will comprise the patient room areas with a total of 74 beds (67 medica-surgical and 7 pediatric beds) in 30 semi-private rooms, 11 private rooms and three isolation rooms. Patient room areas will have separate audio and visual nurses call systems and piped oxygen and vacuum systems to be a happy one.

September 27, 1960

I like the memory of me
I'd like to leave an afterglow
of smiles when life is done.
I'd like to leave an echo
Whispering softly down
the ways,
Of happy times and laughing times and bright and sunny days
I'd like the tears of those who grieve
to dry before the sun.
Of happy memories that I leave
When life is done.

Loving and missing you always.

Rose Hill Homemakers Club

U.D.C. Meets

The Light Horse Harry Lee Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy held an interesting meeting on Saturday, September 12 at the Village Inn, Dryden, Va., at 2 p.m.

Mary Stickley, President, was in charge of the meeting, and Fannie Hatcher and Bernice Orr were hostesses.

Devotions given by Mrs. Charles Emmett were in memory of Lucy Embry, a former resident of this area, and well remembered by many whom she guided in earlier days when the first Home Demonstration Clubs were organized in the County. Mrs. Emmett read a poem that Miss Embry had written entitled, "My Life's Last Tapestry", which was appreciated by the group

The opening ritual of the meeting consisted of giving in unison the pledge of allegiance to three flags, the flag of the United States of American, the flag of Virginia, and the flag of theconfederacy. This was followed by the singing of Dixie which was led by Mary Virginia Edmonds.

The program covered a tour of the Holy Land related by Miss Stickley, who had recently returned from this exciting journey, and of which she gave the high lights.

It was a never to be forgotten experience of traveling the same roads that were traveled by Jesus of Nazareth almost 2,000 years ago, and relating to the things He saw and the things He taught which are of utmost importance in the lives of all peoples today who are aware of His presence in their thinking, planning and living, and who dare to live today as He lived then, bringing in the Kingdom of God to others, and being the Kingdom of God for others.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served to all present. Visitors were Miss Florence Bayless of Rose Hill, Mrs. John Carter of Jonesville, and Mrs. J. E. Langham of Pennington Gap Mrs. Lanngham also shared comments on the Holy Land Tour as she remembered it

Interior Decorating Program For Rose Hill Homemakers

Mary Stickley was hostess to the Rose Hill Homemakers for an evening meeting on Friday, September 11 with guest speaker, Mrs. Jerry Hounshell, bringing many helpful suggestions on planning and carrying through the interior decorating of a home.

The place to start as suggested by Mrs. Hounshell is with the people who live in the home, as the furnishings and accessories should be a reflection of the personality of the occupants of the home. Begin then by asking, where do I spend most of my time, and what resources do I have for decorating?

In considering the cost of decorating Mrs. Hounshell suggested that most of the budget should be spent on the area of the home where the most time is spent, and all selections should be functional or useful, have eye appeal or beauty, and be an expression of the individual person.

Preceding the program, devotions were conducted. Florence Bayless spoke of the life of Lucy Embry who was the first Home Demonstration Agent in Lee County, and told of her plans before her death on July 17 this year. She then asked Mrs. Snyder Harris to read a poem written by Miss Embry entitled, "My Life's Last Tapestry", which explained the many colors that she had woven into her life, and the meaning of the colors, which was appreciated by the group as most remembered Miss Embry with love.

Visitors were Mrs Hounshell and Mrs. Paul Poulston of Rose Hill, Mollie Edens and her daughter, Evelyn and Mrs Edgar Bacon of Jonesville Others present and enjoying refreshments served by hostess, Miss Stickley, were Mrs. Don Davis, Mrs Van B. Grabeel, Mrs. M. H Shackleford, Mrs. Royal Fugate, Mrs. Ocie McMellan, Mrs. Charles Emmett, Florence Bayless, Mrs. Snyder Harris, Mrs John Seale, Mrs. Oscar W Smith, and Mrs Willard Davis who presided and also conducted an interesting game at the close of the meeting, with Mrs Harris scoring the most points

The Pledge to the U. S. flag and the Virginia Homemakers Creed were earlier spoken in unison.

During the business session one of the decisions was to make a gift to the Civitan Club to use as first prize in the judging of the floats in the Christmas Parade in December, and the club urges other organizations also to make contributions to this fund

Sunday School Lesson

THE EVERLASTING GOD
Isaiah 40

Isaiah forty was addressed originally to a group of discouraged, depressed and despondent Jewish exiles. War had driven these Israelites from their homes and made them slaves in a foreign land. Hemmed in by the ruthless Babylonians and deprived of their cherished liberties, their courage and hope dwindled almost to the vanishing point. Concluding that God was not willing to help them, and broken in faith and courage, they did not have any desire to continue struggling.

Isaiah 40: 21-23

God sent Isaiah to them with a message which was designed to arouse the indifferent, to confirm the faith of the wavering, to convince the despairing that God had not forgotten them, to assure them that their iniquities had been pardoned, and to inform them that the time of their deliverance from bondage, for which they had been longing for years, had arrived. He wanted them to be comforted with the assurance of restoration to their homeland.

Seemingly they had lost the awareness of the presence and power of God, whose very existence was a positive and obvious proof of God goodness, graciousness and greatness. So, Isaiah dwelt upon the imcomparable greatness, majesty and power of God the creator, preserver and controller of the whole universe. He reminded them that God was above the circle of the earth and the vault of the sky, seeing to it that the heavenly bodies and human beings performed their separate functions according to His will. From God's elevated position men on earth appeared to be as small as grasshoppers, but that did not mean that they were not of any significance, importance or value. Rather, it means that God is infinitely greater than men, whom He has created and sustained. Isaiah tried to get them to put their implicit trust in this omniscient and omnipotent God.

Isaiah 40: 25-31

God, through the prophet, made it clear that it is utter folly for any man to attempt to fashion an image of God. Man cannot manufacture an idol of any sort which would have the slightest resemblance of God, or which would suggest His majesty. Since God is so much greater and better than all others. He cannot be likened to anybody or anything.

The stress and strain in this hectic age deplete the spiritual strength of many. Much of the current spiritual weariness, of those who are in the victims of fatigue of the spirit and of exhausted ideals, is evident in the cynicism, frustration, and "couldn't care less" attitudes of so many. However, it is good to know that even though multitudes are the victims of disappointed hopes, frustrated ambitions, unanswered prayers, and meaningless living, their situation is not hopeless.

In exposing human inadequacy and inability God said: "Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and th eyoung shall utterly fall." By this He meant that human strength at its best will fail, but the divine strength is sufficient for human needs. God's children, who "wait upon the Lord" with faith, hope and expectation, will receive a renewal of strength that will be adequate for whatever emergency may arise. Through waiting upon the Lord they shall discover that God's wisdom is unfailing and His power is inexhaustible, so they can perform their arduous duties in a commendable fashion. Waiting upon the Lord requires time, patience and discipline, but the benefits derived therefrom are worth all of the efforts which are required for doing so. Through the infinite resources which God provides for His children, they can rise to power and achievement and thereby bring glory to Him.

A Helping Hand

Don Scott, Captain
Lee County Rescue Squad
Pennington Gap Unit

Saturday was a big day for the Lee County Rescue Squad, Pennington Gap Unit. The fill dirt began to pile up as Detachment 1, of the 1031st Engineering Battalion of the Virginia Army National Guard trucks began to roll.

A request, the National Guard Unit located in Pennington Gap made, back in July and other administrative matters which were approved, made it possible for the National Guard Unit to show some of their skills as they hauled fill dirt to the property where a new squad building is to be built in the coming months

The dirt was loaded by B.J. Daugherty, using a front end loader loaned to the squad by Jack Turner and hauled by the National Guard trucks. A bridge was completed only days before the hauling began, with D&D Construction laying the form and the squad members finishing the job The Squad gives a special thanks to Curtis Russell of Russell Sawmill for his part in the completion of the bridge.

The Pennington Gap Unit of the Lee County Rescue Squad are in the process of getting the property ready to start construction of a Rescue Squad Building. Any and all donations of money, material, or block would be greatly appreciated

Our thanks to the following people or companies who have helped us get this far toward the construction of our future building.

1. Detachment 1, 1031st Engineering Battalion Va. Army National Guard, Pennington Gap, Va., 2 D&D Construction Company. 3. Southern Railway; 4. L&N Railroad, 5 Curtis Russell, 6. Powell Valley Rock Quarry, 7. Jack Turner; 8. Lanning ham Oil, 9. Fred Woliver

Nuclear Medicine Services To Be Offered At Lee County Community Hospital, Inc.

A public hearing was held recently at Lee County Community Hospital as part of the administrative Review process of the Southwestern Virginia Health Systems Agency.

Lee County Community Hospital plans to initiate Nuclear Medicine services by mid-September, if all approvals are received.

Mr. Ronald Bodary, Administrator, explained the reason for adding Nuclear Medicine Services is to improve the resources available at the hospital for both inpatients and outpatients Many patients who need this diagnostic procedure are currently being transported by ambulance or private car to facilities in Kingsport, Bristol and Knoxville. The cost of the services will be comparable with those other facilities.

The science of nuclear medicine is a blending together of radiologic diagnostic and nuclear physics. The basic procedure consists of either injecting or introducing a short-lived radioactive substance into the human body. Depending on the site, method of introduction, and medium used the radioactive "dye" is absorbed into the body -- selectively to study the function of various organs or body processes.

The flow of the dye may be traced using sensitive film or a scintillation counter (gamma camera). A trained physician will then "read" the scan and determine where a problem is and the extent of its effect on the patient.

Soft tissue studies are usually the major areas where Nuclear Medicine studies are most accurate. The thyroid gland, liver, brain, kidneys, pancreas, and lung are commonly studied using nuclear medicine techniques. Special radio-pharmaceuticals are used to selectively highlight these organs and their functions. Conventional X-rays are not very precise in studying these organs extensively. The combination of X-ray and nuclear medicine can assist physicians in better diagnosis.

Lee County Community Hospital, Lonesome Pine Hospital and St. Mary's Hospital propose to contract with Radiodiagnostic Imaging Affiliates, Inc. of Virginia for provision of shared nuclear medicine services. No additional manpower or capital resources will be required by the hospitals. R.I.A. of Virginia will supply the hospitals with a full capability gamma camera, personnel for performing scans, hot lab equipment, radiopharmaceuticals and necessary nuclear supplies. The hospitals will rent the equipment from R.I.A. of Virginia on a set fee schedule for each image performed.

Each hospital will have installed a rebuilt 10" gamma camera (Scinticam 370) with a 37 photomultiplier tube system. Minimal renovation at each hospital will include the installation of an exhaust fan in the nuclear medicine room of each hospital.

R.I.A., Inc. will provide a registered Nuclear Medicine Technologist who will perform scans at each of the three hospitals on a regular weekly schedule.

Interpretations of the scans will be provided by local certified Radiologists with training in Nuclear Medicine.

More Funds Needed — Share Your Love With Christie Vanhook

The Zeta Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi is continuing to raise funds for Little Christie Vanhook, four month old daughter of Dale and Lisa Vanhook of Big Stone Gap.

Christie was born with a rare birth defect known as Cruzone syndrome. This is a rare craniofacial birth defect which causes her skull to grow abnormally and if it goes untreated can cause severe deformity of the skull and facial bones and can produce mental retardation.

Christie had the first of two operations at the University of Charlottesville Medical Center, Tuesday, September 15. Christie was in surgery seven hours and came through the operation just fine. The doctors are considering doing the second operation within the next two weeks.

A special benefit singing was held by Col. James Jenkins of Tri County Auction Friday, September 11. Singers donating their time and talents were Jerry and Sandy Carter, The Messengers, The Kings Gospel Aires, and the Harding Family. Plans are underway for another singing Thursday, September 24.

A very special little gentleman to the sorority, little Freddie Luntsford, was a special guest performer. Little Freddie was accompanied by his grandfather, Charlie Maggard Freddie delighted the crowd with a song especially written for him by his grandfather. Freddie also helped the sorority members collect donations for Little Christie at the singing

There have been so many wonderful people who have shared their love with little Christie The chapter would also like to express a special thank you to Margaret Ann White formerly of Big Stone Gap who is now a student at the University of Charlottesville for her wonderful help in making arrangements for a place to stay for the family of Little Christie.

Congressman Wampler's Office and Bill Smith and Crystal Collier of the Regional Child Development Center in Big Stone Gap are assisting the family in obtaining some type of help with little Christie's medical expenses. Expenses will run approximately $65,000 for the operation and hospital stay alone. Dale and Lisa have no type of insurance coverage to cover these expenses.

A special fund has been set up for Christie by the sorority. Help is needed from everyone to enable Little Christie to grow up to be a healthy, beautiful little girl. Parents who have been blessed by God with healthy children are so fortunate. "Freely he have received, freely give

He further stated, "In a difficult period for the home construction industry, we are very pleased that a significant sales increase has been achieved. We believe that this new site in Pounding Mill will provide additional momentum as we continue to expand our service in 1982, our 50th anniversary year."

The Paty Company provides a broad range of building materials for consumers and contractors through six stores in Elizabethton, Greeneville, Johnson City, and Kingsport, Tn., and Bristol and Duffield, Va. Two Bus Length Motorcycle Jump

Don La Tray, the man who holds the world's record for motorcycle jump on ice-covered track, will be out for more long distance jumps from a 11 foot ramp during the Joie Chitwood Thrill Show at the State Fair, September 25-26-27. Don will send his motorcycle sailing over the distance of two large busses parked lengthwise. He is building distance and plans to try for the world's distance record of 176 feet within a year. His present record is 120 feet.

La Tray is a big man, weighs 225 pounds and stands 6 feet 6 inches tall. He is 26 years old and has been jumping since he was 16. His home base is Moira, N. Y. On a special stage, at Woody McBride's Restaurant at the State Fair, Jimmy Arthur Ordge will give several free performances daily for State Fair country music fans." One of the Canada's top male vocalists, Jimmy is bound to make a hit at the State Fair for a simple reason: the boy can really sing. Yep, he's country western and he strums a guitar. And he wears a black cowboy outfit and a 10-gallon hat but he also has one of the best voices to come along in a decade," so says the Entertainment Index. Jimmy Ordge is now moving up on the list of Hot Country Singles with number "Stay Away from Jim." He has worked television and concert dates with such notables as Roy Clark, Buck Owens, George Jones, and Ernie Ashworth.

Canine Parvovirus Infection

This new canine disease made a sudden appearance in the summer of 1978. Since that summer, it has spread rapidly throughout the United States, devasting the susceptible dog population.

Parvovirus is a highly contagious disease, striking most frequently in puppies under the age of six months. However, dogs of all ages are susceptible. The Parvovirus invades tissues of the dog that are undergoing rapid growth, particularly the intestinal tract, lymphoid tissue, heart, and bone marrow.

Two forms of the disease exist: intestinal and cardiac, which may occur separately or together in the same dog. The intestinal form is the most common, and is characterized initially by depression, loss of appetite, vomiting, and diarrhea (which may vary in color from yellow to red). Temperatures in puppies usually rise to 104 degrees to 106 degrees Farenheit. Older dogs may display normal to subnormal temperatures. Puppies readily become dehydrated, which, if not corrected, results in death. Treatment consists of fluid and electrolyte replacement, medication to stop vomiting and diarrhea, and antibiotics to prevent secondary bacterial infection. Mortality varies with the severity of infection but is approximately 75% in puppies, and less than 5% in adult dogs

The second form of canine parvovirus is the cardiac form, with resulting myocarditis, or inflammation of the heart. This results when the virus attacks rapidly in the cells of the heart, and is most often seen in puppies less than three months of age. Myocarditis causes puppies to stop suckling suddenly, cry, and gasp for breath. Death may follow immediately after the first signs of infection or may occur over a period of days to weeks. Mortality rate with this form is 100%. Unfortunately, there are no effective treatments for parvoviral myocarditis.

Transmission of parvovirus occurs through contact with the feces of an infected dog. The virus is very resistant to destruction once outside the dog, and may be carried on dogs' hair and feet, as well as contaminated shoes and clothing. Because of this, disposal of fecal material is a must in order to control the disease. The best disinfectant available is prepared by diluting one part "Clorox" to thirty parts water, which can be used in dog houses and applied to runs and pens.

Protection of puppies and dogs through immunization is by far the most effective and safest method of control. Puppies born to a mother that has not had previous vaccinations should receive an intitial dose at 3 weeks of age. This should be followed by a booster every 2-3 weeks until the puppy is 3 months of age. Additional doses should be given at 6 months and one year of age, and then every 6 months thereafter.

Puppies that are born to a dog with a complete history of parvoviral vaccination should be vaccinated at six, nine, and twelve weeks of age. Additional boosters should be given at 6 months and one year of age, then every 6 months thereafter

Recent Slemp Foundation Grants

At a recent meeting of the Trustees under the Will of C. Bascom Slemp at Big Stone Gap, it was voted to make a number of substantial grants in Lee and Wise Counties this year, using both accumulated, as well as current income, as follows:

A) The St. Charles Community Health Clinic is in need of large and improved facilities. The Slemp Foundation has granted the clinic $25,000 now with further grants of up to $50,000 more for a total of $75,000, if additional funds are obtained from others, towards the completion of its proposed building and equipment program. This small community has worked hard to provide for this very helpful clinic and deserves wide support.

B) The Lee County Community Hospital at Pennington Gap is in need of additional equipment. The Slemp Foundation has granted the hospital $91,760 for equipment felt necessary by its Board and Staff. This new equipment can be moved to the new hospital building when that building program is completed.

C) The St. Mary's Hospital, Norton, has been granted an additional $50,000. This grant is to be used toward needed new equipment.

D) The Southwest Virginia Museum, at Big Stone Gap, was voted $25,000 towards the State's current rehabilitation program which includes a new roof, window repairs, new electrical wiring and an apartment for its curator. The State will be spending much larger sums to carry out its rehabilitation plans. The State is looking forward to even greater use of the Museum, after interior improvements make possible more extensive exhibits.

E) Scholarship Grants - The Foundation continues to grant scholarships to many students from the thirteen high schools applying for college aid. Beginning this fall, each student selected as a Slemp Scholar, will receive $1,600 per year toward his or her college costs. Continuing college Slemp Scholars, whose grades continue to be satisfactory, will be increased from $1,250 per year to $1,600 per year. More than 95 students are currently approved for this aid for a total of $152,000 for the 1981-82 college year. Student grants have steadily increased both in numbers and amounts as the Foundation's income has increased.

Slemp Scholars have done very well as a group in their colleges, some outstandingly, indicating that their general educational training in Lee and Wise Counties must be comparable to that of students from other areas.

F) Other and Continuing Grants: Grants continue to aid the high school and college libraries in the two counties - most recently by $1,000 - each at last year end.

Grants have been made periodically to the Rescue squads in the two counties and there have also been a number of gifts to fire departments to assist in acquiring equipment and in building improvements.

Continuing grants are made to the Southwest Virginia Museum (established originally by Mr. Slemp and his sister, Mrs. Janie Slemp Newman) towards its annual operations, currently at a rate of $10,000 per year, up from $5,000 per year since its founding in 1946.

G) Some of the Larger Past Grants: Substantial grants have been made over the years to help hospitals and medical clinics, including gifts recently for buildings and equipment for the following:

The Lonesome Pine Hospital, Big Stone Gap - $100,000 in 1980 towards reducing its debt and additional needed equipment.

The St. Mary's Hospital, Norton - $50,000 in 1978 towards its new building.

The Western Lee County Health Clinic at Ewing - Part of the cost of its building and for new x-ray equipment. Substantial local effort went into the development of this clinic too.

H) Substantial sums were granted in earlier years to help build the following Public Libraries: C. Bascom Slemp Library, Big Stone Gap; Wise County Regional Library, Wise; and Lee County Library, Pennington Gap.

Funds have also been contributed toward the cost of bookmobiles and a recent grant was made towards repairs and improvements at the St. Paul Bicentennial Library, St. Paul.

I) Miscellaneous Grants: Grants have been made to the Mountain Empire College, for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, for the needy children's fund, for the outdoor theater at Big Stone Gap, for upkeep of the Slemp Cemetery and the Seminary Church building and to the Arts and Crafts Society for the John Fox, Jr. Home.

J) Limitations on uses of Funds: Mr. Slemp's Will restricts the use of his funds to its income, to benefit Lee and Wise Counties and their inhabitants. The two counties are most fortunate to have these economic benefits from Mr. Slemp's estate. While he spent many of his middle years in Washington as a Congressman and later as Secretary to President Calvin Coolidge, his love for his home territory is shown through his Will, with the establishing of his Foundation which will continue over the years to redound to the benefit of his neighbors and their heirs, in the two counties.

K) Reprinted book now available for Libraries: The Trustees have recently had a book reprinted which was edited by Mr. Slemp in 1926 about President Coolidge's years in the White House, entitled The Mind of the President. Copies of this book will be available for reading in all the local high schools, colleges, and public libraries in Lee and Wise Counties. The book recites many of Mr. Coolidge's view on public questions, selected and arranged by subjects. It is well worth reading in light of today's foreign and domestic problems.

Requirements For Graduation

The guidance department of Pennington High School is trying to help students meet graduation requirements by meeting with them individually and by sharing the following information with them

This is the time of year when seniors begin to panic wondering if they have everything necessary to graduate in the spring. The key is avoiding any complications at graduation time is to plan properly early in high school. Graduation requires 23 credits including certain ones required by the state of Virginia. These course are easy to fit into a schedule if they are taken at the proper times.

Every year a student needs to take and pass English. Two math courses are required. These should be taken in the eighth and ninth grades. Two lab sciences are necessary These should be taken during the eighth and ninth grades. New transfer students that attended the eighth grade in an elementary school may not be able to count their eighth grade science as a lab science. In this case they will get a credit for the course but will need two other lab science courses.

There are three required history courses. A student may take world history of geography in the ninth of tenth grades. U.S. History is to be taken in the eleventh grade and government is a senior course. The final course requirement is three years of physical education which are taken in the eighth, ninth, and tenth grades. All of these courses must be passed with at least a grade of 70.

Another requirement for graduation is to pass the Virginia Minimum Competency Tests in math, reading, and citizenship. The math and reading tests will be given to all sophomores each spring and three times a year to seniors if necessary. The citizenship test is given to seniors in government classes. New transfer seniors will be required to take these tests if they have successfully met the graduation requirements of the state where they previously attended school

Students planning to graduate early should note that they are not allowed to take two new subjects from one department in the same year. This means that it is not possible to take English 8 and 9 at the same time if the student has not previously had one of them. So to graduate early a student will have to attend summer school at least one year If he/she does not take six subjects at least one year he/she may need to attend summer school two or more years. It is only possible to take two subjects in summer school the year of his/her graduation.

A second type of diploma came into existence during the spring of this year. The Individualized Education Perscription Diploma of I.E.P. Diploma for short is designed for identified handicapped students in a special education program who have the required credits to graduate but have not taken or not passed the Minimum Competency Test.

Whether or not a special education student takes the Compentency test depends upon the decision of his/her I.E.P. committee. Any special education student who takes and passes the Minimum Competency Test and has the required number of credits will receive a regular diploma. The I.E.P. Diploma is not necessary for all special education students but it is a means of graduation for those special education students who do not pass the Minimum Competency Test.

The senior year should be a happy time. A student can make it happy by being prepared for graduation. Further questions about graduation can be answered by your local high school guidance office

NEW AND EXISTING PROGRAMS APPEAL TO COLLEGE STUDENTS

Student Loan Repayment Program Announced By Army National Guard

Students returning to classes this fall will discover a new way to finance their college educations. The Army National Guard announces that its Student Loan Repayment Program is now available to college students.

This new program, which may be coupled with either the Educational Assistance Program or the Enlistment Bonus Program, makes an attractive reason for a student to join the National Guard while completing his or her college education. College students are advised to consider these programs before September 30, 1981 due to changes that could occur after that date, pending the outcome of current legislation

The Student Loan Repayment Program will pay off a student loan at the rate of 15 percent of the balance or $500, whichever is greater, plus interest, for each year of satisfactory service in the Guard. Loans that qualify for this program are the Guaranteed Student Loan amd the National Direct Student Loan. The loan must have been made after Oktober 1, 1975. A student must be a high school graduate. While in college, he or she can enlist in their local Army National Guard unit for either three or six years. Local recruiters can provide students with up-to-date information on available openings and skill specialty areas that qualify for this program

Students who are approved for the Guard's Student Loan Repayment Program can also apply for one of the following programs while in college.

In the Educational Assistance Program, a college student can claim up to $1,000 per year to cover educational expenses during four years of college while studying for his or her undergraduate degree. After the student completes military training, the first payment will be made to cover expenses such as tuition, books and lab fees. The maximum payment is $1,000 per year and a total of $4,000. A student must enlist for six years in a qualifying specialty area.

Anyone, students included, can apply for the Enlistment Bonus Program. The National Guard will pay a total of $1,500 over a period of four years. To qualify, one must be a high school graduate, have no record of previous military service and enlist for six years.

All enlistees are required to attend initial military, or basic, training. Then Guard members attend an Advanced Individual Training Course in one of 400 specialties. To accomodate students' class schedules, the national Guard can arrange for the student to take this second round of training a full year after basic training, and during summer vacation. The Army National Guard is a "smart time" military service. The Guard pays its members for the one weekend of training per month and two weeks of training they are required to attend annually.

Students must pass mental and physical examinations in order to qualify for any of these three incentive programs. Bonus programs can vary slightly between states and some states offer additional incentive programs. Since program terms, payment amounts, and eligibility requirements are subject to change, students should contact their local recruiter for up-to-date information.

For more information regarding the Army National Guard's financial assistance programs, students should contact their local Army National Guard recruiter, their college financial assistance officer, their high school guidance counselor, or call the toll-free number (800) 638-7600.

Veterans Administration

Q -- I lost my leg in service and am receiving Veterans Administration compensation for it. Because of complications, I will now lose my other leg.

Can I receive additional compensation for this new loss?

A -- Yes. A law enacted in 1978 provides for an added monthly benefit for veterans who have suffered the loss, or loss of use, of one extremity due to service connected causes, and have then experienced loss, or loss of use, of the paired extremity from non-service connected causes.

Proper Selection Of Well Sites

According to Dr. G.C. Honeycutt, Jr. of the Lee County Health Department, homeowners virtually are on their own when it comes to insuring that their wells are properly constructed to prevent contamination.

Dr. Honeycutt said that the majority of wells that become contaminated are due to poor construction. Further, there is little he can do about it, he added.

"The health department has no authority to regulate residential well construction except in those cases where FHA or VA loans are involved or when a septic tank is to be installed on a lot in addition to the well," he said.

Also, the health department has no authority to force replacement of a well after it has become contaminated, he said. If a well becomes contaminated by a man-made action, the State Water Control Board can require the responsible party to clean up the environment if physically possible, but well decontamination is not always possible or practical. Dr. Honeycutt warned well water becomes contaminated, it tends to remain so.

"Proper site selection and good construction methods are the two most important measures to assure you safe water," said Dr. Honeycutt. The health department will assist homeowners in well site selection and construction recommendations but is limited by time and manpower constraints.

Even so, Dr. Honeycutt said he could use the resources of the State Health Department's Bureau of Toxic Substances Information to give homeowners advice regarding the health effects of a contaminant.

In the meantime, homeowners can do a lot to help themselves. For example, Dr. Honeycutt recommends that the selection of a well site should be preceded by an evaluation of the area for possible health hazards. Look for possible contamination sources such as a septic tank drain field, old pit privy, animal pen, Fuel tank, areas where pesticides and herbicides are used heavily, or old dumps, he said. These could rule out a well site depending on their condition. Even in a clean area, the well site should be on the highest ground practical and uphill from any potential source of contamination.

When entering into a contract for the construction of a well, the health department suggests that homeowners insist on the following minimum specifications:

* The well should be lined with a sleeve or casing to a depth of at least 20 feet. Concrete casings are normally used for bored wells and steel or plastic casings are used for drilled wells. This prevents the walls of the well from collapsing.

* The space between the casing and the wall of the well should be filled with neat cement. This is cement without sand or gravel. The grouting should be 1½ inches thick and to a depth of 20 feet. This will prevent contamination by surface drainage.

* The casing should extend a foot above the ground. A sanitary well seal should be installed atop the above-ground casing. It should overlap the casing and be installed with a rubber gasket. This will prevent insects, animals and small children from getting into the well.

* A concrete apron 12 to 18 inches in radius should be laid on the ground around the protruding casing. This will prevent contamination by surface water.

Dr. Honeycutt emphasized that a good clean well is basically the owner's responsibility.

"With proper site selection and construction methods, the owner can be 90 percent assured of having clean well water. It may cost a little more but if a well is constructed wrong there is an increased chance of having to do it again, plus the greater danger of a health hazard developing," said Dr. Honeycutt.

Recently appointed college board members for Mountain Empire Community College are (left) Mr. Jay Bowen, Scott County; (Middle) Mr. Gary Bevins, Wise County; (Right) Mr. Henry Spangler, Dickenson County. County ASCS News

Roy J. Myers, Chairperson of the Lee County ASC Committee, reminds farmers of the following:

Tobacco - Prior to the issuance of marketing cards, producers will be asked to certify whether they used DDT, TDE, Toxaphene or Endrin on their tobacco after it was planted. Price support is not available on tobacco treated with these chemicals.

Federal Crop Insurance - Damage to tobacco crops should be promptly reported to the county office. Lovelady DAR And Constitution Week

The Lovelady Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at the Village Inn in Dryden on September 19 at 2 p.m. Hostesses were: Mrs. Clyde Bishop, Mrs. Charles Bondurant, and Ruby Bailey.

Anna Ford Kelly, Regent presided. Following the opening ritual, the group joined in singing the National Anthem with Lucile Orr leading. Mrs. J.E. Laningham led the pledge to the American Flag, the American's Creed, and the Daughter's Creed.

Ruth Carter read the President General's Message and Mrs. John W. Laningham spoke on National Defense. Ida Stacy read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Walter Spangler gave the treasurer's report. She reported also the purchase of a large American Flag to be given to a suitable organization.

The chapter presented Barbara Rader with a book "Washington Landmark." Miss Rader is a new member of Lovelady from Rogersville, Tn.

The Regent spoke on the 200th anniversary of the end of the Revolutionary War which will occur in October It was in Yorktown that the British and the Americans met head on in the most decisive battle of the war.

On October 19, Victory Day in Yorktown, a half mile column of Colonial troops will pass in review before President Ronald Reagan and visiting dignitaries from France, Germany and Great Britian. Thus will end the festivities of the bicentennial events in Yorktown, 1981.

Mrs. M.H. Robbins, Chairman of Constitution Week, gave a most interesting program on "Our Constitution". Among a number of interesting visual aids on display was the famous painting "The Signing of the Constitution" by Howard Chandler Christy. Mrs. Robbins built much of her program around this. She gave the symbolic meaning of many of the markings on the dollar bill. Mrs. Robbins handed out copies of a test on the Constitution for the ladies to test themselves on their knowledge of the Constitution. She urged the members to take time during Constitution Week to read the Constitution. Through the efforts of Mrs. Robbins, the Major, Ralph Smith, issued a PROCLAMATION declaring the week of September 17-23 as Constitution Week in Pennington Gap. The Powell Valley News printed two articles about the Constitution and the radio station, WSWV, carried spot announcements about this patriotic event. The Chairman placed bookmarks in many of the High Schools calling attention to this particular week.

The meeting was well attended. Mrs. J.E. Laningham had as her guest, Hazel Cress and Bonnie Ball had as her guest, Jean Botts of Boone Trail Chapter DAR in Big Stone Gap. Lorene Glass, member of Lovelady now living in Bristol, was also present

Campaign Poster Law Explained

Political campaign workers and others were reminded today by the Virginia Department of Highways and Transportation that it is illegal to attach campaign posters to highway signs and posts.

In the months and weeks preceding election day, over zealous campaign workers often attach posters and stickers to stop signs, route markers, direction signs, and highway sign posts. Not only is it against the law to do that, but it is illegal to attach stickers or posters to any post, wall, tree, building, or other object within the state highway right-of-way limits.

The Code of Virginia (Section 33.1 373) makes it a misdemeanor to do so

In addition to the possible safety hazards from blocking out part of the sign's message, cleaning off the signs and picking up the posters generally has to be done not by campaign workers but by state road crews

Teresa Woliver Competes In Teenworld Pageant

Miss Teresa Woliver, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woliver of Pennington Gap, has been selected to compete in the Teenworld Pageant scheduled to be held September 25-27 in Staunton, Va.

The Teenworld Pageant stresses scholastic achievement and involvement in community affairs. They require that each of their contestants contribute at least ten hours of volunteer service to a group or civic organization in their community.

Miss Woliver has donated part of her time to the Carter Hall Nursing Home Adoptive Grandparent Program. Mrs. Carol Cox of Carter Hall said, "We are pleased to have Teresa participate in our adoptive grandparent program. She has brought much sunshine into the lives of Dora Collier and Annie Sheridan. She has faithfully visited these residents weekly since January 1, 1981 and has spent more than 30 hours with the residents."

Also Miss Woliver has contributed her time to the GFWC Penington Gap Woman's Club. Mrs. Larry Hobbs, who heads the organization, said, "We are delighted to have Teresa speak to us on "My Place in the World." She definitely has a place in the Woman's Club World! Teresa worked at least 18 hours with us this fall with our fund raising projects at the Lee County Fair and has participated in several International Affairs events as well."

The contestant having the most outstanding volunteer service hours will be awarded a U.S. Savings Bond and a trophy.

VEA Endorses OWW

R. W. Slocum, commissioner of the Virginia Division of litter control, announced this week that his division was very pleased to have received the official endorsement of the Virginia Education Association (VEA) for the division's new operation waste watch environmental Education curriculum.

Walter J. Mika, JR., president of the VEA commented, "Several of our members have had the opportunity to make use of the materials to date and have found many of them to be worthwhile and helpful in the classroom."

The Virginia Department of Education has also endorsed operation waste watch (OWW), and the National Science Teacher's Association recently featured the curriculum in their national magazine, Science and Children.

Operation waste watch was developed by the state's litter control agency to help young people acquire knowledge about waste disposal laws, practices, and problems. OWW offers seven units, for grades K-6; it was field-tested for two years and is now available to Virginia elementary schools.

Jan Robertson, Director of Education for the Division of Litter Control, reports that over 300,000 school children will be experiencing the OWW program next year. Over ½ of Virginias public and private schools have ordered their free copies, and more orders are coming in daily.

One educator was reported to have commented about Operation Waste Watch: "For a change, state government is giving something back to the people; and this thing really works well as an educational tool. Maybe the next generation will not be so wasteful and such litterers as we have been."

Please tell the Store or Firm manager you saw his ad in the Powell Valley News.

P.M. FBLA News

The beginning of a new school year is a time of interest and excitement for both students and teachers. This year has already been an exciting time for the afternoon FBLA Club at the Lee County Vocational School.

Excitement and fun! We are excited about our club and its work on the local, regional, and state level. September 18 was initiation day for the first year students. They came to class dressed as animals or movie stars. Everyone had a time of laughter and fun as the new students acted their parts very well.

The Lee County Fair always brings to everyone a feeling of anticipation, and it has become one of the high lights of our club's civic activities. For the past three years, we have been asked to help in the recreation program of the Green Hill Rest Home by escorting residents of the home to the fair. The FBLA members really enjoyed the two afternoons that we helped those who would not have been able to attend the fair unassisted. It was a satisfying feeling knowing that we had made it possible for them to have a "good time" touring the fair and seeing the crowd. We returned to our classes knowing that we had received more than we gave.

Interest! Both clubs are already planning our program of work for the year. This will include the Clinch Valley Region Fall Workshop, the Spring Contests, and the State Convention to be held in April at the Hotel Roanoke, Roanoke, Virginia.

Wildel J.R. Canter, right, Commander and W.F. Cox, Sr., adjutant of American Legion Post 185 of Jonesville were honored for their "Post" work with children and adults. They received the trophy at Pocahontas, Va. on Sunday, September 20 from the Department of Virginia American Legion conference.

There is another way to see absolutely everything for next to nothing.

Buy a season pass.

When The 1982 World's Fair opens on May 1 next year, Knoxville, Tennessee will become the center of the world. For six spectacular months there will be more to see and do and experience in Knoxville than anywhere else on earth. Every day will be a constantly changing pageant of world events, exhibits and entertainment. While the rest of the world looks on with envy you can see it all—and for next to nothing—when you buy a season pass. You can visit The Fair again and again, but you pay only once. And if you buy your pass now you can save an amazing 40% off the regular price. It's the bargain of a lifetime!

Take a look at the view from up here!

You'll see how much of a bargain a season pass really is as we take a trip into the future—right now. Let's move ahead to May 1, 1982. The World's Fair is open to the world. Towering above a man-made lake is the visionary Sunsphere™, 266 feet of sparkling silver and glass. You can soar to the top in one of three high speed elevators and in seconds find yourself in a gleaming multi-level complex where you can eat, drink and watch the world go by. Literally. Down below in the United States and international pavilions, people from over seventeen countries including France, Germany, Italy, Hungary, Saudi Arabia, Japan and Mexico are waiting to unveil some of the technological wonders of the world. They'll demonstrate fantastic solutions to world energy problems. Then they'll entertain you, sing for you, dance for you, feed you, make friends with you.

Fireworks, Ferris wheels and food-glorious food

Beneath you, the air is alive with the stirring sounds of marching bands, parades and entertainers. Every night the sky above you is ablaze with the most spectacular fireworks displays ever seen in Tennessee.

In the far distance, The World's Fair covers over 70 acres! One of the world's largest Ferris wheels dominates The Family FunFair™ with 15 different rides, including some from Japan and Germany never before seen in the United States.

You like shopping? There are over 80 different shops, stands and boutiques selling almost everything you can imagine, from all over the world. Everywhere from Paris to Pakistan. From Mexico to Morocco.

You can eat and drink at the top of the Sunsphere. Or take your pick of over 60 different cafes and eating places with food and drink from China, Japan, France, Italy, Mexico, Greece, Belgium, Germany and the Philippines. The more you like to eat—the more you need a season pass!

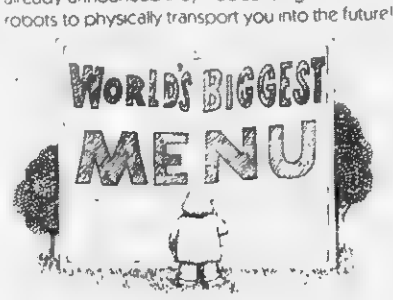
A whole world of entertainment

Even when it's time to come down to earth, you'll soon find yourself swept off your feet again. This time on the aerial gondola tramway which whisks you away to the folk life area. Here you'll find a constantly changing program of entertainment and craft displays with 15 different events each day on 4 different stages. You can watch everything from bluegrass, gospel and country music to fiddle contests and Appalachian dancing. You can even see illicit moonshine stills (empty alas!).

Throughout the six months of The Fair major sporting events and star studded entertainments will be held. With every kind of performer from Bob Hope and Bill Cosby to the Houston Ballet and Grand Kabuki Dancers of Japan. As well as a series of major concerts with the very biggest names in country music. There is an additional charge for these events.

See history being made

Until the day The World's Fair opens the exact nature of the international exhibits will remain closely guarded government secrets. But remember, The 1982 World's Fair is the latest in a great tradition of Fairs similar to those held in London, Paris, New York and Montreal. Over the years, World's Fairs have amazed the world with pioneering achievements as bizarre and different as aluminum, television, the telephone, the typewriter—even the ice cream soda and the ice cream cone. With energy as the theme for 1982 you'll be the first to experience fantastic developments in the use of energy which will change your life. Japan has already announced they'll be sending a team of robots to physically transport you into the future!



Buy your season pass now and it costs you just $60 to get 184 days of nonstop entertainment. (There is a small additional charge for entry to the Sunsphere and for rides and amusements.) After just a few visits, your season pass will have paid for itself. Then it's like getting every extra visit FREE. Don't wait for the price to go up. See table for details.

History Of Lee County Community Hospital

Lee County General Hospital opened its doors for service September 30th, 1930.

The Charter, made to Lee County General Hospital was recorded in Charter Book I, pages 389 and 374 at the Lee County Courthouse, Jonesville, Virginia.

The Directors elected were: Noah H. Short, President, G.B. Zetzler, Secretary and J. E. Laningham, Vice President.

On October 23, 1930, Mr. Laningham resigned as Vice President. V.M. Pence and J.V. Graham were elected additional Directors and V.M. Pence was elected Vice President.

The original stockholders were: Noah H. Short, G.B. Setzler, J.E. Laningham, Pennington Hardware & Furniture, A.G. Hyatt, V.M. Pence, W.D. Harr, R.C. Parsons, P & P Grocery, W.E. Zion, Trustees Pennington Baptist Church, A.T. Pennington, J.R. Legg and R.P. Stewart.

Up until the opening of Lee General Hospital the very ill and injured had to be taken by ambulance to the Norton Hospital. Upon one of these occasions, J.E. Laningham, undertaker, with ambulance service took a very ill woman to Norton. He had such fear that he could not make it, in time to save her life: that he made up his mind that he was going to do something about getting a hospital in Pennington Gap. Of course there were other such trips, but on this occasion he asked a young Doctor there if he would be interested in coming to Pennington Gap if a hospital could be secured there? He agreed and made good his word. That was G.B. Setzler and when the hospital was ready for his supervision, he and Mrs. Setzler moved into the nurses home. They spent their first nights in Pennington Gap in the Laningham home.

The buildings and grounds of the hospital today were the original groups of Lee Baptist Institute. This school was formed in 1908. An Academic Christian Institution and was numbered among the mountain Schools by the Southern Baptist Convention until 1910, when the Commission released its claim upon the school. Then the home board took full control and it continued under the fostering care of that body until 1929-1930.

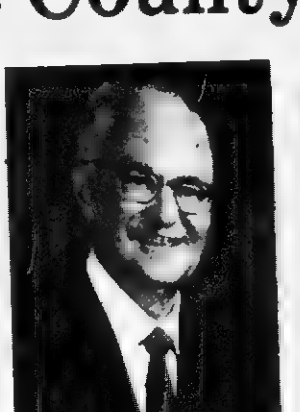
At the time the hospital took over there were three buildings on the grounds. The boys dormitory now used as the Nurses home. A large academic building was destroyed by fire. The hospital today was the girls dormatory. Of course it has been enlarged many times, until it has tripled or more in size.

The middle-age establishment (40 to 50 plus) remembers fondly "the good old days" when a cup of coffee cost a nickel ... a few pennies bought a day's supply of jawbreakers ... and the newspaper "extra" was the fastest means of communicating history

And the middle-age establishment "chapter" in Pennington Gap includes in their fond memories the founding of Lee General Hospital back in 1930 when the economy was slower and you got your money's worth in groceries.

Few hospitals can claim that they actually got their beginnings in a girls' dormitory, but Lee General did just that — a girls' dormitory that was part of the Lee Baptist Institute whose buildings and property were bought by the hospital corporation and converted into a 30 bed facilty.

The hospital, organized by a group of doctors, wasn't scheduled to open until December 20, 1930, but it opened nine days earlier to admit a sick patient who, for whatever her length of stay, had the full attention of the original 10-member staff and the late Administrator B.H. Wainscott.



G.B. Setzler, M.D.

Noah H. Short, M.D.

B.H. Wainscott

Mrs. Helen Wainscott

In its first year of operation, 576 patients were admitted; in 1961, there were 1,762 patients, and in 1970, a total of 3,458. By 1962, Lee General had expanded to a 40-bed capacity; by 1964, it was 50, and 1968, it became a 74 bed hospital, its current capacity. With an original staff of 10 people, it has grown to include a staff of 127 regular and part-time employees.

But, back in the thirties, specialization was not as prevalent. Mrs. B.H. Wainscott, now assistant to Administrator Hugh B. Drake, can recall that her husband was not only the hospital's first administrator, but also its bookkeeper, X-Ray technician and laboratory technician. In those days, an administrator often had more than one duty.

Lee General may not be a full service hospital or a teaching complex, but it has an emergency room and obstetrical facilities. In short, it has moved ahead with the times and keeps pace with the community so that tomorrow's "establishment" can look back fondly to the "good old days" of this era.

The hospital after almost forty one years in October of 1971 joined the extendicare Incorporated Groups of Hospitals, with Hugh Drake as Administrator and took over the management of the hospital, this operation lasted until August 1, 1977, when changes were made. New officers and directors were elected.

The present Directors are: R.C. Shelton, President, Ben Davidson, Vice President, Silas Culbertson, Secretary, Luther E. Jones, Rev Samuel Carson, Mrs. Rosanna O'dell, Ben F. Sergent, Dr. H.A. Kinser, Ralph O. Robinette, Clyde W. Orr, Sister Elizabeth Davies, Dr. Kelly Taylor.

After reorganizing, the Directors, August 1, 1977 at midnight changed the name of the hospital from Lee General to Lee County Community Hospital, Incorporated.

On May 1, 1976 a group of women organized a Hospital Auxiliary. It was chartered on October 26, 1978 Mrs. Anne Seabolt leader in the project was made President, and Mrs. Claudia Lee, Vice President. After two useful and successful years serving their term, Mrs. Pat Maggard was elected President with Miss Lucile Orr as Vice President.

After these nearly fifty one years of hospital care, we cannot estimate the value of this institution of healing in our Community and County.

We are grateful to the Doctors H.A. Kinser, Kelly Taylor and other doctors who have established the Clinic, known as the Pennington Medical and Surgical Group That is where you go to see if you are sick enough to go to the Hospital or go back home

Thanks to the Doctors, the Nurses, the Administrative and service Staffs. The Pink Ladies and all those who have served in any capacity Your labors has brought solace to the dying, ease to the suffering, and hope to the living. May you always find satisfaction in your sympathetic Service.

This information by Anne W. Laningham was presented to the Lee Auxiliary earlier this year.

The Jonesville Bulldogs evened their record at 2-2 last week with a thrilling 21-14 victory over the Garden Green Dragons.

Terry Shortridge gave the visitors the lead early with a five yard run, but the passing by Joey Chadwell to Gary Oaks quickly put the Bulldogs in front at 14-7. Oaks caught passes of 56 and 70 yards for touchdowns in the first quarter The score remained 14-7 until the Green Dragons got a fine 74 yard run from scrimmage by fullback McNulty. The extra point was good to tie the score at 14. It stayed that way until the final few seconds, when Garden was forced to punt. Tim Baker fielded the punt and returned it to the end zone as the clock ran out, giving the Bulldogs a 21-14 victory. Garden went into the game, picked by most sportswriters to win, but the Bulldogs turned the score in their favor.

Tim Baker gained 177 yards in 17 trips, and scored the game clincher. The Bulldogs like the Bobcats are on a two game winning streak. Keep it up Bulldogs, but beware because the road will get rougher.

A Long TD Pass ....

Thomas Walker Bombs Rye Cove Eagles 56-25

The Thomas Walker Pioneers won big last Tuesday, as they bombed away on the completely outmanned Rye Cove Eagles.

The Pioneers treated their home fans to some good defense throughout the game, but especially the first quarter when they held the Eagles to just two points, while scoring thirteen. The 31 point loss is the worst Rye Cove has been beaten this year, and its the worst the Pioneers have beaten anyone by

The Eagles didn't have anyone with more than 6 points. Kim Tipton, Neysa Osborne and Carter all had 6 each. Salley Bailey led eleven Pioneers in scoring with 14 points. Rosanna Wilder added 8 points. Thomas Walker is now 4 1 overall, and 2-0 in the district

The Pioneers and Dryden Crusaders are the districts only unbeaten teams, but that will change tomorrow night when they tangle at Ewing Virginia

Jonesville Behind Brooks Rolls By Pennington 60 - 37

The Jonesville Bulldogs played host to the Pennington Bobcats, on Tuesday of last week. The result was 60-37 in favor of Jonesville, as they rolled by the Bobcats with Dee Dee Brooks leading the way.

The game started out as though the Bulldogs might have their hands full as Sandra Ely scored the first two buckets of the game, for a 4-0 lead by Pennington. But that was to be the Bobcats only lead of the game as the Bulldogs started to bomb away at the nets, with Brooks being the big gun. Jonesville took a 16-9 first quarter lead, with Brooks tossing in ten points.

In the second quarter, Jonesville edged Pennington 11-10. But in the quarter with 2:44 remaining, Brooks picked up her third foul and sat out from that point, until the start of the third quarter. In that final drive of the game, she scored twelve more points to finish with a game high of 24 points.

The Bobcats managed to cut a eleven point Bull- dog lead to six points late in the third quarter, but then they started trying to get the ball inside to Ely and Kim Roberts without success, as the Bulldogs would either steal the pass, or the Bobcats would throw it away. Then the Bulldogs started pulling away as they opened up a fifteen point lead to start the fourth quarter.

Leading the Bulldogs in scoring besides Brooks 24 points, were Sharon Jerrell with 14 points, and Cindy Terry with 9 markers. The Bulldogs as a team, hit 25 of 52 shots from the floor for 48.4%, and only 10 of 28 free throws for just short of 36%

Dryden is 9-0 on the year, with a 4-0 district worksheet. They got 15 points from Robin Woods while Joyce Swain managed 8 points. The Crusaders which played at Twin Springs last night will get a strong test tomorrow night from Thomas Walker. Should the Crusaders get by the Pioneers still unbeaten, they would only have to get by Pennington next Tuesday to set the stage for a crucial district game against Jonesville on October 8th, which will have a lot to do with deciding a district champion this year.

Flatwoods was led by Karen Glass with 16 markers, while Sherry Barber was limited to 6 points. No other Eagle had more than three points. Flatwoods stands 3 4 overall, 2-2 in the district.

Vikings Rip Rye Cove 53 - 40

In a non-district game played on Monday of last week, the Powell Valley Vikings ripped the Rye Cove Eagles 53-40. The game was played in Scott County, so the Vikings enjoyed their ride home even more with a victory over the Eagles.

The outmanned Eagles tried to slow the tempo on the faster Vikings in the first quarter and did to some degree, as they trailed only by one point 7-6 at the first rest stop. The game wasn't put out of reach until late in the third quarter, when Powell Valley opened up a eighteen point lead. After the Eagles cut the gap to ten points, they played the winners on fairly even terms in the fourth quarter, losing the final quarter only 16-13. Rye Cove had several chances to get back into the game, but couldn't get their shots to fall in the late going.

Powell Valley was led by Angie Hamilton's 20 points. Page Slagle added 11 points. Rye Cove was led by Kim Tipton who scored 13. She is the Eagles team scoring leader. The Rye Cove lassies will be at Keokee tomorrow night, and then will host Flatwoods this coming Tuesday.

Rye Cove Eagles Hold Off Twin Springs 38 - 36

Last Thursday night, the Rye Cove Eagles held off the Twin Springs Titans 38-36 in a game that switched leads back and forth before the Eagles took the win.

Rye Cove enjoyed their biggest margin of difference in either quarter in the first as they led by four, before the Titans came alive to come back and lead 14 10 at the end of the same stanza. The game stayed fairly close throughout, with the Titans clinging to a two point lead heading to the final quarter. In the last eight minutes of the game the Eagles scored 13 points to 9 for Twin Springs to take the win.

Twin Springs outscored Rye Cove from the field 32 28, but with the Eagles hitting 10 of 20 free throws for 50%, lost the game when they could only convert 4 of 14 free throws themselves for 28.8%. The Titans are winners of only one district game this year to date, with the win coming against Keokee, which is in the cellar of the Cumberland district.

Rye Cove was led by Kim Tipton and Karen Hobbs with 11 points each. Twin Springs was led by the game high of 14 points by Teresa Sexton and Jo Ann Begley. Michelle Donalson added six points in defeat

Both teams seem to be improving, and could be a team to spoil someone's record before the season is over.

Two 'Cats tip away a Tiger pass in the end zone.

Pennington Edges Honaker Tigers 10 - 9

The Bobcats gave their home fans some action packed moments last Friday night, especially in the last minute of play.

The Honaker Tigers defense which held the Bobcats rushing to 59 yards had 178 yards total offense while Pennington got 74 through the air.

Honaker scored first, when late in the first quarter, the Tigers Barry Miller scored on a 18 yard jaunt. The extra point attempt was good for a 7-0 Tiger lead.

The Bobcat defense led by Todd Kirk came alive, and shut down Honaker's offense until the last quarter. In the meantime, the Bobcats got a 30 yard field goal from Tony Bailey to trail Honaker 7-3 at half time.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Bobcats got the lead in the fourth when Jeff Moore bulled his way into the end zone for six points. Bailey booted the extra point for a 10-7 lead.

Pennington was backed up to the goal line in their own territory with less than a minute to go. Bucky Meade, the Bobcat coach, instructed his quarter back, Chris Bowen, to take a safety, cutting their lead to 10-9, rather than chancing a return on a punt or a turnover giving the Tigers a chance to win the game.

Both teams had one turnover in the game, with the Bobcats intercepting a pass, and then losing a fumble to the Tiger defense.

Bucky Meade in his first year as Bobcat head coach has seen his team bounce back from two losses to even their record at 2-2 on the year. The Bobcat defense is getting tougher each time out, and might give someone some problems before the year is out.

Keep up the good work coach Meade. The Pennington fans are behind you and the Bobcats. Get them ready through a good workout today and tomorrow and beat the Eagles Friday night.

Sandra Ely, the Bobcats scoring leader was held to 5 points. Pennington is now 2-7 on the year, with both wins coming over Keokee. The Bobcats made 16 of 27 free throws for 59%.

The Flatwoods Eagles pushed their overall record to 3 3 last Tuesday with a come from behind win over Twin Springs 44-33.

After a close first quarter which saw the lead change hands a couple of times, the visiting Titans took the stanza at 10 8. The Eagles behind Sherry Barber and Karen Glass, started burning the nets in the second frame to take a one point advantage at the half.

The Eagles were a bit slow in the third quarter, as they missed several opportunities to bust the game open. Twin Springs took the quarter 8-5, for a 30-28 lead to start the final quarter.

It was all Eagles in the final quarter as Flatwoods behind Sherry Barber out pointed Twin Springs 16 3 to make the final 44 33.

First Woman To Pastor Lee County Methodist Church

There are thirty United Methodist Churches in Lee County with a total of 2850 members, a part of the Big Stone Gap district in Holston Conference, one of 55 counties that comprise the 73 geographical conferences of United Methodism in America.

Each June the pastor of the 1025 churches in Holston Conference is selected to serve for another year, or moved to another church. To all the 187,491 official members of the conference, Sunday following moving day brings excitement, whether they lost a pastor or meeting a new pastor.

This past June 1981 brought Meg Taylor, thirty-two years old and her nine year old daughter, Mary Jo to Lee County beginning her first pastorate at Jonesville Parish. The first and only woman in Big Stone Gap District with only two women pastors in the Virginia section with fifteen women ordained ministers in Holston Conference.

Meg is not a stranger in this section of Virginia, she has lived in the south for fourteen years, spending her early years in Washington State and Oregon. Her mother, Mrs. C. B. Olmstead lives in Oregon and her father, Ben Grote resides in California.

For three years Meg lived in Norton and worked in Big Stone Gap at Heritage Hall as social worker and activities director resigning this position to attend Seminary. While she was twenty-six years old Meg felt she was being called to the Ministry while she was twenty-six years old but being a woman she did not seriously consider the idea until she felt God had [illegible] only then did she make plans to enter Ashury Theological Seminary. While more, Meg graduated May [illegible] year.

Being part of Holston Conference as a pastor for Meg besides the churches there are several colleges, universities and health care centers and hospitals and she is responsible according to Holston United Methodist Newspaper published September 11, 1981 a new book will soon be available from Cokesbury entitled Women In New Worlds. From the beginning adults play an important role in helping the child master language and speech by playing dialogue games and babbling back.

When baby babbles, two things happen at the same time. He "feels" something and he "hears" something. When he feels is his own activity, movement of lips, tongue, jaws, vocal cords. What he hears are the sounds which his own activity produced. Different sounds "feel" different, the same sound (in time) comes to have the same kind of "feel."

In babbling, the baby is beginning to develop an automatic memory for what kind of "feel" makes a particular kind of sound. When he begins to make words the memories are all there, wired in so that when he wants to make a word he knows automatically how to make the sounds. Babbling helps get this complicated process going.

Encourage a baby's verbal skills. Imitate what he says. It doesn't matter if what he says back doesn't sound like what you said. He's still listening and learning.

Cash Tips

Persons who receive cash tips should know that they count for Social Security credit, R. L. Kelly, Social Security manager in Norton, said recently.

People who work in a variety of jobs such as waiters and waitresses, and barbers and beauticians, for example -- are earning important Social Security credit with their tips. Many of them don't realize that these tips mean higher benefits for themselves and their families later on.

Not all tips can be counted for Social Security purposes. Cash tips must amount to at least $20 a month while working for one employer. Furthermore, tips other than cash, such as merchandise, do not count.

An employee's wages and tips are reported by his or her employer each year to the Social Security Administration, where they are credited to the worker's earnings record. The employer also shows the amount of uncollected Social Security taxes due on the tips reported.

Cash tips not reported to the employer must be reported directly to the Internal Revenue Service. The necessary forms and additional information about reporting income from tips can also be obtained from any Internal Revenue Service office.

Daniel Gibson and Joe Schauer won their respective divisions in the First Annual 5-Miler Road Race sponsored by Detachment 1, 1031st Engineer Company of the Virginia National Guard.

Schauer turned in a time of 35:45 in the 30-Up bracket with Jack Osborne following in second place at 40:38 and Debbie Holman finishing third at 43:30. Holman was the only female entrant, therefore she was placed in the 30 and Up bracket despite her early 20s age.

The race was held Saturday, September 5 and followed a course beginning at the Elk Knob Elementary School in Woodway and ending at the Lee County Fair Grounds. Trophies were presented by Captain Sumner and refreshments were served by the National Guard.

The Second Annual 5-Miler Road Race will be held next year during the Lee County Fair under the dual sponsorship of the Virginia National Guard and the Michigan Mining Company of Pennington Gap. The Guard and Michigan Mining urges everyone to have a physical fitness program and to begin planning on entering next year's race

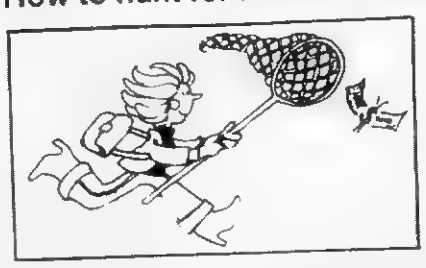
How to hunt for refund forms



By June Fuller

Would you like to save $50 to $100 a month on your grocery bills? The key that will open the door to these tremendous savings is the refund form

This year manufacturers will make more than 9,000 refund offers that will return hundreds of millions of dollars to the smart shoppers who know how to take advantage of them

Most refund offers are printed on "store forms." These are dollar bill-size pieces of paper that are usually bound into pads of 35 or 50 and attached to the super market shelves by manufacturers' salesmen

As you walk down the supermarket aisles, watch for these pads of refund forms When you find a pad be sure to take only two forms — one for you and one to trade

The shelves aren't the only place to find refund forms in the supermarket Some thoughtful store managers have set up "refund centers" and refund-form bulletin boards

If the store has a courtesy desk or a customer-service counter, be sure to stop by and ask whether there are any refund forms Don't be afraid to ask the store manager directly, salesmen often leave extra pads with managers

Neither is there any reason to be shy about asking clerks whether they have seen any forms Clerks have often brought me handfuls of forms that were lying around in the area where they unpack the merchandise

If you see salesmen arranging a display or counting inventory, ask them for some refund forms Most are delighted to hear that you are interested in their products

Don't forget to look for refund offers on specially marked packages The shelves are full of them Big circles, color bursts and banners announce "$2 refund See details on back"

In some stores you will find more refund forms printed on the backs of specially marked packages than on pads attached to the shelves You will find dozens of these packages once you start looking for them

Don t walk out of the store without asking the cashier whether he or she has any refund forms In some supermarkets and discount stores, the cashiers keep refund forms under the checkout counter A friendly greeting, a smile and a polite request may bring you an unexpected bonanza of refund forms

The supermarket is just the first place to look for refund forms Next week I'll tell you about some of the other places

Here's a refund form to write for Rubbermaid Shelf Liner Free Roll, 1147 Akron Road, Wooster, Ohio 44691 This offer expires Nov 30, 1981

Here is this week s list of refund offers Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country

PHS Band Booster Club News

On September 19, the Pennington High School Bobcat Band traveled to Norton to participate in the Norton Fall Festival.

The Bobcat Band participated in the Division II competition taking the second highest award in their Division with a score of 85. Other bands competing in this Division were Coeburn, J.J. Kelly, Powell Valley and Virgie, Ky.

With the Bobcat Band performing first, the majorettes took third place with Wise coming in first and Powell Valley second. The majorettes are Pegi Beller, Linda James and Carolyn Wright.

Over all, the band has done extremely well, considering they have only performed on the field three times this year.

Mr. Bill Berg, director, expresses his satisfaction with the band performance, particularly, the drum section. This is a fairly young section of the band with most of its members entering the eighth grade this year from the various elementary schools.

Several comments have been made to this reporter from the Bobcat fans that the Flag Team is stepping a little higher this year. The Flag Team has come a long way considering the little practice they have had. The girls attended Flag Camp at UT this past summer. Returning members this year are Elaine Wright, Beth Wallen, Rhonda Hilton, Penny Stewart and Denise Pennington. Newcomers this year are Robin Bruner, Stacy Olinger and Sandra Muncey. Returning also for her second year as Drum Major is Karen Sage. Karen is a senior this year.

The Bobcat Band has several trips coming up. They will be traveling to Wise, October 3, for the Lonesome Pine Festival and to Big Stone Gap on October 17, and of course, the Bobcat Band will again lead off in the Lee County Tobacco Festival on October 24, in Pennington Gap.

As on every trip the band makes, chaperones must accompany the children. Chaperones on these trips are Joyce Olinger, Ailene Shepard, Linda Suggs, Helen Stapleton, Audrey Burgan and Ernestine Rasnic. Without these ladies and their willingness to travel with our band, these trips would not be possible. Many thanks to them and to all the people who keep our band going.

The Bobcat Band will accompany the Fighting Bobcat football team when they travel to Rye Cove Friday night to "beat" the Rye Cove Eagles.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to bring to your attention and to ask you to tell your public of the new and exciting breakthrough for diabetics to very successfully control and reduce their excess blood sugar to it's normal level which will prevent organic and eye deterioration.

Being a diabetic I'm acutely aware of the above having lost my right eye in a plane crash. We lost an engine and did not quite make an airport one night. Now I find my good eye had deteriorated severely from poor control of my blood sugar, and I am having difficulty reading, driving, etc. However, having just attended the University of Virginia intensive diabetes unit clinic for ten days I feel there is a real chance of no further deterioration. Looking forward to blindness is not fun, nor is a laser ray treatment, for that matter. I can also feel other positive side effects such as elimination of body pain and mental stress, elimination of naps and reduction of sleep at night by at least two hours. My body feels stronger and better toned from the well balanced diet and exercise programs received

Of greatest importance, this new breakthrough will add years of life to young and older diabetics thru the scientific control of the newly invented dextrometer plus the related controls of exercise and diet. Thus the major technological breakthrough of the dextrometer, a small pocket size computer, gives an instant and exact blood sugar count to diabetics. The dextrometer allows them to accurately administer to themselves correct dosages of insulin

This meter, only two years old, is the first honest to goodness break through for diabetics to control this incurable malady! The ten million diabetics in the U.S.A. need great help from the media to be told about this meter and the necessary correlation of diet, exercise and insulin intake. Only 50,000 dextrometers are in use now.

Several other clinics such as the Joslin Center in Boston are conducting similar clinics, but the University of Virginia Clinic, located on a lovely plateau overlooking Charlottesville, is the nearest.

When one enters the clinic he or she is generally out of control of their blood sugar - I was. I entered at a count of about five hundred! Three hundred is considered somewhat dangerous! Upon discharge I was however in the low two hundreds, still somewhat high but liveable.

With further diet, exercise and practice, this has declined to around one hundred and fifty. Four times daily a nurse at the clinic checks and helps you to perfect the technique and skills of properly operating the dextrometer. There are also excellent lectures several times a day in related subjects of stress, foods, diet and related body functions.

One can also learn to operate the dextrometer at home, but it would be somewhat more difficult.

Sooooooo! I do hope you will give good coverage to this new and exciting aid to us diabetics. I know I am thrilled with my experience at the clinic. Others should have the same experience.

I hope you will send a member of your staff to visit the clinic. The phone and address are as follows:

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Since for the first time in several years, people are discussing possible progress in educational facilities, I would like to express my opinion concerning the school-related controversy in Lee County.

I think the newly organized HELP Committee, Inc., has been very instrumental in bringing about this renewed interest. In the past few months, HELP has repeatedly pointed out the inadequacies and unsafe conditions that exist at Jonesville Elementary School in Jonesville, Virginia. Parents making up the HELP organization have been labeled "troublemakers" because we are "bucking the system" and asking questions concerning the educational process in Lee County. Parents pay the taxes that finance our schools and should have every right to say how this money is being spent and be a part of the decision making.

Last week I read that the Superintendent of Schools and the Lee County School Board support a three high school concept which would involve building two new schools. Lee County's Administrator argues that one new high school would be sufficient for now. The Lee County Board of Supervisors has only told us what they will not do for school improvement in Lee County. They do however, state that lack of money is the reason we are unable to build new facilities. In my estimation, we cannot afford NOT to build them. One cannot put a price tag on a CHILD'S LIFE! Money certainly wasn't a problem when the new courthouse addition was built. I believe that the Lee County Board of Supervisors do not want to take the responsibility of building new schools. Who would take the responsibility if a tragedy occurred at one of our elementary schools and children's lives were lost?

The only action in this county is going to come from the people. I implore YOU to call or write your representative on the Board of Supervisors and let him know how you feel concerning school improvements in Lee County.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Pat W. Fortner

Powell Valley News,

I am trying to get some information about my great grandmother. All I know about her is that she was born in Lee Co. Va. and that she burned to death on Christmas Eve between the years of 1899 1904. Her name was Rosa Bell Thompson Hodge. Her husband's name was James M. Hodge. Is it possible that your paper has an obituary collection for these years? I will gladly pay someone to check the files for me and copy the information for me.

Thank you

ABC Profits Distributed

Profits generated by the Virginia Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control for the fourth quarter (April through June) of the 1980-81 fiscal year have resulted in distribution of $4,945,740.10 to Virginia's counties, cities and towns.

The figure represents two-thirds of the Department's profits for the period following statutory adjustments and a one-third distribution to the General Fund of the Commonwealth.

Profits come largely from the sale of distilled spirits, cordials and wines at state-operated ABC stores. ABC profits are distributed on a per capita basis at the rate of 92.5 cents for the current period.

Counties and cities will also share on a per capita basis $761,692 that was generated from the sale of wine. Under the liter tax, 72 percent of the total tax collected from the sale of wine is earmarked for distribution to counties and cities, and 66 percent of the tax goes to the State General Fund. The remainder is retained by the ABC Department as operating revenue.

Distribution Of ABC Profits
4th Quarter 1980-81 Fiscal Year

Jonesville $808.52, Pennington Gap - $1,587.43; Lee County - $21,392.50.

By Betty Joan Moore

Virginia Tech Extension Service agents provide continuing education programs, information, services - for everyone. Miss Moore is with the Lee County office at 346-1522.

Yes, you have a role in preventing crime. All of us do if we really want to stop crime in our society. The great thing about being personally involved in crime prevention is that it is easy, costs little or nothing, and can be done with only a few minutes of your time.

To help prevent the theft of your automobile, implement these auto theft prevention tips

Lock your car and take the keys with you at all times. Never leave the keys in an unattended car even if you are only running a quick errand or dropping off a package

Avoid parking in an unattended parking lot for a long period of time. A car is five times more likely to be stolen from an unattended lot than from the street or from an attended lot.

If you leave your car in an attended lot, give the parking lot attendant only the ignition key

Never attach an identification tag to your key ring. If the keys are lost or stolen, the tag will leave the thief to your home.

Congressman BILL WAMPLER Reports from Washington

The United States military became an all volunteer force in the early nineteen seventies, and at that time the decision was made to link uniformed service pay to private sector pay. This decision was necessary in order to continue attracting not only the number of persons needed for our armed forces, but those persons with the ability to use and maintain the increasingly complicated weapons and equipment of a modern military

It has been almost a decade since that promise was made and it has not been kept Pay caps imposed on uniformed service personnel in 1975, 1978 and 1979 resulted in a loss of approximately 5.3 percent in pay as compared with the private sector. Additionally, for the past year along military pay would need to be increased by nine percent to keep pace with wages in the private sector

Congress has now acted to restore the relationship between military and private sector pay that existed when our armed forces moved to an all volunteer status. The Armed Forces Pay Act of 1981 will make military compensation basically competitive with private sector pay by providing a 14.3 percent increase in basic pay, basic allowance for quarters and basic allowance for subsistence for members of our uniformed services. The version passed by the House of Representatives would provide this increase across the board while the Senate passed version would provide a variable raise, targeting percentages based on years of service and grade Regardless of the differences, Congress is deeply committed to passing the best military pay bill possible, and to finalizing action on this issue as soon as possible

Many negative comments have been made in the recent past concerning the quality of our armed forces Adequate entry level pay to attract competent personnel and bonuses and other incentives to retain skilled personnel to man critical positions must be provided for a successful all volunteer force

In order to maintain a strong military without returning to the draft, it is necessary to compensate fair the men and women who serve this country

Cropland Erosion Can Be Reduced

Soil Conservation Service

Only half of the annual cropland loss in the United States is due to urbanization. The rest is lost to erosion. While land lost to pavement is usually irretrievable, we can do something about the carelessness that causes soil losses through erosion.

The Soil Conservation Service (SCS) can play a vital role in assisting landowners in reducing erosion. First, by estimating soil losses and, secondly by providing assistance in installing erosion control practices that will bring soil loss down within allowable limits to maintain soil productivity.

Virginia's loss of cropland due to erosion is 6.6 tons per acre per year. If these rates continue, farmers will eventually be growing crops in subsoils. A critical situation that will make changes in land use necessary; particularly, where cropland is concerned.

Daniel Boone Soil and Water Conservation District directors and SCS personnel are making an effort to get land users to seek assistance in estimating soil losses on their cropland. Once the type and amount of erosion is determined, conservation practices can be planned and applied. Losses will be reduced and the land will remain productive.

A lump of butter or a tablespoon of cooking oil added to the water cooking rice, noodles or spaghetti will help prevent sticking and boilovers

500,000 Volt Transformer Received

A 167-ton, 500,000 volt transformer, the largest transformer ever to be put in operation in Southwestern Virginia and Southeastern Kentucky, was delivered to the Old Dominion Power Substation at the Pocket near Stone Creek last Wednesday.

This joint project by Old Dominion Power Company and the Kentucky Utilities Company was described as "quite an undertaking" by Lonnie Carroll, District Supervisor of Old Dominion Power. According to Carroll, the system will be a "network or two-way feed" of electrical power sources coming from Phipps Bend in Tennessee and from Pineville, Kentucky. Carroll also pointed out that by using this network of power, the company will be able to "borrow" electricity when needed rather than building a larger plant in the county.

According to Johnny Jones, the Assistant Sub station Superintendent and Contract Inspector, the transformer will be "stepped-down" from 500,000 volts to 161,000 and then stepped-down again to 69,000 volts so that

Electric Co-Op Meets Saturday At Tazewell

Ralph B. Miner, General Manager of Powell Valley Electric Cooperative, stated that the Annual Meeting of Members of the Cooperative will be held at Claiborne County High School, Tazewell, Tennessee, on Saturday, October 3, with registration beginning at 9:00 a.m. According to Miner, the actual business meeting will get under way about 11:00. There will be music by a Bluegrass and a Gospel Group. Free lunch will be served to the members and their families. "There will be music, dinner on the ground, reports and election of Directors" said Miner.

Powell Valley Electric Cooperative was organized in 1938. When it was organized, the headquarters was located in Jonesville, Virginia, as it is today. According to Miner, though, the Branch Offices located now in Harrogate, Sneedville and Tazewell, Tennessee offer the same services as the Jonesville Office. "All you have to do is call your local office and you can get any service we provide," says Miner.

Beginning in about 1970, the Cooperative rotates its Annual Meetings from Jonesville to Tazewell to Sneedville and back to Jonesville. "This gives the members in each area a little better opportunity to attend" says Miner, "the Cooperative's service area is over 70 miles long if it wasn't moved some folks would have to travel a long way every year."

Plans Underway For Thirty-Third Lee County Tobacco Festival

Down in the southwest corner where Lee County marks the beginning of Virginia, a group of dedicated people have scheduled another tobacco festival. Some new faces, some have worked since the beginning thirty-two years ago to bring attention to the tobacco farmers and his rightful place in Lee County. From the tiny seed to the cured leaf he patiently, sows, plants, cuts, grades, then finally the market opens, buyers arrive and the baskets of tobacco will soon be auctioned – that means money for Lee County.

On Saturday, October 24 at 1:00 p.m., another tobacco festival parade will begin at Pennington Elementary School. We've stood in the rain and the cold but most often Octobers bright blue weather has brought scores of people to downtown Pennington Gap for the big day.

On Friday, October 23 at Pennington High School the selection of another queen will be the highlight of the evening, proceeded by the little princess selected from ages two thru four, the princess from ages five thru eight the junior miss from ages nine thru thirteen, the queen will be fourteen and up, single and live in Lee County. Cuma Hays, phone 546-1679 will plan this beauty pageant, and would like to invite all thirty-two previous beauty queens to return this year.

Evan Skaggs, Charlotte Culbertson, and Mildred Hartley are in charge of the window displays this year using the theme "Collectibles."

Birg Sergent says he will furnish the antique cars.

Ten bands have already been booked for the parade, each band will receive a trophy plus transportation expenses.

Floats will be judged for beauty, originality, and keeping with the occasion, commercial floats will not be in competition, the winner in each category will receive $100.

All candidates seeking election this November are invited to be a part of the festivities. How great is would be if Lady Bird Johnson would ride in the parade, a former first lady, or Liz Taylor, a movie star. Lee County would be honored by their presence.

The tobacco festival is sponsored by the businesses of Lee County, in an effort to make a better community, just keep in mind Lee County is yours and mine, let's support our own.

Dryden School For Handicapped "On Hold"

Budget Cuts Hit Handicapped

Locally, the federal budget cuts will affect the physically and mentally handicapped who attend the MR Day Care Center at Dryden.

According to William Dee (Bill) Smith, Jr., the director of the school for Developmental Services, Inc., the school has been "very, very heavily hit by the federal budget cuts. Our biggest help has been through the Lee County Social Services Department through Title XX funds." (As reported in the September 2 edition of the NEWS, the Social Services Department experienced an overall cut of 22% in Title XX funds.)

Since DSI serves citizens in the tri county area Lee, Wise, Scott counties and the city of Norton, the budget cuts from these sources will total approximately $93,000.

However, the school will try to remain open. The school has already cut expenses in operations, transportation, and administration. They do not plan to lay off any employees or lower the number of students in the school. According to Smith, "We're going to keep the folks we have now, but we are unable to accept any new ones."

Wheat Program Reduced

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block recently announced his intentions to implement a 15 percent "reduced acreage" program for the 1982 wheat crop to offset the effects of record supplies and depressed wheat prices.

Program operating procedures will be issued after pending farm legislation is enacted into law.

"Wheat supplies in the United States are 14 percent above last year," Block said. "The carryover next June is expected to exceed 1 billion bushels, the highest level since 1977-78. The reduced acreage program will strengthen prices by reducing the 1982-83 marketing year supplies."

Block said the increase in supplies and decrease in prices is the result of two successive record U. S. wheat crops and a record setting 1981 world harvest.

The program will be voluntary so producers can decide for themselves, based on market conditions, whether they want to participate. Program benefits, however, will be tied to participation.

"Soil conservation will be strongly stressed in this program," Block said. The reduced acreage will have to be devoted to conservation uses."

In Memoriam

In memory of Danny Martin who passed away September 29, 1979.

Life must go on even in time of sorrow and grief
My youngest son has gone to the new world with our Heavenly Father.
So few years did we have to love one another, seems so brief.
But we think of our loved one beside of us, no farther.
He was a young man, courageous and tall.
Forgotten by some, but loved by us all.
Death is only the method that God Chose.
To Colonize Heaven with the souls of those.
Into a place where the soul's safe and free.
To live with God through Eternity.
But life must go on for the New World,
And those who loved him.

Mom, Brother and Sisters

Congressman BILL WAMPLER Reports from Washington

Legislation has been introduced to provide the President and Congress the authority to combat regional and national petroleum shortages in a timely and effective manner

The bill, known as the Petroleum Disruption Management Act of 1981, would require the President to design four management plans which, when approved by Congress, would be placed on "standby" for implementation at a later date Each plan would be designed to deal with a particular kind of disruption, ranging from a substantial regional shortage to severe national emergency

This legislation is designed to prevent manageable oil shortages from developing into national crises by providing the President with authorities to deal with an energy emergency It is based on the premise that the timely allocation of crude oil can prevent a nationwide shortage and unnecessarily high prices At the same time, the bill would ensure that excessive government involvement in the marketplace will be avoided The bill has been referred to the House Energy and Commerce Committee and a similar measure is pending in the Senate

Most importantly, the plans outlined in the bill would help ensure that rural areas of the nation receive adequate supplies of petroleum products during energy emergencies Rural America is particularly vulnerable to energy supply disruptions When supplies are tight, rural areas tend to be the hardest hit. This proposal will help ensure that our rural agricultural areas have the fuel they need for vital food production during serious supply interruptions

The current oil glut has given many Americans a false sense of security, and America could easily face another energy shortage in the near future In light of past experiences with such shortages, it is important to deal with such a possibility now by laying the groundwork to deal with the problem before it occurs

Acorns Area Threat To Area Cattle

The tri state area can expect numerous cases of acorn poisoning this fall and winter, mostly in cattle, but sheep, pigs and horses can be stricken as well

Poisoning is much more common some years than others, due to weather influences In our wooded areas, the casual observer will notice an abundance of acorns this year.

Symptoms of poisoning may not appear for several days after acorns have been eaten, and if only a few are eaten, there may be no visable effects

Symptoms are variable, the first being a loss of appetite and general listlessness, dark watery diarrhea, which may contain blood, and then usually followed by constipation

The toxin has its most devastating effects in the kidneys with death being the result in a high percentage of those affected

Treatment after eating acorns is often frustrating and futile However, early treatment is occasionally successful Eliminating access to acorns is the only sure way to prevent losses, as cattle in particular seem to develop a craving for acorns and seek them out whenever possible

Sir

I am writing in regard to the Lee County Board of Supervisors and the Lee County Board of Education holding their meetings during the day

I know both of these Boards have been asked on numerous occasions to hold evening meetings instead of during the day It is impossible for people who must work to support their household to attend meetings that are held during the day I don't know of too may employers who would pay or allow their workers to leave work during the day to attend Board meetings. Yet, decisions that concern them and that will affect them and the well being of their children are made and voted upon at these day meetings

I feel it is totally unfair for the working people of Lee County to have to depend upon the newspaper to know what takes place at their local Board of Supervisors and Education meetings. As I see it, it would be a definite step forward for these Boards to change the time of their meetings and make it possible for the working people of Lee County to have a choice of attending meetings or not. If people are informed of what problems and decisions are facing these Boards, instead of being kept ignorant of the facts, we might be able to see a renewed spirit of support for our officials and hope for a better Lee County.

In closing, I find it hard to understand how members of the Lee County Board of Supervisors and the Lee County Board of Education who have full time employment are able to leave their jobs to attend their respective Board meetings during working hours.

Sincerely,
Shirleen O Edens
Jonesville, Virginia

"A cigarette's not really litter."

Whatever the excuse, littering is inexcusable.

Virginia Division of Litter Control, Richmond, VA 23219

Virginia's Grassroots "Weed Out" The Litter Problem

Litter. It's more than a health problem. It's more than an eyesore. Litter has become a serious national problem. In Virginia, the 1977 General Assembly funded a Division of Litter Control (DLC) within the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development. It is one of the first such agencies in the nation. One of the division's primary tasks is educating the public about the detrimental impact of waste improperly handled.

There is the cost to taxpayers and consumers of litter pickup, estimated to amount to $25 million in Virginia alone. There is the loss of tourists who don't want to visit a "dirty" state. There is the general decline in property values when a neighborhood is spotted with debris. There is the threat to the health and safety of children and pets when household trash is improperly discarded.

Thus, to combat this problem, the Virginia Division of Litter Control coordinates a statewide litter control program. Major division activities include a) utilizing news, information, and public service advertising to discourage littering, b) developing anti-litter educational material for schools across the state, c) aiding the revision of local litter ordinances and general enhancement of effective law enforcement, d) a de-cycling campaign, and e) providing grants to Virginia cities and counties for local anti-litter activity. One-half of the division's funding is returned to localities. Formal application must be made by city and county governing bodies, but they may funnel the money to quasi-governmental or anti-litter organizations if they desire. Because the individual grants for towns are relatively small, some localities have chosen to pool their funds and work jointly on litter control projects. Some towns are also joining with their county to pool their resources.

INCREDIBLE BUT TRUE!

The oldest army in the world has less than 100 men. It's the Swiss Guard in Vatican City, whose origins date back before 1400.

Because of this support to and emphasis on the localities and their involvement in correcting the problem, the program has had significant success. The local citizens know their situation better, have more personal sense of responsibility, and thus succeed more in the overall program. To assist the localities a guideline program called The Virginia Plan? a model program to prevent littering has been developed and is presently being utilized in over 50 cities and counties statewide.

The accomplishments by the localities and the DLC are positive: over 140,000 volunteers hours per year in anti-litter projects, participation in the grants program by 93% of the state's cities and counties, active and continuing involvement of over 3,000 businesses in the state, a 66% reduction in highway litter at tested locations (according to the Virginia Highway Deprtment's Research Council), over ½ million dollars per year in donated public service announcements, and the acceptance and use of the division's new operation waste watch elementary education curriculum by over one-half of the state's public and private school.

The litter problem can be corrected if government takes a strong, positive, comprehensive approach. Virginia has shown that this system works and that it works very well

DMV Revenues Pass Half A Billion

Net Collections Up 8.4 Percent

For the first time in the history of the Division of Motor Vehicles, gross revenue collections passed half a billion dollars, according to Donald E. Williams, DMV commissioner.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1981, DMV gross revenues were $504,116,986 and net collections totaled $495,550,769, up 8.4 percent compared to fiscal year 1979 80.

Williams said the two cent-gallon hike in the motor fuels tax introduced in July 1980, resulted in the most significant increase. DMV collected over $300 million from the 11 cent per gallon tax, an 11 percent increase compared to collections from the previous fiscal year.

He noted, however, that downward trends in motor fuel consumption deflated the impact of the higher tax, which was expected to raise fuels tax collections by about 20 percent had consumption levels remained stable.

Motor vehicle license fees, DMV's second largest revenue source, were $78 million, a 7 percent increase compared to last fiscal year. Williams said the increase reflects an 8 percent rise in the number of vehicles registered and licenses issued. As of July 30, 1981, there were 3.8 million powered vehicles registered in Virginia, or 300,000 more than the year before.

Williams said revenue from the 2 percent sales and use tax collected on the purchase price of vehicles titled in Virginia was $67.6 million, up 5 percent, reflecting higher prices for both used and new vehicles.

In other appreciable increases, reserved license fee collections were $1,159,548 up 30 percent and uninsured motor vehicle fees were $4 141,681 up 12 percent, compared to fiscal year 1979 80.

At the end of the fiscal year there were 3 7 million outstanding driver licenses in Virginia, or about 200 000 more than the year before.

DMV revenues are deposited in the state's Highway Maintenance and Construction Fund.

The tradition of the Army Reserve in the United States is traced to the citizen soldiers of the Revolutionary War. The tradition calls for patriots to leave their jobs and commanders to become soldiers at times of National emergencies. It is a program which is thriving still, thanks to concerned and cooperative citizens in the Army Reserve.

Here are more sources of refund forms

By June Fuller

In your search for the refund forms that can turn your box tops and labels into cash, don't give up just because you can't find all the forms you want in the supermarket. We refunders get most of our forms in other ways.

Refund forms frequently appear as part of manufacturers advertising in newspaper food sections.

Sunday comic sections occasionally carry refund offers. You will also find them along with the coupons in Sunday color inserts.

In addition, refund forms appear in most women's service magazines. Many of these forms do not expire for months after the publication date of the magazine. Many refunders have picked up an "old" magazine at a rummage sale and found refund offers that were still valid.

Don't be shy about asking your non-refunding friends and relatives to help you find refund forms. They will remember to look for them if you reward them for their trouble with an occasional refund or gift offer.

You'll find refund forms for health and personal products and other non-food items at many of the large discount and chain drug stores.

One of the best ways to obtain new refund forms is by trading them with neighbors or by mail with refunders in other cities. I'll tell you more about trading forms in my next column.

Each week in this column I list a refund form that you can write for. You can obtain this form for the price of a post card and a stamp. Some companies, such as Procter and Gamble, will reimburse your postage.

As soon as you find a refund form that you want, address a mailing envelope with the name and address of the refund offer. In small print, write the proofs of purchase and the expiration date in the upper right-hand corner where the stamp will eventually go.

Then place the form in the envelope and add the required proofs as you obtain them. By filing these envelopes in order of expiration dates with the earliest at the front, you will be less likely to forget them. The envelopes are easy to look through as you make up your shopping list.

This week's smart shopper is Babe O'Leary from New Fairfield, Conn.

Her store had ScotTissues on sale for 59 cents a box. In the reduced merchandise section, she found four slightly damaged boxes that had been marked down to half price.

At the checkout counter she handed the cashier two 15-cent coupons, each of which was good on two boxes. Because it was double-coupon day, she paid only 15 cents a box for the tissues.

And that wasn't all. When she got home she mailed the proof-of-purchase seals back to the company for a free box. "I felt like I won the lottery," she said.

Ms. O'Leary and other readers who receive my smart-shopper award will receive a copy of the refunding magazine, The National Supermarket Shopper. Send your smart-shopping experiences to me in care of this newspaper.

Here is a refund form to write for: Plumrose Premium Ham, $1.50 Coupon Offer, P.O. Box R-7860, El Paso, Texas 79975. This offer expires Dec. 31, 1981.

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below. Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Today's refund offers are worth $13.04.

GI Education Benefits Will Soon Expire

Time is running out for approximately 900,000 veterans to use educational benefits of the GI Bill, now in its 37th year.

About one-fifth of the 4.3 million eligible veterans will lose their eligibility for benefits this year, according to Veterans Administration regional director, W. H. Highfill, Jr. The law permits a veteran to use the educational benefits within 10 years following discharge from service, or by Dec. 31, 1989, whichever is earlier, Highfill said.

From June 22, 1944, when the first measure was signed by President Roosevelt, through June 30, 1981, 18 million veterans have received assistance under the GI Bill at a cost of $51 billion. About 35 percent of all trainees have been Vietnam Era veterans. This year the GI Bill will assist the education of more than 800,000 Vietnam Era veterans.

More than 7.8 million World War II veterans were trained under the original measure, about one-half of all those eligible. Another 2.4 million, or 43.4 percent of those eligible, studied under the Korean plan, and nearly 7.8 million Vietnam Era and Post Korean veterans and service personnel have thus far participated in the current program. Some 65 percent of the Vietnam Era veterans eligible have received training.

A new program, which requires financial participation by service personnel, is available for those who entered the military after Dec. 31, 1976.

Veterans who want more information on GI Bill eligibility should contact the nearest VA regional office.

Wheat Crop To Be All-Time High

The 1981 wheat crop is expected to reach an all-time high of 2.75 billion bushels, according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture report. The production would be 16 percent more than last year's 2.37 billion bushels.

USDA officials attribute the increase to a record 88.8 million acres of wheat planted by farmers and to prospective record spring wheat yields.

Harvesting of the second successive record wheat crop is not expected to change the tight "free stock" situation. Total wheat supplies for the season are forecast at 3.74 billion bushels, 14 percent more than last season.

Wheat prices for 1981/82 will depend primarily on export sales, use of the loan and reserve program, and the impact of weather on world grain crops, the report stated. Farm prices for 1981/82 are forecast to range from $3.70 to $4.00 per bushel.

With large exportable supplies, the U. S. could ship overseas a record 1.775 billion bushels of wheat in 1981/82. Wheat shipments may increase to Egypt, Algeria, and Morocco and will remain high to China, Japan and Brazil.

According to Lee County ASCS Director, Charles M. Ingram, there has been less acreage devoted to wheat in the county in recent years. In 1981, 14 farmers filed acreage reports on wheat, totaling 73 acres.

Confession Of Maired Hatfield

Sneedville, Tenn.
Jailed December 4, 1896

"I am condemned to hang on the 10th day of December, 1896 for the murder of Jonas Trail. I was along with Haney Jordan of the murder, and assisted in killing Trail. We had planned the murder nearly one month before we did it. The Jordan woman and my wife were the cause of me being along and taking part in the murder. A young man by the name of Sterling Allen called Trail from his boarding house -- we heard him call Trail and I hid until they went to the "Tiger" and Allen got his liquor and left. Trail started back to his boarding house, and we slipped behind him. The Jordan woman knocked him down with a stick. Trail fell on his face. She turned him over, and cut his throat. Trail was strug gling and I hit him on the head with a rock one or two times - two or three times to stop him from making a noise. We sear ched his pocket and got a lot of money. I can't count money, and don't know how much we got -- the Jordan woman counted the money, and she said she gave me half of it. She gave me $7.92. I took the money and hid it. When I was arrested I told the guards and gave them the money. I also got Trail's knife. I gave it up. I would not care so much to hang if Haney Jordan could be hung with me. I would not do what I have for this world. I know I have done wrong, but the Lord has forgiven me for my sins. I am going to be baptized Sunday, for I know the Lord has forgiven me my sins, and I am going to a better world than this when I die. I don't think hard of the jury that tried me. The Court gave me a fair trial. I think a great deal of Judge Campbell. Sheriff Buttry has treated me very kind all the time I have been in Sneedville Jail. I have nothing against anybody, but am sorry that I let these women over persuade me. This is all I want to say. If I am hung I will tell the people all about it on the scaffold. Signed Maried Hatfield".

NOTE: This was sent to me by Mrs. Cora Lee Mallicoat, Thorn Hill, Tn. A few weeks earlier my good friend Rev. Hampton Osborne, Chntwood, Va. sent me Maired Hatfield's picture and a clipping for me to keep.

Mrs. Mallicoat also included the following, viz: "Some may wonder if any of his kinfolks are living? Our mother, Matilda Hat field, was his sister. She married Charlie Henry Dalton, July 4, 1912 - two children still living. Char lie Willis Dalton and my self." She also added: Maired was baptized. He told his mother to tell everyone never trust a mean woman, they'd do things and pack it on you."

Submitted by:
William P. Grohse

Historian

NOTE: Maired Hat field was the only person legally hanged in Hancock Co. Five men were sen tenced to hang for the same crime but were later pardoned, paroled, or had their sentences commuted. Their crime was the mur der of Henley Sutton, Jan uary 1889.

Pennington High School Prepares College Bound Seniors

High schools across the nation are now preparing their seniors for college entrance. In an effort to help our students the guidance office of Pennington High School wants to remind parents and students of the importance of college entrance tests. These tests should be taken in the spring of the junior year or no later than the fall of the senior year and are necessary for acceptance into most colleges. Thus the earlier the tests are taken the earlier a student will be able to know if he/she has been accepted in the college of his/her choice.

There are two tests given. They are the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and the American College Testing Program (ACT). In order to know which test to take a student should visit his/her guidance office and check the college catalogues of all the schools he/she is considering attending. It may be necessary for him/her to take both tests. This way he/she would be prepared regardless of where he/she attends school. If a student is given the choice of taking either test he/she needs to consider which one best fits his/her background. The SAT consists of two parts, English and math. The ACT has four parts. They are English, math, science and social studies. If the student has had advanced science and social studies classes he/she may feel he/she would do better on the ACT. On the other hand if he/she is weak in these courses he/she may wish to take the SAT. Each test costs approximately $10. This money must be sent with the students registration form using a check or money order.

Test Date	Registration Closes	Late Registration Closes
November 7	October 2	October 16
December 5	October 30	November 13
January 23	December 18	January 1
March 27	February 19	March 5
May 1	March 26	April 9
June 5	April 30	May 14

Registration forms must be post marked at least by the date on which registration closes. If a student misses this date and chooses late registration he/she must pay an additional $7. For students that miss the late registration there is a possibility of walk-in registration for SAT only. But this should be used as a last result because it means that the student cannot be guaranteed a seat on the day of the test.

The ACT is given on the following dates.

Test Date	Registration Date
October 17	September 18
December 12	November 13
February 20	January 22
April 3	March 5
June 12	May 14

ACT does not allow walk-in registration so students must be sure to send their registration forms by the deadlines.

These tests are given at colleges and some of the larger high schools in the area. The locations are listed with the dates they are given in the registration booklets. For more information parents and students should visit their high school guidance office.

Children And Youth In Action

Children seem to be on the go every waking moment but that doesn't necessarily mean they are physically fit And fitness is important for any person, no matter what age

You can help your children from the time they are born to assure that they are active and stay fit for life. The U.S. Administration for Children, Youth, and Families has a new book that describes fitness programs for children from birth through the teen years. For a single copy of the book Children and Youth in Action: Physical Activities and Sports, send $3.50 to the Consumer Information Center, Dept 205J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009

For a young child, fitness and development go hand in hand. Each new skill, such as crawling, walking, running, or climbing, takes strength, flexibility, and balance. And you can help this development by making sure your toddler has plenty of chances to practice these new skills in a safe place. That could be an enclosed park or yard, a playroom, or even a hall someplace where a child can run safely, kick a ball without losing it, and maybe have a slide or jungle gym to climb on.

Don't be authoritarian about what physical activities your child should be doing Learning physical things should be fun. And don't worry if the child switches from one thing to another after a short time. Sooner or later, chances are that your child will switch back to the first activity. By jumping from activity to activity, children get a lot more practice than you might think.

Help your child be successful. To do that, make sure you give the child activities that are within his or her ability. Catching a thrown tennis ball may not be possible for the two-year-old who would have no trouble with a gently bounced beach ball. And all little kids love to kick. Eventually they'll learn to kick the ball without falling down every time.

When children get to school age, they often make up their own games and rules to match their skills and space. This keeps games fun. And while children can begin organized sports at this age, they should not be pressured. Too often, the child who is pushed into highly competitive sports with great emphasis on winning will drop out of sports totally when they reach adolescence.

So keep fitness fun. That way children will be learning how to keep fit throughout their lives.

You can learn a great deal more from Children and Youth in Action: Physical Activities and Sports ($3.50). It describes how to get children interested, benchmarks for fitness at certain ages, how to decide if your child should participate in sports, and where you can go for additional information. At the same time, you will receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog listing more than 200 free and low cost publications of consumer interest. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration.

Voices Of The American Revolution

Mrs. W.S. Carter and her daughter, Mrs. W.F. Savage of Annandale, Va., were co-hostesses to the Major George Gibson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on August 29 at the Carter home in the Flatwoods area of Jonesville.

Mrs. Jerry Hounshell, Regent, welcomed guests, Mrs. J.E. Laningham, of Pennington Gap, and her sister, Mary Wynn, Oakridge, Tn., Mrs. Walter Spangler, Jonesville, and Mrs. Roy Crockett and Florence Bayless, Rose Hill.

She also recognized and welcomed three new members in attendance: Mrs. Joel Vance Reynolds of Charlottesville, N.C., Mrs. Dixie Chadwell, Ewing; Mrs. Willard Davis, Rose Hill; and an out-of-the-area member, Mrs. Roy Ledford, Richlands, Va., who is a former resident of Jonesville, and the mother of Mrs. Reynolds. Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. Laningham are members of the Lovelady Chapter, NSDAR, of Pennington Gap, Va.

After the opening ritual an inspiring devotion "Bless the Lord Through Friends," was given by Chaplain, Mrs. Grace C. Davis.

Mrs. Philip O'Dell brought a message from Patricia W. Shelby, President General of the National Society DAR, which centered on the National Theme for this year: "To promote an enlightened public opinion." The theme is based on the second objective of the DAR, which is Education. To add spiritual emphasis to the Administrative Theme, the President General suggested using the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past, Our Hope for Years to Come."

The topic discussed on National Defense by Mary Stickley was "The Battle of Yorktown - Lest We Forget", and included an invitation to all citizens to be especially aware of the Yorktown Bicentennial this year. She explained that a patriotic and historic observance will be held in Yorktown, Va., and will include exhibits, parades, and ceremonies.

The NSDAR will take an active part in the celebration donating the French and American flags to be used in the opening ceremonies, and will dedicate a table beside the Victory Monument

Kathleen Carter then gave a challenging message on Voices of the American Revolution, referring to several symbols representative of those voices which were on display in the room.

Included were our Monuments, our 13 star flag, our spoken pledge to the U.S. flag, patriotic songs and our Liberty Bell. A place of prominence was given to a copy of the Declaration of Independence, and an authentic woodchip from the original beam of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, flanked by signatures of the signers.

Mrs. Carter also explained some immediate causes of the Revolution that led people in Colonial Days to declare their right to be a free nation, such as the Navigation Acts, the Writ of Assistance, The Stamp Act, and Tax for maintaining a standing army.

She spoke of our ancestors who came to this country as those who were able to endure hardships which made them bold, hardy, and self-reliant. Other attributes she ascribed to them were strength of character, patriotic purposes, and an iron and trustworthy will.

"In the end", stated Mrs. Carter, "the struggle to make the English Government truly democratic was the American Revolution itself. It was the contest in America that really won Independence, not only for America but for other freedom loving nations of the world. "Today," she continued, "we need to practice the same good judgment, dauntless courage, and unselfish devotion that was exemplified by our forefathers to keep America strong and free!

The program was closed by informative facts on The Liberty Bell by Mrs. Savage.

Janet Munsey, for American Heritage report, had asked Mrs. Carter to include in her display several household articles used in Colonial Days, one being a rare milk crock which was made as a half crock, with room for the cream to rise and pour off into the other side of the crock.

Delicious refreshments were served to the twenty-one present, those not previously mentioned being Mrs. Robert Schley, Jonesville; Mrs. Van Grabeel, Mrs. John M. Seale, Mrs. Oscar W. Smith, and Bashie Kincaid, all of Rose Hill.

Growing Child

When babies are five to seven months old they are very loveable because they're social with everyone.

They smile and gurgle at the sight of a face. Why? According to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, babies are fascinated with faces because they are learning how to develop a concept or an idea.

This concept is a kind of picture in a baby's mind of what something is like. A baby starts out with an impression of his mother's face, which has certain features in certain places.

When a new face comes along, it has the same general form but with little changes here and there that make it look different. Is the new thing a face? The baby must study the pattern to make sure. He probably looks at the main landmarks - eyes, nose, and mouth, to see if they conform to the pattern he has seen before.

If they do, he may give a little smile. It seems to be his wordless way of saying, "I know what that is - it's a face!" And of course a face has great significance for him.

The concept of "face" is developed in infancy, not through the repetitious exposure to one face but from experience with a large number of varying faces. A baby's looking preferences suggest that he actively seeks variety so that he can try out his new concepts on the world. If there is the right amount of discrepancy between the old and new, he will carefully study and absorb the new into the old, thereby broadening and enriching his concept.

If there is too much discrepancy, he may have to form a new concept or at least make sub divisions of the old.

That is why baby is interested in so many different people and their faces between five and seven months. He is digesting variations on the theme of his parent's faces so as to build one of his first permanent conceptions of an object in the world. This forming of concepts is an important principle in learning

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month by month

CVC Professor Receives Grant

Lana W. Low, Assistant Professor of Education at Clinch Valley College, has received a research grant from the Phi Delta Kappa District VII Committee on Research Service and Leadership. Her proposal was supported by the Southwest Virginia Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa with funding granted by the national organization. Hers is the first award received by a member of the local chapter since its founding.

Low plans to continue a study of her dissertation topic, "The Enduring Effects of First Grade Teachers on the Subsequent Achievement of Their Students." Original research raised questions which could not be answered with existing data, so she will look at patterns of achievement of the students she studied, with particular examinations of readings and mathematics scores to determine if deficits occurred in either or both areas.

Her dissertation won an award from the Virginia Educational Research Association and she read a paper on the research at the VERA meeting held last April in Los Angeles. She also presented her findings at a meeting in March of the Southwest Virginia Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa.

Lana Low joined the faculty of Clinch Valley College in 1974. She holds a B.A. degree from Clinch Valley, an M.A. from East Tennessee State University, and the Ph.D. from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

Animal Health Today — Rabies

Rabies is on the increase. All warm-blooded animals, including man, are susceptible to rabies virus. Therefore, it is essential that we protect both ourselves and our pets.

The most effective means of control is by vaccination of all dogs and cats against rabies yearly to insure protection. This should be done only by a veterinarian since many of the so called "over the counter" vaccine may be potentially dangerous to not only the dog or cat but the owner as well. Other animals such as skunks, foxes and raccoons can carry rabies also. They can be infected and not even show signs of the disease. Therefore, we discourage these animals for pets.

There are many misconceptions about the symptoms of rabies. Fear of water is not a common symptom, but there is sometimes a slack-jawed, hanging tongue appearance, which may make drinking difficult. There are two main forms of this disease, either a "dumb" form or a "furious". In the dumb form, the animal is unaware of his surroundings and appears to be in a daze. In furious rabies, the animal is very sensitive to loud noises and bright lights and may bite any object that moves. The main thing to remember is that there is a personality change. An animal that bites because of being provoked should not be considered as being rabid, but a bite for no apparent reason should be further investigated.

If you should be the victim of such an incident, there are several steps which can reduce the possibility of exposure to rabies. First and most important, the bite wound should be thoroughly cleaned and washed with strong soap and plenty of water. If possible, the animal should be restrained, but be careful. If the dog is a stray and you feel it necessary to destroy the animal, do not shoot or destroy the head. To confirm rabies, it is essential to obtain brain tissue and study it with a microscope. Always avoid contact with blood or saliva of a rabies suspect.

If an animal is showing no symptoms of rabies and has been vaccinated, it may be only necessary to confine the dog or cat in a cage for 10-14 days to see if rabies should develop.

Always consult your health department and your physician about such incidents. If the animal is a rabies suspect, then laboratory confirmation is needed and appropriate precautions for the bite victim should be started immediately.

Protection by vaccination is the key to success in controlling rabies. These should be given only by a licensed veterinarian, either at the veterinary hospital or at one of the periodically scheduled rabies clinics held through out the county.

Chiropractic

Dr. Don Rasnic
Chiropractor

Chiropractic, the world's largest drugless health service, is known to many but is understood by few. Chiropractors have achieved their status by results alone.

The chiropractor believes that every effect must have a cause. Thus, any condition or disease must have a cause. Once the cause is removed, nature takes charge to eliminate the condition or disease from the body.

The chiropractor knows that pressure on vital nerves interferes with the proper flow of nerve energy through the body to vital organs, glands, muscles and tissues. This pressure and the resulting interference to nerve energy flow is the basic cause of disease. When the interference with the flow of nerve energy is removed, nature responds and heals from within.

To restore proper function of the nervous system, the chiropractor employs gentle, scientific manipulations (called adjustments) to properly align the spinal column and release pressure on affected nerves.

"The power that made the body is the power that heals the body." Chiropractic adjustments release the vital nerve energy which restricts the healing forces of nature and permits nature to use her own resources to heal the body. Another Life and Health Article from the Office of

The Chiropractic Adjustment

Dr. Don Rasnic
Chiropractor

The chiropractor is a student of the body's vast nervous system. Medical science knows that bodily functions are controlled by nerve energy impulses from the brain through the spinal cord to all parts of the body.

The spinal cord runs down through the spinal column. The spine is composed of 24 movable segments called vertebrae. Between the vertebrae are soft cushions called discs which act as ball bearings and shock absorbers.

When any one or more of the vertebrae of the spine are displaced, nerve pressure results. Nerve fibres are impinged and vital organs are affected.

The chiropractor uses scientific methods to locate the displaced vertebrae. Once located, he gently manipulates the vertebra—using only his competent hands—to return the vertebra to its proper position in relation to the remainder of the spine. Once the vertebra is back in position, pressure is relieved and the impinged nerve is free to perform its normal function.

The "adjustment" is simple, gentle and painless. Actually most persons who have undergone chiropractic adjustments have found that already-present pain is greatly relieved, if not completely eliminated, by the first adjustment.

It is simple and quick, and it performs wonders in restoring that healthy happy feeling. Another Health and Life Article from the Office of

There's An Answer!

By Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Can't Give Up

Q. I have always had a crush on this guy who was living with a girl. Well, we finally got together and started dating. I knew from the first that I loved him and our relationship bloomed. Before I knew it we were talking about marriage. But a few months ago my boyfriend decided he needed his freedom for awhile and didn't want to be tied down. Now he is seeing another girl and plans to move in with her. (I never lived with him.) He tells me he cares for me but can only give me his friendship. I still love him very much. I've prayed so hard he will come back, and something inside of me tells me not to give up. Should I keep the faith that God will bring us back together?

A. Better get a smarter message from that "something" inside of you. This boys seems like bad medicine for you. And you should realize right now that only unhappiness can come from hanging on to him even in your thoughts Keep the faith that God will help you find a good, decent young man to marry

Looking For Answers

Q. I am soon going to be 30 years old, and I am a homosexual. I have been one for a long time and have been having a relationship with another man who is two years older than I. I would like to tell my parents and other relatives about my life, but I am afraid to do this Don't tell me to see a shrink because I have been seeing one for a long time. My question is how long should I wait before I tell my family and what could I say so as not to hurt them? I go to church every Sunday and am still looking for answers about my present life.

A My personal reaction to your question is not to tell your family unless they are unusually strong and accepting of you as their son This could be a shock and sorrow to them and there is no need to burden them And remember God can do wonderful things for any human being.

Tired of Fussing

Q I have two children, 5 and 13, that I am raising alone. Between my job, my church and getting the children to their individual functions, I feel that we have no time to be alone at home and to enjoy each other. What little time we do have together in the morning or late at night we are either so rushed or so tired that I find myself fussing at them, making us all depressed. I really need some new insights for this is getting me down.

A. You need to make a study of being a home executive. A woman I know has this policy. "Make a plan and work your plan." Set priorities for your family life and number them [1], [2], [3], etc. Confusion results from disorganization and weariness from that. Get the whole family interested in planning quality time together. The rushed periods won't seem so bad when you all look forward to some special family times

Emergency Physicians Resolve To Fight Drunk Drivers

Citing the needless deaths of 500 Virginians annually, members of the Virginia Chapter of the American College of Emergency Physicians requested Governor John Dalton to appoint a task force charged with drafting recommendations for the prevention of drunk driving.

"The Commonwealth has a responsibility to protect it's citizens from drunk drivers just as it protects them from other public health hazards," said Joseph L. Dunford, MD, President of the 261 member organization. "In emergency departments across the State, we see the senseless death and suffering caused by inebriated drivers daily. We are concerned that virtually nothing effective is being done to alleviate the inexcusable and unconscionable maiming and manslaughter of innocent victims."

The task force would work to guide implementation of legislative reforms, refine the judicial process, improve enforcement, and institute comprehensive educational efforts throughout the school systems. "Similar efforts have been successful in California and Maryland," Dr Dunford explained. "It is our hope that such a task force in Virginia would help to reduce the number of irresponsible, drunken drivers on Virginia's highways."

Jon Hammersberg, MD, an emergency physician from Waynesboro, remarked, "You cannot imagine the outrage we feel every time the innocent victim of a drunk driver crime enters our emergency departments. Only a blatant disrespect for human life permits a drunk to drive. Something must be done, since it is apparent these people will not refrain from driving on their own.

"All citizens who mix drinking and driving are potential criminals and murderers. It is naive of Virginians to think that such atrocities cannot happen to them. Until people start applying common sense to drinking habits and driving, we will continue to mourn those killed by the drunk driver." Dr. Hammersberg organized the emergency physicians campaign against drunk driving in Virginia.

Rural Drug Use Growing

Illicit drug use in small-town America is increasing and rapidly approaching the use found in big cities, according to a recent study conducted for the National Institute on Drug Abuse

The gap is closing between how much illicit drugs are used by rural Americans and how much they are used by urbanites. Drugs in Rural America reports that in 1979, rural Americans used about two-thirds of the illicit drugs that nonrural Americans used In 1972 rural Americans used only approximately two-fifths of the illicit durgs that nonrural Americans used. From 1972 to 1979 illicit drug used increased by approximately 40 percent among rural Americans while drug abuse among nonrural Americans increased only 15 percent, the report states

The report also states that in 1979 the prevalence of marijuana use was 23 percent in rural areas and 33 percent in nonrural areas Coacaine use was 6 percent in rural areas and 10 percent in nonrural areas Hallucinogen use was 6 percent and 9 percent respectively

Should illicit drug use keep increasing in rural areas, the difference in drug use levels between rural and nonrural residents will disappear, the researchers say

The survey of the rural population was part of the 1979 National Survey on Drug Abuse Supported by NIDA contract funds, the Social Research Group of George Washington University conducted the study with the Response Analysis Corporation of Princeton, N J

The report also indicated that more rural youth were using marijuana. In 1979, more than one half of the young adults in rural areas had used marijuana at least once Of those, half reported that they had used marijuana within the last month

Of all drugs used, nonmedical use of psychotherapeutic prescription drugs such as stimulants, tranquilizers, sedatives, and analgesics was found to be the most widespread among rural young adults One-fifth of the young adults surveyed had used cocaine or a hallucinogen Only 2 percent of rural young adults reported they had used heroin

Marijuana is reputed to be the "gateway" illicit drug This was substantiated by the researchers' findings Approximately one-half of the young people who responded to the study and who began illicit drug use with marijuana went on to use at least one other illicit drug

Ladies Auxiliary Presents $500 Check

The officers of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Pennington Gap Rescue Squad presented Don Scott, the Rescue Squad Captain, with a check in the amount of $500 for the purpose of the construction of a building for the Rescue vehicles and equipment.

The Auxiliary has provided the funds for the purchase of storage cabinets, refrigerator, and an advertising sign by holding bake sales, spaghetti suppers, and other events. Their motto is "to help us, to help them, to help you."

In addition to providing meals and refreshments during the long hours of rescue operations, the Auxiliary was also able to sponsor a picnic earlier this summer for the Pennington Gap volunteers.

According to Captain Scott, "Our members greatly appreciate all that the Ladies Auxiliary has done since their formation in February."

The Ladies Auxiliary will welcome any new members.

Woodway Water Authority Rate Changes

The water rates of the Woodway Water Authority were increased $2.00 the first of September 1981. The rate is $9.00 for the first 2000 gallons; $1.25 per 1000 for the next 2000; $1.10 per 1000 for the next 3000; $1.00 per 1000 for the next 3000; 90 cents per 1000 for the next 5000; 80 cents per thousand for the next 15,000; 65 cents per 1000 for more than 30,000 gallons.

The following factors have brought about these increases:

Gradual increase in electric rates, cost of materials and supplies, insurance, cost of maintenance, postage, etc.

Relocation of lines for highway improvements; Repairs to pumps costing more than $2100; Many breaks in main lines and constant repair to service lines and meters.

Increase of cost of water. The original contract with the Town of Jonesville was 35 cents per 1000 for 150,000 gallons daily and 55 cents per 1000 thereafter. The present rate is 60 cents per 1000 for water purchased. We are now purchasing more than six million gallons monthly.

Presently the cost of reading the meters is $200.00 monthly which is done by Alfred D. Edens. $300.00 monthly is paid for making out and collecting the bills by the office of Lawson and Litton. $100 is paid the secretary-treasurer for maintaining the records, bookkeeping, correspondence, reports and sending water samples. $1718.00 is paid monthly to Farmers Home Administration to liquidate the indebtedness.

The Authority had to borrow $10,000 the first of September to meet current expenses and pay past-due bills.

The public is reminded to report any evidence of water leaks to Lawson and Litton Construction Corp. or to any member of the Board. Also no fires are to be put on the meters as they contain plastic parts.

The members of the Board are: Mac Gilbert, Chairman; W.F. Cox, Sr., Secretary-Treasurer; Ray McConnell, John Haynes and Hascue Slagle. Regular meetings of the Board are held in the Ruritan Building in Woodway the first Tuesday after the first Monday at 6:30 p.m

Second Annual Virginia Coal Conference Announced

On November 11 and 12, 1981 the second annual conference of the Virginia Coal Council, theme "Today's International Coal Markets", will be held at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, Blacksburg, Va.

The conference is being planned for the purpose of bringing together world-wide coal producers, world-wide coal customers, government agencies, federal and state officials, and representatives from all phases of the transportation industry. The challenges we are currently experiencing in the production, transportation, and marketing of coal must be confronted and viable solutions found. Coal is a reliable efficient energy source that can and must be developed to its fullest potential as an answer to the world wide energy needs.

The program will begin Wednesday morning (11th) at 9 o'clock a.m. Several panels, featuring knowledgable speakers with coal related needs and interests will be presented throughout the day. There will be a luncheon and that evening a reception to provide an informal setting for the coal producers and coal customers to meet and talk, and also, allow our elected officials to hear and learn the concerns and problems facing the coal industry. On Thursday morning (12th) at 9 o'clock a.m., the meeting will begin and we will again offer panels with well informed experts and key policy makers for a meaningful and productive discussion of issues. The meeting will adjourn shortly afternoon.

For additional information about the "Today's International Coal Markets" Conference or registration, contact Barbara F. Altizer, Virginia Coal Council, 2418 Second Street, Richlands, VA. 24641. 703/964-6363.

Local Artist Exhibits Prize Winners

Virginia Woodard of Pennington Gap is currently displaying several of her prize-winning paintings at the Pennington Gap Regional Library. Seven of her paintings were awarded ribbons at the Lee County Fair this year. In addition to these, Mrs. Woodard has also hung several other works in various media for a total of 25 works on display.

Her subject matter ranges from landscapes, seascapes, and still-lifes to nature studies and her choice of media is also highly varied. Whether working in watercolors, oils, or ink, Mrs. Woodard's realists compositions are lively in color and texture as well as well-balanced and perspectively correct.

Her previous education in art has been limited to correspondence courses and art editor of the P.H.S. newspaper, but her desire to learn on her own has made-up for any lack of formal art training.

Mrs. Woodard has been sketching in pencil all her life, but only recently has had the time to really work at her field of interest. Thanks to the encouragement of friends and neighbors, she has become very productive. She completed over 50 paintings between December and March.

The landscapes reflect her love for these mountains of Virginia where she grew up in a family of seven. Her father was Elbert Travis, a well known brick mason and her mother is Dona (Travis) Jones. Her twin brother is James Travis the assistant postmaster at Jonesville. She has lived away from the pictures que scenery of our seasonal changes for four and half years when she lived in Florida, where she worked as a practical nurse. She has also worked at the former Lee General Hospital and at the Pennington Gap Health Clinic.

Active in the First Baptist Church as a Sunday School teacher, choir member, assistant director of the Women's Missionary Union, nomination committee member and leader of the G.A. and C.A. organizations, Mrs. Woodard is also a homemaker. Her husband, Wilson is an equipment operator for General Trucking, and her daughter, Sabrina is a Senior at P.H.S., must clear the dining room table after meals to make room for her art projects.

In the past she has given her paintings away as gifts, but, due to the expense of brushes, canvas, ink, and other art supplies, she hopes to be able to sell some of her works in the future.

These framed and matted paintings will be on display at the library for about three weeks. Mrs. Woodard invites everyone in the area to come and see her latest prize-winning compositions.

Local Groups To Sing For Christie Vanhook

Little Christie Nicole Vanhook was born on April 11, 1981 to Dale and Lisa Vanhook, Appalachia. The doctors soon discovered little Christie had a rare birth defect that could be corrected only with surgery. The parents do not have the money or insurance for this surgery, so the Zeta Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi of Big Stone Gap has set up a Christie Vanhook fund.

The Lovelady Gap React team is sponsoring a gospel sing Sunday, October 4 beginning at 2:00 p.m., at Dryden High School, featuring Christianaires, The Carters, Glory Land Five plus other groups.

The proceeds will go to help defray the operation expenses of little Christie, who was scheduled to undergo her second operation September 30.

Red Fox Second Hangin' On TV

Roadside Theater of Whitesburg, Ky. and Norton, Va. was recently selected as one of the three theaters in the United States to receive a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts "to pioneer the professional theater's re-entry into television." Roadside Theater will adapt its original play, RED FOX/SECOND HANGING', for television.

The problems of translating RED FOX/SECOND HANGIN', live theater, to the canned medium of television will be confronted through a three stage process of rehearsal, documentary taping at a local community center or church, and finally the taping of the reaction to the performance of those local people who are familiar with the oral history upon which the play is based.

Roadside Theater is a part of the media arts and educational organization, Appalshop, and is funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts, the Kentucky Arts Council, the Virginia Commission for the Arts, and the Lyndhurst Foundation.

Transformer

it can be tied-in with existing power lines. This procedure allows the company to provide large amounts of power to commercial facilities at St. Charles and Imboden and also serve several substations in Lee County during periods of high use by individual households.

Furthermore, Jones pointed out that it will take "three to four days" just to move the transformer from the railroad cars onto a flatbed trailer. This procedure will require the use of several hydraulic powered 100 ton jacks equipped with skids to ease the transformer from the railroad car to the trailer. Several more days of work will be required to take the transformer from the trailer and position it on the concrete and steel base.

The transformer is scheduled to go into operation sometime next month and additional work on the Pocket Substation is planned for over the next two to five years. There are no final figures available, but Carroll said the project will cost several million dollars when completed.

Keep Virginia Green Poster Contest

The 30th Annual KEEP VIRGINIA GREEN Poster Contest, sponsored by Virginia Forestry Association and the Virginia Division of Forestry, officially opens this week. The contest, which offers $3,200 in prizes, is open to all students in grades 1-12 who are enrolled in any public or private Virginia school. Deadline for entries is December 1, 1981.

The general theme for the 1981 contest is "Prevent Forest Fires." Students are encouraged to emphasize the many aspects of forest fires and their impact on our economy, wildlife and natural resources, as well as the prevention of forest fires.

The KEEP VIRGINIA GREEN Poster Contest teaches young Virginians the importance of our forestlands, related natural resources, and wise conservation practices. Each year the contest has a different conservation theme. Last year there were 29,766 entries from throughout the state.

Top prize in the contest is $400 cash; there is a total of 939 student prizes in all. Thirty six $25 Teacher Awards and four school awards are also being offered. Rules for the contest may be obtained from principals and teachers who have received contest announcements, or by writing to Virginia Forestry Association, 1 North Fifth Street, Richmond, VA 23219.

Handicapped

Smith further stated, "We'll do what we have to do to maintain our services to our folks. I think we'll be able to do that thru this fiscal year, but after that I don't know." For the present time, "Everything is on hold" in regards to future projects and new students, according to Smith.

DSI is a non-profit organization that supervises the administration of the Dryden Day Care Center, Big Stone Gap's Appalachian Mountains "Green house" Training Center, and an infant stimulation program for newborn to two-year old infants who have been diagnosed as mentally handicapped.

The school at Dryden had 29 full time students with five part-time students who also attend classes in Pennington Gap. The students may range in age from 18 to 65 and the average I.Q. is below 60 for the mentally handicapped.

The purpose of the center is to teach "survival skills" such as sewing, cooking, grooming, gardening skills needed to foster independent living. The center has, in addition to open bay classrooms and lounge areas, a kitchen, sewing room, and a woodworking shop. Due to the budget cuts, several activities such as brunch snacks and field trips and some classroom materials have either been done away with or the students must pay for the items.

There are five full time teachers at Dryden, three at the Greenhouse, and the four van drivers serve both centers on their daily routes which cover the three county area from distant points such as Rose Hill, Pound, and Fort Blackmore. One employees salary is paid partially through CETA, another federal program faced with financial cutbacks.

According to Smith, the future of the center depends upon the continued cooperation of state and local governments. While Bridgett Cheek of CETA, Lucy McNeil of the Social Services Department, the Lee County Board of Supervisors, and Orby Cantrell, Ford Quillen, and John C. Buchanan are aware of the center's needs, they are limited by funds. However, Smith believes that the Lee County voters can help the handicaps by supporting the Department of Mental Health and Retardation which plans to ask for a $25 million budget from the State Legislature in January. Since the state provides 75 to 90 percent of their funds, with the remainder fulfilled by local Boards of Supervisors, the center could continue to operate beyond the fiscal year.

Pointing out that nearly half the staff are Lee Countians, Smith expressed his desire to see more Lee Countians donate funds. (Since the DSI is a non-profit, voluntary board organization, any donations to them are tax deductible.) If you can't afford a donation area residents are encouraged to volunteer their time and talent as teachers or van drivers.

Without more local support, Smith fears that his students will eventally be placed in institutions where the cost of maintaining one person for one year runs over $27,000. The center's rate per student per year is only $4000.

In addition to being cost efficient, Smith pointed out that "the key thing for people to realize is that the Center is a break from staying at home where the handicaps only stimulation is TV or whatever. Here the learn self-help skills, trade skills, and receive better stimulation in decision making." The facility is licensed by several government agencies.

Another cost saving feature of the center has been the cooperation of Lee County's doctors and dentists who provide their services free or at very reasonable rates. According to Smith, "They (doctors and dentists) have recognized that our clients are not financially well-off."

Smith believes in the center being both visible and vocal so the state government "won't forget us." Smith says, "We must be an advocate for our handicaps - they sometimes can't advocate for themselves."

Beef Business

Hereford business.

Ralph is General Manager of Powell Valley Electric Cooperative must devote most of his time in managing the Coop., therefore, leaving the daily operations of the farm to his very capable partner, Margee.

Being a graduate of Penn State in Animal Industry and a member of the university livestock judging team provides Margee with a valuable background for managing a beef operation. With this knowledge of the beef industry she is striving to increase the herd's size and growth rate by using the services of the Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association (VBCIA) and the Polled Hereford Association "Guidelines" Testing Program.

The farm operation consists of 225 acres of land plus a small leased acreage. At the present time a herd of 70 head is maintained on the farm. Cropland and pastureland include six acres of corn for grain, 30 acres of hay, 150 acres of pasture and six acres of tobacco which is leased out.

The Miner's are co-operators of the Daniel Boone Soil and Water Conservation District and are presently working with the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) in developing a farm plan. The farm plan will provide guidelines for making future improvements in cropland and pastureland management, erosion control and water management systems.

Margee says, her "two major goals are to be recognized as a producer of excellent registered Polled Hereford cattle and a conservation farmer."

Thomas Walker Pioneers Shell Pennington 67 - 46

Sonny Brook's cagers, the Thomas Walker Pioneers came to Pennington on Tuesday of last week and turned back the Bobcats 67-46.

After a 17-14 first quarter lead, the Pioneers turned on their speed and outscored Pennington 24-8 in the second quarter to lead by nineteen, 41-22 at halftime. During the second quarter the Bobcats went cold from the field while the Pioneers were burning the nets from all over the court.

Both teams play on fairly even terms in the second half with the Pioneers edging the Bobcats 26-24. With around four minutes left, the Pioneers started pulling their starters from the game as did the Bobcats. Sandra Ely of Pennington, was the only starter on the court when the game ended.

Thomas Walker 5-2 overall and 3-1 in district play, got 19 points from Kim Davis with Missy Brooks, a quick little guard adding 10 points in the win.

Pennington with the loss falls to 2-8 overall and 1-4 in the district. The Bobcats were led by the brilliant play of Sandra Ely. She topped all scorers with 22 points. Kim Roberts chipped in with 8 points.

Ely is a good bet to be all district this year, and if awards were given for player of the year, she certainly would have to be one of the top two players in the district if not the best. She is a team leader as well as a performer. Just think, Cumberland district teams will have to face Pennington again next year with Ely, as she is a junior!

Dryden placed three in double figures with Cheryl Reasor leading the way with 23 points. Robin Woods tossed in 16 while Joyce Swain added 10 points. Four other Crusaders rounded out the Dryden scoring.

Thomas Walker falls to 5 3 overall and 3-2 inside the district. The Pioneers were led by Kim Davis who hit for 19 points Salley Bailey was the only other Pioneer in double figures with 10

Dryden Parent - Teachers Meet

The Dryden Parent Teacher Organization met Monday, September 21, at the school library. John Collier, principal welcomed the group present. He gave some enrollment statistics for Dryden Combined School for 1976-1980 81. A brief discussion period followed. One of the major problems of the school is the parking facilities. The group was asked to express ideas on helping deal with the problem and solving it. He also expressed some of his personal opinions how the parent volunteer group could help with perfecting the school, and its standing in the state and community affairs.

Then, the program was turned over to Peggy Myers, 4-H Club, County Representative. She gave an interesting program on the projects that are carried out by 4-H'ers. One of the most fascinating projects is the Embroyology Project. This project requires teacher-involvement, and children can see the life-cycle. for themselves. Projects such as this in 4-H clubs, and parent involvement in the school programs gives the child pride in achieving goals for his school and himself.

Hilda Orick gave a financial report. The P.T.O. held a rummage, bake sale, and car wash in the spring to help Debbie Wade go to California for a FHA Convention. With the help of local patrons, businesses, and private clubs, the group accomplished this task. For this reason, the Dryden P.T.O. wishes to make this big public "thank you" for everything you did in helping us.

Sandra Bowman, of the Seminary area, was elected as a high school parent representative.

Parents, we urge those of you who haven't taken part in the meetings to please do so. You have a voice in the discussions and decisions made, and you will be glad you did when you see the results that your work and patronage reflects in the attitude of your child and your school.

The next meeting will be held October 5, 1981 at 7:00 p.m. at the school library.

Family Living Class

At PHS Preserves Food

"Using Your Time, Energy and Money Wisely", is the theme being stressed in each Home Economics class this year.

Many families had gardens this summer and preserved lots of food for the winter, which in turn will lessen their food bill.

In the Family Living Class the boys as well as the girls learned to perserve food. You may say Why? The answer is simple-"Everyone is a Homemaker".

Today many wives are helping to support the family, therefore the husband helps with home chores.

Foods preserved in Family Living and other classes were: canned green beans, tomato juice, mint pears, pickled carrots and homemade apple butter.

Okra, green pepper, beans and peaches were frozen

These foods will be used by the group in the foods laboratory.

Farmers Should File Acreage Reports

Clay Jones, a member of the Lee County ASC Committee, reminds farmers of the need to file an acreage report on their 1981 grain crops with the county office. "Producers may pay the cost of having an ASCS representative visit their farm and measure their crop acreage and still obtain program benefits," said Jones. "However, the acreage must be reported accurately," he added.

Secretary of Agriculture, John Block, recently announced his intention to implement a 15 percent "reduced acreage" program for the 1982 wheat crop to offset the effects of record supplies and depressed wheat prices. He also held open the possibility that he may propose a "reduced acreage" program later for feed grains

"With these proposed revisions in the program, it has become more important for farmers to file acreage reports this year in order to be able to qualify for 1982 program benefits," jones said

Farmers with accurate reports on file this year are eligible for low yield and target price protection

FROM WEST TO EAST, the country western craze is sweeping across the continent. This cowgirl knows she can dance "The Cotton-Eyed Joe" in her denim jeans and new denim jacket that has been styled to fit a gal's waistline. Her fancy plaid western shirt has pearlized snaps and is trimmed at the yoke with fringe. Cowboys can dress western too in cowboy cut jeans with a hardy plaid flannel western shirt and rugged denim jacket.

Why We Must Save The Clean Air Act

"We cannot wait until the bodies are brought in to prove the fact people are going to get sick from pollution in the air," said Rep. Henry Waxman (D Calif.) in an interview with the American Lung Association. Congressman Waxman, who is chairman of the House Commerce Subcommittee on Health and Environment, has been holding hearings on the highly controversial Clean Air Act

The Act expires Sept 30, 1981 but Rep. Waxman explains this deadline is flexible. Congress has been known to continue an appropriation until legislative differences can be resolved. Undoubtedly, this will happen with the Clean Air Act

According to Waxman the danger is that the Act will be gutted, and its health goals ignored, relaxed or eliminated. Cost benefit calculations are now being considered by the administration Says Waxman: "Invariably, the cost, of implementing the standards have been overestimated We found that when pollution control technology was forced on industry, it was able to comply at not nearly so great a cost as anticipated."

If the standards that are set for air pollutants do not protect all the public, then we've failed to keep the Act's purposes intact, added Rep Waxman. He continued: "It would be unconscionable to have us say to people who are in high risk categories -- the young, the elderly, people with lung and heart disease - that they cannot continue to live in some of our major cities, that they will have to move if they want to breathe clean air."

A "fine tuning" of the Clean Air Act, not an overhaul, is the goal. For instance, "standards should be set for certain pollutants that we know are dangerous but have not yet been regulated. Fine particulates and harmful gases are examples of this."

What can be done to help strengthen the Act? People can write their congressman, says the American Lung Association, and repeatedly bring the Clean Air message to the attention of the media

Planting A Winter Cover Crop

If the home vegetable garden is almost finished for the season, it is time to think about planting a winter cover crop.

Virginia Tech Extension specialist in home horticulture Diane Relf said a cover crop such as oats, annual rye or winter wheat will serve several functions in the garden

"It will add organic material to the soil, hold nitrogen that might leach from the soil during the winter and loosen heavy soils," said the specialist.

"Also, it will reduce erosion from water or wind and offer protection from the wind for spring seedlings if it is left in the space between the rows of vegetables late in the spring," said Ms. Relf

The cover crop can be sown from late summer to fall, depending on the type selected Loosen the soil with a hoe or cultivator, sow the seed and rake it in lightly, said the faculty member in Tech's College of Agriculture and Life Sciences

Performance Of Wilde's Classic Comedy Scheduled

The Alabama Shakespeare Festival returns to Wise for the third consecutive year -- this time to perform Oscar Wilde's classic comedy, The Importance of Being Earnest. Its previous performances, The Twelfth Night and the Two Gentlemen of Verona, were well attended by area residents, and Pro-Art, the Festival's sponsor, anticipates a full house this year. The play is scheduled for October 19th, at 8:00 p.m. in Wise's J.J. Kelly Auditorium.

Directed by Martin L. Platt, The Importance of Being Earnest is an English literary masterpiece of wit, satire, and farce. The action of the play revolves around two young Victorian women who are beguiled by the "sincere" name of "Earnest" and are certain they could never marry a man named anything else. Through a preposterous, elaborate plot of mistaken identities, Wilde makes pointed, even barbed, comments on British social pretensions.

This ASF tour production features many seasoned actors, including Robert Browning, James Donadio, and Shannon Eubanks, a stage, film, and television veteran whose own production on Shakespeare's ladies, Her Infinite Variety, is currently being developed for cable television.

Tickets for the Wise performance, $2.00 for students and $6.00 for adults. Further information is available by calling 703-328-8282.

Plenty Of Fall Fruits, Poultry And Peanuts

There should be more peanuts for munching and more peanut butter for spreading during October. There'll also be lots of fresh apples, grapes, Bartlett pears, sweet potatoes, oranges, lemons, turkey, broilers and pork, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture marketing specialists.

The marketing specialists say this year's peanut crop is expected to be 67 percent above the 1980 drought-stricken crop and about 3 percent below the record-high 1979 crop. By the end of October, peanuts will be in adequate supply--enough to meet needs -- instead of in light supply, as they have been for several months.

The new apple crop is forecast at 192 million 42-pound boxes, 8 percent less than last season's record-breaking crop and 1 percent less than the 1979-80 season crop.

Apple varieties that will be seen in stores range from the popular red Delicious varieties, which account for 40 percent of the total crop, to a fairly new variety on the American scene -- the Granny Smith. This apple, which originated in Australia, is green in color and slightly tart.

October should be a good time to buy turkeys, according to the marketing specialists. Cold storage holdings at the beginning of the month are expected to set a record -- 18 to 22 percent larger than a year earlier. Storage holdings will account for most of the increase in total turkey supplies, which will likely be 12 to 16 percent above a year earlier and 7 to 11 percent larger than the 1978-80 average for October. Weekly production in October is expected to average 2 to 6 percent above a year earlier.

While poultry and pork will be plentiful, beef will continue in adequate supply during October. However, weekly beef output during the month will average slightly above a year earlier -- about equal to the 1978-80 average for October.

Other products expected in the "plentiful" category includes eggs, milk and dairy products, rice, dry beans and dried prunes. Look for adequate supplies of potatoes, canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, and citrus juices.

Fresh grapefruit is in the "light" category, but supplies should increase as the month progresses.

Baled Tobacco Regulations Announced

Lee County ASCS Director, Charles M. Ingram, has announced that tobacco producers will be allowed to bale all of their effective quota of tobacco this year. "Farmers will not be required to visit the county office and file an application in order to be eligible to bale their crop," he said.

Ingram reminds farmers that the ASCS office has a supply of specification sheets on how to construct a burley bale press. These forms may also be obtained at the Lee County Extension Office. The bale sizes will be the same as last year: 1 foot wide x 2 feet high, x 3 feet long and tied with cotton twine only.

In 1980, 241,025 pounds of baled tobacco was sold on the Pennington Gap tobacco market at an average price of $1.9683 per pound.

We Are Not Sex - Biased

"Electricity class" according to Lori Harber (right) and Debbie Cochran "is interesting." When Lori was asked what she was doing she said, "hooking up a single circuit, you see it's simple, you just take this wire..."and that was what the entire class was doing--just taking this wire, and that wire and putting it where it belonged.

Mr. Eugene Edens, Lee County Vocational School Electricity Instructor, was checking each station to built by other departments see that the work was being performed correctly.

The electricity class does the wiring for the homes in the school. The class also does the maintenance work within the classrooms. WHen a light doesn't come on with a "flick of the switch" teachers are accustomed to sending for a couple of boys from the electricity class.

This year when they send for a couple of boys they will possibly get a couple of girls. The school has always encouraged students to enroll in classes of their choice--and it isn't uncommon for students to be enrolled in non traditional courses, this is the first time, however, that girls have enrolled in the electricity class. And both say, "We like it."

Japan Largest U.S. Farm Export Market

According to the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), Japan is the United States' largest single-country market, accounting for about 15 percent of U.S. Agricultural exports. Over the past 10 years, Japan has relied on the United States for more than one-third of total agricultural imports, with the U.S. share increasing slowly but steadily. U.S. Agricultural shipments to Japan in 1980 totaled $6.1 billion and will likely approach $7 billion by the end of 1981.

More than 80 percent of U.S. farm exports to Japan during the 1970's were bulk commodities - raw materials for agricultural industries. Items such as grains, hides and skins, feeds and fodder, oilseeds, unmanufactured tobacco, and cotton make up 87 percent of the total in 1980. During the 1970's, U.S. exports of coarse grains-representing one-third of the total value-grew 9 percent each year, largely in response to Japan's expanding feed-livestock economy.

The rest (13 percent) of U.S. farm exports to Japan last year comprised commodities such as meats, dairy products, fruits, vegetables, and nuts which require more processing and handling. These products face more restrictions because Japan, like other countries, wants to use its own labor force to process agricultural products.

Growth in the Japanese market has been largely due to population and income growth reinforced by a shift toward a Western diet. Traditional foods such as rice grew less important as consumers increased their consumption of wheat products, meats, fruits, and vegetables.

Crowded on a rugged area the size of California, Japan's population of 117 million is about half that of the United States. Over the next decade, the population should grow just under one percent (compared with a little more than one in the 1970's). Meanwhile, per capita income may rise three to four percent a year. Population and income growth ensures that Japan's demand for food will be greater in the future. Demand for Western food will also continue leading to higher per capita requirements of original calories.

What is Beef-In-A-Bag?

Basically, beef-in-a-bag is a boneless section or subprimal of beef that is trimmed of excess fat and then vacuum packaged in a plastic bag at the processing plant under strict sanitation controls. (Beef-in-a-bag is also referred to as bulk beef, beef subprimals or mini-subprimals.) This innovation in meat packing can help you save money while you enjoy one of your favorite meat cuts.

From the processing plant, the beef-in-a-bag is shipped to the supermarket in boxes The retailer can merchandise this beef in two ways. Individual cuts are trimmed, trayed, wrapped and priced for the retail case. Or the beef is simply removed from the box, priced and displayed (in a bag) alongside individual retail packages in the meat case.

Beef-in-a-bag is slightly darker in color than traditional beef cuts because of a lack of oxygen due to vacuum packaging. But once the bag is opened and the beef is exposed to air, the beef color will "bloom" - that is take on the more traditional bright cherry-red appearance.

How Do I Buy Beef-In-A-Bag?

Cost per serving is the best indicator of true beef value and especially important to comparison shoppers. Boneless beef subprimals will yield one to two servings per pound more than traditional bone-in cuts. To figure the cost per serving, simply divide the cost per pound by the expected number of servings per pound. Check the label of information that will assist your comparison shopping. The "ESTIMATED YIELD" (after cutting) represents the percentage of the purchase weight that remains for cooking after trimming. These figures are averages and should only be used as guides. The actual yield will vary with degree of trim and method of cutting.

Beef-in-a-bag has been kept under constant refrigeration. As with any other perishable item you will want to put it quickly in the coldest part of your refrigerator, as close to 32 degrees F. as possible.

Why Do I Save Money?

Most of the cutting and trimming has been done at the processing plant, where the most efficient use of labor and equipment is made. The savings are even greater when you do the remaining cutting and wrapping at home, in addition to the economy of buying in bulk.

When you pick up a free folder at your Piggly Wiggly Store, it will further explain how to purchase eight popular beef-in-a-bag subprimals, how to cut the beef at home along with wrapping and storage instructions as well as cooking methods best suited for each cut. To insure the greatest success, we recommend you follow the basic instructions listed in the pamphlet.

O'dell Wilson Resigning As Lee County Administrator

Odell Wilson is resigning as Lee County Administrator effective October 15.

Wilson said that the "real reason" he has decided to leave the job is that the county's voters have chosen a form of government that does not include the need for a county administrator, though the post is optional. He was referring to the August 18 "special election" in which 42 percent of the county's registered voters who voted decided to change from a county board to a traditional one.

Wilson further stated that he is willing to go with the "will of the people" and that they have a right to the form of government they chose. He said that he is not "angry, disgusted, or mad" because he felt the voters didn't really understand the issues they were fighting against.

When asked about his future plans, Mr. Wilson noted his desire to return to his field of engineering and physics, citing the need for those skills in the coal industry. He said he had accomplished much to rescue Lee County from the financial slump he inherited when he took office in January, 1980.

The success of the bond issue which raised $940,000 and helped pay the debt for the new courthouse, the wheel tax that brought in $300,000 in delinquent taxes, and the equalization of real property assessments were sources of pride to Mr. Wilson.

These same successes were sore spots with the people and have influenced his decision to change jobs as a matter of "self preservation." He plans to stay in the Lee County area but declined to name any job probability.

This matter will most likely be on the agenda of the county board of supervisors when it meets in Jonesville on Wednesday. A further report will be forthcoming in next week's issue of the Powell Valley News

Keokee Man Found Guilty Of Murder

The friends and relatives of Walter Olen (Butch) Butcher, Jr., sat in silence last Saturday afternoon in the Lee County Circuit Courtroom at Jonesville, when the jury of twelve Lee County men and women pronounced 33 year old Phillip Pennington guilty of the second-degree murder of Butcher. This was the climax of a four day trial

Witnesses agreed there had been drinking and marijuana smoking at a party on Friday night, September 26, 1980 that fighting had taken place during the party between Pennington and Butcher, and Pennington borrowed a gun, went to the home of Butcher on Saturday morning, waiting at his residence for him to appear.

The fatal shot was fired with Butcher sitting in the cab of his own truck, but Pennington himself went for medical aide, saying he didn't intend to kill Butcher.

Pennington was not able to post bond and had been in the Lee County jail since his arrest September 27, 1980 He has undergone psychiatric evaluation, and it was determined the events that took place at the party plus his inability to deal with people had been contributing factors in the shooting He had been married and divorced twice, did not live in harmony with his immediate family, and had a problem making decisions.

The 20 year sentence fixed by the jury after deliberating for more than two hours, will be shortened with the time already spent in Lee County jail credited toward the sentence

Sheriff's Report

Lee County Sheriff's Department logged a "routine" work week last week with no felony arrests and only a few misdemeanors.

Local Man Killed In Train Accident

Faron Rogers, 26, of Dryden Heights Subdivision in Dryden was killed early Tuesday in a train accident.

The accident occurred at 7:45 a.m. at the Holton Mine at the Crest Coal Tipple near the Lee County-Wise County Line.

According to the Lee County Sheriff's Deparment, preliminary investigation revealed that Rogers was dropping coal cars and was setting the brake when the coal cars were struck by six more coal cars pinning Rogers on the tracks, resulting in his death.

Plans Underway For Rescue Squad Building

National Employ The Handicapped Week

Each year National Employ the Handicapped (NETH) Week is proclaimed by the President of the United States. NETH Week for 1981 has been scheduled for October 4 10.

Our country's greatest resource is its people including those with physical and mental disabilities But handicapped individuals too often have had to exist on the sidelines of life because of poor education, improper vocational preparation, unavailable transportation, inaccessible buildings and other difficulties.

Now, however, local, state and Federal laws and regulations are beginning to ensure equal rights to the disabled, so that they will no longer be second class citizens. All officers of the Federal government have been directed to improve hiring and promotion practices as they relate to handicapped individuals The private sector, too, is being made more aware of its duties and responsibilities.

Through a network of public employment offices throughout the country, the U.S Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration offers a variety of programs to assist mentally and physically handicap

Heart Attack Victims Sought For Cholesterole Study

One-time heart attack victims ages 29 through 64 are currently being sought to participate in a study which lowers cholesterol to unprecedented levels. With heart disease claiming 800,000 lives annually, the National Institutes of Health is funding four research centers across the country to explore the role of lowered cholestrol in the treatment of heart attack victims. Researchers hope to find conclusive evidence that maximal reduction of this fatty substance will significantly reduce the risk of heart disease.

The East Coast Center, which opened a short time ago, is located in Philadelphia. The center provides transportation and lodging for all prospective participants and an interested family member to come in for a screening visit. Persons 29 through 64 who have suffered one heart attack within the last five years are urged to contact the Hyperlipidemia Study for more information. Call, toll free, 1-800-345-1057.

Hines Hostess To Jonesville JWC

Dennis Jurr, a Pediatrician from Abingdon, presented a program on the use of child restraints. He stated that 50% of all children's deaths under the age of four are caused by traffic accidents. He stressed to please use car seats or seat belts when traveling anywhere in an automobile.

He cited examples of children losing their lives at speeds of 50 miles an hour or less due to sudden stops or collisions.

Most accidents are freaks, and close to home; a dog running out in front of a car, a wet, slippery road, a child being thrown out an open window due to the swerving of a car wheel.

A vehicle traveling at a rate of 50 m.p.h. and suddenly stops, all persons or objects not carefully strapped in will still be traveling through the air at the above rate of speed.

It doesn't take very much time, please use seat belts or car restraints, it maybe your child's life that will be saved.

White Rocks Garden Club

Delicious food was the highlight of the White Rocks Garden Club September 28 meeting.

Members at this time each year traditionally enjoy a progressive dinner with each meal course served at a different member's home. This year, all homes were in the Rose Hill area.

President Carolyn Davis welcomed the group first for appetizers of fresh vegetables and dip, bread sticks, olives, sweet pickles, fresh fruit and tea or coke.

Jacinta Hensley chose frozen cranberry salad and fruit punch as the salad course offering.

Hawaiian chicken on rice was the main course seved at the home of Judy Gregory. Assisted by Charlotte Brooks and Robin Doyle. Judy added side vegetables of peas and squash and completed the offering with rolls and coffee or tea

The last stop has become a tradition in itself. Each year since the club was organized, the final course has been cheese cake served at the home of Andra Harris. Andra added a choice of ginger ale, percolator punch, or coffee to complete the evening's culinary delights

A brief business meeting was conducted following the meeting. President Davis congratulated the group on their second place showing based on number of entries in Lee County Fair competition. A prize of $75 was added to the treasury as a result of this award

LMU Sets Another Record Enrollment

Lincoln Memorial University has set yet another enrollment record, making this the 8th consecutive year for an increase in the student body.

With over 1260 students enrolled for the fall quarter, Mr Gary Burchett, Acting President of the university, stated that although universities were faced with financial aid cutbacks and the general state of the economy is undergoing transition Lincoln Memorial is able to meet the needs of today's students wishing to enter college and remain there until graduation.

The increase was accomplished by strong institutional management along with viable program offerings and an intensive program of outreach by the Admissions staff.

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Swap forms with friends and relatives

By June Fuller

What do you do with that Sanka refund form if you drink Maxwell House?

You trade it, of course!

Most refunders find more forms by trading with friends, relatives and refunders in other cities than they do by searching the supermarkets Trading forms has become an indispensable part of refunding

Where can you trade refund forms?

I never walk out of the house without an envelope full of forms in my pocketbook

At least a dozen of us in town take out our refund forms and do some trading whenever we meet, whether at the supermarket, the gas station or the public library It does wonders to pass the time when we are standing around waiting for our children to get out of band practice

Chances are that many of your neighbors have started refunding Don't hesitate to let them know that you have some extra refund forms for products they may be using Then ask whether they have any forms to trade

One smart trader takes her extra refund forms to the store When she sees a item for which she has a form in another shopper's cart, she walks over and offers the form as a gift I have lost count of the new friends and trading partners this practice has made her

Once you have started to do a little trading with your neighbors, it is only natural to invite them all over for coffee and a swap session At these sessions you can swap coupons and proofs of purchase as well as refund forms As word of your gatherings gets around, you can expect more of your friends and neighbors to join in the fun

Speaking of fun, form trading can add some new life to family gatherings. Just ask all the aunts and uncles, cousins and nieces to round up all the refund forms they can find and bring them to the gathering

In my next column I will tell you about the rules for trading refund forms in person and by mail

This week's smart shopper is Kathleen Bonker of Fayetteville, N.C. She tells me that her supermarket had Duncan Hines cake mix on sale for 65 cents a box

She had a coupon for $1 off on the purchase of three boxes She then sent the proofs of purchase to the company for a $1.?? refund

"They paid me 65 cents to eat their delicious cakes Now that's saving money!" says Mrs Bonker

She and other readers who receive my smart shopper award will receive a copy of the refunding magazine, The National Supermarket Shopper Send your experience to me in care of this newspaper

Here is a refund form to write for Wisk Free Trimmin's Offer, P.O. Box 7220, Westbury, N.Y 11592 This offer for a free bottle of ketchup, mustard or baked beans expires Dec 31, 1981

Here is this week's list of refund offers Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Dryden Wins Again, Stops Appalachia 51-38

In a non-district game played last Wednesday night, the Dryden Crusaders won over the Appalachia Bulldogs 51-38 to stretch their win streak to 13 games.

Dryden earned the win in front of their home fans with a 18-4 first quarter. This was the difference as the Bulldogs played Dryden on even terms in the second and fourth quarters, and winning the third at 10 9.

Dryden now 13-0 overall was led by Joyce Swain with 12 points, and Cheryl Reasor adding 10. Seven other players scored in the game. The Crusaders shot 93% at the free throw circle making 5 of 6.

Appalachia was led by Michelle Brown who was game high with 18 points. Princess Blair was next with 10 markers. Only four different players scored in the game for the Bulldogs. They failed to make any free throws in seven attempts.

Tomorrow night, the Dryden girls will be at Jonesville, taking on the Bulldogs for what probably will decide, who is going to win the district this year. Dryden will be taking one of Southwest Virginia's top teams into the game unbeaten, but will have to play tough against the Bulldogs who have only lost to Dryden. The Bulldogs are led by the all around play of Dee Dee Brooks who leads the district in scoring. If you have no place to go tomorrow, make your way to Jonesville to see this game as it promises to be a action packed one.

After a 10 all first quarter, Dryden took a 20-18 first half lead by outscoring the Bobcats 10-8 in the second. The Crusaders opened up a 12 point lead heading to the final quarter behind Joyce Swain and Robin Woods, but saw Pennington behind Sandra Ely's game high 24 points take the quarter 16-12, making the final 46-38.

Dryden is now 12-0 overall on the year and 7-0 in the district. The Crusaders got 15 points from Robin Woods while Joyce Swain canned 14. Cheryl Reasor scored the number which was the margin of victory, which was 8 points. Dryden made 14 of 23 foul shots for 61%.

Thomas Walker Holds Off Twin Springs 78 - 61

Sonny Brooks' lassies, the Thomas Walker Pioneers held off the Twin Springs Titans Tuesday of last week 78 61 at Twin Springs.

The Pioneers won every quarter with the exception of the last which each team scored 16 points each.

Both teams were called for numerous fouls. Twin Springs shot 46 free throws in the game while making 21 for just under 46%. Had they been more effective at the line, the Titans may have won, as the Pioneers made only 10 of 19 for just under 53%.

Thomas Walker placed three in double digits with Kim Davis netting 24. Kim Warf had 13 tallies while Rosanna Wilder chipped in with 12 points

Twin Springs had the game's leading scorer in Joann Begley, who burned the nets for 26 markers Teresa Sexton added 14, with Michelle Donelson scoring ten points. There were 11 different Pioneers to score in the game, while Twin Springs saw six different Titans do their scoring

Thomas Walker could just be the team to spoil Jonesville or Dryden, or whoever the district winner might be, so to all you district teams out there beware because the Pioneers are out to get back into the race for the crown!

Coeburn Blue Knights Upset Pennington 20-12

The Pennington Bobcats went to Coeburn last Friday evening to face the winless Blue Knights, but took a loss as Coeburn upset the Bobcats to gain their first win of the season.

Coeburn 1-5 on the year relied on the power running of John Miller throughout the game. Miller scored his first of three touchdowns in the opening quarter, but the extra point attempt was no good. The score stood until late in the second quarter when Pennington's Sage found Gary Collier with a 59 yard aerial. But the Bobcats also missed the extra point attempt, leaving the score tied at 6-6 at halftime.

After a scoreless third quarter, Coeburn upped their lead to 20-6, behind two short scoring runs by Miller. Quarterback Chris Bowen went to the air late in the quarter to find Collier with a 55 yard pass, good for the Bobcats final score of the game.

Coeburns defense held the Bobcats to only 70 yard rushing in the game. The Bobcats had 124 yards through the air, with Collier catching two of the biggest passes for touchdowns. Pennington now 3-3 on the year has been beaten two straight years by Coeburn under second year coach Don Williams, who coached the Bobcats before going to Coeburn.

John Miller was the Blue Knight, which the Bobcats tried to stop all game long, but to no success as Miller rambled with the ball 31 times for 191 yards.

Jonesville Pounds St. Paul For 47-9 Win

Jonesville hosted the St. Paul Deacons last Friday night, for the schools homecoming game, and the Bulldogs topped off the big day in Jonesville by pounding the Deacons 47-9.

St. Paul started the scoring with a 35 yard field goal by Tony McReynolds. The Bulldogs came back on a 40 yard scamper by Tim Baker, one of four touchdowns that he scored during the game.

Ricky Trent caught a 88 yard bomb from St. Paul quarterback Ricky Helbert for the Deacons last lead of the game. From then on, it was just a matter of wondering how many points the Bulldogs would roll up.

Helbert completed 13 of 23 passes for 285 yards in the air, but the Deacons only managed 34 yards rushing. On the other side, Jonesville had 329 yards on the ground and only 42 in the air. Baker had 201 yards on the ground. The win evens Jonesvilles overall record on the year at 3 3, but the Bulldogs are 1-0 in the district and still have to contend with winless Twin Springs later, and win to set the stage for a showdown with Pennington in the last game of the season.

Jonesville Bulldogs Claw Keokee 91 - 45

The Jonesville Bulldogs clawed a 91-45 win over Keokee last week. The 91 points is the most scored by a Cumberland district team this year, but it came against the district's lowest team, in the Keokee Mountaineers who have yet to win a game.

Against Keokee, the Bulldogs started the rout with a 20-8 first quarter lead. After Keokee took the second 18-16 to make the score 36-26 at halftime, Jonesville put the game away with 55 points in the last two quarters. That total of 55 points is a good score for a lot of teams final!

The Bulldogs 10-2 overall, are 6 1 in the district They had eight players to score in the game, with Dee Dee Brooks showing the way with 24 points. Sandy Willis played her best game of the year offensively as she canned 20 points. Cindy Terry and Lisa Anderson also topped the double digits with 13 and 10 points respectively. Sports Hall Of Fame Honors Pennington Native

Bluefield College, thanks to the efforts of Dr Dan Grabeel, has accepted the idea of having a Sports Hall of Fame.

Dr. Grabeel of Lynchburg and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grabeel of Richlands, was born at Lee General Hospital and lived in Pennington Gap for a few years. His formal education includes attendance at the University of Virginia, Bluefield College and the United States Army. In 1961 he began working on his doctor of dentistry degree at the University of Richmond and the Medical College of Virginia.

On November 14, Bluefield College will honor Dr. Dan Grabeel's efforts toward establishing and contributing to its program Grabeel, along with 10 other Bluefield College graduates will become charter inductees into the hall.

Sports that have attracted Grabeel include squash, jogging, racquetball, skiing, free-fall sky diving, scuba diving, flying, tennis, golf, karate and football. A star linebacker and halfback at Graham, Grabeel had helped the G Men defeat Bluefield's Beavers for the first time in many years. Coach Harlan Lambert recognized his athletic prowess and permitted him to serve as a walk on for the BC team.

How do you hang a picture on a wall which is made of gypsum board? If the picture is fairly small, use a special picture hanging clip which points a nail diagonally into the gypsum board If the nail tears out, you'll have to locate the stud, and nail directly into that

To locate a stud in a wall covered by gypsum board, plasterboard, or veneer paneling you'll have to do some guessing and testing Start at one end of the wall Assume there is a stud at the end where the wall meets Since most studs are 16 inches apart in interior walls, simply measure 16 inches from the corner. Drive a nail through the plaster to see if the stud is there If it isn't, try tapping around the area with a hammer With practice you'll learn to hear the difference between hollow space behind plaster and a solid stud.

For a sweeter smelling closet, hang an old nylon stocking filled with cedar chips. This also serves as a moth repellent.

Farmers May Apply For New Grower Tobacco Allotment

Lee County farmers whose land does not contain a burley tobacco allotment have until February 15, 1982 to apply for one at the County ASCS Office. There are several requirements that applicants must meet

Neither the owner nor operator of the farm shall own, have any ownership interest in, or operate another farm in the United States which has a tobacco quota of any kind

The farm operator must own, or have readily available, equipment and other facilities necessary for the production of burley tobacco

The operator must expect to obtain more than 50 percent of his current year income from farming. Income includes estimated returns from all crops, all program payments, home gardens, livestock, livestock products, poultry and etc.

Special consideration will be provided to farmers determined to be of low income.

Applicants must have experience in producing, harvesting and marketing of burley tobacco by sharing in the crop as sharecropper, tenant or operator during at least 2 of the previous 5 years on a farm having an effective quota

Free Vision Care

The Jonesville Lions Club and Botts and Botts Optometrists will sponsor a free vision clinic at Jonesville High School on October 10, 1981, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon

The clinic will test you for your vision conditions and glaucoma.

Glaucoma is a condition which either produces too much fluid in your eye or normal drainage from your eye does not occur. Glaucoma may affect anyone, but the likelihood increases after the age of 35, with the majority of the cases occuring in persons over the age of sixty. The true cause of glaucoma is not known, but in some cases it is thought to be inherited or it may possibly be caused by injuries, infections or tumors.

Glaucoma can cause blindness if not detected and treated early. Regular eye examinations are important, especially for those over the age 35.

Signs of glaucoma, are increased pressure in the eyes, blurred vision which comes and goes, seeing colored rings around lights, a loss of side vision, difficulty in focusing on near objects and pain or redness in the eyes, but many times these symptoms are not noticeable until the damage to the eye has already occurred.

Don't forget, Saturday, October 10, 1981, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon at Jonesville High School. Take a few minutes to have your eyes checked and make yourself feel better.

Estate Planning is both a right and responsibility -- a right granted by state and federal laws and a responsibility placed by society, family relationships, and ownership of property. For those who do not exercise the right and fulfill the responsibility, the state in which they live (Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky) has developed an estate plan for them. The state plan may or may not be acceptable in fulfilling family objectives. If not, then positive action is needed to develop a plan that does.

Immediately following the death of one spouse, the surviving spouse is faced with making decisions in which a knowledge of the deceased spouse's financial and business affairs is necessary. It is important for the surviving spouse to know:

1. Where the valuable papers, including the will, are kept;
2. What checking and savings accounts are involved and where located;
3. What property is owned, what is owed, and what contracts are in force;
4. What insurance policies and retirement plans are involved;
5. Where and what business and personal records kept; and
6. What persons are normally consulted on business, legal, and personal matters?

A knowledge of these matters will help to ease the burdens of the surviving spouse. It will also greatly facilitate the ease of handling the estate by the executor or administrator.

We will be discussing these and other pertinent items in a series of Estate Planning Meetings on October 22 and 27 and November 5, 12, and 19 at the Ewing Elementary School in Ewing, Virginia If you are interested in attending these meetings, please call the Extension Office at 346-1522 and register. There is no charge for this workshop. A similar workshop will be held in Pennington Gap in January.

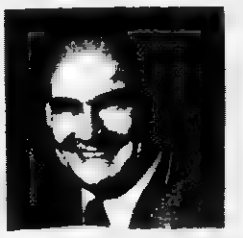
Congressman BILL WAMPLER Reports from Washington



Our Nation has a clear commitment to protect and preserve the social safety net that provides for the basic needs of the elderly, the disabled, and the very poor. The pivotal role that Social Security plays in the lives of the elderly and the disabled means that it is too important an issue to be bandied like a hot potato between competing political groups. Even modest adjustments, such as a one-time delay in cost-of-living increases, is unacceptable to a majority in the Congress.

Nevertheless, the Social Security System still faces a serious financial crisis in the years ahead. Benefits are growing at a much more rapid pace than the payroll taxes which fund them. Despite a natural reluctance to tamper with the System, delay in dealing with the very real problems that exist could have catastrophic consequences.

I favor the approach suggested last week by President Reagan. He has proposed that a bipartisan task force be established to study and develop a permanent solution by January 1983. The Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Majority Leader of the Senate have each been asked to name five members to this task force, to serve with five members to be appointed by the President. We must reach a concensus on this issue that will earn the support of a solid majority of the people affected. Every problem has a solution. Only by devoting a comprehensive, bipartisan effort to find the solution can we hope to avert disaster for the Social Security System.

In the interim, interfund borrowing between the various funds of Social Security will provide a temporary means of ensuring that retired Americans continue to receive their benefits.

The pitfall we must guard against above all others is the tendency to do nothing ... to delay too long the action needed to stabilize the system. To do so only increases the threat of insolvency, the explosion in payroll taxes, and the very real possibility of abruptly reduced benefits for all who are dependent upon the Social Security System. To allow that to happen would be a breach of faith between the government and the people

Dear Editor:

For organizational purposes, the National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps Alumni (NACCCA) is trying to locate about 2,000,000 former members and persons who were connected or affiliated with the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) during the 1930s and 1940s. It is a known fact that many of these persons reside in Virginia and areas serviced by the Powell Valley News

I am sure that many of your readers have often wondered what became of the CCC. You can tell them the CCC lives again in the NACCCA. It is a young and growing organization with chapters in practically every state in the nation, and one of its major objectives is to reinstate a permanent CCC.

Anyone interested in the organization can write for information and literature to: NACCCA Headquarters, 7900 Sudley Road, Suite 418, Manassas, Va. 22110.

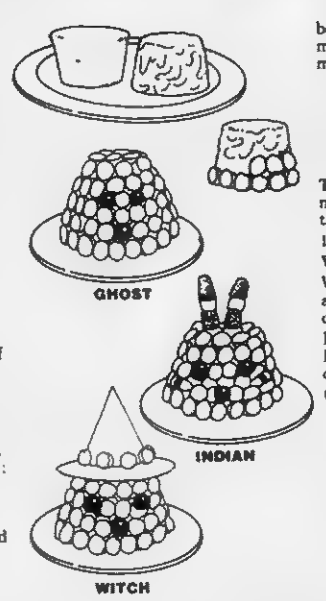
Marshmallow Creations Make Halloween Fun

Everyone thinks of Halloween as a magical time. Ghosts and goblins rule the neighborhood; mysteriously costumed figures go from house to house, and empty shopping bags become full of assorted goodies to take home and gloat over. It's time once again for that yearly ritual—but many parents are finding that an at-home Halloween get-together, planned around kids' favorite treats, is just as much fun as the traditional trick or treating. The secret is to provide lots of entertainment with games, a "scariest costume" contest, and some creative party project ideas that are great to eat after they're finished.

Assemble a group of princesses, pirates and assorted monsters on Halloween eve; turn the lights down low, and set out the ingredients for some "make your own" treats. Children of any age love to make things, particularly if both the fixings and the final creations are good to eat. Just a few delicious ingredients from the supermarket—miniature marshmallows, marshmallow creme, and decorative candies—are the basis of a host of fun cupcake creations.

Each child can make an individual Goblin Cupcake Witch, Indian or Ghost with just a few easy ingredients The Kitchens have created some exciting Halloween treats that are surprisingly simple to make. Start with large home-baked or store-bought cupcakes; turn them upside down, and frost all over with Angel Mallow Frosting, which an adult can make ahead of time. Then, take a package of miniature marshmallows, and place them in even rows all over the frosted cupcakes. Distinctive facial features and decorations are added with candy corn, gumdrops, chocolate shot and other candies.



Serve the Halloween party treats with kid-pleasing beverages—apple juice, cider, or hot chocolate with miniature marshmallows. Then watch them have as much fun eating as creating!

Rose Hill Homemakers Club News

Our Christian Heritage

Mrs. Jerry Hounshell and Mrs. Ewell Frye hosted a meeting of Major George Gibson Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution on September 26 at the Hounshell residence in Rose Hill.

Mrs. Will A. Fugate, Vice-Regent, presided, with Grace C. Davis bringing a beautiful devotional message, "Bless the Lord Through Sorrow". The pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States and the American's Creed were led by Mrs. Charles Emmett, flag chairman, and the singing of the National Anthem was led by Mrs. Oscar W. Smith

The President General's Message brought by Mrs Willard C. Davis referred to the approaching celebration of the 250th anniversary of the birth of our First President, and our privilege to place greater emphasis on the study of the Constitution of the United States. She spoke of it as our greatest heritage, for it "guarantees all the freedoms we enjoy."

Mary Stickley, speaking on National Defense, gave excerpts from an address to the National Congress, NSDAR, by General Richard G Stilwell, United States Army (Ret.), which in her opinion was one of the most challenging addresses given at the National Congress in Washington, D.C. on May 2, 1981.

Miss Stickley spoke of him as one who had given his entire professional life in defense of our Constitution, and General Stilwell had spoken of the DAR as being a conspicious guardian of the American tradition and legacy.

"So, today", he stated, "our privilege of supporting America's march to its rightful destiny will fall to the strong of heart and spine. Our Country", he concluded, "must have the same patriotic vision, allegiance to God, and sense of responsibility as those 55 men in Philadelphia, 205 years ago, who, with the enemy at the gate, staked their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor in the cause of freedom."

A most interesting slide program was presented by Mrs. Will A. Fugate, Miss Bashie Kincaid, and Miss Mary Stickley on their recent and fantastic trip to the Holy Land in Israel.

Mrs. Fugate spoke of how meaningful the tour was, of the expertise of the guide in calling attention to the Scriptures relating to the places visited, and how even sharing about their journey helped them to relive again the experiences and teachings of Jesus, which is the basis of our Christian heritage of almost 2,000 years ago.

Miss Kincaid related humorous incidences of the trip, and Miss Stickley didn't miss an opportunity to wade in the Sea of Galilee, and Jordan River, and even to ride on a camel's back.

Mrs. Fugate expressed appreciation at being able to make the tour, and added that it also gave her a greater appreciation for America.

At the close of the program the hostesses served the delightful refreshments to the twenty two in attendance. Those not previously mentioned were Martha Bernhard of Cincinnati, Ohio, Mae Davis, Nell Grabeel, Anne Schley, and Kathleen Carter, all of Jonesville; Imogene Ault of Tazewell, Tn., Janet Munsey, Mrs. John Seale, and visitors, Selma Shackleferd, Mrs. C. M. Lawson and granddaughter Jessica Hounshell, all of Rose Hill.

—Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Lawson, Sr., were week end guests of their daughters, Debra Lawson in Knoxville.

—On September 27 at 2 p.m. at Rock Hill Baptist Church and Zion Lutheran Church, at Bristol, a marker to the Barb Family was dedicated. The family had settled in Washington County, Va. in 1802, and later moved on to Claiborne County, Tn. and to Lee County.

Jacob Barb, Jr. was born in 1765 and died in 1845. His daughter Rebecca married Isaac Thomas and they have many descendants still living in the Lee County area. Bashie Kincaid and Mary Stickley were among the 150 people attending the Dedication Ceremony.

—Sonny Brooks and daughter Stephanie visited relatives in LaFayette, Ind., and also attended the football game between Notre Dame University and Purdue University

—Charles Ely is visiting relatives in Mooresville, Ind

—Ruth Rowlett has returned home having spent several days in the Morristown Hospital

Mr. and Mrs Willard Davis were Saturday night dinner guests of Mr and Mrs. Sherwood Williamson

—Sunday guests of Mr and Mrs. Van Grabeel were Mr. and Mrs Conard Ritter of Bean's Station, Margie Mays, Morristown, Tn., and also Van O'Dell of Ewing, their grandson.

Mr and Mrs. Coeburn Smith of Bristol, and their daughter, Janie Lou were visiting relatives in Rose Hill on Friday, the Paul Smith and Van Grabeel families Afterwards Janie Lou flew to Virginia beach to visit her brother, Roger Smith, before joining her husband in Turkey.

Major George Gibson DAR At District IV Meeting

The District IV Virginia Daughters of the American Revolution held its annual meeting on September 22, 1981 at the Greenway Haven Party House in Abingdon.

Mrs. George Wharton III, Director of District IV and Past Regent of Boone Trail Chapter NSDAR in Wise County, was the presiding officer. She welcomed the honored guest, Mrs. Ralph E. Rhodes of Richmond, who is Virginia DAR State Regent, and also seven other State Officers, and twenty-one State Chairmen.

Four District Officers and nine of the twelve Chapter Regents in District IV were also present, making a total of one hundred six DAR members registered, including two visitors.

An enthusiastic and informative address was brought by the State Regent, Mrs. Rhodes, which was reinforced by suggestions and reports from other State Officers and State Chairmen pertaining to the work of the National Society DAR.

The NSDAR is a Patriotic Organization which has for its theme this year, "An Enlightened Public Opinion," as suggested in George Washington's Farewell Address.

Among the numerous DAR projects which carry out the educational, historical, and patriotic purposes of the Society's National Headquarters in Washington, D.C., to the Preservation of Records in Virginia, and to the support of two DAR owned Schools, and other approved schools, and many Good Citizens projects among our Nation's Youth.

It was the Daughters of the American Revolution that took the lead sixty years ago in preserving the battlefield at Yorktown, where our Nation's independence was secured, and the Society is asking that Sunday, October 18th be a Day of Prayer and Thanksgiving, with special services being held in churches, and that churches, schools, and citizens ring bells at 12 noon on the 19th as requested by Governor Dalton of Virginia in his proclamation that we observe October 19th as Victory Day for American freedom.

Regents or their representatives from twelve chapters spoke briefly of their accomplishments, and of their plans for the coming year. In addition to the many State and National projects, a cooperative endeavor of the three most southwestern chapters - Boone Trail, Lovelady, and Major George Gibson - is renovating the DAR Room in the Southwest Virginia Museum at Big Stone Gap, Va.

Members from the major George Gibson Chapter attending the District Meeting were Mrs. Jerry Hounshell, Regent; Mrs. Charles Emmett, Mrs John Seale, Miss Bashie Kincaid, and Mrs. Oscar W. Smith, all Past Regents of the Gibson Chapter. In the day's program Miss Kincaid led the group in the recitation of the American's Creed, and Mrs. Smith led the group in singing the first and last verses of the Star Spangled Banner, our national anthem.

Taxpayers, property owners and citizens of Lee, Wise and Scott Counties and the City of Norton, including nonresidents owning property of subject to taxation therein, and all other persons interested in or affected in any way by the issuance by the industrial development authority of Lee, Wise and Scott Counties and the City of Norton of approximately $3,200,000 industrial development revenue bonds for the benefit of Gal-Tenn Hotel Corporation, Defendants.

MOTION FOR JUDGMENT

Plaintiff, The Industrial Development Authority of Lee, Wise and Scott Counties and the City of Norton (the Authority) seeks judicial determination pursuant to Article 6, Chapter 5, Title 15.1, Code of Virginia of 1950, as amended, of the validity of approximately $3,200,000 industrial development revenue bonds or notes (the Bonds) for the benefit of Gal-Tenn. 1. The Authority was duly created in September 1974, by ordinances adopted by the Boards of Supervisors of Lee, Wise and Scott Counties and the Council of the City of Norton pursuant to the Industrial Development and Revenue Bond Act (Chapter 33, Title 15.1, Code of Virginia of 1950, as amended) the Act), and is a political subdivision of the Commonwealth of Virginia. 3. At a meeting held on March 5, 1981, the Authority adopted a resolution (the Resolution) agreeing to undertake the issuance of the Bonds upon terms and conditions to be mutually agreed upon between the Authority and the Company, with the Project to be leased or sold to the Company upon terms designed to insure payment of the Bonds by the Company in accordance with their terms.

4. The Resolution authorized the initiation of this proceeding to obtain a judicial determination of validity of the Bonds

Pennington High School News

Field Trip

On Tuesday, September 29, the journalism and sociology classes took a field trip to the Kingsport Times. During the tour the students were shown what goes into making a paper. The tour was a good learning experience for its students as well as the teachers -- Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Walton.

First Issue of the School Paper

The excitement among the journalism class was notable as the school newspaper, Cat Tribune, went on sale, October 1.

The Cat Tribune, which consisted of twelve pages, was written and published by members of the Pennington High School journalism class.

The editor is Debbie Cosby and the advisor is Mrs. Jo Ann Miller.

Also, many of the articles that are written by Debbie Cosby and Sandra Ely for the Powell Valley News are used in our Cat Tribune.

We, writers of the Cat Tribune, would like to thank everyone that contributed articles or information to help make the Cat Tribune a success.

Future Reader

John Paul and Patty Jones, Jonesville, announce the birth of their son, Loren Matthew born Saturday, September 5 at Lonesome Pine Community Hospital. He weighed 8 lbs. 4 oz. and was 21 inches in length.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Rasnic of Jonesville. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Jones of Jonesville.

LIFE HEALTH

The Spine

Why it is called the "backbone" is pretty hard to understand. Maybe it's because no one ever stopped to consider that a solid bone doesn't often get around to bending in all sorts of directions like the human spine.

Actually, there are 24 movable segments, or vertebras, in the "backbone", or spine. Between each segment is a soft cushion called a disc. The disc serves as a ball bearing and shock absorber for the vertebrae.

Inside the spine is a tube which contains the spinal cord, the lifeline of the nervous system. The spinal cord runs from the brain through the spinal column. Between the vertebrae are pairs of nerve trunks leading from the spinal cord and carrying millions of nerve fibres to the various parts of the body.

Displacement of any of the vertebrae or the discs of the spine impinges delicate nerve fibres, and vital organs served by the nerves can be affected. Disease is the result.

The spinal column, the spinal cord and the nervous system are the areas in which the chiropractor is scientifically trained. He locates the impingements and, by gentle adjustments, removes the offending pressures and restores the vital flow of nerve energy to the affected areas. Nature's healing from within restores the feeling of health and well-being. Another Health and Life Article from the Office of:

Supervisors Approve Redistricting

Although the 10 a.m. meeting of the board of supervisors of Lee County was lengthy and had to be recessed until 2 p.m., only one major task was accomplished. The board approved virtually unchanged a redistricting plan which was prepared by County Administrator Odell Wilson, after consulting with state officials

The plan reduces the number of districts from six to five. The one change made was the shift of 160 persons in the East Pennington Gap area to the same district which includes the corporate limits

Some heated arguments by the audience of unfair boundaries were quelled by reassurances from the supervisors of a legislative attempt at equality. It was explained however that the deviation of population dictates where the boundaries will be and must be counted within five per cent At plans must be approved by the U.S. Justice Department and must be dealt with every 10 years

The plan adopted splits east and west Dryden into two districts, which will force one half of the town to travel out town to vote, according to Supervisor D.J Barker

There were hints of discrimination by members of the audience during the morning session but when the meeting resumed after recess at 2 p.m. the board only took two minutes to vote its approval of the redistricting plan

About two dozen of the 30-35 persons who attended the morning session returned in the afternoon, some citing back to work obligations The lengthiness of the meeting and the occasional low talk of the board prompted discontent in the audience "More people should be here" was a complaint

The need for a TV Franchise in Old Woodway was addressed and plans were made to re advertise it to be brought up at the next board meeting

The supervisors also approved an additional allocation of $61,000 for the

Supervisors, School Board Meeting Cancelled

Failure of the Board of Supervisors of Lee County to have a quorum of their members present resulted in an aborted attempt by the supervisors and the Lee County School Board to resolve their differences concerning school improvement programs.

Only three of the supervisors attended the meeting. Those present were Bill Thomas, Tevis Wilder and Sam Massengill.

The 2:00 P.M. scheduled meeting, attended by about three dozen persons, from the very young to some of the county's senior citizens, only lasted about 20 minutes with Jack Smith, Lee County School Board Chairman thanking those present for their interest, saying that the School Board would be willing to consider any plan the supervisors might suggest. The school board had heard from the HELP Committee, a group of parents organized this and Orby Cantrell.

Robb's long awaited energy program predictably centers on the increased use of Virginia's coal supply locally, proposing to diminish the state's dependence on oil, natural gas and enriched uranium.

Robb said every time Virginia increases its coal production by one million tons, 1,000 people are added to the state's work force and $20 million is added to the state's economy

"Virginia has a magnificent economic potential in coal which so far has only been partially and inadequately tapped," Robb said

"Our abundant coal reserves and prospective natural gas resources in Virginia could generate substantial wealth for our people, create thousands of jobs .. and result in lower tax burdens," he said

By following his proposals and exploiting Virginia coal deposits to produce energy for Virginia, Robb said during a whirlwind tour through Southwest Virginia Thursday the state can decrease its dependence on imported energy sources by 20 per cent

While Robb emphasized increasing conservation measures and using renewable energy sources, he also said he supports "some relaxation" in federal strip mining regulations He said the need for protecting the environment must be balanced with the cost impact of regulations on small operations

"We're talking about things that can make our future more secure," Robb said.

year to seek change in the county schools, in their regularly scheduled meeting at 1:00 P.M. and had recessed to attend the joint meeting

When contacted after the meeting, Smith said the lack of a quorum of the supervisors was unexpected since they (the supervisors) had requested the meeting To continue the discussion further would have in reality been illegal without a quorum, he said

Members of the supervisors board appeared chagrined at the absence of their peers and suggested that they had hoped this matter could have been resolved today

The majority of the audience lingered in their seats, reluctant to accept the abrupt halt of the discussion

At the opening of the meeting, Lenowisco Director Bruce Robinette addressed the group with information he had obtained last Thursday from the governor's office concerning the type of school or schools to be built and a possible change in site

State Department Spokesman Russell Owens reportedly indicated they have no interest in the type of school but that an attempt to change or split the site could result in the county's forfeiting the FmHA grant that is now available Time would not permit the legal paper work, etc that would be required for a change

Edith Bowen attended the meeting in the absence of County Administrator Odell Wilson, who was reportedly out of town and could not be reached for comment

County Department of Social Services. Failure to appropriate these additional funds would have led to the loss of more than $300,000 in federal and state matching funds, director Lucy McNeil said. Inability to fund welfare programs mandated by the state would also lead to the loss of other state revenues for the county, she said.

Sandra Montgomery's appointment to replace Sandra Janeway on the Library Board was approved.

St. Charles Water and Sewage Authority had their request approved for $111,500 to upgrade and replace the water system. Farmer's Home Administration will provide the grant.

The board agreed that Westmoreland Coal Company, Holton Mines, qualified for surfacing for an "Industrial Access Road."

A plan for weekly garbage pick-up at a cost to the people to replace the present system was tabled until next week. The present contract will not expire until next October.

A portion of the revenue from the sale of auto decals was set aside in a lump sum for Fire Departments and Rescue Squads to divide "as they see fit." Consideration for helping to buy new ambulances was promised.

Bradley Wilson from the Dryden React Team asked for appropriations toward replacing radio equipment that was destroyed by flood A meeting with Bill Hite in the near future was promised by Board of Supervisors Chairman, Bascom Waddell.

Duffield Industrial Park asked for and was granted resolution to remove "concurring phrase" that requires all districts to concur with appointment of members to their Boards of Directors For one county to have input over county line was not considered sensible

The other major issue on the agenda of last Wednesday s Lee County Board of Supervisors meeting was the need to decide how to use a $525,000 Farmer's Home Administration 601 energy impact grant allotted to land purchase and site preparation for a new school site The location of the site and the kind of school or schools to be built could not be agreed upon, due primarily to the board's concern over the potential expense of the project Some members of the HELP committee, a group of parents organized this year to seek change in the county schools, suggested that "we have to start somewhere " The board of supervisors and the school board agreed to meet Tuesday, October 13 in District Court to discuss the matter. No parent input will be entertained as the boards wish to deal directly with each other

Odell Wilson's announcement to resign as Lee County Administrator was not forthcoming as had been earlier indicated must be done, do it better and do it with less money," Mrs. Coleman said.

"Marshall plans to combat the growing sense of failure in America's schools, he will be a governor firmly committed to continuing the excellence of Virginia schools, with a new committment to the basic skills," she said.

Mrs. Coleman added that, as governor, her husband plans to raise teacher's salaries, currently 39th in the nation, at least to the national level. By maintaining the current share of Virginia's budget devoted to education even as enrollment declines Coleman believes he can raise teacher's salaries without increasing the burden on the Virginia taxpayers, she said.

Mrs. Coleman stressed the importance of Virginia's gubernatorial race for the state as well as the nation.

"All eyes are on Virginia," she said. "The stakes are high because this is the first real test of the acceptance of President Reagan's programs."

Concerning her husband's standing in the polls, which show him to be behind Robb, Mrs. Coleman said Coleman has always lagged in the polls during his several campaigns.

"The only time he's ahead is on election day," she added.

Vegetarian Cooking Classes Scheduled

"Eating without meat can be fun! A lot of people don't think they've had a meal if they haven't had meat and potatoes," says Carol Cox, wife of Pastor Jim Cox. "What they are losing out on is a whole routine of taste sensations derived from the eating of delectable vegetables, fruits, nuts, and whole grains."

If you've been wondering how vegetarians get along without meat, here's your chance to find out. Vegetarian cooking classes will be held each Monday evening at 6:45 at the Powell Valley Seventh day Adventist church fellowship room beginning October 19 and continuing each Monday evening through November 16.

Areas to be covered include breadmaking, breakfasts, lunches, main meals, low sugar desserts, salads and soups.

The classes will offer recipe demonstrations, films, recipe handouts, health lectures, and door prizes. With each evening's demonstration will be a bit of tasting, to see precisely how some of these innovative foods tickle the palate. Whipping up the meatless recipes will be Carol Cox who has conducted cooking classes in Georgia, Tennessee, Oregon and Virginia.

There is no charge for the course, which is sponsored as a community service of the Seventh day Adventist church. For more information and to register call 346 2653 or 523 0129

Cumberland Chapter OES Honors Charter Members

Twelve Charter Members of Cumberland Chapter No 170, Order of the Eastern Star, were honored by the chapter with an Anniversary Tea held on the afternoon of September 20 1981 The setting for this festive occasion was the recreation room of Martin Station AF&AM No 188 Lodge Hall at Rose Hill

The room was beautifully decorated by members of the decorating committee Sue Welch and Wanda Susong, with lighted tapers in silver candelabras, and with flower arrangements of red carnations in silver containers The red carnations accented the theme chosen by the Worthy Matron, Mary Stickley for her year 1981 82

Guests were greeted at the door by Judy Hounshell who pinned the honored guests with a red carnation corsage with silver ribbon The guest book was kept by Henrietta Smith, and a program was handed to each person attending

Alta Hedrick chairman of the 25th Anniversary Committee welcomed the guests made appropriate and informative comments and presided at the presentation of a 25 year pin to each charter member, signifying her twenty five years of membership in the chapter

Those receiving pins were Mrs Alka K Bailey of Newport News Va who was pinned by her daughter, Joann Taylor Betty Brooks, by her son Sonny Brooks. Emma Campbell by her son Dwight Campbell, Georgia Chadwell by her husband Sterff R V Chadwell Bertha Edds by her niece, Winona Tunnell of Powell Tn , Bess P Fugate by her son, Judge William C Fugate of Jonesville, Mayme Lawson, by her daughter Judy Hounshell Alvona Seale by her husband John Seale Selma Shackleferd by her daughter, Marilyn Davis, Rose E. Beside the Tea Table on a decorated tripod, was the chapter's framed Charter which was received by Mrs. Selma Shackleferd and her husband, Mr M H. Shackleferd, when they made their first visit to Grand Chapter in May 1957 at Richmond, Virginia

Charter members recalled July 18, 1956 when the chapter was instituted with thirty nine persons being initiated into membership, and the first officers installed. Martha Sue Morgan became the first Worthy Matron, and John Gibson, the first Worthy Patron Bess P Fugate was appointed Secretary, and Selma Shackleferd, Chaplain

They also have pleasant memories of the one hundred, nineteen persons received into the chapter, either by initiation, or by affiliation from another chapter, and they hold in loving memory the twenty four who through death followed the Star to their Eternal Home

Members enjoyed the fellowship of those who have withdrawn from membership, or have gone to chapters in other areas These twelve Charter Members are still an active part of the present membership which numbers seventy

Helpful Hints For Respiratory Illnesses

As the number of patients with chronic respiratory illnesses increase we feel there are a few helpful hints that can be offered to help make their breathing problems a little more bearable This article, one in a series to be presented for patients with lung disease, is being presented as part of the effort to provide helpful information to people who have Asthma, Bronchitis, Emphysema and/or Coal Worker's pneumoconiosis

The following article is one excerpt from the educational materials that is being presented to individuals attending one of the Better Breathing Clinics of Southwest Virginia Chronic respiratory illnesses are a significant and growing health problem in Southwest Virginia. The purpose of these articles and the clinics is to help inform individuals with lung diseases about their illness and to help make them feel better

If you are tired and short of breath due to lack of oxygen in your blood, your doctor may order oxygen equipment for you to use at home.

If you use oxygen at home, a nurse, therapist or technician should show you: a. How to use the equipment, b. How to take care of the equipment, and c. How to tell when it's time to order more.

Your doctor can tell you: a. What kind of equipment to use, b. The flow rate you should set it for, and c. When to use it and for how long.

Never set the flow rate higher or use oxygen more than your doctors says to. Too much oxygen can damage your lungs and even slow your breathing.

Oxygen is a medicine. Therefore, you need to take the right amount at the right time. To do this, you need to understand how to use equipment that delivers the oxygen to your lungs.

For your safety—

Your oxygen tank will not explode or burn. Oxygen does not burn, but it does help other things burn faster. There should be no smoking in the room where oxygen is being used. Keep the tank at least 10 feet from an open flame, gas stoves, pilot lights in water heaters and furnaces, and wood burning stoves. Keep the tank at least 10 feet from electrical equipment that may spark.

Virginia Farmers Produce 51 Million Bushels Of Corn

Corn growers in Virginia expect to produce 51 million bushels of corn for grain in 1981, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's latest crop production report. This figure compares with 32.7 million bushels produced in 1980 and 51 million in 1979.

Growers expect to average 85 bushels per acre this year, compared to 55 last year, and 83 two years ago.

U.S. corn production is currently forecast at 7.73 billion bushels, 16 percent above last year's crop. "If realized, a crop of this size will be the second largest of record, exceeded only by the 1979 crop," USDA officials said.

Virginia farmers expect to harvest 600 thousand acres of corn in 1981, compared to 595 thousand acres in 1980 and 615 thousand acres in 1979.

The U.S. corn supply for 1981/82 is forecast at 8.75 billion bushels, 6 percent above last season. Corn prices may average from $2.70 to $3.15 a bushel, compared with $3.15 estimated for 1980/81.

..... 60th Wedding Anniversary .....

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Barker, Sr., of Keokee, were pleased recently when they received a letter from President Ronald Reagan and his wife, Nancy congratulating them on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Their anniversary was on September 4, and they observed the day quietly but it was a happy day with their family, and the letter from President Ronald Reagan made it a joyous occasion.

Alvin's wife, Maxie has been a patient in the Lonesome Pine Hospital in Big Stone Gap where she has had surgery. We are pleased to note that she has now returned to her home in Keokee where she is convalescing. September 20, was Maxie's birthday and she was 75 years old. She has received many flowers and cards. Get-well wishes to her and happy birthday.

Alvin and Maxie have been residing in Keokee many years and they reared their family of three sons and daughters here. They are proud of their large family, the grand children and great-grand-children.

District United Methodist Women Meet In Jonesville

Saturday 10:30 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. the Jonesville United Methodist Church was the host for the 1981 Big Stone Gap District United Methodist Women's Annual Meeting. The 130 women present were reminded to carry out the year's theme, "Love Made Visible", through their concern, commitment and celebration.

Nancy Hines, Jonesville UMW Vice-President, greeted everyone. Lisa Pritchard, District Vice President, led the group in the Litany of Faith and a Memorial Service for members who have died in 1981.

Charlsie Lane, District President from Big Stone Gap, presided over the business meeting during which the following officers were elected for 1982: President Charlsie Lane, Big Stone Gap; Vice President-Louise Meade, St. Paul; Recording Secretary Agnes Gilley, Big Stone Gap; Treasurer-Virginia Holleman, Appalachia, Secretary of Program Resources - Emily Qualls, Pound; Chairman of the Committee of Membership-Mildred Wattenbarger, Pound; Chairman of the Committee on Nominations Margie Winegar, Prospect.

Chairman on Committee on Public Relations-Wanda Tatum, Pennington Gap; Mission Co ordinator of Supportive Community - Ruth Williams; Mission Coordinator of Global Concerns Annie Wright, Coeburn; Mission Co ordinator of Christian Social Involvement Helen Eyster, Wise; Committee on Nominations Judy Hounshell, Rose Hill; Sue Smith, Big Stone Gap; Mary Ann Harless, Gate City; Maxie Frazier, Jonesville. These officers for 1982 were installed by Rev. Bob Smith, District Superintendent for the Big Stone Gap District.

The afternoon program was presented by Rev. Bruce Privratsky, pastor of the Clinchport Circuit who told us of Christ's love being made visible through the church extension program. A new church building, Three Bells United Methodist Church, is being built at Thomas Village in the Duffield area. The church is called Three Bells because the people forming it are from the old Pattonsville, Duffield and Clinchport churches. Three ladies from Three Bells, Daisy Chesser, Mae Clendenen, and Carol Arwood told of the history, present activities, and future vision for this church. An offering was given to the Three Bells Church.

Mildred Wattenbarger, Chairperson of Committee on Membership recognized Margaret Wharton, Wise, as the Outstanding United Methodist Woman of the Big Stone Gap District for 1981.

Inspirational music was provided on the organ by Susie Vandergriff and Patty Rasnic. Peg Scott led the group in several choruses and sang a solo, "A Balm in Gilead."

Pennington Gap United Methodist Church invited the women to their church for the 1982 Annual Meeting. The meeting was closed with communion served by the District ministers who were present.

Animal Health Today

Edwin C. Robertson, D.V.M.

Are you sure your cows are pregnant? Are you feeding your cows or are you feeding their worms? Will grubs pop up on their backs when the winter snow melts? If you don't know the answer to these questions, it could cost you plenty. How much does it cost to feed a cow through the winter? If fertilizer on pasture, labor, and cost of hay and protein supplements are figured in, it probably costs about $200.00 to carry a mature cow through the winter. If you are to pay $200.00 to keep a cow fed throughout the winter, she'd better be growing a calf inside of her to pay you back.

Many unbred cows are needlessly fed through the winter just because the owner thought they were pregnant. You can be sure if you have the cows examined rectally for pregnancy by a veterinarian. While the cows are being run through the cattle chute getting wormed, treated for lice, and vaccinated, they can quickly and inexpensively be examined for pregnancy. Those "freeloaders" that are unbred need a one-way ticket to the slaughter house. If a cow doesn't produce a calf for you, she can't make you any money.

Another topic that arises if several of the cows are open is - why? One common cause for unbred females is a sterile bull. The bull should be semen checked by a veterinarian at least once a year to be sure that he is fertile. Without a simple semen check, the owner may lose an entire calf crop before he realizes that none of his cows are getting pregnant. A semen exam on the male and pregnancy checks on the females should be a part of a well managed beef producer's plans

While the cows are in the chute, take advantage of the opportunity to worm (injectable wormer or bolus), pour on grub and louse treatment (Spotton) and vaccinate for lepto and IBR. These management practices don't cost you money they make you money. Cattle in East Tennessee, Southwest Virginia and Southeast Kentucky should be wormed at least twice a year. Since worming costs about $1 25 per cow, it requires only two extra pounds of weight on her calf to pay for her worming. Preventative medicine is the key to good management. Use it!

Letter To The Editor

Editor of the Powell Valley News:

The governor of Tennessee attended a gathering of story tellers at Jonesboro, Tn. and in order to become a part he briefly joined them by telling the following tall tale: "I once knew a politican who told the truth" and judging from the reaction of the crowd, they thought the governor stole the show, so did I.

I do not for a moment buy the theory that Social Security and Medicare is in trouble because of benefits received by bona fide recipients.

Recent revelations show that a great number of dead people receive Social Security checks. Also thousands of aliens come to this country to work out a Social Security eligibility, these people retire to their native lands and are sent Social Security checks ever after. This is unfair to the American people. Moreover, it adds to balance of payments because this is not trade money, this goes down the drain.

The time has passed when politicians could pour water on the people's backs and tell them "it is raining". All the Social Security, Medicare and Black Lung gutters want is an excuse, when all that is needed is to have the cover pulled off the real culprits.

Richard Nixon signed the Black Lung Bill with this comment "this is the responsibility of the employers, but these people need something done for them." What was the essence of what Mr. Nixon was saying? If government does not force employers to be responsible, then government should be held accountable. Thank you.

Congressman BILL WAMPLER Reports from Washington

The assassination of President Anwar Sadat of Egypt adds a new note of urgency to President's Reagan's request to sell AWACS radar plans to Saudi Arabia. With the future of Egypt's government uncertain, Saudi Arabia and Israel are the only dependable allies we have in the volatile Middle East. Not only is peace in the region jeopardized, but the continued flow of oil to the Western world is threatened. Loss of even a part of that supply would seriously weaken our allies, and our own Nation, economically and strategically.

I can well understand the concerns of many of my colleagues regarding this proposed sale, but Congress must face the realities that exist in the Middle East. If we fail to provide the equipment necessary for the Saudis to protect and defend their country against incursion or subversion, we leave the field wide open to exploitation and run the risk of allowing the vital oil supplies of the Middle East to fall into enemy hands by default.

These planes are not warplanes, and pose no danger to the state of Israel. They could well be called "watchdogs for peace" since they provide an early warning system of nearby military maneuvers, approaching aircraft, etc., and monitor radio and satellite transmissions in the area. The strategic importance to the United States of maintaining a working alliance with Saudi Arabia cannot be overstated.

Congress will probably vote this week on this important issue. Now, more than ever, I will support our President in his decision to put these planes into the hands of the Saudis so they can protect themselves. It takes a majority vote in both houses of Congress to overturn the sale. Should that happen, the President's ability to fashion a credible foreign policy would be severely hampered, not only in the Middle East, but elsewhere in the world as well.

Peace is such a fragile thing. It is to be hoped that the new government of Egypt will work as hard to preserve and advance the cause of peace as did their fallen leader. In the meantime, we must renew our own commitment to work for peace and to stand by our friends when they are most threatened.

Here's a little information that may clear up some of your questions about that familiar item - the egg. Some hard cooked eggs have green egg yolks if they're cooked at too high a temperature for too long. But the color doesn't affect the wholesomeness of the egg. And don't despair if the shell on your hard-cooked egg is difficult to peel - it's usually an indication of great freshness. Stored eggs peel easier, due to the intake of air.

Another point: most of the so-called "blood" and "meat" spots that appear in some eggs result from the rupture of a blood vessel on the yolk. They're of no consequence.

Do you know what determines the nutritional value of the egg? It's not whether it's fertilized or even the breed of hen. Instead, it's the type of feed. Two hens of different breeds and different egg colors will still lay eggs of equal nutritional value and flavor if they receive the same feed.

As for cold storage, both fresh and hard-cooked eggs will keep well for three or four weeks. So go ahead, enjoy your eggs.

Incredible, Unbelievable!

Mr. McGee should have been there!! The 'Hulk' was seen in action September 26 at the 'Olympic Health Center' in Dryden, Va., during the 'Omega Contest.' The 'Hulk' burst in growling and flexing his monsterous muscles. He seemed to be a gentle and calm person - such as Tim Underwood of Brute's Gym is. But, the Hulk was kindly asked to leave so the contest could resume.

4th Place - Bill Smith

Music was furnished by Jim Moore. Be on the alert for the 'Hulk' in the near future.

Social Services Visually Handicapped To Administer Title XX

Governor John N. Dalton announced that October 1, the Virginia Department of Welfare, with the assistance of the Virginia Department for the Visually Handicapped, will administer the Title XX Social Services Block Grant. The 1981-82 Comprehensive Annual Plan for Social Services under Title XX of the National Social Security Act, as amended, will be used as the basis for administering the Title XX Block Grant by the Welfare and Visually Handicapped Departments

Commissioner William L. Lukhard, of the Welfare Department, and Commissioner William T. Coppage, of the Visually Handicapped Department, say they expect a smooth transition from the previous social services program under Title XX to the new Block Grant program. Coppage and Lukhard point out that their departments held a 45 day public comment period in the Spring of 1981 on the proposed 1981 82 Title XX Plan. Additionally, there was another 30 day comment period beginning August 14, 1981, on the amendments to the Title XX Plan, necessitated by the federal fund reductions contained in the Title XX Social Services Block Grant.

The amended Title XX Plans, as of October 1, reflected the federal funding reductions that accomplished the Title XX Block Grant. An across-the-board 16.5 percent reduction in federal monies has been applied to all localities throughout the state in order to affect the federal fund reduction.

Federal dollars available to Virginia, under the previous Title XX Program, for the federal budget year October 1, 1980 through September 30, 1981 were $68,462,156. For the twelve month period beginning October 1, 1981, there will only be $56,331,375 available to Virginia to fund social service programs

Mrs. Mae French, 84, represents the City of Norton, Charles Manuel Coffman, 100, Lee County and Golda Lawson Porter, 78, was selected from Wise County.

These Senior Citizens were nominated as outstanding senior citizens, from Lee and Wise counties and the City of Norton, each an outstanding person in their respective communities.

Senior Citizens

ners, as Mrs. Marilyn C Pace, executive director of Mountain Empire Older Citizens, Inc., said there are no losers in this contest, all are winners in their own right

The three winning names will represent their respective area in Richmond and will compete in the search for Virginia's outstanding senior citizen The Virginia winner will be honored with an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C for the White House Conference on Aging and special recognition from Mrs Nancy Reagan.

The letters nominating Mr. Coffman follow

Dear Ms Cox,

It would be an honor for the family to have our Grandfather nominated for the Outstanding Senior Citizen of the Year.

My Grandfather is a phenomenon. Not only was he born February 20, 1881 marking a hundred years on this earth, he has been able to set standards that will remain untouched for a long time to come

He had only a couple of hours of formal education, his first day in school consisted of approximately four hours. His father decided he would learn more at home working the land than reading books

With his limited education, he farmed acres of land, harvested crops, raised a family of seven and built three homes by hand. Mind you he couldn't write his name let alone read a ruler

In 1900 he registered as a Republican, the first of his many votes being cast for Theodore Roosevelt in 1901 His beliefs in America are so strong that he's never missed an election since, voting in every Federal, State and local election from that day on

In 1944 he lost his first son in Italy during World War II at the age of 63 When he turned 64 he took on the responsibility of raising a grandchild when his daughter had to work in Baltimore. The grandson was only three years old and like all babies had to be attended to constantly. But this didn't stop him, he provided the same as he did for his children when he was younger.

Regardless how he felt or how sick he would get up at five in the morning and provide a fire in the stove so the family would be warm when they would arise. He plowed fields, fed the animals and prepared the cows for milking in the early morning hours. When asked why he would constantly keep a large garden going when all the children were gone, he would merely smile and say the food is there in case anyone needs it. He would never ask for anything in return.

At the sage of 92 while rounding up the horses for a days work, something happened causing them to gait and start running. They drug my Grandfather for a long distance before coming to a stop. When he entered the hospital we had no idea the extent of his injuries. He was bruised and cut all over his body. The doctor said he didn't know the outcome because of his age. A little over a week later he was ready to come home and start over again. He didn't want to be separated from his wife and home too long.

At 94 or 95 cancer was detected in his intestines. No doctor would make a statement about his condition because of his age and the seriousness of the operation that was required. He survived the operation and a short time later he was ready to come home and pick up where he left off, getting up early and preparing to make life a little easier for his wife.

His motto was always, 'if you can't say something nice about someone, don't speak.' I have never in my lifetime heard an unkind word uttered by him. He quotes the Bible regularly and follows the passages. He volunteers for almost anything so long as it's for the behalf of his fellow man.

I remember him walking miles to deliver milk to a neighbor because their cow went dry. I remember him tending to his own chores and then helping a neighbor friend with his farming. Keep in mind that I didn't know this remarkable man until he was over 70. I never knew or thought about his age because he was 63 when I was born. But age was no factor, he was just a hard working person and the younger ones had to run to keep up with him.

Counting the family members would be next to impossible but with pride I announce that he is a GREAT GREAT GRAND FATHER having a GREAT GREAT GRAND SON 10 years of age.

Through these years he has witnessed the death of four of his children. His eldest died at the age of 62. He made sure he was there at their funerals and with his rough fingers and unsteady arms he touches his children and slowly bends over and gives them a farewell kiss. He truly loves all his children today the same as the day they came into this world.

Phenomenon doesn't express the likeness of this man, unfortunately Webster's dictionary fails to carry a word that describes this truly remarkable humanbeing.

Sincerely,
Ed

My nominee for Senior Citizen of the Year is Charles Manuel Coffman, a lifetime resident of Lee County.

Mr Coffman has triumphed over various adversities. At age eighty five, he was involved in a serious accident when a team of runaway horses dragged him from the field to the barn. He was hospitalized with chest injuries.

After surviving this calamity, he was stricken with cancer at age ninety and had to undergo surgery, but was soon back on the job farming; and continued farming until age ninety seven when he and his wife entered Carter Hall Nursing Home in Dryden, Virginia.

He was ninety nine when he faced the worst of tragedies with the death of his wife after sixty eight years of marriage

With a tremendous will to live, he continues to be active by taking walks, going on outings and participating in various activities at the nursing home.

Mr. Coffman is deserving of this honor because of his positive outlook on life At age ONE HUNDRED, he continues to bring sunshine into the lives of others. He is always kind, courteous and thoughtful He puts others before himself and lives by the golden rule

Monday, attacking what he called the Republican "political opportunism" in the state elections.

As legislators, Republican contenders Nathan Miller and Marshall Coleman voted for a state wide 4 percent coal severance license tax, Quillen said. Quillen, who originally introduced the bill for a 1 percent coal severance license tax (adding later another 1-percent for the maintenance of coal haul ing roads), aruged successfully the license tax should be administered locally, with revenues kept inside the coal producing counties

"Nathan Miller fell in line and voted for it. He didn't care anything for Southwest Virginia, Quillen says

While reaffirming his commitment to establishing a branch of the attorney general's office in Southwest Virginia, Balilies pointed to the contradictory regulations of various state agencies The authority of state agencies requires careful monitoring Balilies says, stressing that the conflict and duplication of regulations must be eliminated

... Jonesville Scores Another TD ....

Jonesville Crush Twin Springs 35 - 8

The Jonesville Bulldogs sent Twin Springs home with their seventh loss without a win last Saturday night by crushing the Titans 35 8.

Twin Springs who was picked to win the district this season was eliminated with the loss The Titans offense could never get cranked up as the Bulldogs defense only allowed some 80 yards rushing. Mark McCarty, the Titans fine running back was injured in the game, and might possibly be out of action the rest of the season.

After the Bulldogs built a 14 0 lead, the Titans got their only score from their defense in the second quarter, when Roger Daugherty went 37 yards with a fumble.

Tim Baker, the district's leading rusher and scorer led the Bulldogs to their fourth win against three losses, by scoring two touchdowns, and gaining 220 of the 306 yards rushing on the ground by Jonesville. The Bulldogs never attempted a pass in the game, and were never forced to punt, although the Bulldogs lost two turnovers on fumbles.

The win puts Jonesville in line for a shot with Pennington for the district crown on November 6th at Pennington.

The game promises to be a tough fought one, like most of the Bulldogs and Bobcat clashes of the past. The game, could be determined by either team field goal kickers. The Bulldogs have confidence in Andy Rosenbaum's foot to boot the ball through the uprights, while the Bobcats can call on a reliable Tony Bailey to put points on the board.

Pound Wildcats Stop Pennington 7 - 0

Last Friday evening the Bobcats hosted the Pound Wildcats in a non-district game, and for the third consecutive game the final score was 7-0. But the difference in the three games was that the Bobcats won the first two, but lost 7-0 this time around.

Luke Varner, the Wildcat quarterback attempted six passes in the game, and the only completion he got was a 49 yard pass to Ben Mullins in the first quarter. The pass was good for the game's only score, as both teams' defense didn't allow anything the rest of the way.

Although the Bobcats had eleven yards more of total offense, they were held to only 37 yards rushing.

The game was played almost with no penalties, as Pound was guilty of only two mistakes while the Bobcats were flagged once.

Pennington will be at Clintwood this coming Friday night to take on Ralph Cummings' Green Wave, who is always tough. The following Friday the Bobcats will travel to Powell Valley to take on a Viking team that has to be a big surprise team from the Lonesome Pine district. The Vikings have played better than was expected of them this year. The Bobcats will have to work hard in practice this week on finding ways to stop Clintwood, but will have to work exceptionally hard the following week to find a way to stop the power running of speedstar Kevin Mitchell. Nobody has been able to stop Mitchell yet. He is probably one of the best if not the best back in Southwest Virginia.

Jonesville Bulldogs Bite Twin Springs 50-22

Last week on Tuesday, in district action, the Jonesville Bulldogs won their twelfth game of the year as they mauled the homestanding Titans of Twin Springs 50 22

Jumping out to a ten point lead at the first break, at 14 4, the Jonesville girls then broke the game open in the second by outscoring the Titans 14 3 for a 28 7 edge at the half. After falling behind by 29 points to start the final quarter, Twin Springs did manage to take the final eight minutes of action at 11 10, but it was too little too late for the comeback.

Jonesville now 12 2 overall and 7-1 in the district got 19 points from star Dee Dee Brooks Cindy Terry added 8 points while six other Bulldogs also got into the scoring column As a team, Jonesville hit 6 of 15 free throws for 40%

Twin Springs had six different players to score in the game but nobody with more than five. Sheila Lane and Tiersa Laforce both had five each. The Titans hit 4 of 16 free throws for 25%. The Titans have only beaten Keokee so far this year, but have had some fairly close games

Jonesville was led by Brooks 21 points performance while Cindy Terry added 16 to the win Lisa Sutton chipped in with 8 The Bulldogs are now 7 1 in the district and are tied with Dryden for first place

Dryden now 6 1 in the district got 16 points from Joyce Swain and 14 from Dawn Long. Cheryl Reasor failed to score in the game. Robin Woods was held to just 9 points Dryden is 14 1 overall

By losing, Dryden might be relieved of some pressure come tournament time as they won't be undefeated When you're undefeated, everyone looks for it to stay that way, but last Tuesday it was not meant to be as the Bulldogs pulled the surprise upset of the year.

Flatwoods Eagles Turn Back Pennington 43 - 39

The Flatwoods Eagles hosted Pennington on Tuesday evening of last week, and with the Eagles early leads, turned back the Bobcats, who had a chance or two to win the game in the final quarter.

After a 12 8 first quarter run by Flatwoods, the Bobcats cut the gap to three points 20 17 at half time With a 11 8 third quarter advantage, the Eagles headed to the last eight minutes of play with a six point lead Pennington took the final quarter at 14 12, but lost their chances by missing critical free throws down the stretch The Bobcats missed 14 of 19 free throws.

Pennington is now 3-10 overall and 2-6 in the district. The Bobcats were led by Sandra Ely's 15 points. Kim Roberts added 13 points. No other Bobcat had more than four points. The Bobcats will be at home tomorrow against the Keokee Mountaineers, of which two of their three wins came over. Pennington will travel to Wise on Monday of next week, and then to Thomas Walker the following night. The Bobcats will not be home anymore this season until October 27th against Dryden, and October 29th, against Powell Valley in the last game of the regular season.

Flatwoods is now 7-4 overall, while the Eagles stand 5-3 in the district. They got a game high of 16 points from Karen Glass followed by Sherry Barber adding 11 tallies. Flatwoods hit only 9 of 21 free throws for just under 43%, while the Bobcats hit 5 of 19 for 26.6%

Flatwoods will host Dryden tomorrow night and then travel to Keokee for their final district game on the road this year.

Powell Valley Holds Off Rye Cove 48 - 36

On Monday evening of last week, the Rye Cove Eagles traveled to Big Stone Gap to face the Powell Valley Vikings. When the game was over, the once beaten Vikings had held off the Eagles to the tune of 48-36.

Powell Valley ran up a 26 15 halftime lead behind Angie Hamilton and Paige Slagle. On the night Hamilton finished with 22 points to lead all scorers. Slagle added 11, while the losing Eagles missing a lot of shots, and seeing the Vikings Hope Gilliam pulling down most of the missed shots She grabbed 19 rebounds and contributed seven points in helping the Vikings raise their won loss record to 12 1.

Kathy Hobbs led Rye Cove with 10 points. The Eagles leading scorers, Kim Tipton and Neysa Osborne was held to 4 and 6 points respectively

Both teams played fairly even in the second half, with Powell Valley edging the Eagles 22 21.

Rye Cove has played some top teams some close games up to the late part of each one, only to fall in the end. The Eagles gave Dryden a good game earlier, but couldn't get their defense to the test enough to pull off an upset.

T. W. Pioneers Dump Keokee 90 - 35

After Tuesday of last week, the Keokee Mountaineers are probably hoping not to see the Pioneers again, as Thomas Walker played its entire team, with eleven different players scoring in a 90 35 district win

Thomas Walker never trailed in the game as they were in complete control. The Pioneers won all four quarters by at least a margin of fourteen points or more, with the exception of the second when they only took a 17 10 advantage.

Thomas Walker got 15 points from Teresa Middleton to lead the charge, with Debbie Davis and Pat Hensley adding 12 and 10 respectively. The Pioneers were 8 of 14 at the charity stripe for 57.2%

Keokee is still winless on the year and still looking for their first win. The Mountaineers got 9 points from Beverly Collins, with Becky Adkins and Felicia White scoring 8 points each. Keokee was 3 of 11 in free throws for 27.3%

If playing all your players on any team gives a team a lot of experience then the Pioneers must be the best experienced team in the district because when they get a substantial lead, then their other players get in on the action. Thomas Walker who has only lost to Dryden and Jonesville so far this year can't be counted out of anything, because they may just be getting ready to be a giant killer when the tournament time rolls around. A word to the wise teams, don't get caught loping, because the Pioneers are on the run

Rye Cove Eagles Hand Pennington 53 - 42 Loss

For the second time this season, the Rye Cove Eagles beat the Pennington Bobcats. The game was played last week at Rye Cove Although the Eagles won the game, they had to come from behind to do so as the Bobcats were down 20 8 after one quarter but came back with a 20 9 second quarter advantage to take a nine point lead into the dressing room at halftime

Rye Cove started the comeback by outscoring Pennington 13 6 in the third stanza to trail only by two, heading into the final eight minutes of play. This is where the Eagles got the win as the Bobcats went cold from the field, only scoring eight points while the Eagles burned the nets for 21 tallies

Rye Cove was paced by Kim Tipton with 16 points Tammy Carter added 11 points, while she also hit some critical free throws down the stretch Carter also pulled down eleven rebounds

Pennington is now 3 11 overall The Bobcats were led by Sandra Ely's 15 points, while Kim Roberts had 8 Lisa Gilliam also had 6 points in the loss. The Bobcats three wins have come over Twin Springs and twice over Keokee

Rye Cove, although having a losing record has played some teams tough here lately, and could just be ready come tournament time

Dryden Edges Rye Cove 44-39

After last week's game with the Rye Cove Eagles, the Dryden girls remained undefeated, but not before they got a big score from the scrappy Eagles.

After a 6 6 first quarter tie, the Eagles came back to force a tie at the half by playing a 13 all second quarter with Dryden. The Crusaders took only a two point lead in the final quarter, and must have had coach Jimmy Peters wondering before the end, because it remained a close game to the end, until the Crusaders took the fourth quarter at 13-10 for the victory of only 5 points.

Joyce Swain and Cheryl Reasor were the main players in the win, as they combined for 34 of Dryden's points. Swain had 19 while Reasor had 15.

Neysa Osborne and Kim Tipton scored 32 of Rye Cove's 39 points, with each netting 16 apiece.

Dryden, winner of 14 games in a row will be at Flatwoods tomorrow night and then will return home next Tuesday to face the Twin Springs Titans. Don't let up Crusaders, because someone is out to put a blemish on your record!

T. W. Pioneers Gun Down Flatwoods 63 - 47

The Flatwoods Eagles traveled to Thomas Walker last week, and were sent home with a 63-47 loss

Flatwoods grabbed a two point lead after one quarter, and held it at the half as both teams scored 18 points in the second quarter. The second half of the game saw the Pioneers come alive as they took the third stanza 17 7 and then the fourth at 18 10

Thomas Walker got a 29 point effort from Kim Davis, which is her best effort this year since returning to the Pioneers lineup Elaine Davis added 9 points while Missy Brooks chipped in with 8 Five other Pioneers scored in the game

Sherry Barber got 13 tallies for the Eagles while Karen Glass hit for 12

Thomas Walker by winning, and coupled with Jonesville's upset of Dryden can now get right back in the district race. The Pioneers have a game remaining against both Jonesville and Dryden. It should be a fine contest whenever either of these three teams face each other, all area sports fans should attend the game and see some action from both sides. Good luck to all three teams as the season winds down, and may the best team win!

The Twin Springs Titans defeated Keokee 54-37 last week in a district matchup. After jumping to a 11 4 first quarter lead the Titans saw the Mountaineers play even in the second stanza by scoring seven points each Keokee took the third quarter 19 14 to cut the deficit and trail only by a bucket to start the final quarter. But in the final minutes of play, the Mountaineers just didn't have the offensive power to stay with the Titans, as Twin Springs put 22 points on the score board while holding Keokee to just seven

Joann Begley led Twin Springs with 18 points, with Teresa Sexton and Michelle Donelson adding 13 and 12 respectively. The Titans who won by 17 points missed the same number of free throws out of 29 attempts for 41%. Keokee remained winless with the loss, and was led by Beverly Collins with 15 markers. INTRODUCING BONELESS Beef In-A-Bag
PIGGLY WIGGLY The Original SELF SERVICE
TRADE MARK OF PIGGLY WIGGLY CORP.

What is Beef-In-A-Bag?

Basically, beef-in-a-bag is a boneless section or subprimal of beef that is trimmed of excess fat and then vacuum packaged in a plastic bag at the processing plant under strict sanitation controls. (Beef-in-a-bag is also referred to as bulk beef, beef subprimals or mini-subprimals.) This innovation in meat packing can help you save money while you enjoy one of your favorite meat cuts.

From the processing plant, the beef-in-a-bag is shipped to the supermarket in boxes. The retailer can merchandise this beef in two ways. Individual cuts are trimmed, trayed, wrapped and priced for the retail case. Or the beef is simply removed from the box, priced and displayed (in a bag) alongside individual retail packages in the meat case

Beef-in-a-bag is slightly darker in color than traditional beef cuts because of a lack of oxygen due to vacuum packaging. But once the bag is opened and the beef is exposed to air, the beef color will "bloom" - that is take on the more traditional bright cherry-red appearance

How Do I Buy Beef-In-A-Bag?

Cost per serving is the best indicator of true beef value and especially important to comparison shoppers. Boneless beef subprimals will yield one to two servings per pound more than traditional bone-in cuts. To figure the cost per serving, simply divide the cost per pound by the expected number of servings per pound. Check the label of information that will assist your comparison shopping. The "ESTIMATED YIELD" (after cutting) represents the percentage of the purchase weight that remains for cooking after trimming. These figures are averages and should only be used as guides. The actual yield will vary with degree of trim and method of cutting

Beef-in-a-bag has been kept under constant refrigeration. As with any other perishable item you will want to put it quickly in the coldest part of your refrigerator, as close to 32 degrees F as possible.

Why Do I Save Money?

Most of the cutting and trimming has been done at the processing plant, where the most efficient use of labor and equipment is made. The savings are even greater when you do the remaining cutting and wrapping at home, in addition to the economy of buying in bulk.

When you pick up a free folder at your Piggly Wiggly Store, it will further explain how to purchase eight popular beef-in-a-bag subprimals, how to cut the beef at home along with wrapping and storage instructions as well as cooking methods best suited for each cut. To insure the greatest success, we recommend you follow the basic instructions listed in the pamphlet.

The Dryden Parent Volunteers met on October 5, at 7:00 at the school library. Joyce Brewer presided at the meeting in the absence of Wanda Maggard, chairperson.

John Collier, principal, explained the Career Education Center.

Darlene Gibson made a motion for the organization to help the senior class raise money for the senior trip in the spring.

Edith Jessee asks the group to help buy shades for her classroom. Both projects were voted on and passed by those present.

The major project for the parent volunteers is to place lockers in the high school halls. These are needed very badly by the students.

Committees elected at this time were Ballgame Committee, Fall Festival Committee, Election Committee, and Bake Sale Committee. Members of the Ballgame Committee are Linda Thompson, Suzie Shubert, Nancy Cupp, Peggy Brannon, Wanda Mullins and Ruby Woods. Election Committee members are Darlene Gibson, Nancy Cupp, Elsie Wampler, and Geneva Owens. Fall Festival Committee members are: Hilda Orick, Joyce Brewer, Darlene Light, Darlene Gibson, Wanda Maggard, and Saundra Cody. Bake Sale Committee members are: Jean Quillen, Jewel Harris, Linda Thompson, Suzie Shubert, Wanda Mullins, Sandra Bowman, Darlene Light and Ruby Woods.

Parents of the Dryden students are urged to sign up for room mothers in grades kindergarten through seventh grade. Requirements of a room mother are: they are required to assist the teacher in planning activities for three parties each year and help with the cleaning up afterwards.

Volunteers are needed and may sign on as room mother with the teacher of their choice. You may do this by notifying the teacher.

The Dryden PVO Group met with the senior class on Thursday, October 8 and organized the combined projects that will be carried out.

The Parent Teacher Volunteers meet on the first Monday of each month during each school term. All parents and teachers are urged to attend all meetings.

The work of carpenters is not confined just to the erection of buildings, this is only one phase of the ancient craft.

Carpenters are employed in almost every type of construction activity and their tasks include a wide scope of work with numerous types of tools and machines. It is the largest group of building trades workers, and replacement needs are high.

The young men in the picture are carpentry students learning to use a builder's level to lay out building lines for footers. Standing to the left, Wayne Bonham, Instructor at the Lee County Vocational School, observes and listens to see that students understand this learning task.

Bonham is beginning his second year at the vocational school; his knowledge of carpentry and keen interest in his students are indicative of his asset to the school.

VITA Volunteers Sought

Volunteers, either individually or on behalf of a group, are needed for VITA, the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program, in Virginia, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Under the IRS-sponsored VITA Program, volunteers provide free assistance to taxpayers who cannot afford to pay for tax return preparation or who can't conveniently reach an IRS office. Last year throughout Virginia some 1,400 volunteers staffed 300 sites and prepared nearly 7,400 returns. Volunteers do not need to have any specialized income tax background to participate in the program. They attend a two-day training session covering basic income tax law and return preparation, the IRS said.

VITA sites can be sponsored by local civic, fraternal or neighborhood organizations, schools, churches, and social groups. Most VITA locations are conveniently located at neighborhood community centers, libraries, churches, and schools, often with week-end or evening hours.

Many of the taxpayers assisted by VITA volunteers are lower-income, handicapped or non-English speaking individuals.

Representatives of organizations or individuals interested in becoming VITA volunteers should contact the IRS by the toll-free tax assistance number listed in the phone directory or write VITA, Internal Revenue Service, P.O. Box 10049, Richmond, Virginia 23240.

Rules for trading forms by mail

By June Fuller

Trading refund forms by mail has become one of the important keys to successful refunding

Once smart shoppers learn of the thousands of refunds that are being made on national-brand products, they realize that they must look beyond their local supermarket for the forms required by most of these valuable offers

Today, more then 250,000 refunders are actively trading refund forms by mail with refunders in other parts of the country

Finding trading partners isn't difficult if you give it some thought

Remember that neighbor who moved to Kansas City? How about that nice aunt in Boston?

Relatives, friends and even friends of friends qualify as potential trading partners Drop them a note and ask if they are interested in trading refund forms that they find in their stores for some of those that you have found in yours

So many shoppers have recently started to take advantage of refunds that the chances are good that they will gladly accept your offer Including a good refund form with your letter may stimulate their interest

How does trading by mail work?

It is very simple We trade refund forms one-for-one You send 15 refund forms to your trading partner, the following week you can expect to receive 15 forms back from him or her

Here are the basic rules for trading forms by mail

– Trades are usually made one-for-one regardless of value It doesn't make any difference whether an offer is worth $1 or $5

– Do not send duplicate forms

– The forms that you send should not expire for at least 30 days after your trading partner receives them

– We trade forms of similiar quality For example, if you send deodorant and dog food forms, you can expect simular forms in exchange But if you send high-quality food forms, you partner should do the same

– We don't trade cash-off coupons or forms for sweepstakes, contests and money-plus offers

– When you receive a trade in the mail, do your best to send it back within two days Be sure to put enough postage on the envelope

This week's smart shopper is Louise Bennett from Union, Ky She purchased a 4½-pound box of Aunt Jemima Pancake Mix on sale for $1 39 The usual price at her store is $2 55.

She used a 15-cent coupon to bring the cost down to $1 24 Then she sent for a $1 refund The pancake mix ended up costing her only 24 cents

Ms Bennett and other smart shoppers whose experiences appear in my column receive a free copy of the refund magazine, The National Supermarket Shopper Send your letters to me in care of this newspaper

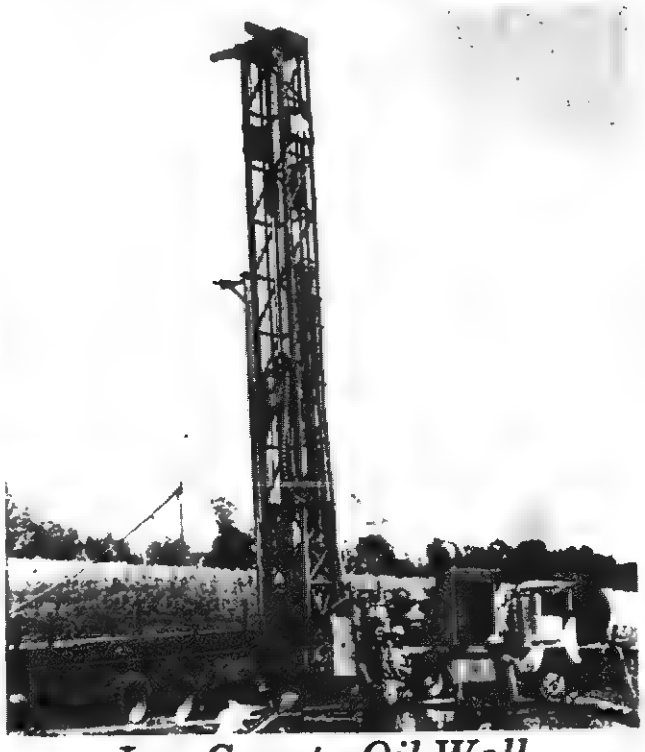
Lee County's Newest Oil Well Produces

Over 300 Barrels Per Day



Lee County Oil Well

This drilling rig, which cost approximately $500,000 struck oil last week on Ralph Howard's farm near Ben Hur. See additional pictures on page 1B.

Virginia Oil and Gas Exploration, Inc., of Castlewood struck oil last Tuesday on Ralph Howard's farm near Ben Hur. Company officials said it was the largest producing oil well in Lee County.

The oil well has been averaging over 300 barrels per day ... approximately 2,500 barrels of Pennsylvania Crude has been produced through noon Tuesday, October 20.

The well is 2240 feet deep.

"We are a rank wildcat," says company president Fred Yorke. "It's like a dream. We defeated all odds in the gas and oil business. One out of ten hits is a producer, and we got four out of four."

Within three months, Virginia Oil and Gas Exploration has struck oil in three wells on the near-by Leslie Terry property in Ben Hur. The company plans to drill four new wells on the Terry and Howard properties.

Nobody can say how much oil is beneath the surface here. Consulting engineers will estimate the company's reserves on the adjoining tracts next year, Yorke said.

Herring Trial Now In Progress

R.L. Herring, 38, a former Albany, Georgia businessman, is currently on trial in Jonesville, charged with arranging the contract killing on December 21, 1977 of his business associate and friend, David M. Hill, 46, of Swainsboro, Georgia.

Two trappers found Hill's body December 23, 1977, off an abandoned mining road in Keokee.

Convicted in 1978 for extortion, Herring states the indictments for murder, bankruptcy, fraud and extortion were fabricated by the government under former president Jimmy Carter's direction. Herring's story begins in the early 1970's after Robert Vesco left this country to avoid prosecution by the Securities Exchange Commission for allegedly receiving $224 million in illegal kick-backs.

Herring states the Carter administration tried to cover-up Herring's role in arranging Vesco's alleged $10 million transfer of stolen securities to high-

Administrator Post Filled

County bookkeeper Edith Bowen has been asked to carry out the responsibilities of the position of assistant county administrator until the Lee County Board of Supervisors makes a decision regarding the post

Odell Wilson vacated the office on October 15, indicating his wish to return to his field of engineering and physics, skills needed in the coal industry.

Bowen said she learned of her new post through an "oh, by the way" remark by Wilson She feels her length of employment with the county lends her enough knowledge to fill the job. When contacted on Tuesday of this week, Bowen said she is primarily doing necessary paper work -- letters, etc. Checks are deposited unsigned since no one has authority to sign them.

No official action has been made by the board to call a special session though Wilson said one is needed. Unless a decision is made by the end of the month, county employees cannot be paid.

The next regular meeting of the board of supervisors is Wednesday, November 4, at 10:00 a.m.

Wiley Bonham -

Retiree- Woodcarver - Collector - Gardener

Wiley Bonham has lived around Jonesville all of his 69 years and apparently is still enjoying it. When approached with the possibility of having his story and picture in the Powell Valley News, he was busy as usual in his "jack of all trades" workshop near Jonesville

This particular morning, Wiley was preparing metal rods for a swing he was in the process of making

With the help of his wife, Jane, a number of tools both old and new, and rough sawmill lumber, Wiley's creative hands bring rich life to walnut and cherry furniture such as bed frames, bookcases, rocking chairs, etc

One source of pride to Wiley is his ability to create miniature items, which include a saddle, rocking chair, table and high backed chairs with latticed vinyl seating

The Bonhams' modest home sports a myriad array of Wiley's talents including wooden candle holders, fruit bowls, key holders, gun cases, book cases, butter dish, valentine boxes, tables, etc They take price in the several antiques they have, among which is an old iron stove that serves two purposes. It warms the basement in the winter and can be used to cook a pot of soup beans, bake a roast or aid in winter sausage canning

A step in Wiley's workshop provides a glimpse into the life of the man and the things that give him happiness. A new lathe and saw contrast with an old wheat cradle (built by his daddy), an old child's chair and an antique bed stead A potbellied stove warms and enriches the atmosphere of the past and the present embellished as one with the sweet aroma only obtained from working with wood

According to Wiley, enough 12 piece wooden bowls used for nuts, fruits, etc., cannot be made to keep up with the demand for them The wooden pieces (made of cedar, walnut, oak and chestnut) are shaped and glued together; a felt bottom is attached to protect furniture; and the bowl is topped with a knobbed lid. A 9" diameter bowl sells for about $20, both beautiful and practical Some of the fancier pieces such as the valentine boxes are lined with felt One bowl consists of 53 pieces

The amiable sexagenarian repairs wagon seats and wagons (the wooden kind pulled by horse or tractor) and has some very colorful ones of orange and green gracing the outside of his workshop The building of a wagon complete with wooden wheels is too strenuous for him now

Some other things that can be seen at the workshop are old lanterns, gourd dippers, old license plates, a corn sheller, a fish fryer, and a hoe cake pan A half dozen wooden kitchen chairs were in for repairs. Among the more unusual items were a tree stump in current use for hewing, a cherry pitter and a tobacco cutter. Years ago, said Mr Bonham, a tobacco user could go into a store and have a piece of tobacco cut off to his size specifications

The item that really stuck out like a sore thumb was the camel saddle? Yes, it seems a fellow from Big Stone Gap brought the saddle in to have some attachments fitted on

Although Wiley is retired from the Virginia Highway Department where he worked for 41 years, he feels it is "good for a person" to remain active. The heart attack he suffered about six years ago hasn't slowed him down much. He and Jane maintain corn and tobacco fields and garden their own vegetables including potatoes. They raised some of the biggest cushaws they had ever seen this year They enjoy riding their wagons in local parades being pulled along by a couple of mules. Besides the mules, the family menagerie includes two hogs, six chickens and seven cats

The newspaper interviewer named Carver was informed that among the brand names of old wagons were the names Thornhill, Studebaker and CARVER

The Bonhams have eight children, one of whom teaches at Big Stone Gap and another, the youngest, is Wayne who teaches carpentry at the Vocational School at Ben Hur Wiley does some blacksmithing as did his "daddy and both grand daddies

The "Bonham Boys" (as Wiley's ancestors were known) are part of the four generations of blacksmiths who have been in Lee County for 95 years. They settled at Town Branch, having come by wagon train from Wythe County now (Smythe County)

Wiley is the third son of Hasque and follows the tradition of blacksmithing set by his father, grandfather and great grandfather. Modern machinery, sophisticated tools and electricity have allowed Wiley to evolve a manual art to mechanical skill

However, even busy people like Wiley Bonham deserve a break now and

As wife, Jane, looks on, Wiley Bonham of Jonesville displays a miniature saddle that is among his collection of handmade articles of wood and leather.

The tulip came originally from Turkey where the word means turban.

The Dutch bulb industry is important in Holland's national economy.

A hint on planting tulip bulbs for most impressive bloom: it is important that you purchase top quality bulbs and in the South plant about October 15. When setting bulbs, work one tablespoon of superphospate into each planting hole; this will insure stronger bulbs in the future.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R.E. Beeler, Mrs. Dan Scott, Mrs. L. T. Stuart.

The next meeting will be held at the Western Lee County Health Clinic meeting room, Ewing. A speaker from the Cumberland Gap Historical Park will talk on birds of this area. Mrs. Bobby Justice and Mrs. Sherwood D. Williamson are hostesses.

Variety is literally the spice of life in matters of nutrition, and dieters should be wary of special reducing diets that call for the elimination of too many foods for too long. A good low calorie meal should include a number of different kinds of food—meat, cheese, vegetable and fruit. Accompanied by a cup of hot, soothing tea, which has virtually no calories, this type of meal is nutritious as well.

Booklet Can Help Deal With Drug Abuse Problems

Being a parent has its joys - but it can have its rough times, too. One of the greatest fears that parents have today is the possibility that their child may use drugs.

To give you some help on how to prevent drugs from entering your family, or what to do if they already have, the Department of Health and Human Services has a booklet called Drug Abuse Prevention for Your Family. For your copy send $1.75 to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 206J, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

The truth is that drugs are available. Some, like alcohol, tobacco and aspirin are socially acceptable and are even looked upon as useful substances. Many people use these drugs everyday with little thought about how this might affect their children.

Legal drugs are available for nearly every kind of human ailment, real or imagined. Unfortunately, many people misuse these drugs by taking them for the wrong reasons, taking them too frequently, or taking several drugs in combination, sometimes creating highly dangerous interactions.

Other drugs are marginally acceptable socially, but still illegal and by no means harmless, like marijuana and hashish. Then there are the dangerous and illegal drugs -- like heroin, LSD and PCP.

The easy availability of these drugs is the biggest problem. But, you can help prevent drugs from invading your home and involving your children. Remember that you are still the single most powerful role model your children have. Giving your children love and affection and consistent, fair discipline can go a long way in helping them avoid drug involvement. Also, try to stay open to your kids' problems and concerns.

How can you tell if your child is on drugs? You might try asking. If you get a "yes", remember that panic or anger won't help either of you. Your child needs your support and understanding more than ever before. Be open and calm, then try to find out what the problem is. Together you and your child can solve the problem step by step.

If you feel you need some help, or if you're in a family crisis, nearly every community has a drug hot line, or counselors and organizations that can help. Also, each state has a specific agency for drug abuse prevention, usually in the health or mental health department. These State agencies can refer you to help in your community. Or, you can write to Families Anonymous, P.O. Box 344, Torrance, CA 90501.

The final thing to know about drug intervention is that it works best when it's practiced early. Continued drug abuse not only increases the likelihood of permanent harm, but also the effects of the drugs can quickly overshadow the original problem that triggered the abuse. If you think one of your children has a drug problem, act right away, but act calmly. You can make the difference.

When you order your copy of Drug Abuse Prevention ($1.75), you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog lists over 200 free and low cost federal consumer booklets.

Cattle Robbing Squirrels?

That's right! Cattle are robbing squirrels! It's happening all over the tri-state area. But they'll pay for it. Many will die!

You see, cattle are going nuts. They are eating acorns like never before in recent years. An extremely heavy mast crop this year is the cause of this severe outbreak of poisoning which has killed many cattle in our area already. More will die if preventative measures are not taken

Why is the harmless oak so much trouble for cattle? The acorn has a high concentration of tannic acid. If enough acorns are eaten at one time, enough tannic acid accumulates to cause severe irritation to the gut wall. The tannic acid that gets into the bloodstream causes severe irritation in the delicate tissues of the kidney, especially the tubules. If enough acorns are eaten to cause severe kidney damage, most die. A blood test is available to test for kidney damage. Severity of the condition then depends upon the number of acorns eaten Some cows seem to love them, while others would rather pick grass if it is available. Several people are reporting that their cows are "rooting" through the leaves, looking for acorns like a hog.

Early signs of acorn poisoning are; poor appetite, constipation and a dry muzzle. As it worsens, the manure becomes dark or black and may be pelleted, which is soon followed by diarrhea with blood and mucus mixed and resembles raspberry jam. As kidney signs occur, frequent urination, sunken eyes, thin rapid pulse, staggering, and death occur. On autopsy, acorn bits that look like ground corn are found in the manure, and the tissue around the kidney often is so filled with fluid (edema) that it looks like clear jello. All ages of cattle are affected.

Affected cattle are best treated by drenching with 1 gallon or more of mineral oil, to remove the acorns, and about 4 ounces of ground limestone, to help neutralize the acid in the acorn. Also, several gallons of water forced down a cow will help dilute the acorns. Home remedies like buttermilk and eggs will aid some as a coating agent, but not as much as mineral oil plus lime. Another home remedy, vinegar, is an acid itself (acetic acid) and would probably only worsen the condition

To prevent other cases, remove cattle from wooded areas if possible. If that is not possible, mix ground limestone (not hydrated or burnt lime) and loose salt in salt boxes ½ and ½ Remove salt blocks so cattle will be forced to eat the lime and salt mixture Small piles of lime may also be dumped around the field and cattle will frequently lick in them. Supplemental grain feeding would also help, but most people don't have facilities to feed cattle while out on pasture. As pastures become shorter, due to the recent dry weather, cattle will be more prone to eat the acorns. So take precautions, help the squirrels protect their food

Challenging The Decision On A Social Security Claim

A person who believes that a decision by the Social Security Administration on his or her claim for retirement, survivors, or disability insurance benefits is incorrect may ask to have the decision reviewed.

There are four steps a person may take in the requesting such a review:

.Reconsideration

A hearing before an administrative law judge (ALJ)

.A review by the Appeals Council

.Civil action in a Federal court

Reconsideration involves a complete review of a claim to determine whether the original decision was correct. The request for reconsideration must be filed within 60 days of the date of receipt of notice of the initial decision.

Reconsideration includes a thorough examination of all the evidence submitted when the original decision was made, in addition to any other evidence that may have become available since that time.

The review is made by persons other than those who made the original decision to assure that the new decision is arrived at independently.

If the individual is not satisfied with the reconsideration, he or she may request a hearing before an administrative law judge. The request for the hearing must be filed within 60 days of the date of receipt of the notice of the reconsidered decision.

An administrative law judge is an officer of the Office of Hearings and Appeals of the Social Security Administration who had no part in the original or reconsidered decision.

At the hearing, the administrative law judge reviews what has gone before in the case, states what issues must be decided and questions the person and any witnesses under oath.

The individual or a representative may question the witnesses, present new evidence, and examine other evidence that may have been submitted.

A copy of the administrative law judge's written decision is sent to the person.

Self-Help For Asthma Kids

The American Lung Association has a new, educational and self help kit for the more than one million American children, ages 5 to 14, who suffer with asthma.

The kit is called SUPERSTUFF. It is designed to teach asthmatic children how to help themselves, how to recognize causes, triggers and warning signals of asthma. The "secret" of SUPERSTUFF is that it teaches with humor and fun

All SUPERSTUFF information is based on current medical knowledge and was prepared in cooperation with the American Thoracic Society, the ALA's medical arm.

Included in the SUPERSTUFF package is an 86 page "cut apart and use" book for youngsters. It contains riddles, rhymes, puzzles and a game. It has the International Signal Code that gives children a "secret" language - and teaches these asthma signals: coughing, hard, noisy or fast breathing, upset stomach; tickly throat and other signs. It offers a T-shirt iron-on, a mobile, a Pilot Training Program that teaches asthma triggers: weather; germs; overexertion and other factors. It has a paper doll, a photo strip that teaches relaxation exercises and a mystery story. Plus many other fun filled items that help the child learn about his or her asthma.

SUPERSTUFF inclues a 16 page newsmagazine for adults on how to help children with asthma. There are questions and answers about the disease, information on what helps when an asthma episode threatens, and a feature, "Asthma: Is It Anyone's Fault?" written by a psychologist.

The SUPERSTUFF package contains a poster and relaxation record with music. Ask your local lung association for SUPERSTUFF. A contribution (usually $10) is asked. The cost varies with local lung association policy.

A golf ball's dimpled cover adds accuracy and distance to its flight.

American Food Dislikes

There have been a great many surveys about what Americans like to eat. However, the United States Department of Agriculture, USDA, recently released the results of a study on American food dislikes.

The survey shows, for example, that 95 percent of Americans don't eat processed eggs, meat substitutes, frozen fruits, baby foods, veal or lamb Eighty-six pct. of them don't drink cocoa. Nearly half do not drink tea, eat fish or consume soups

In the beverage line, coffee not surprisingly seems to be the most popular Only 22pct. of Americans say they don't drink it. The aforementioned cocoa is the least popular. Surprisingly, 63 percent maintain they do not drink fruit juices. Thirty eight percent say they don't have soft drinks in the home

Beef is, of course, the most popular meat, with only 9 pct. of Americans saying they don't eat it. This compares with 20 pct. who say they don't eat pork. Nearly 1/3 don't eat poultry or lunch meat and 11 pct. do not eat eggs.

Dairy products have the highest incidence of consumption of any major food category, the survey shows. 6 percent of Americans say they don't consume fresh milk in some form, though more than 70 pct. say they don't consume cream or processed milk. Ninety eight pct. say they don't consume dips and contrary to that saying, we don't "all scream for ice cream." Fact is, 50 pct. of us don't eat it at all but most of us eat cheese Only 19 pct. say they don't.

And, if you think times haven't changed, consider this: 55 percent of American households do not use flour today. That may not be surprising, but when you add the fact that 3 out of four households don't use prepared flour mixes, you have something of a surprise

Lee County ASC Election

According to Max Graham, Vice Chairperson of the Lee County ASC Committee, nominating petitions have been mailed to all known eligible voters in the ASCS community committee elections. "Any person who owns or operates a farm or who shared in a crop on a farm as a tenant or sharecropper is eligible to vote", said Graham.

Nominating petitions must be signed by 3 eligible voters and also by the person being nominated, certifying that he will be willing to serve if elected. Persons nominated should be currently engaged in the operation of a farm and be well qualified for committee work. In general, a farmer is eligible to be a community member if the farmer lives in the community in which he/she is eligible to vote.

A slate of at least 5 nominees will be developed for each community. If this number of candidates is nominated by proper petition, no further nominations will be made. For any community where 5 nominations are not received, the present county committee will complete the slate of nominees.

Graham reminds farmers that there is no limit to the number of candidates they may nominate. Additional petitions may be obtained by contacting the ASCS Office. All petitions must be returned to the ASCS Office by November 2.

Family Notes

By Betty Jean Moore

Virginia Tech Extension Service agents provide continuing education programs, information, services - for everyone. Miss Moore is with the Lee County office at 346-1622.

The greatest gift you can give your beloved is preparation to be a widow, widower, or divorcee.

There are 10.5 million widows in the nation. And divorce has increased dramatically in recent years.

Beyond the emotional shock, property ownership problems that may arise with the loss of a marriage partner are the greatest hurdle.

Too often, the house, land, car, or other investments shall be held in joint ownership or in the name of one partner, usually the husband. What happens then if the husband dies first or the couple divorces?

If the wife contributed to the purchase of such property, she may have a hard time proving her payments. Then the divorced husband might try to claim full ownership; or taxes could be devastating when the deceased husband's estate is settled, if it is taxed on the entire amount.

It's always best to consider the types of ownership available and which you want at the time of purchase. A couple should get advice from professionals, such as an attorney, banker, accountant, and /or investment advisor and discuss it among themselves.

Wives should take an active part in the family finances and retain single ownership of at least one bank account and a car if there are more than one. A major exception to single ownership is the home. Joint ownership of the home provides greater security for both spouses and generous estate tax exemptions.

Like many marital problems, the best solution to property entanglements is good communications. Open discussion of the various aspects of property ownership can work out the problems before they occur.

If you are interested in making plans for your estate, plan to attend the Estate Planning Workshop to be held at Ewing Elementary School on October 22, 27 and November 5, 12 and 19 at 7 p.m. each night. The workshop is open to the public and free of charge.

ARC Fall Super Skate Fund Raising Event Plans

The Association for Retarded Citizens in Virginia and the Jonesville Junior Woman's Club have announced plans for this Fall's Super Skate '81, a fund raising event to benefit the ARC-Virginia.

Super Skate '81, a ten hour roller skating marathon, is being held all over Southwestern Virginia on November 7th. In this area, the Super Skate will be held at the Sunny Acres Skating Rink in Jonesville from 1:00 P.M.-11:00 P.M. Materials and information are available at the rinks, local schools, or by calling 1-800 552-3468.

The Woman's Club will also be helping with local publicity, getting materials in the schools, securing refreshments for the skaters and performing other jobs to make Super Skate '81 a success.

Participants in Super Skate '81 raise pledges for every mile they skate during the event. Miles skated are determined by how many hours the participant skates.

Prizes for the Super Skate '81 include a Home Video Recorder for the person in Southwest Virginia who turns in the highest amount of money. The top skater in each rink will win their choice of a 5" Portable AC-DC Television of Snyder Super Deluxe Skates. LIFE HEALTH
The Truth About Health

Health is ever present in every human. Nature has provided man with good health and with the knowledge to maintain that good health.

Dr. Don Daniels Chiropractor

The controlling force in man is his instinct, or innate intelligence. Man's brain transmits nerve energy impulses to all body structures through the spinal cord, the spinal nerves and millions of tiny nerve fibres.

So long as man's nervous system functions properly and transmits the brain's messages through the body, good health abounds. When nerve pressure or impingement in the spinal column interferes with the efficient flow of nerve energy, disorder and disease result. Sickness is the result.

However, scientific and gentle chiropractic adjustments at the hands of a competent chiropractor free the nerves to perform their proper duties, and nature restores the affected body parts to normal. Healthy, happy living once again becomes a part of life.

Healing and good health do not come through the elimination of or covering-up of symptoms. The cause for the disorder must be located and corrected. When the cause has been eliminated, nature effects the cure by restoring the affected body organs to normal, efficient operation. Through chiropractic adjustments, nature is able to perform her natural duty of health maintenance. Another Life and Health Article from the Office of

Laity Day And Other Activities At Morgan Memorial And Ingles Chapel

Laymen or Laypersons Day is an annual observance throughout The United Methodist Church, and on October 11, both the Morgan Memorial and Ingles Chapel Churches of the Rose Hill Charge had a speaker from their own congregation who brought a timely message to the Laity of the Church.

Rev. James Wright, pastor of the churches, conducted the worship service at each church, and introduced the lay speaker. Ricky Williams was lay speaker at Ingles Chapel at the ten o'clock service at Ingles Chapel, and Nancy Gibson, the lay speaker at Morgan's Memorial at the eleven o'clock service.

Both speakers had chosen to speak on the topic the responsibility of the Laity to his/her local church and its Pastor in supporting the Ministry of the Church.

At Morgan's, special music as rendered by soloist, Viola Turner, from Norton, and other guests were Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Seale of Charlottesville, and Pvt. Jack McKeen who was home for a few days furlough from his Marine Base in S.C. now stationed at Twenty-Nine Pines Calif. A covered dish dinner was enjoyed by the congregation at the noon hour.

On Wednesday at the regular Prayer Service hour at Morgan Memorial United Methodist Church, the assembled group had a most interesting tour of the Holy Land.

The tour was conducted by Bashie Kincaid who used beautiful and authentic picture slides to portray the land of Israel. It was narrated by two strong voices on a cassette tape which kindled an awareness of being a part of the history and struggles of a people through centuries in a land where Jesus of Nazareth said, "Come, Follow Me!"

It is a land where still today the Jew, the Moslem, and the Christian all claim to be Sons of God.

W.O.C. At Mt. Carmel Presbyterian

Maud Bales was hostess to the bible study at her home in Rose Hill on October 13, conducted by the Women of the Church of Mt. Carmel Presbyterian Church

After a hymn, "Take Time To Be Holy", devotions were conducted by President, Mrs. Charles Emmett on the Scripture Romans 7-14 21 where St. Paul describes the struggle within the soul of wanting to do good but being overcome by evil.

"What Christian", she stated, "has not sincerely grieved over her own spiritual short comings" She then read a poem of triumph, "They'll Know We Are Christians By Our Love", and all engaged in a circle of prayer

The Bible Lesson centered on the Old Testament Drama, beginning with creation of man for a purpose, how man sinned and rejected God's Purpose, but how God promised Salvation to restore man to his former purpose

Those thoughts were discussed by Mrs. Maud Bales, Virginia Fugate, and Mrs. Shan Richmond.

The study was continued by Florence Bayless, Emma Campbell, and Janet Munsey regarding God's promises-first to the Patriarchs, to Moses and the Covenant continued through David and other Monarchs.

A conclusion by the leader of the lesson was that when we first look at the Old Testament there is a feeling that man has failed, but that God has promised a New Covenant - a Covenant of Grace, when God's Laws are written in man's heart and man obeys through love and gratitude for God sent his Son to show that God is Love.

Views On Dental Health

WHY A BRIDGE?

Is it really necessary to replace adult's missing teeth with a fixed bridge or partial denture? The answer is a definite YES! The reasons are quite simple.

When a tooth is lost, the adjacent teeth and the tooth [above or below] which acts as a biting partner, lose the support, strength and stabilizing influence which the lost tooth once provided. The remaining teeth will be subject to many problems such as drifting, abnormally exposed decay-prone areas and, worst of all, periodontal disease. [The single largest cause of tooth loss in adults].

The loss of just one tooth, if not replaced by a fixed bridge or partial denture, will more than likely, ultimately cause the loss of more and more teeth. In many patients, it is only a matter of time until the destruction is complete.

The dental arch was designed by nature to have a complete set of teeth - one helping and protecting the other. Replacing missing teeth with a dental appliance will maintain this design as well as your smile and ability to eat properly.

This information is brought to our readers in the interest of better dental health from the office of H. Neal Davis, DDS, Regency Professional Building, Big Stone Gap, Va. Phone 523-2691.

Trial

In opening statements last Tuesday, Commonwealth's attorney Cynthia Kinser told the jury of six men and six women that David Hill was murdered because he was a financial drain to R.L. Herring. However, Herring's defense attorneys, George Cridlin and David Summerfield, are building their case around the alleged government conspiracy to frame Herring. Cridlin argues that the prosecution's key witness, Russell Cash, killed Hill.

Nearly three years elapsed from the time the trappers found Hill's frozen, bullet-ridden body to the time a Lee County Grand Jury returned indictments charging Herring and Bernard Chester Webb, of St. Charles, a Lee County coal operator, with the murder. In May, a Lee County jury found Webb innocent of capital murder, a ruling that was upheld by the Virginia Supreme Court after the commonwealth filed a motion for a mistrial. Webb is to testify in Herring's behalf.

If Herring is convicted of first-degree murder, he could be sentenced to life imprisonment. He is already serving a 10-year sentence in federal prison for convictions of bankruptcy fraud (to which he entered a plea of guilty in 1979) and racketeering.

Kinser argues the financial motive for Hill's murder centers around the fraudulent financing of heavy equipment in Herring's Herco Corporation in Albany, Georgia. Financial institutions like CIT financed heavy equipment Herco didn't own. Herring gave Hill money regularly to make payments to CIT. With Hill out of the way, Herring's business would assume no liability for Hill's indebtedness -- the financial drain would be eliminated, the prosecution argues.

However, the defense says Herring lost money when Hill died, reiterating the idea of government involved. Cridlin maintains Russell Cash, 52, formerly of Stevenson, Alabama, is the person with the motive. Cash, threatened by authorities with being charged for the murder, confessed to arranging the $20,000 pay-off from Herring to the killer. In exchange for his testimony, Cash was granted immunity from prosecution, and accepted into a federal witness protection program, giving him a new identity. This inclues a new name and financial support from the government.

Virginia State Trooper special agent Dan Lyons first learned of Cash's possible involvement from wire taps which were on Herring's office and home telephones. Herring and Hill had been suspects in an interstate heavy equipment theft ring at the time of the victim's death. Cash was considered the "lesser of three evils" among Herring, Webb and Cash, according to Lyons, citing Cash "had no motive." Last Wednesday, Kinser called witnesses who described Herring's and Hill's involvement in the fraudulent financing of heavy equipment.

Also taking the witness stand last Wednesday, was the victim's son, David Hill, of Atlanta. Hill, who last saw his father alive two days before his murder, testified that Herring was using the victim's credit line to finance the suspect's business. When the victim did not come home for Christmas, Hill said he contacted Herring, whom the witness quoted as saying that Hill fled the country because he was "in trouble with banks."

The prosecution sent 10 witnesses to the stand last Thursday in Lee County Circuit Court as it continued to assemble its complex case. Among those testifying were two finance company representatives who told of losing large sums of money in dealings with Herring and Hill. Herco declared bankruptcy shortly after Hill's death and the two finance companies never collected any money from the firm.

In other testimony Thursday, Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent Ronnie Webb told about wiretaps placed on Herring's home and business telephones for a two-week period in December 1977 (Dec. 8-23). Webb sought the wiretaps as a result of an informant indicating Herring's involvement in an interstate heavy equipment theft ring. Webb said he wasn't familiar with Georgia law requiring him to turn over the tapes within 30 days to District Attorney Spencer Lee Sr. and that he kept the tapes for about three months. The tapes were given to the clerk of the Dougherty County Superior Court in March, 1978. Though not used in the theft ring investigation, the tapes were said to reveal the careful plotting of Hill's murder.

Circuit Court Judge S.W. Coleman admitted the tapes into evidence in Friday's session in court, allowing that the prosecution established the chain of custody and authenticity requirements. In a surprising development Friday, it was disclosed that the court orders and affidavits which were used by Georgia authorities to obtain the wiretaps were missing. After it was determined that the documents were unavailable, Coleman allowed copies to be used.

Tapes of the phone conversations were played for the jury on Friday afternoon. The phone conversations were said to contain certain words and phrases as metaphors for the murder plot.

Russell Cash's testimony on Monday (Oct. 19), as the prosecution's chief witness, revealed his fear of family members being called in for questioning, thereby prompting his confession to his role as middleman in the murder plot. Cash testified that several days before Hill's death, Herring told Cash to see if Webb would take the murder contract. Cash said the deal was completed with Webb and Herring arranged for Hill to inspect some mining equipment in Southwest Virginia.

Cash reportedly gave the hitman $10,000 on December 21, 1977. Cash and Webb drove to Knoxville to meet Hill. Cash said he later told Herring that the "papers were signed," another metaphor meaning Hill was dead. The delivery of the second $10,000 was made after Christmas. Cash denied shooting Hill.

In Tuesday morning's court session, George Cridlin, defense lawyer of R.L. Herring, spent about an hour in cross examination of the prosecutor's key witness, Russell Cash. Cridlin asked about Cash's business dealings with Herring, his knowledge of Webb, the telephone records, Cash's immunity and how much money Cash received, if any. Defense noted inconsistencies in Cash's statements.

In other testimony, United States Marshall Gene Coon, presented an over-all picture of the federal witness protection program. Other witnesses attested to Herring's whereabouts in December, 1977.

Herring defense was expected to ask for more time to allow witnesses to come from a great distance, possibly Washington, D.C.

Clintwood Topples Pennington 27-0

Last Friday night, the Pennington Bobcats probably wish had been an open date, as they traveled up to Clintwood, and took a pounding from the Green Wave. When the final whistle had blown, the Bobcats were on the short end of a 27-0 score.

After a scoreless first quarter by both teams, Clintwood put its first touchdown on the board when Robbie Rife picked up a blocked punt and returned it 19 yards for the score. Ricky Mullins was the one to block the punt, one of three he blocked on the night. The Green Wave later scored on a 42 yard gallop by Mike Goins. Goins also ran the two point conversion.

Clintwood then put 13 more points on the scoreboard in the third quarter when Ricky Mullins scored from three yards out. Tony Mullins scored the final six pointer on a 22 yard scamper. Mike Goins gained 105 yards on 16 trips, while Kevin Elkins carried 16 times for 100 yards. The Green Wave gained a total of 309 yards rushing, and 29 passing, while their defense held the Bobcats to 88 rushing, and nothing through the air.

Pennington will have their hands full again this Friday night when they travel to Powell Valley. The Vikings defeated Clintwood earlier in the year 25-0, and will have Kevin Mitchell to carry the pig skin. Nobody has been able to stop Mitchell so far this year. Get tough Bobcats! There isn't anyone that can't be brought down, sooner or later!

Jonesville Topples Pennington Bobcats 55-36

Last week the Jonesville Bulldogs ran over the Pennington Bobcats 55-36 to remain tied with Dryden for first place in the Cumberland district.

After a 20-16 first half in favor on the Bulldogs, Jonesville practically put the game away with a 19-5 advantage in the third quarter. They outpointed the Bobcats 16-15 in the last eight minutes to make the final of 55-36.

Jonesville now 14-2 overall was led by the outstanding 29 point effort of Dee Dee Brooks. Cindy Terry added 9 points, while six other Bulldogs rounded out the scoring attack.

Pennington, by losing, falls to a overall record of 3-12. The Bobcats got 14 points from Sandra Ely, while Kim Roberts chipped in with 13. Pennington will be at Twin Springs tomorrow, while Jonesville will be at Flatwoods.

Jonesville would seem to be in the best position to win the district, now that they only have Flatwoods and Keokee left to play in district action, while Dryden has Pennington plus has to face the dangerous Thomas Walker Pioneers tomorrow night at Dryden. Should the Pioneers down the injured Dryden team, then the Bulldogs would definitely be in the driver's seat.

Thomas Walker Doubles Rye Cove 54-27

The Thomas Walker Pioneers kept up their winning ways last week, when they doubled the Rye Cove Eagles 54-27.

After a slow first quarter by both teams, which saw the Pioneers take a 11-8 lead, Thomas Walker got their running game untracked as the Pioneers scored 18 points while holding the Eagles from Scott County to a total of only three in the second stanza. The third quarter was much like the second, 17-3 in favor of Sonny Brooks forces.

Rye Cove did manage to take the last quarter, but only by eight points which was not near enough to make the game close.

The Pioneers got eleven players in on the scoring act led by Kim Davis' 13 points. Missy Brooks scored 11, with Salley Bailey adding 6 markers. Thomas Walker shot almost 67% at the charity stripe, hitting 6 of 18 free throws. Rye Cove did not place a single player in double figures, but got 7 points from Karen Carter. Neysa Osborne and Kim Tipton were both held to 6 points each. The Eagles made 11 of 25 charity tosses, good for 44%.

Rye Cove Turns Back Twin Springs 43-35

The Rye Cove Eagles turned back the Twin Springs Titans on Thursday of last week, with a fourth quarter explosion and some pretty good defense

The Eagles trailed at the end of each quarter, but didn't lose either quarter by more than two points, up until the final one. The Titans held a five point lead heading to the final stanza, but the Eagles defense took over in the fourth and held the Titans to just three points while they scored 16 of their own to make the final of 43-35.

Both teams will close out their season with losing records, but could give some of the top teams some trouble come tournament time.

Rye Cove was led by Neysa Osborne and Kim Tipton who scored 14 each. Karen Hobbs chipped in with 9 points. Twin Springs got 11 points each from Joann Begley and Teresa Sexton. Michelle Donelson, who earlier in the season carried the bulk of the Titan scoring has been finding the range lately. She was held to 4 points.

Flatwoods Edges Twin Springs

Flatwoods traveled to Twin Springs last week, and built up a ten point lead at halftime against the Titans. But had to hold off the Twin Springs lassies in the final half to pull out a 49-45 win.

Sherry Barber, Karen Glass, and Brenda Graham combined for 40 of the Eagles 49 points, with all three in double figures with 17, 13 and 10 points respectively. Teresa Sexton scored 19 points in defeat, with Joann Begley hitting 14.

The Titans will host Pennington tomorrow night, looking to average a 56-55 loss to the Bobcats earlier in the season. Flatwoods will have their hands full with Joe Robinson's well coached Bulldogs, also tomorrow night. After tomorrow night's game, the Eagles will have only Rye Cove left on their district schedule, while the Eagles also will start preparing to host the upcoming district tournament, starting November

Pennington Bobcats Turn Back Keokee 56-52

The Pennington Bobcats barely got by the Keokee Mountaineers last week, but managed to turn them away 56-52.

Keokee who placed three in double figures, grabbed a 17-5 first quarter lead. This was the biggest lead that Keokee has held on anyone this year. The lead didn't last long though, as the Bobcats came roaring back with a 18-7 second quarter, and a 21-9 third to take an eleven point lead into the last quarter. Keokee playing with only five players gave an excellent effort by outscoring the Bobcats 19-12, but came up short.

Pennington was paced by Sandra Ely with 19 points. Kim Roberts added 18. Keokee remains winless on the season. The Mountaineers got 16 points from Becky Adkins, while Beverly Collins and Cathy Rutherford tossed in 12 points each

Dryden Crusaders Roll By Keokee 60 - 30

The Dryden Crusaders rolled by the Keokee Mountaineers on Tuesday of last week to the tune of 60-30.

The game was simply a mismatch as Keokee had only five players on their team for this game. Dryden

The Crusaders grabbed a 14-9 lead and stretched it to 28-21 at halftime. The crushing blow came in the third quarter when Dryden scored 20 points while holding their foes to just three Dryden [60] Woods 14, Long 14, Swain 12, Gibson 8, Burchell 4, Quillen 2, Robinette 2, Kirk 2, Kilgore 2.

Cheryl Reasor, who suffered a broken left arm in a horse riding accident in early October, should return to basketball action for Dryden High School by tournament time.

Dryden is now 15-1 overall. The Crusaders put three in double figures with Robin Woods and Dawn Long leading the way with 14 points each. Joyce Swain added 12 markers. Dryden saw one of its leading players in Vickie Kirk get back into action Kirk who has been out with knee surgery scored two points. Cheryl Reasor didn't play due to having a cracked bone in her arm. This is the second game she has missed. In Dryden's 58-43 loss to Jonesville last week, Reasor did not play due to the injury. Had she along with Kirk been able to play the Crusaders might still have been undefeated at this point.

Against the Mountaineers, Dryden hit 8 of 15 free throws for 53%.

Keokee is still winless on the year. They got 12 points from Beverly Collins. Becky Adkins and Felicia White scored 6 points each. The Mountaineers hit 4 of 11 free throws for 36%.

Keokee 9 12 3 6-30
Dryden 14 14 20 12-60
Individual Scoring:

T.W. Pioneers Gun Down Twin Springs 77-30

In a rare Wednesday night game last week, played at Thomas Walker, the Pioneers downed the visiting Twin Springs Titans 77-30.

With a 18-6 first quarter bulge, the Pioneers held the 12 point lead at intermission as both teams canned 13 points each in the second stanza. But in the third quarter Thomas Walker killed the Titan hopes with a 27-4 quarter. The final stanza was more of the same as the Pioneers never let up outscoring the Titans by a dozen.

For the second straight game, Thomas Walker placed eleven girls in the scoring column, led by Kim Davis with 18, and Debbie Davis with 12. Pam Hensley scored 8 in the win.

The winners shot just under 42% at the foul line, hitting on 13 of 31 shots.

Twin Springs got 9 tallies from Joann Begley and 6 from Pam Clark. Michelle Donelson didn't score.

The Titans hit 14 of 36 free throws for just under 39%.

Go out and support all of the area teams, as the season winds down, to show your support. The tournament is coming up shortly, and the gym is usually crowded, so why not show a little support now?!

Jonesville Bulldogs Clobber Thomas Walker 64-38

On Thursday of last week, the Jonesville Bulldogs clobbered the Pioneers on the winner's court 64-38.

Although only holding a 10-9 first quarter lead, Jonesville opened it up in the second stanza with a 18-6 spurt, to enjoy a 13 point lead at the halfway mark. The Bulldogs also claimed the second half by 13 points, to win easy over a Pioneer team that figured to give them a close game.

Jonesville is now 15-2 on the season. Both losses have come at the hands of Dryden. Jonesville also has beaten Dryden once, which has both teams tied for the top spot in the district.

Jonesville was led by Dee Dee Brooks who fired in 29 points. Brooks seems to be stuck on 29, as she has scored that total in each of the last two or three games. Sharon Jerrell added 10 more points to the win.

Thomas Walker got 13 points from Kim Davis, 8 from Pam Hensley. The loss was the worst of the year for the Pioneers.

Jonesville will be pulling for the Pioneers when they play the Crusaders this week, as a Dryden loss would almost assure the Bulldogs the district crown.

Dryden Fights Off Flatwoods 33-31

Dryden held on to a slim two point victory last Thursday night, to edge by the homestanding Flatwoods Eagles 33-31.

The margin of victory came in the third quarter, when the Crusaders outscored the Eagels 6-4. The biggest lead by either team at the end of any quarter, was three points, by Dryden in the first quarter.

The win gives Dryden a 16-1 overall record. The Crusaders were led by Joyce Swain's 13 points. Robin Woods also bucketed 10 tallies. Dryden, as a team hit 13 of 21 free throws for just under 62%.

Flatwoods, losing only by two, saw Sherry Barber limited to just 2 points. Karen Glass led the Eagles with 13. No other Eagle had more than four points. Flatwoods shot 64.4% at the foul line, connecting on 9 of 14 shots. Cheryl Reasor is still out of action for Dryden and this is or was a contributing factor on Dryden having to concentrate on defense a little more in the game. And it worked, as they held Barber to her lowest point production this year.

Score By Quarters:
Dryden 10 9 6 8-33

Plants And Dish Gardens Topic Of Rose Hill Homemakers

Mrs. J. Hubert Wheeler was hostess to the Rose Hill Homemakers Club on Friday, October 9, at her home in Ewing. Mrs. C. Willard Davis, President, conducted the meeting, after welcoming the members and two visitors. Visitors were Mrs. Walter Justice of Ewing, and Mrs. Ernie Copeland of Jonesville.

After a beautiful Bible Reading by Mrs. Maud Bales, the group pledged allegiance to the U.S. flag, and spoke in unison the Virginia Homemakers Creed.

During reports, it was announced by the committee on Christmas Lights, Mrs. F.L. Grabeel and Mrs. E. S. Grabeel, that everything was up to date in making preparations for the lighting.

The president also made announcement that the Annual Christmas Parade, sponsored by the Civitan Club, was set for December 19, and that a representative of each organization contributing toward the expenses of the parade would be on the panel of judges to select the winning floats this year.

A nominating committee of three was elected to present a slate of officers for 1982 at the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Snyder Harris, with co hostess Mrs. Ray P. Fugate.

A most informative and interesting program on house plants and dish gardens was given by program leader, Mrs. Don Davis. Through much experience in growing plants and learning their basic needs, Mrs. Davis was well qualified to share helpful ideas on various plants and how to care for them. She also answered many questions from members present.

"It is not luck but daily care for their basic needs," Mrs Davis stated, "that make the plants healthy and beautiful." She gave each one present a copy of her recipe for good plant food and how to make a compost, adding that plants must be watered before they are fed.

Mrs. Davis further stated that growing flowers and plants is a labor of love, and that a single plant in a home is a rich reward, and that a variety of plants of many colors and shapes needing sun or shade can fit into the decorating scheme of a home.

She (Eula) and also Mrs. C. Willard Davis and Mrs. Snyder Harris brought several plants, cuttings, and seeds which they shared with the sixteen present. Those not already mentioned were Florence Bayless, Mary Stickley, Bashie Kincaid, and Messrs. Hugh Chance, Sam Beaty, Van B. Grabeel, and Oscar W. Smith.

After the serving of delicious refreshments by the hostess, Mrs. Wheeler, those present enjoyed a tour of the lovely home and sitting by the open fire place

PHS Flag Team

Pennington Band Wins Trophies

On October 17, the Pennington Gap High School Bobcat Band attended the first annual McChesney Band Festival in Big Stone Gap. This was a tribute to Mrs. McChesney who was greatly responsible for the original band program at Powell Valley High School. Mrs. McChesney is affectionately referred to as the "Grand Ole Lady" of music

Nine bands from Southwest Virginia and Eastern Kentucky participated in this event which began with a parade through Big Stone Gap and the competition event held at Bullit Park.

In the words of Mr. Bill Berg, director, the Bobcat Band was super! They came away with four more trophies for their collection.

The Flag Team took a Division II. The Flags are as follows: Elaine Wright, a junior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wright of Woodway. Robin Bruner, a freshman and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bruner of Pennington Gap. Stacy Olinger, a freshman and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olinger of Pennington Gap. Rhonda Hilton, a junior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Hilton of Pennington Gap. Sandra Muncey, a freshman and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Muncey of Pennington Gap. Beth Wallen, a senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wallen of Pennington Gap. Denise Pennington, a junior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dunn Pennington of Woodway. Penny Stewart, a junior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart of Pennington Gap

The majorettes got a Division II. The majorettes used their new flag batons. The girls are Pegi Beeler, Carolyn Wright and Linda James

Karen Sage, drum major and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sage of Woodway, got a Division I.

The overall band score was a Division I. All members of the Bobcat band are excelling in their particular instrument. One, of note, is Dale Edwards, Tuba player. Dale is a senior this year and is very apt with the Tuba.

Some complimentary remarks by the competition. Judges were the designs of the flags and the added touch of banners for the Trumpet section.

The Pennington High Band scores on the point scale were 91, 96, 101.

Many of the band parents were present for the event. Some traveled with the band members as chaperones and others followed in their private cars. This is very encouraging for the band kids and for Mr. Berg. We encourage more parents to attend these festivals and let your kids show you what they can do.

Let us also remind you that the Pennington High School Bobcat Band will lead off the Lee County Tobacco Festival on Saturday, October 24. A total of 10 bands are expected for this event.

A guide for Virginians who still may not know the candidate they're planning to vote for:

MARSHALL COLEMAN

THE RHETORIC & THE RECORD

Collective Bargaining for Public Employees

Gubernatorial candidate Marshall Coleman says he adamantly opposes collective bargaining for public employees.

In the General Assembly, Mr. Coleman voted for legislation that would have given public employees a modified form of collective bargaining. House Bill 1891 in 1973, and House Bill 591 in 1974 Bill 591, which he sponsored, contained no anti-strike provisions

Tax Increases

In May 1981, candidate Coleman pledged to veto any tax increase if elected governor

In February 1980, Mr Coleman supported the proposed 4% tax on the wholesale price of gasoline, declaring that the Highway Fund would still have sufficient revenues to finance only 80% of needed projects

In August 1981, he proposed funding new highways via revenue bonds and tolls and by diverting General Fund money to the Highway Fund He also hinted at a tax increase for the trucking industry

Legislative Experience

Mr Coleman says his experience in the General Assembly is one of his major qualifications to be governor
Actually, he served one and a half terms in the House and a half term in the Senate before resigning to become Attorney General

Quality of service counts far more than time in office. Mr Coleman introduced 71 bills and resolutions, but only 29 were passed. Of the 137 measures he co-sponsored, only 61 passed He offered three different versions of his 'uniform sentencing' legislation. Not one passed

The Reagan 'Referendum'

This year, Mr Coleman is anxiously calling Virginia's gubernatorial election a 'Referendum on President Reagan.'

In 1976, Mr Coleman worked actively to block the Reagan nomination. In 1977, he called Mr. Reagan's visit on behalf of the Coleman opponent for attorney general an 'intrusion.' And only last year, he refused to endorse Mr. Reagan until it was obvious he would be the presidential nominee

Conflict of Interest

In 1975, Mr Coleman introduced House Bill 1284, requiring lobbyists to 'report all retainers, wages and salaries received in connection with lobbying.'

In 1980, The Roanoke Times reported that Attorney General Coleman 'supports the creation of a special ethics commission to investigate possible unethical conduct by members of the General Assembly.'

This year, it was discovered that Mr. Coleman's running mate, Nathan Miller, drafted and voted for legislation benefiting certain electric utilities while on retainer as general counsel for those companies. Mr. Coleman's response: 'I'm satisfied with Nathan's conduct.'

This fall, Mr. Coleman had to return a campaign contribution to a member of his finance committee As attorney general, he had been asked to investigate the man's vote on a controversial highway as a member of the State Highway Commission

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Magic trick: Turning trash into cash

By June Fuller

"Do you really have a basement full of box tops and labels?"

People often ask me this question. Without hesitating I tell them that I do — but that I try to leave a little space for the oil burner and the hot-water heater.

My basement is reserved for the mining of refund gold, because that is where I keep my collection of proofs of purchase (we call them "POPs") and where I work on my refunding.

When I find a new refund form, I take it down to my desk and see if I have the POPs that are required by the offer. Since I save every national-brand POP I can find the chances are that the four Sara Lee ingredient statements I need for that $2 refund are right there in my gold mine.

This is why refunding is often described as "turning trash into cash."

There are eight types of proofs of purchase that companies commonly ask for in their offers: box tops, box bottoms, net-weight statements, brand names, trademarks or logos, ingredient statements, Universal Product Code symbols (the black lines with the number below them), labels, and proof-of-purchase seals.

If you collect every possible POP, you can't go wrong. Rather than cut each of them out separately, I thoroughly clean the inside of the package, fold it flat and file it away.

Once a year I try to weed out my POPs, but it seems that my collection grows and grows. It now is housed in several dozen corrugated cardboard cartons.

Finding the POPs you need isn't hard if you follow a system of organization. I file mine according to the American Coupon Club's 12 product groups. These are the same groups in which my refund listings appear.

Many refunders I know file their POPs alphabetically.

Upstairs in my kitchen I keep a large carton in which I place all my empty boxes, bottles and cans. Every few days I take the labels off the cans, soak the labels off the bottles and take everything downstairs for filing.

Is it really worth the effort? You bet it is! I rarely come out of my gold mine with less than $10 worth of new refund requests ready to put in the mail.

In next week's column I will tell you an important POP secret and explain some ways to minimize the volume of your POP collection if your space is limited.

Today's Super Shopper is Marilyn Reich of Forty Fort, Pa. Her supermarket offered San Giorgio pasta on sale at $1.09 for two 1-pound boxes, the regular price at her store is 77 cents a box.

She had two 20-cent coupons, which the store doubled. So, she paid only 29 cents for the pasta.

But she wasn't finished. When she got home she took the proofs of purchase off the two boxes and sent for a $1 refund. It is easy to see why she is reporting savings of 50 percent and more on her grocery shopping.

Ms. Reich and other smart shoppers whose experiences appear in my column receive the refunding publication, The National Supermarket Shopper. Send your letters to me in care of this newspaper.

Here's a refund form to write for: Certo-Sure Jell Cash Refund Offer, General Foods Corp., P.O. Box 9127, East Court Street, Kankakee, Ill. 60901. This $1 refund offer expires Dec. 31, 1981.

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below. Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Looking Good Together —

They can do the job all by themselves – with a little supervision from their Building Trades I Instructor, Mr. Bill Dunsmore (front, right). With a Wheelbarrow of "mud" and pounds of muscle power the young men are repairing the wall of the creek which cuts a path through the campus at the Lee County Vocational School.

The faculty of the school never ceases to be amazed at the abundant talent of the students who attend classes there. The students take pride in doing a good job – the campus is well kept, the work is well done, and everyone is well pleased – that's probably why they say "we're looking good together!"

TWHS Selects Senior Superlatives

Thomas Walker High School Seniors selected their senior superlatives on October 7, 1981.

JoAnna Gulley and James Mangus were chosen friendliest. Selected as most likely to succeed were Sue Ann Bales and Jerry Skeen.

Mary Edds and Jim Miracle were named most popular. Picked as most versatile were Mary Edds and Jerry Skeen. Sally Bailey and Jim Miracle's wit got them elected as wittiest.

Chosen as best dressed were Tammie Britton and Laurin Hensley and selected most athletic were Mary Edds and Bobby Bryant.

The winners will be featured in a special section of the PIONEER, the TWHS yearbook.

Keokee School News

Monday, October 12, Keokee Combined School held an open house. Entertainment was provided by Tim Smith accompanied by Miss Janet Clouse, Keokee's music teacher.

Last Thursday evening the Lady Mountaineers went to Pennington. The girls were determined to pull out a victory but did not succeed. They led the first quarter 17-1, then the Mountaineers got into foul territory. The Bobcats tried with all their might to pull out a large margin victory, but the Mountaineers hustled vigorously down the court. The Lady Mountaineers lost after a hard battle, 52 to 56. Becky Adkins led the scoring with 16; Beverly Collins and Cathy Rutherford both had 12, Felicia White had 9 and Rena Phillips 3.

Tracey R. Rasnic

Rasnic, Tritt United In Evening Ceremony

Tracey R. Rasnic and Euel J. Tritt were united in marriage September 5 in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony at the Friendship Baptist Church in Jonesville, with Rev. Terry Williams officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Brenda Burton of Dayton, Ohio. The parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Euel Tritt, Sr., of Ben Hur.

A program of music was provided on piano by Lisa Audia of Pennington Gap. Two solos, "Pass It On" and "The Wedding Song", were performed by Jolene Price of Jonesville.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jackie Rasnic, the bride chose an empire waisted gown with a skirt of organza over taffeta. It featured long sheer sleeves trimmed with lace cuffs and a V necked bodice overlaid with chantilly lace and seed pearls. Chantilly lace medallions embroidered the high neckline and adorned the skirt and cathedral length train. A camelot cap of chantilly lace accented with seed pearls and iridescents held a knee length veil of organza edged with lace medallions. Her bridal bouquet consisted of silk daisies and carnations intermingled with baby's breath.

Maid of Honor was Susan Johnson, friend of the bride, of Pennington Gap. The bridesmaids were Lisa Willis of Pennington Gap, Robin Shuler of Jonesville, and Angie and Shanna Tritt, sisters of the groom. All wore similar floor length gowns of blue bridal satin.

The best man was Euel Tritt, Sr., father of the groom. Ushers were Mark Sutton, of Jonesville, Roy Fleenor of Jonesville, and Dustin Burton, brother of the bride, of Dayton, Ohio.

The flower girl was the bride's cousin, Tara Haven Osborne of Kingsport, Tn. Dustin Burton, brother of the bride, served as the ring bearer, also.

Growing Child

Moving Is Learning

Everything babies do teaches them something about themselves and the world. Moving is no exception.

Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, reports that as soon as a baby is born he experiences the pull of gravity.

His body, head, arms, and legs now have weight and he must learn to live in a world where everything he does is affected by his weight and the weight of objects he handles.

To learn to live with gravity, a baby begins moving his arms and legs. His head weighs about one-fourth as much as his whole body, and that's why he doesn't move it too much at first.

The early fist clenching, arm waving and leg kicking a baby does are mostly reflex responses to hunger or discomfort. When he has been fed he usually goes back to sleep. But there are a few periods each day that the very young baby spends in just moving.

As a baby develops from week to week, these moving periods become longer and the movements become stronger and more frequent. The kicks and waves may seem aimless, but the baby is busy learning how his legs feel when he kicks, when he stiffens them, when he stretches.

He learns how his arms feel as they change position. He learns that when he moves against gravity he must work harder than when he moves with it. He begins to learn that there is a difference between himself and everything else in the world that is not himself.

As a baby kicks and waves, a constant stream of sensations is fed back into his brain from his muscles, joints, tendons, and skin. These are sorted out, matched with similar sensations, and filed. This is the basis for the building of coordinated skills like reaching, grasping, crawling, creeping, walking and running.

Exercise periods are good for a baby. Dress him in loose clothing or just a diaper and give him freedom to move. Gentle roughhousing will encouarge activity.

Roll him gently from side to side. Gently hold one foot, and then the other, then both feet so he must pull or push to free himself. Resist him gently, but don't frustrate him. Talk to him all the while and make a happy game of it.

Moving is learning for a baby. Not only does he learn from the movement itself, but he learns that when he moves purposefully, he can make something happen. This is a giant step toward gaining confidence in his ability to change.

For more information on the physical and social development of children up to the age of six, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, IN 47902. When writing, include child's birthdate. A year's subscription to the Growing Child newsletter is $11.95.

Helpful Hints For Respiratory Illnesses

As the number of patients with chronic respiratory illness increase, we feel there are a few helpful hints that can be offered to help make their breathing problems a little more bearable. This article, one in a series to be presented for patients with lung disease, is being presented as part of the effort to provide helpful information to people who have Asthma, Bronchitis, Emphysema and/or Coal Worker's pneumoconiosis.

The following article is one excerpt from the educational materials that is being presented to individuals attending one of the Better Breathing Clinics of Southwest Virginia. Chronic respiratory illnesses are a significant and growing health problem in Southwest Virginia. The purpose of these articles and the clinics is to help inform individuals with lung diseases about their illness and to help make them feel better.

Do you sometimes feel you can't get a really good breath? Do you huff and puff when you work or climb stairs? Do you awaken at night and feel breathless? When this happens you may become nervous and try to breathe faster. When this happens more air is trapped in the lungs, and then you feel worse.

Don't gasp for air, try these few steps:

a. Relax. Let your neck and shoulders droop, b. Breathe slowly, c. Purse your lips in a whistling position and blow out slowly. Try to make the exhalation twice as long as the inhalation. d. Relax and repeat the pursed-lip breathing until you no longer feel breathless. If you get dizzy rest for a few breaths.

Practice this technique several times a day. Make pursed-lip breathing a habit. Use pursed-lip breathing anytime you do things that make you short of breath, such as climbing stairs, bathing, or doing house work. If during the night you have spells of shortness of breath, sit upright with your feet flat on the floor and do pursed-lip breathing until you feel better.

The reason for this technique is because of trapped, stale air in your lungs. Before you can breathe fresh air in, you have to clear out the old air. This is often hard to do because of clogged narrow air passages or damaged sacs deep in your lungs, or both. When you breathe out slowly through pursed-lips you keep an equal air pressure in your airways. This helps them stay open so that you can breathe out more stale air.

This article has been presented with the help of the Better Breathing Clinic Of Southwest Virginia, in conjunction with a Black Lung grant administered in association with the Virginia's Department of Health.

For more information about upcoming classes in the Lee County area, contact, Brenda Ewing at Lee County Community Hospital at 546-1440. Monday thru Friday from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

Dispersed Camping Regulations Explained

Many hunters have called the Clinch Ranger District office to ask about the rules and regulations on camping outside developed camping areas in the Jefferson National Forest.

The following rules and regulations apply to the Clinch Ranger District (Scott, Lee, Wise, Dickenson Counties):

Camping is usually permitted in the National Forest unless a restriction is posted. Examples of restricted areas are: areas under permit, roads, timber sale areas, and administrative sites.

---Campfire users are required to clear all material from a circle six foot in diameter, attend the fire at all times and extinguish it completely before leaving

Dead trees must be used for firewood.

Vehicles must remain on established roads or within the area established for dispersed camping.

---Garbage, litter, waste, etc. is required to be removed from the camping area and disposed of properly.

---Backpack camping is one of the more popular recreational uses of the National Forests nation wide. It is encouraged on the Clinch Ranger District

"Hunters and others who wish to rough it out by camping in undeveloped areas of the Clinch District are welcome to do so We want them to use common sense rules in protecting and maintaining the beauty of these areas", a Forest Service Spokesperson stated

Good-bye, bifocals... Hello, good-looking!
ULTRAVUE™ Lenses are an optically superior multifocal lens with no telltale line across the middle.
— Like bifocals, there's a correction for closeup and a correction for distance.
— But unlike bifocals, there's a connecting corridor of changing magnification that allows you to see clearly throughout the middle distances.
So, when you're looking at your car's speedometer, or supermarket shelf prices, there are no more near to far magnification adjustments and no more mid-range blur.

33rd Tobacco Festival Attended By Thousands

Again for the 33rd year Lee County residents lined the streets of Pennington Gap for the Tobacco Festival parade. The Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of this event considers the turnout of the thousands of people their way of saying "thank you" for their efforts that took months of planning, and replanning before this annual event could climax.

Pennington Gap High School band led the mile long parade with 14 floats, antique cars, marching units and 10 area high school bands, along with some of the candidates seeking office next week. The parade route was from the elementary school to the high school along Morgan Avenue.

Floats were judged in three categories, "Beauty", "Originality" and "In Keeping With the Occasion." Winners in each category received $100 in

Little Matthew Huff, son of Gary and Sue Huff of Woodway needs a Healthdyne Monitor that costs $1500

In a conversation with a Kingsport physician, he explained to Barbara Ashburn, the need for monitors is not new, but what is new is the fact we now know how to save our babies.

Please help, send your tax deductible donations to March of Dimes and mail to Barbara Ashburn, P. O. Box 132, Pennington Gap, Va 24277.

Oil Well Capped

The men work feverishly to cap the oil well before it gushes again. The well was gushing every eight minutes and would gush for about two minutes. Production has been maintained at the 350 barrels per day pace. The crew will soon be ready to start drilling their fifth well ... they are four for four and five for five would be even better.

A tractor and trailer load of oil is ready to roll. The oil well has been capped and production has been maintained at 350 barrels a day.

The Pennington Gap Fire Department as well as Rescue Squad were on hand last Tuesday evening while the oil well was being capped.

Jury Convicts Herring

A Lee County jury retired at 12 noon on Friday, October 23, and, with only one short break about five o'clock, returned at 6:20 p.m. to announce a "guilty of first degree murder" verdict to R.L. Herring.

The nine-day trial in Lee County Circuit Court at Jonesville, which had at times been tedious, and at other times animated and humorous, ended in solemn silence as the verdict was read. The defendant, his defense lawayer, and the prosecution alike showed no emotion as though they were all prepared for either possible outcome. Polling of the jury affirmed each member's decision.

Herring, a Albany, Georgia man was sentenced to 20 years in prison for the alleged contract killing of his "business associate" David M. Hill of Swainsboro, Georgia. Herring is already serving a 10 year sentence in a federal prison for bankruptcy fraud and racketeering.

Before the jury retired, Commonwalth Attorney Cynthia Kinser asked the jurors to "try only this case," and to not let the alleged "big conspiracy" argument of government involvement mislead them (the jurors) from the real issue of murder. She very carefully discussed the events of December 19-21, 1977 leading up to the murder and then through the alleged January 5, 1978 final pay-off, her argument supported by tapes of telephone calls, telephone

★ ★ VOTE ★ ★

The end of the campaign for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General and House Senate is less than a week away. Tuesday, November 3, election day, the polls will open at 6:00 A.M. and close at 7:00 P.M. giving all Lee Countians the opportunity to vote for the leaders of Virginia's government for the next four years.

There have been many personal appearances, newspapers have printed columns of information on the candidates plus many editorials, so the 12,178 voters in Lee County should be well informed as to the abilities of all candidates, when they close the curtain of the voting booth.

We, the registered voters of Lee County and Virginia should never neglect the rights given by our constitution to go to the polls and vote. If you are unable to be at your voting precinct in person Tuesday, Saturday, October 31 the Lee County Registrar will sit at the registrar's office in Jonesville Courthouse from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. for the purpose of accepting applications for absentee ballots.

Four years ago (1977) when our present governing body for Virginia were elected 13,626 residents of Lee County were registered to vote, only 6366 of those registered voted, that is only 46.7 percent. Why don't more of our Lee Countians vote?

Remember, Lee County is yours and mine, VOTE, we are the southwest corner, where Virginia begins. We count too.

HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS FROM UNICEF

1. Never Trick-or-Treat alone. Go with a friend or in a group. Remember: Trick-or-Treating's more fun when there's more than one!
2. When Trick-or-Treating in an unfamiliar neighborhood, have at least one adult accompany your group. Remember: Grown-ups are people too, take one Trick-or-Treating this Halloween. You'll be glad you did.
3. Avoid Trick-or-Treating after dark. Decorate your costume with reflective tape so motorists can see you at twilight. Don't make the hospital one of your stops on this Halloween, Trick-or-Treat till the sun goes down.
4. Never walk along dark roads or wear masks that block your view of oncoming cars. Even if you're not a "ghost," you might be "invisible" to drivers, so stick to the sidewalk for safety.
5. Practice walking around the house in your costume before Trick-or-Treating. Fix any dangling ends that may cause you to trip or lose your balance. Your outfit should be scary and safe.
6. Keep your UNICEF collection carton in your Trick-or-Treat bag or use a piece of string to hang it around your neck while walking. Always keep one hand free for better balance.
7. Be careful when Trick-or-Treating around pets, scary costumes can frighten them too. Avoid bites and scratches by steering clear of dogs and cats, even those you know.
8. Never eat any unwrapped candy or fruit before letting your parents examine it at home. When in doubt, throw it out.
9. If you see someone causing trouble or damaging other people's property, stop at the nearest house and ask them to notify the police. Make this Halloween more treats than tricks, don't have fun at other people's expense.
10. Eating too much candy at once can make you sick. It's important to brush your teeth and have regular dental check-ups. Take care of your teeth, your smile will love you for it!

Questions & Answers

Q. Is using my correct Social Security number all that important? After all, my name and address is on the return.

A. The correct Social Security number IS that important -- it is the principal means of identifying taxpayers. However, if there is a problem with your Social Security number - you're not sure of it, or you lost your card and don't remember the number -- only the Social Security Administration, not IRS, can issue the correct number or verify the accuracy of the one that you believe is yours.

Plain Talk About IRA's

Are you missing out on a tax break? You might be if you are one of the tens of millions of employed people who are not a part of an organized retirement or profit-sharing plan. If you fall in that group, you could be putting money away in a tax-deferred Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

And starting next year, your savings could increase. The new tax package just signed into law not only increases the amount you can invest by $500, it also will allow almost everyone who is employed to take advantage of IRA's. But you don't have to wait. If you are not part of a retirement plan and are eligible for an IRA in 1981, you should take advantage of this chance to invest for your future -- and you have until April 15, 1982, to do so.

When you start your own Individual Retirement Account, this year you can invest 15 percent of your salary or $1,500, whichever is less. Taxes are deferred on the money invested until you start to draw it from the account after you reach age 59½. Usually by then, your taxes will be lower because your income will be lower.

If you are a non-working spouse, you can also participate in an IRA, providing your working spouse puts half of the annual IRA contribution into your separate account. In this case, the total amount contributed to both accounts cannot be more than 15 percent of the working spouse's salary or $1,750, whichever is less.

There are a number of different ways you can invest your IRA funds: flexible annuity contracts sold by insurance companies; savings accounts, certificates of deposit, and time deposit open accounts through banks, savings and loans, and credit unions; mutual fund shares, stocks; and special government retirement bonds. There are advantages and disadvantages to each type.

Flexible annuity contracts in most cases cannot be converted in the early years to another type of account without losing much of your investment. Certificates of deposit and time deposit open accounts have high interest, but there is generally a penalty for early withdrawal. Savings accounts and U.S. Individual Retirement Bonds are flexible, but the interest is low. Stocks and mutual funds are flexible, but you have to pay trustee and/or brokerage fees, and the values of your investment is tied to what is happening on Wall Street.

So shop around before you sign on the dotted line. Read the disclosure statements. Find out what fees you have to pay. Ask about any penalties for early withdrawal of investments in case you want to switch investment plans. And if you decide to switch, make sure you either have the money transferred directly (for instance, the bank puts the money directly into a mutual fund), or hold the money no more than 60 days before reinvesting it. Otherwise you could end up paying a whopping tax penalty.

To learn more about IRA's, call your local office of the Internal Revenue Service. They are listed in the White Pages under "Tax Information."

Meet "Elusive Louie Lupus"

My name is "Elusive Louis Lupus" and I'm mean My real name is Lupus Erythematosus But I prefer to be called by my nickname, because it so aptly describes my nature (sneaky and vicious)

Lupus is a Latin word meaning wolf - - that's me all right - I really go for the ladies. Eighty five percent of my victims are women of childbearing age I take great pride in my success with the women. However, I am not limited. If a man gets in my way, I will attack him with the same vicious intent to kill Neither is it beneath me to claim a child for a victim. I'm very versatile, wouldn't you agree?

Actually, I'm most proud of the "Elusive" part of my nickname This portion came about for several reasons First of all, I have managed to avoid publicity since I was first recognized in the 19th century (Now I think it's time to give me the credit I'm due!) Second, I have been a mystery and challenge to the medical profession because of my extremely varied symptoms and my remarkable resemblance in symptoms to other diseases. Pretty sneaky, huh? Sometimes doctors misdiagnose me and I become extremely angry for not having gotten the credit. On the other hand, I'm also delighted because a misdiagnosis gives me the opportunity to carry on with my villainous activity Third, I have managed to baffle researchers all these years Although these researchers believe they are making progress at this time, I can still boast that both my cause and cure are unknown How's that for being elusive? And last, but not by any means least, there is my famous elusive way with my victims I keep them guessing with my inconsistency One day I may decide to rest and let them feel fairly good (sometimes I even allow them a remission of a year or more!) Then, when they least expect me - ZAP!

I zero in causing generalized aching, weakness, malaise, fatigue low-grade fever, chills, chest pains, joint swelling and stiffness, and rashes. I'm even capable of making their hair fall out! What a bag of tricks to pull from

In other words, once I claim a victim for my own, I can slip into and out of their lives at will Although in my systemic form I concentrate on the connective tissues of the body where I reap havoc. I also have a milder form called discoid In the victims of this milder form, I create a "butterfly rash" which spreads from the cheek across the bridge of the nose to the other cheek I'm quite artistic, you know I chose the butterfly in keeping with my overall theme of elusiveness Wasn t that a clever choice?

Well, now that you know me a little better, what do you think of me? Destructive? You bet! I have over 500,000 victims and will claim approximately 5,000 lives in the next year - not to mention another 50,000 victims Remember my name 'Elusive Louie Lupus" (alias Lupus Erythematosus) because it's high time I took a few bows. You'll be hearing about me

"Today's Research Is Tomorrow's Hope"

In an age when most people are faced almost daily with requests for contributions from many worthwhile organizations, the Lupus Foundation remains relatively unknown. Yet Lupus is more common than Musuclar Dystrophy, Multiple Sclerosis, Leukemia.

Lupus Erythematosus is a disease of the connective tissue, the vital binding substance that cements body cells together in much the same way that mortar cements the bricks of a house. There are two forms of Lupus, a milder form known as the discoid type which affects the skin, and the more perilous form known as the systemic type. Systemic Lupus ranges from mild to deadly serious and may attack any organ of the body. Lupus can strike anyone at any age, however 85 percent of the cases occur in females between the ages of 10 and 40. It is incurable at this time, but many scientists across the country are working to resolve this matter and much progress is being made.

Yet the disease remains little known to the general public, and until only recently many doctors were unfamiliar with its symptoms and treatment. We are an all Volunteer Agency. Our purpose is to spread its awareness, promote the best medical care for Lupus victims and raise funds for continuing research.

Your contribution toward our cause will be greatly appreciated.

How Parents Can Help Their Child Be What He Or She Wants To Be

In the November issue of PTA TODAY, the journal of the National PTA, Deal L. Hummel, career education expert, outlines, "how parents can help their child plan for a satisfying career."

Since an individual's identity is tied very closely to the work he or she does, career planning is vitally important in a child's development. "I believe parents are the greatest potential helpers in their children's career planning--if and when they know how to help," says Hummel, a professor of counselor education at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University and author of a book and numerous articles on career planning.

Career development experts say children progress through three phases in their career development In the FANTASY PHASE (prior to age 11) the child thinks he can do anything and does. He has no concept of reality. He can become a cowboy, an astronaut or a movie star. Parents should listen to the child's expression of dreams and engage in the child's games as he acts out various jobs. In the TENTATIVE PHASE (age 11 17) when children are trying out their decision-making skills, parents should accept their child as a growing person with strengths and weaknesses. For example, a child may want to join the French club while his parents want him to join Junior Achievement, they should be supportive of his decision. During the REALISTIC PHASE (age 17 young adulthood) when the young person makes choices based on reality factors (available education, job requirements) and his own capabilities, parents should be aware that the idea of traditional male/female occupations is disappearing. Girls can become medical doctors; boys-nurses.

"The three phases are consistent with the modern school's attempt to provide career learning activities for students," says Hummel. Schools offer career awareness at the elementary level, career exploration at the middle/junior high level and career preparation in senior high. The formal career learning activity is the "prevocational" course such as industrial arts, home economics and introductory courses in agriculture and business.

Side-by-side with the regular curriculum, schools often provide other activities and clubs where students can develop their interests and skills. Clubs like the Future Teachers of America or the chess, drama and debate clubs provide students with the opportunity to develop leadership and "people" skills which will be useful in their later careers.

Hummel offers in PTA TODAY a checklist for parents on how to support the school's efforts in career education by encouraging the child in his work/career exploration at home. He suggests that parents

.relate to jobs and things a child likes to do even when the parents have no experience in those fields;

.provide their child with materials (books, games) which will try out his job skills, interests and abilities;

.act as career models and introduce their child to other vocations outside the parents' field of work,

.allow their child to try out work experiences which the parents may not like themselves.

According to Hummel, parents "can learn how to help, and join others (counselors and teachers) in helping, their children in their quest to become what they are capable of becoming."

Local Man Wins Fifth Pro Fight

Barry Audia of Pennington Gap won his fifth professional fight against no defeats this past weekend. Audia stopped Ed Harris at the end of the fifth round of the light middle weight fight

"I knocked him down in the fifth round with a left hook," said Audia, who knocked Harris out in the third round last August. "His corner called it quits He couldn't answer the bell for the sixth round."

Audia's record is raising a few eyebrows and national exposure may come his way soon. Audia may have a bout in November or December on the ESPN network, possibly out of Atlantic City, N.J

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir,

Everyone who missed the redistricting hearing on October 7 missed a good show. It was a real sham. Advertised in your paper for 10 a.m., the supervisors only discussed regular business until recess at 11:40 a.m.

The meeting reminded me of an elementary school classroom. At least the supervisors acted that way. Officials elected to represent us and the best interests of Lee County did not even resemble a governing body.

It would have been funny if the business had not been important to most of the audience, who were there for different reasons.

I, along with several others, was there to protest the redistricting plan, which puts half of Dryden in another district. I live only 900 feet from my present polling place, but this could cause me to have to travel 7-10 miles in order to vote.

The Dryden group was "promised" by "our" supervisor that he would not let this happen, because he couldn't afford to lose half of his friends in Dryden, but the meeting was recessed until 2 p.m. anyway.

In the hallway, the county official (not a supervisor) told us we would have a new polling place, but "our" supervisor said it wouldn't be that way. We would vote where we always had. We later learned that this "other county official" had helped draw the new district lines, but he denied it.

Some of us in the Dryden group had to leave because of the time and pressing matters. I trusted a promise, but promises easily made are easily broken. When the hearing finally got under way, Dryden was split exactly as had been planned. The supervisors didn't do the planning, but they did approve it. Courthouse officials rule, the supervisors don't. You know who does their homework.

The supervisors also failed to take action on school improvement. Could be because a better and equal education in Lee County could make better leaders.

I am not political, and I didn't name names in this letter, but this is the way we are governed, if you can call it "government" in Lee County. Before this, I never thought I could do the job of a county supervisor. Now I know I could.

Sincerely,
Richard Hayes

Dear Editor:

I must take this opportunity to remind residents of Virginia that the deadline for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the Constitution is June 30, 1982, only eight months away. Despite emotional banter over many years, the text of the ERA is relatively simple:

Section 1. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any State on account of sex.

Section 2. The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of the article.

Section 3. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification.

The ERA's basic principle is that sex should not be a factor in determining legal rights for anyone. Contrary to popular belief, women still do not enjoy the same Constitutional protection as men. Court decisions have declined to protect women, even under the Fourteenth Amendment. The U. S. Civil Rights Commission has shown there are 800 Federal laws which treat men and women differently. Also, a woman's rights vary considerably from state to state. The ERA would provide basic protection for all American women.

Many Americans still regard the ERA as the brainchild of the "Women's Liberation" movement which began in the sixties. Actually, the Amendment was first introduced in Congress in 1923, three years after the suffrage amendment was ratified. The ERA was endorsed by the Republican Party in 1940 and by the Democratic Party in 1944. After the House of Representatives and the Senate passed the ERA in 1971 and 1972, respectively, the Amendment was then sent to the states for ratification.

By 1977, 35 states had ratified. Only three more are needed. Let's proudly make Virginia one of them. Write your Congressmen and let them know your views. And contact the Virginia Ratification Council, 6 North 5th St., Richmond, 23219, for more advice.

Sincerely,
M.E. Baptiste

Letter To The Editor:

The Lee County Rescue Squad would like to take this opportunity to thank the people who came out and supported the Lee County Rescue Squad for our country music show. It was a very good day for the parade. The weather held out long enough for the parade to be held.

Also we would like to thank Roger Cogdon of the Pennington Pizza Hut for the fine evening meal that he served us and the people of the country music show.

I think that the gentlemen on the parade committee deserve a thank you for the fine job they did. They are Roger Cogdon, Alex Perkins, and Daniel Morrison who did a fine job along with the Chamber of Commerce. Also thanks to Gary Riggs of WSWV and the Powell Valley News.

I would also like to thank Birg Sergent for the car we used in the parade and Myers Lumber Co. for the truck.

Watch this paper for hopefully a bigger country music show not too far from now.

Thanks,

Dear Sir,

The HELP Committee, Inc. would like to thank all the people attending the meeting of the Lee County School Board and the Lee County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday, October 13 concerning the Farmer's Home Administration 601 energy impact grant for the purchase and preparation of a school site.

It was encouraging to see approximately forty people taking time during the working hours of the day to attend the meeting. Many more people need to show their concern about the school system so that our elected and appointed representatives will begin to consider education to be a top priority.

Again, thank you, for showing your concern and interest in the education of children.

Janet S. Hays
Vice-President
HELP Committee, Inc.

Family Notes

By Betty Jean Moore

Virginia Tech Extension Service agents provide continuing education - programs, information, services - for everyone. Miss Moore is with the Lee County office at 346-1522.

Here are some tips for safer trick or treating.

1. A parent should always accompany young children on their rounds. If a group is going out together, a responsible adult should follow to let people know that the youngsters are chaperoned.

2. The "cranks," people who dislike children, are usually well known to the community. Children should be told to stay away from these particular homes.

3. Review pedestrian safety rules before they leave home. Dusk, the time when most children are out, is particularly hazardous. Remind them: cross only at corners; wait on the curb for the green light; look both ways before crossing; walk on sidewalks, not roads.

4. Urge children to stay in their own neighborhood where they are known. Tell them to avoid homes that are dark or dimly lit; people who welcome Halloweeners generally leave lights on for them.

5. Never put candle-lit pumpkins outside where they can be knocked over accidentally. If neighbors have placed such jack-o-lanterns outside in the past, suggest they move them to a safer spot indoors. Never use candles in papier mache or plastic pumpkins or other such home decorations.

6. Set a time limit for trick or treating. About one hour is sufficient for ages up to 13. Older children also should be told when to be home. Let them know special refrehments await them when they do get home.

7. Emphasize to the children that they are not to eat any of the goodies they collect until they get home. Examine carefully everything they receive; discard anything unpackaged or with wrappings which seem to have been undone or are torn. Wash and cut fruit into small pieces. Unwrap packaged candies to check each piece.

Have a safe and very happy Halloween!

Concert Tuesday At Powell Valley High School

Pianist, composer, conductor Earl Rose will be presented in concert at the Powell Valley High School Auditorium in Big Stone Gap, on Tuesday evening, November 3, at 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Rose brings to his concerts a performance which is as diverse and exciting as the many activities of his musical career. He divides his time among solo and symphonic guest appearances, acting on many occasions as the assistant music conductor for the NBC Tonight Show, and composing, arranging and co-producing many featured songs for the Emmy Award winning CBS "Captain Kangaroo" television series. He has also composed the highly acclaimed score and title song for "Thin Ice," a CBS TV Movie of the Week starring Kate Jackson and Lillian Gish and has appeared on numerous television shows including a recent guest appearance on the daytime series "Another World."

Born and raised in New York City, Earl Rose began his classical piano studies at the age of seven. He graduated from the Mannes College of Music and also attended UCLA, the Vienna Academy of Music, and the Juilliard School, where he studied conducting. It was during his college years that he discovered and became influenced by jazz and popular music.

In concert Earl Rose offers varied and inventive arrangements which incorporate music from the classics to the most current trends in popular music. With such impressive credits, Mr. Rose promises to bring the audience the best of all musical worlds.

This concert is the second of the 1981-1982 series for the Lonesome Pine Community Concert Association. Membership tickets are to be presented at the door.

A special message to the area voters who will determine the character, direction, and quality of Virginia's leadership for the next four years:

Five reasons we believe Lieutenant Governor Charles S. Robb is clearly the one right choice for governor in this November's election.

VIRGINIANS FOR ROBB

1. Charles Robb will protect our conservative fiscal traditions.
He has promised to work cooperatively with the conservative General Assembly to avoid tax increases, but he has courageously refused to seek votes by pledging to veto any new tax. Charles Robb understands that the full impact of reduced federal revenues, inflation, and high interest rates cannot be responsibly predicted now for the next four years.

2. Charles Robb will be an outstanding spokesman for more new jobs.
He's ready to go to work for 50,000 new jobs a year, with a remarkable 120-point plan for economic development. And with his national prominence in the business community, he'll see that American industry gets Virginia's message—so Virginians get the jobs.

3. Charles Robb will fight rising crime rates with 60 tough proposals.
His comprehensive program to promote swift, sure punishment includes provisions for stiffer criteria for bail, tougher sentences for repeat offenders, a crackdown on criminals using firearms, and intensified prosecution of hard drug dealers.

4. Charles Robb will continue to support every Virginian's right to work.
He has consistently upheld our right-to-work law, both as a fundamental freedom and an important new business incentive. He has just as consistently opposed collective bargaining for public employees. And he will stand by both of those positions as governor.

5. Charles Robb will provide the leadership which is the real issue of this campaign.
In spite of strong efforts by Charles Robb's opponent to turn the election into a referendum on President Reagan and ride into office on the President's coattails, the only real issue is leadership for Virginia. One of two men will be governor for the next four years. That is what this election is all about.

If you share our concern for the possible outcome of this year's election, we urge you join us and support the one candidate who is honestly in step with the traditions, the hopes, and the needs of Virginia today: Charles Robb, for governor, November 3!

Congressman BILL WAMPLER Reports from Washington

As part of the consideration of the 1981 Omnibus Farm bill, the fate of the Federal tobacco poundage control and price support program became an issue by virtue of an Amendment introduced on the Floor without benefit of Committee hearings or investigation. This was a matter of grave concern to me, and to small family farmers all across America.

The Amendment would have wiped out this money making, successful farm program at the expense of the 171,000 small family farmers and their families who are engaged in tobacco production. The elimination of this program would mean that few of these farmers could survive when forced to compete with the unrestricted production capabilities of highly mechanized corporate farms.

Opponents of the tobacco program argued that we were offering a costly subsidy to farmers who grow tobacco. Anyone who understands the program knows that this is simply untrue. The Federal program is a revolving loan fund for growers – and the growers even pay interest on the loans they receive for tobacco bought by the fund. In fact, the tobacco program is the most successful of all the Federal commodity programs.

Opponents also argued that eliminating this program would save the Government money. I suggest that if this program was eliminated, it would cost the Government money. The Federal tobacco program enables a large number of small farms to collectively and equitably stabilize the supply and price of tobacco to prevent a boom and bust economy that few small farmers could survive.

In Southwestern Virginia the average allotment of tobacco is less than one acre. These are small farmers, they are not large wealthy farmers. This is, in many cases, their sole source of cash income. If Congress had succeeded in taking that away from them, then they would be candidates for public assistance.

I would not be supporting this program if it had been a drain on the government. It simply has not been the case. During the forty years it has been in operation, the tobacco program has seen more than 80 billion pounds of tobacco move through the system and 7.7 billion pounds taken under loan. The more than $6 billion in Commodity Credit Corporation loans have been repaid, with less than one-half of one percent loss to the government. These sales have generated in excess of $80 billion in Federal taxes. In addition, sales of American tobacco abroad have netted the United States more than $1 billion annually in recent years, favorably affecting our balance of payments.

In the near future, the House Committee on Agriculture should undoubtedly take a good look at the tobacco program, with an eye toward making any needed adjustments. For the time being, however, commonsense and economic sense are on the side of the tobacco program, and I am glad that Congress defeated the untimely attempt to scuttle it.

Preparing Children For The World Of Work

"What do you want to be when you grow up?" This is a question parents ask their children by the time they learn to talk. The November issue of PTA Today, the journal of the National PTA, explores the many issues facing concerned parents regarding the future career decisions of their children.

Deal L. Hummel, professor of counselor education, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University offers advice on how parents can begin now to help their children plan for a satisfying career. According to Hummel, "parents can become effective counselors and proficient consultants in using career information resources to help their children struggle to achieve identity through career development."

Forecasting future labor needs, Gene Bottoms, executive director of the American Vocational Association reports that "there will be an average of 5.5 million job openings annually through 1990. Nearly 20 million of these jobs will be new." Dr. Bottoms lists the fastest growing jobs and the jobs with the most job openings and emphasizes the need for skilled and technically trained workers.

Articles written by Carl D. Perkins, chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, U.S. House of Representatives and Robert Worthington, assistant secretary for vocational and adult education, U.S. Department of Education, stress the need for parental involvement in vocational education in this decade. According to Representative Perkins, "public vocational education today serves about 17.2 million Americans. The need and demand for vocational training has mushroomed and will continue to grow."

A program guide is also featured, complete with a list of references, resources and program suggestions for assisting parents in guiding their children to their career choice.

SEND CONGRESS ONE OF THESE. IT COULD BE ONE OF THE KEYS TO LOWERING INTEREST RATES AND UNLOCKING THE ECONOMY.

Why send a key to Congress? To dramatize your frustration with an economic policy that keeps interest rates high.

These three proposals, we feel, could be the latchkey that opens the way to a healthy economy.

1. The President and the Congress hold the budget deficit to under $42.5 billion in fiscal 1982. Balance the budget in fiscal 1984.

2. The Federal Reserve Board to allow the money supply to increase at the higher end of its monetary targets to accommodate economic growth and stability.

3. The president to appoint a non-banking, small-business representative to fill the first vacancy on the Federal Reserve Board.

The Administration, the Congress, the Federal Reserve Board can no longer ask the public to accept the economic hardships resulting from the devastating cost of money.

It stifles economic growth. It increases the deficit. It reduces employment. It prevents expansion. And it depresses national spirit.

You can show how you feel about high interest rates by sending a key to your people in Congress. Any key will do. A house key. A car or a truck key. An office key.

These keys signify the ravages of tight money and high interest rates. Your key would be symbolic of the home you couldn't buy. The new car or truck you needed but had to put off buying. The bankrupt business whose doors you were forced to close.

So send Congress your tired, your battered, your worn-out keys. Attach yours to the coupon below and send it to Congress today. Your cooperation may be the key to lower interest rates.

Average American Ate 1,402 Pounds Of Food Last Year

The average American ate 1,402 pounds of food last year but paid proportionately less for it than in 1960, according to a recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study.

Consumer expenditures climbed 319 percent from 1960 to 1980 but, proportionately, food gained less than other items in the consumer's budget. In 1960, about 20 cents of each dollar of disposable income went for food. Last year, food took about 16 cents of the disposable dollar, the survey showed.

In the last 20 years, shifts in consumption patterns affected many products. Consumption of frozen orange juice, for example, increased 98 percent, from 4.6 pounds per capita in 1960 to 9.1 pounds last year. Beef consumption per capita was up 21 percent, from 64.3 to 78.1 pounds. Beef consumption has been dropping each year since 1976 when it hit a record 96.7 pounds per capita.

Chicken consumption also gained dramatically going from 27.8 pounds per person in 1960 to 51.2 pounds in 1980 -- an 84 percent increase. The biggest gainer was cheese, going from 8.3 pounds per capita to 17.9, an increase of 116 percent.

But some foods lost ground. Potatoes dropped from 80.4 pounds per person in 1960 to 44.4 in 1980, a loss of 45 percent. Egg consumption declined 17 percent, from 42.4 pounds per capita in 1960 to 35.4 twenty years later.

All fluid milk consumption decreased from 290 pounds per capita in 1960 to 243 per pound last year. Other losers were sugar, down 12 percent, and fresh peaches, down 38 percent.

Food Poisoning Often Blamed Incorrectly

"Food poisoning is often incorrectly blamed for attacks of common gastro-intestinal upsets," says Dr. G.C. Honeycutt, Jr.

"Frequently, the Lee County Health Department receives calls from distressed diners who complain that they were served 'bad food'. Actually intestinal discomfort can occur from many causes including viral infections, intolerance to certain types and amounts of unusual foods, even nervousness.

"Even so," says Dr. Honeycutt, "it is important to the public health of a community for us to determine whether or not a call is a false alarm or the first wave of a food-borne disease outbreak."

The Lee County Health Department has two sanitarians who regularly inspect the area's thirty-two restaurants. In addition, they are trained to investigate food-borne diseases and they can call on the expertise of state Health Department specialists, if needed

When what may be a food borne incident occurs, the health department's first step is to determine which food item was the culprit. The only way to determine this is to interview as many as possible who ate at the suspected site near the time the first ill person ate. By this method, officials try to learn two things, first, did anyone else get sick, and second, did the sick people eat common foods?

If one or several food items can be identified as possible sources, detailed inquiry is made into how they were prepared, stored, and served. Laboratory tests will be performed, if necessary.

There are many disease-producing agents that are food-borne. Roughly they are divided into four groups:

(1) The most common type of food poisoning is that caused by the toxin of the staphylococcus. The bacteria which causes pimples or boils is very widely distributed, and can be found on the skin or in the noses of healthy people. A person handling or preparing food can infect the food, and allow the staphylococcus to grow by failing to heat or properly refrigerate the food afterward. Once the toxin has been made, most cooking temperatures will not destroy it. Usually the onset of symptoms begins less than six hours after the food is consumed, and lasts for a day or less. Foods commonly contaminated in this way are mayonnaise or meat salads, cream pies, and custards.

(2) Bacteria without toxins such as salmonella and shigella cause food poisoning because they grow in the intestinal tract very freely, and not because they make toxins. The bacteria may get into foods through improper handling after cooking, from contaminated cutting boards or from human carriers. If the contaminated food is not reheated adequately, the person eating the food is infected and gets sick 12 to 36 hours later.

(3) Botulism is caused by a bacteria that only survives in the absence of oxygen, one of a group of bacteria called anaerobes These bacteria are found in human and animal intestinal tracts. They do not cause trouble unless they have an opportunity to grow to large numbers. To do this, they must find an airless area with temperatures such as may be found in a jar, a pot or can. Almost all cases of botulism occur as the result of improperly controlled canning of foods, particularly meats, mushrooms, and sauces.

(4) Another source of food poisoning is the accidental inclusion of chemicals into foods or beverages. These include food additives as well as the accidental inclusion of poisonous materials such as arsenic, cadmium and fluoride compounds.

Preparing food adjacent to where these chemicals are stored or used is the most common reason for this type of poisoning. Chemical poisoning causes symptoms quickly after ingestion, nausea and vomiting being the most prominent.

Dr. Honeycutt said, "Most food borne diseases can be controlled by time and temperature. Time and temperature control is the length of time foods are held at temperatures that permit rapid multiplication of micro-organisms and the growth of toxin. Cold foods must be kept cold - at temperatures no higher than 40 degrees Farenheit. Hot foods must be kept hot - at least 150 degrees Farenheit. Observing these guidelines and following the principles of sanitary preparation and storage of food with emphasis on clean work areas and utensils are among the things sanitarians look for when inspecting public eating places.

The Lee County Health Department not only investigates food-borne disease outbreaks, but helps to assure their prevention by providing technical assistance and training to food service personnel. The Department also advises food managers and restaurant owners in sanitary methods and practices

"Though food-borne illnesses are seldom fatal, they can be more dangerous to the elderly, those with chronic disease, and the very young These people should seek medical attention quickly if they suspect food poisoning," says Dr. Honeycutt.

Keep Your Child From Choking

Halloween brings ghosts, goblins and, sometimes, real danger. The American Lung Association warns about one danger for children -- the risk of choking on holiday treats such as candy corn, hard candy, and peanuts.

At Halloween, children go door-to door "begging". Parents should insist youngsters bring the goodies home for inspection. For the youngest - two, three or even four years old -- some of the candy can be divided or mashed before eating.

The chewing and swallowing muscles of young children may not be sufficiently developed to cope with certain treats. Choking can result. Halloween goodies also may "go down the wrong way," and lodge in the lung instead of the stomach. This is called aspiration. A "foreign object" of any kind in the lung can cause life long problems. At times, surgery for removal is required.

The best warning is: Be sure children are old enough to chew and swallow correctly before trusting them with small, hard bits of food. Parents should always be on guard against "small objects" getting into the hands of children. Particularly those young enough to want to put everything into their mouths. Choking, blocked air passages, even aspiration into the lung can result.

Moreover, such items as eyes and buttons that might come loose from dolls, or wheels from toy cars. Set a good example. Don't put anything but food into your own mouth. Keep the coffee table clear of small objects a child might reach for ... and ask your lung association for the leaflet: "Keep Your Child From Choking."

If you have a workbench vise that is worn from long use, don't despair. The thread action can be tightened by merely stretching a screen-door spring around the stationary jaw and hooking the ends to the rear corner

Single Parents Group Organizes

Are you a single parent? Do you sometimes wonder how other single parents cope with the everyday problems of maintaining a home, raising children, and holding down a job? You aren't the only one--single parents are getting together as a Single Parents Support Group.

The group has formed out of a need felt by clients and staff of Women's Work World, to share their problems and ideas. Objectives of the group were started recently at a meeting in the Jonesville office of Women's Work World. Brenda Anderson, Coordinator of the Jonesville office, said, "I'm interested in meeting and talking with other single parents to remind myself that I'm not the only one facing this. It helps to know that I'm not alone

"I hope I can learn from other single parents how they managed to raise their children," added Bridgett McCoo. "We can help each other out with emotional support in times of crisis, "said Lynnette Stuart. "Our children can benefit from the meeting the children of other single parents. Some social activities would be great."

One plan in the works is a Single Parent of the Year contest, using nominations from the support group to select an individual to be featured in local newspapers and the newsletter of Women's Work World

The first meeting of the Single Parents Support Group will be on Wednesday, November 18 at the Women's Work World office above the Mutual Pharmacy on Wood Avenue in Big Stone Gap.

Bring your lunch, and join us between 10 am and 2 pm If you can't make it during the day, but would like to be part of a similar group to meet in the evening or in Jonesville, please call the office at 523-4961 or 346 2443.

Block Grants Discussions Scheduled

Block grant, their meaning and management, will dominate the discussions of Virginia county officials at the Forty-Seventh Annual Meeting of the Virginia Association of Counties scheduled for The Homestead in Hot Springs on November 8, 9 and 10.

The tone for those discussions will be set early in the three-day session with a presentation to the assembled delegates on Monday morning by Acting Director of the State Department of Planning and Budget, Ray T. Sorrell.

The local officials will be anticipating further explanation as to the "who, when, where and how much" of block grants and what will be the local government part in the decision making that establishes the new procedures.

Following the first general session on Monday, the committees on Criminal Justice, Education, Finance, General Government, Planning and Environment, and Social Services will begin their day long sessions of study and work on various proposals for state legislation that have been forwarded to VACO by county members around the state.

The committee recommendations will then be put together for approval on Tuesday by the total assembled membership. That concensus approval, in turn, will officially make up the legislative platform which VACO will present to the upcoming session of the General Assembly. One of the primary functions of the Association is to be a spokesman for counties and to assist them in their efforts to have their points of view understood and supported at the state government level.

The Annual Meeting will be on Sunday evening with a reception and a banquet. The featured speaker will be Richard Conder, President of the National Association of Counties, which is the national counterpart of the state organization. NACO President Conder is a member of the Richmond County (North Carolina) Board of Commissioners and lives in Rockingham, North Carolina.

The meetings will wrap up on Tuesday, after the adoption of the proposed legislative resolutions and the election of officers for the coming year. All of the Virginia counties and the City of Suffolk are members of the Virginia Association of Counties.

Hurley Rebels Bomb Jonesville Bulldogs 35-10

The Hurley Rebels came to Jonesville this past Friday night, and had fun as they scored at will in rolling up a 35-10 win over the outmanned Jonesville Bulldogs.

Even though the Bulldogs lost big in the final score, they did enjoy the early lead as Andy Rosenbaum kicked a 35 yard field goal in the opening quarter. But it was all Hurley from then on, as the Rebels scored on a one yard jaunt by David Davis in the second quarter. Davis also scored in the same period on a 36 yard serial from the Rebel quarterback. That was just two touchdowns that Davis would score on the evening early, as he came back in the third quarter to haul in a score of a 54 yard pass play, followed up by an eight yard touchdown run.

Tim Baker who has had a good year for Jonesville carried 24 times for 154 yards, and added the Bulldogs' only touchdown on a four yard run in the last quarter.

Penalties helped the Rebels a lot as the Bulldogs were whistled for eleven infractions. Hurley now 7-1 on the year moved the ball well all night as they rolled up 315 yards of total offense, 218 on the ground. The Rebels were forced to punt only once. That one punt was good for only twelve yards. Jonesville on the other hand was held to 196 yards on the ground with Baker getting the most of them.

You can rest assured that Neil Johnson will have his Bulldogs ready come November 6th, when they travel to Pennington to clash with the Bobcats for the district crown. The Bulldogs will be in action this Friday night, while the Bobcats (a 40-0 loser to Powell Valley last Friday evening) will have an open date to prepare for the game to decide the district champion.

Powell Valley Behind Mitchell Rolls Over Pennington 40-0

The Pennington Bobcats went to Big Stone Gap last Saturday evening to lock horns with the Powell Valley Vikings. It was the Vikings homecoming game, and Powell Valley topped the evening off with a crushing 40-0 win, led by Kevin Mitchell, who is definitely headed for the big times.

Powell Valley scored in every quarter with Kevin Mitchell scoring three touchdowns on the night. He opened the scoring on a 32 yard scamper and also on a 43 yard jaunt. Both runs coming in the opening quarter. Mitchell got his last score late in the second half on a 88 yard gallop to send the Vikings up at halftime 27-0. On the evening Mitchell carried only five times and gained 201 yards. He sat out most of the second half. You can bet that Mitchell will be watched by a lot of college teams as the season winds down

Powell Valley who gained 400 yards of total offense, got it all on the ground. The Vikings didn't complete a pass but had one picked off by the Bobcats, who lost two fumbles on the evening. The Vikings were tough also on defense as they held Pennington to 91 yards of total offense, of which 84 came on the ground. Pennington who has been shut out for two straight weeks will be off this week. Get ready Bobcats, because the Bulldogs will be here barking next Friday night!

Flatwoods Eagles Fly By Keokee 48-32

On Tuesday of last week, the Flatwoods Eagles flew by Keokee's Mountaineers by the score of 48-32, on the losers court.

The winning Eagles led by eight at 14-6 after one quarter. Flatwoods stretched the lead to ten points at halftime, and then won the final quarter by a margin of six points, after a ten all third stanza.

Flatwoods had a different team leader point wise for this game. Regina Lee led all scorers with 14 points. Sheila Graham added 11, while Sherry Barber and Karen Glass, both of whom usually lead the Eagles scoring was held to eight points each. Flatwoods shot 63 3% from the free throw circle, making 12 of 19 shots.

Keokee remains winless on the year. Beverly Collins led the Mountaineers with 10 points, with Cathy Rutherford and Felicia White chipping in with eight each. The Mountaineers connected on 8 of 12 free throws for 66.8%. Keokee which has been playing with only five players most of the year, have played a few good games against some of the district teams this year, but just don't have enough girls from the small school to have any bench strength. The closest the Mountaineers have come to winning a game this year was a 56 52 loss to the Pennington Bobcats

The regular season closed yesterday for most of the district teams, and the Eagles will be hosting the district tournament beginning this coming Monday.

Thomas Walker Breezes By Keokee 83-35

In a makeup game played last week the Thomas Walker Pioneers breezed by the hapless Keokee Mountaineers 83 35.

The game was a complete rout from the beginning to the end, as the Pioneers substituted freely throughout the game. Every player for Sonny Brook's Pioneers scored in the game, which Thomas Walker won every quarter by at least a margin of eleven points. Keokee got its best quarter of the game in the third when they scored 12 points, but their defense gave up 24 to the Pioneers which was also their best scoring stanza on the night

Thomas Walker placed four players in double figures with Kim Davis showing the way with 16 points. Teresa Middleton canned 12. Janet Richmond and Pam Hensley scored 11 and 10 respectively.

Only four got into the scoring for Keokee, with Becky Adkins netting 14 and Beverly Collins 12.

The Pioneers will close out their regular season schedule tomorrow night when they travel to Gate City to take on the Blue Devils. Gate City has lost only two games so far this year, and Flatwoods was the first to beat the Blue Devils. Go get the big blue, Pioneers!

Dryden Avoid Upset By Twin Springs 32-30

The Dryden Crusaders defeated Twin Springs 32-30 last week, but had their hands full in doing so. Ever since Cheryl Reasor has been out of the lineup, the Crusaders have been pushed hard. But they keep on winning, which is all that counts.

Leading by seven points at intermissions the Crusaders saw the Titans close the gap to just three points at 23-20 to start the final period. Twin Springs won the last quarter by a 10-9 score, but fell short of the upset by two points. The Titans who shot only 22% at the charity stripe, hitting 2 of 9 shots could have won by hitting more free throws, as they beat Dryden from the field by a 28-22 score.

Dryden was held by Joyce Swain who scored 20 points. Lovie Quillen added five points. The Crusaders now 17-1 overall and 11-1 in the district, shot 50% from the free throw circle making 10 of 20 shots.

Jimmy Peters must be really happy and relieved to know that Cheryl Reasor will probably be ready to return to action by time the tournament starts. Without the play of Reasor, the Crusaders could be in trouble during the tournament, again due to being pushed to the limit since Reasor has been out of action.

Rye Cove Drops Keokee 55 -39

The Rye Cove Eagles dropped the Keokee Mountaineers last week by a score of 55 39.

The big star for Rye Cove was Neysa Osborne who gunned in 21 points to help Rye Cove boost its overall record to 6-9. Osborne was also the leader on defense as she pulled down 14 rebounds. Kim Tipton bucketed 18 points in the win.

Keokee loses their 16th game without a win. The Mountaineers were led by Beverly Collins with 18 points. Becky Adkins and Cathy Rutherford added 9 and 8 points respectively.

Keokee which will finish in the cellar this year will have to probably open the district tournament this Monday against probably Jonesville.

The Bulldogs need only a win over the Mountaineers in their final regular season game to win the district, as Dryden was upset 49-43 by Thomas Walker last Thursday night.

Twin Springs Claims 54-43 Win Over Pennington

The Jonesville Bulldogs took over first place in the district last Thursday nibht by squeaking by the Flatwoods Eagles 45-42, coupled with Thomas Walker's upset of Dryden.

The Bulldogs who were almost upset themselves, trailed to the Eagles by three after one quarter, and then fell behind by five at 26-21 at halftime. Jonesville came back to grab the lead by three in the third quarter behind the play of Dee Dee Brooks. Both teams only scored eight points each in the final eight minutes of play.

Jonesville's overall record goes to 17-2 overall, and 12-1 in district play. The Bulldogs got 28 points from Brooks, and 10 from Sharon Jerrell. No other Bulldog scored more than two points. The win clinches at least a tie for the district crown for the Bulldogs.

Flatwoods now 9-7 overall and 7-6 in the district got 12 points from Karen Glass and 10 from Brenda Graham. Sherry Barber added eight points in the losing effort. Sheila Graham also had eight points with Regina Lee's four points rounding out the Eagles scoring.

Flatwoods will have the home floor advantage, as they will host the district tournament, slated to get underway Monday.

T.W. Pioneers Rip Pennington Bobcats 66 - 48

The Bobcats traveled to Ewing, Va., last week, and had a long ride back home after getting ripped in a 66 48 loss to the Thomas Walker Pioneers.

After the Bobcats held their own in a 12-12 first quarter, they got burned by the fast breaking Pioneers in the second quarter when they were outscored 22-11. The Bobcats took the third quarter, but by only one point at 15-14. When the whistle blew to end the final stanza, Thomas Walker had outpointed Pennington 18-10 to make the final of 66-48.

Kim Davis has apparently gotten back into tip top shape, after her injury earlier in the season, as she burned the nets for 34 points. Missy Brooks scored 9 points, with no other Pioneer getting more than six. Thomas Walker shot just short of 52% from the charity stripe making 16 of 31 shots.

Pennington got 21 points from Sandra Ely and 10 from Kim Roberts. The Bobcats need to get tougher on defense, as they have been scoring fairly well, but are allowing too many points in the process.

In the tournament that starts Monday, a word to the district teams, the Pioneers will be ready so don't lay down, because they have the potential to go all the way. And they certainly have the desire to win at almost any time.

Score By Quarters:

Pennington	12	11	15	10-48
T. Walker	12	22	14	18-66

Individual Scoring:

Pennington [48] Ely 21, Roberts 10, Woodard 6, Lundy 4, Gilliam 3, Moon 3, James 1.

T. Walker [66] K. Davis 34, Brooks 9, E. Davis 6, C. Davis 5, Bailey 4, Warf 4, Middleton 2, Montgomery 2.

Thomas Walker Upsets Dryden 49-43

In an upset last Thursday, the Thomas Walker Pioneers, piled off the trick by upsetting the Dryden Crusaders 49 43 on the losers home floor.

The Pioneers led by three after the first rest stop, but saw Dryden go to the lockers with a two point lead at the half, behind the play of Robin Woods and Joyce Swain.

The Pioneers went to the last quarter with the lead, after a 16-10 advantage in the third quarter. The Crusaders got down by the final margin of six points and couldn't pull it out

Taking nothing from the Pioneers but had Cheryl Reasor and Vickie Kirk been able to play, the result may have been different. But the game is history, and now the Crusaders are probably going to have to reach the district finals in the tournament that starts Monday, to have a chance to win the second berth in the regional tournament, week after next.

Kim Davis poured in 19 points to lead the Pioneers. Missy Brooks added eight and Salley Bailey, seven. The Pioneers certainly have a shot at reaching the regionals if Reasor and Kirk can't play in the upcoming tournament. Even if both play, it wouldn't be a surprise to many if the Pioneers still won, because Thomas Walker seems to be getting stronger as the season winds down.

Dryden now 17-2 overall and 11-2 in the district got 14 points from Woods and 10 from Swain. Robinette had nine in the loss.

Score By Quarters:

T. Walker	14	7	16	12-49
Dryden	11	12	10	10-43

Individual Scoring:

T. Walker [49] K. Davis 19, Brooks 8, Bailey 7, Warf 5, E. Davis 4, C. Davis 4, D. Davis 2.

Dryden [43] Woods 14, Swain 10, Robinette 9, Long 7, Quillen 3.

Jonesville Squeaks By Flatwoods 45-42

In district action last Thursday night, the Twin Springs Titans defeated the Pennington Bobcats 54-43, with a big fourth quarter.

After being down by one at 11-10 in the first, Pennington went up by one at the halfway mark, and by two after three stanzas. Pennington was holding the lead behind the play and scoring punch of Sandra Ely. But in the fourth, Twin Springs outscored the Bobcats 22-9, to win by eleven points. Jo Ann Begley and Michelle Donelson were the big stars for the Titans, as they combined for 41 of the 54 points. Begley had 23 of the 41.

This win gives Twin Springs a season split with Pennington. The Bobcats beat the Titans earlier in the season at the Bobcat den 56 55.

The Bobcats were led this time around against Twin Springs by Ely's 22 points. Sabrina Woodard and Kim Roberts added eight points to the Bobcat attack.

Pennington will close out their season schedule tomorrow night, when Powell Valley invades the Bobcats. Powell Valley has already claimed the Lonesome Pine District crown.

Go out to see the Bobcats tomorrow night and give them the support that they need to make the game close and possibly win it. Powell Valley will be a heavy favorite.

Score By Quarters:

Jonesville Bulldogs Shoot Down Rye Cove 44-27

Last week's action on Tuesday saw the Jonesville Bulldogs remain tied for the district lead with Dryden, as Joe Robinson's Bulldogs rolled to their sixteenth win against two losses, by gunning down Rye Cove's Eagles 44-27.

In the opening quarter, both teams were fairly cold as only a total of ten points were scored, seven by Jonesville and three by the Eagles. Rye Cove went to the dressing room at the half with a upset on their minds, but the second half stopped that. The Bulldogs canned 16 points in the third quarter and held Rye Cove to just four, to take a 14 point lead to the final quarter. Jonesville also took the last eight minutes of play by a 13-10 margin.

Jonesville by winning, raises their overall record to 16-2. They stand 11-1 in the district. The Bulldogs were led by Dee Dee Brooks' 17 points. She definitely would have to be a strong candidate for player of the year in the district. Sharon Jerrell scored nine points, while Lisa Anderson and Sandy Willis got eight points each. Cindy Terry was limited to two points which rounded out the Bulldogs scoring.

Rye Cove got 11 points each from Neysa Osborne and Karen Hobbs. Kim Tipton, usually one of the Eagles top scorers, was held to two points. Rye Cove hit 7 of 12 free throws for 58.4%. Jonesville hit 3 of 5 for 60%.

The winning Bulldogs will close their regular season schedule tomorrow night, when they host the Pound Wildcats. The Cumberland district tournament will start at Flatwoods High School this coming Monday, November 2nd.

Score By Quarters:

Rye Cove	3	10	4	10	27
Jonesville	7	8	16	13	44

Individual Scoring:

Rye Cove (27) Osborne 11, Hobbs 11, Tipton 2, Carter 2, Johnston 1.

Jonesville (44) Brooks 17, Jerrell 9, Willis 8, Anderson 8, Terry 2.

Smiths Return From Western Trip

Ralph Smith and his wife, Ella and their youngest daughter, Liz have returned home from a wonderful trip out west.

The story begins a long time ago when Ralph Smith was serving in the Air Force at Wendover Air Force Base during World War II, in the years of 1944. Ralph returned home to spend a few days leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith in Keokee, while here he married Ella Henley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Henley of Imboden, Va. Part of their honey moon was a seven day train ride back to Wendover Air Force Base.

While Ralph was in the U.S. Service his wife, Ella was employed as a waitress for the Western Pacific Railroad.

Their first son, William C. (Billy) Smith was born on January 30, 1946 and when he was twenty-one days old Ralph and Ella Smith and baby son returned to Keokee, Va. to make their home here.

Ralph and Ella have six children and nine grandchildren, so now after thirty-seven years they decided to go on a vacation trip back to the places out west where they spent their early married life beginning on November 20, 1944.

This time the trip was different. Their daughter, Liz accompanied them. They began their journey on Labor Day and drove through the Southern route through Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and Albuquerque, New Mexico where their son, Billy had been born.

They were given a special pass at Kirkland Field to tour the Atomic bomber outfit.

Then they went to Flag Staff, Arizona; they toured the Grand Canyon and Glenn Canyon, Ariz., two days. Then went to Washington into Salt Lake, and the Hills Field Air Force Base in Utah.

There they visited at the home of their daughter, Teresa and her husband, Sgt. Gary Jones and their little daughter, Cristy Lynn. (Sgt. Gary Jones is the son of Bernie and Della Jones of Dryden, and Cristy Lynn is their only grandchild).

While visiting there Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and Liz, Sgt. and Mrs. Gary Jones and Cristy Lynn went on a picnic across the Salt Flats at Wendover Field and visited the Air Base there. Part of the foundations and hangers were still there after 37 years.

Then they returned to Salt Lake City to the home of Sgt. and Mrs. Jones. Their next visit was to Flight Line at Hills Air Base and there they were furnished with a private Army truck for their tour. They toured helicopters, the F. 16 Jet and the B. 141 Bomber, which was all very interesting.

Then they began their journey home returning part of the Northern route to Cheyenne, across to Denver, to Panhandle, and the route down through Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky and at last back home in Keokee.

They were tired but happy as they had relived the memories of 1944

THE ISSUE IS TRUST

Chuck Robb sticks by his words and beliefs.
He is not willing to say things simply to get votes.
He tells all Virginians the same thing—
even when it costs him votes.

ON TAXES: Chuck has made no irresponsible pledges on taxes. He is against a tax increase and has developed a comprehensive Economic Development Plan to avoid one.

His opponent has three plans for taxes—all different. First, he said he wanted a four percent increase in the tax on gasoline. Next, he said he would veto any tax increase. Now, he says he wants to erect toll gates on our roads.

ON SPENDING: Chuck Robb wants to stop the growth of government. He has said he will freeze government employment on the day he is inaugurated.

His opponent seems to say anything on spending. For instance, he pledged as attorney general to cut his office staff. But what happened was an $800,000 increase in budget and more bureaucrats on the payroll. This year he's making the same election-year promises. The kind of cuts he promises, Virginia doesn't need.

ON CRIME: Chuck Robb has pledged stiffer sentences for drug dealers, hardened criminals, and those using firearms to commit a crime. His idea is simple.

His opponent has confused the issue by drafting several different versions of a law enforcement plan. They all conflict. Some let drug dealers off with lighter sentences. One reduces the penalty for rape. Another cuts the jail time for house burglars.

WE THINK VIRGINIA WANTS A GOVERNOR WHO SPEAKS WITH ONE VOICE.

Herring Trial

bills, motel registrations, and testimony of Russell Cash (said to be the middleman of the murder plot who delivered pay-off from Herring to the hitman. The alleged hitman, Bernard Webb, was acquitted of the murder of Hill in the spring of 1981 and Cash is currently receiving immunity in a federal witness program.)

Herring's defense lawyer, George Cridlin, told the jury that there was "just no proof" that his client was guilty. Cridlin further said it was "scarey that the government asks to send a man to prison for life when there was no doubt of his innocence - no evidence to convict him on."

The most damaging parts of the tapes (which Herring steadfastly alluded to as altered) don't really say anything - they begin and end in the middle of a word or a sentence, said Cridlin. He added that if the 24 phone calls (of a total of 175 during that time period) presented by the prosecution were used to plan a murder, then they could have been plotting WWIII in the rest of them.

Cridlin attempted to discredit Cash, referring to him as "Hard - Luck Russell," and saying that Russell couldn't keep a job ("every place he went to work went broke or out of business").

Furthermore, said Cridlin, with Hill dead and Herring bankrupt, it looked strange that Cash could buy three airplanes. Defense allowed that Herring had some problems but that in the overall case "something stinks" - "Herring was too close to something." Cridlin said "all the pieces to this case don't fit and the truth will stand." He told a story about a pipeline. Then, leaving some words out, used it as an analogy of what could have happened with the tape.

As the afternoon wore on, waiting for the jury to return with a verdict, the courtroom clearly belonged to the defense as they waited with the defendant. Members of the press talked with Herring, who appeared poised, relaxed - sometimes sitting on the corner of a table, dangling his leg and dressed in a light brown, three-piece suit and yellow shirt.

David Summerfield, defense lawyer, allowed, "the hard part was the waiting ..."

During a personal interview yesterday, "R.L.", as he's called by friends at the Lee County Jail in Jonesville, told Powell Valley News that he has mixed emotions about the guilty verdict. He is bitter but also understands. He doesn't think the jury fully understood. He said he was also "very angry" even though he didn't show it - angry about the verdict and about Russell Cash's testimony. "I don't show my emotions," he said, "but, believe me, the anger was inside."

According to Herring, he and George Cridlin discussed on Monday the possibility of jury tampering, the one great fear of the defense.

Herring confirmed that he and his attorneys received a telephone call shortly after the verdict was read that will provide new evidence that will prove his innocence. William Spector, a former army intelligence officer, reportedly told Herring that a former GBI agent has confessed to the Hill murder. Herring says the GBI agent, now protected by the FBI, was hired by the Drug Enforcement Administration to kill Hill after he threatened to blackmail the Carter administration. Reportedly, Spector has promised to work with Herring. Herring's defense is expected to file a motion asking the court to set aside the verdict.

Spector is said to have run a car agency in New York and married a French girl involved in a drug ring. His secretary stated that Spector has been trying to break a major drug ring. His and his secretary's lives are reportedly in jeopardy after preparing material for the New York Select Committee on Crime.

Herring maintains David Hill was his friend and that if he had been the type of person who would kill Hill, he could have used his connections in South America to put Hill away in prison "until the statute of limitations runs out."

Herring praised the sheriff's department for their treatment of him and said the leniency of being a trusty, plus his legal studies, exercise and duties at the jail keep him busy. He says he has the full support of his family and former employees and receives letters from them all the time. Some of his office staff have promised to work with him in the future if conditions warrant that. He will stay in Lee County until something is resolved as he feels it will be in the near future.

On Monday (October 19), the fifth day of the trial, the confessed middleman in the 1977 murder said he received $20,000 from Herring to pay for the murder.

Russell Cash (granted immunity in return for his testimony against Herring and Bernard Chester Webb) was questioned for about three hours about his actions in 1977. Cash's testimony failed to lend enough evidence previously to persuade the conviction of Webb, a St. Charles coal miner. Webb was acquitted for the murder in early 1981.

Cash said he only received expense money from Herring for hiring the gunman and making the pay-offs. He said he had not arranged the scheme, but rather was "carrying messages ... being kind of stupid."

Herring had claimed the murder indictment against him was devised by government officials during the Carter administration as a means to cover-up Herring's role in the transfer of $10 million from Robert Vesco to high ranking administration officials. Cash testified that Herring said the pay-off money came from Vesco.

Tuesday's session (October 20) in court was the scene of a clean-cut, poised defendant, the only witness of the day, telling of having his life become a nightmare when the Carter administration learned of Herring's intentions to expose its involvement with Vesco.

Herring's defense attacked metaphors (in telephone wire-taps) allegedly used in discussing the murder plots; also a connection was sought between Cash's role in the murder and his ability to purchase three small airplanes in 1979. Cash said he made a small down--payment on the planes but had to forfeit them for failure to keep up the monthly payments. Herring defended telephone conversations about "contracts" as referring to legitimate business deals.

Several witnesses testified to Cash's whereabouts the four days preceding Hill's murder leading the prosecution to rest its

One of the witnesses testifying in Cash's behalf was Jim McKee, who was between jobs and frequently traveled with Cash. McKee is an iron worker from Stevenson, Alabama and was impressed by the secrecy of the trips to Lee County with Cash in December 1977

Cash agreed he had engaged Webb's aid as triggerman and later rode with McKee and Webb to Knoxville when Webb allegedly picked up David Hill at the airport. Inclement weather reportedly changed the original plan for Hill to arrive at Tri - City Airport.

Herring said Cash warned him not to reveal information about Hill's trip to Virginia. When Virginia State Police investigator M.A. Lunceford interviewed Herring on December 31, 1977 in his Albany, Georgia office about business ties with David Hill, Herring denied any knowledge about Hill's trip to Virginia to inspect mining equipment and a coal mine.

Herring inferred records being held by the government could show he lost a lot of money when Hill died. The newly formed Global Natural Resources fell through with Hill'd death. Many of the business deals Hill and Herring were involved in concerned the sale of heavy equipment in Costa Rica and the Bahamas. Hill also was negotiating with the Libyan government for fuel outlets in the U.S.

Herring said Dougherty County Attorney Spencer Lee, who knew President Jimmy Carter's chief of staff Hamilton Jordan, was his go - between with the Carter administration and Lee threatened to "alter the tapes" if Herring divulged the Carter - Vesco plot. Herring, in turn, was threatening them with an inter - relationship (between) Hill's death and the Carter - Vesco affair, he said.

The Carter - Vesco deal fell through when Hill attempted to blackmail Carter attorney Charles Kirbo in December, 1977, Herring said. Hill, and possibly Cash, wanted CIA clearance to smuggle drugs from South America to the U.S. in exchange for keeping quiet about the Vesco affair. Herring said he was involved in the scheme because he knew several officials in the Carter administration, including Carter aide Hamilton Jordan who lived down the street from Herring.

After listening to each conservation on the wire-taps made of his home and business, Herring noted alterations of interrupted conversations - incomplete words and sentences. In one conversation Herring claims GBI agents deleted, Russell Cash allegedly tried to persuade Herring to come to Virginia with David Hill.

Herring says there was no plot with Cash but rather that the business deal in Virginia needed to be completed before Christmas because Hill and Herring had planned a business trip to Miami and Panama that week.

The prosecution contends the killer, alias Eddie Lomar, picked Hill up at the airport but Herring says the finance representative was identified as Lomar. Herring said Lomar was not the man's real name. (Earlier, Cash had reportedly said Webb was Lomar.)

Commonwealth Attorney Cynthia Kinser asked the Carter - Vesco affair be struck as evidence because a link was not established by the defense to the Hill Murder. Judge Coleman overturned that motion saying it was crucial for the jury to have Herring's explanation.

Cridlin said the fact that Virginia State Police worked with federal authorities while investigating Hill's death connected them.

In Webb's statements to the jury on Thursday (October 22), Webb denied he killed Hill. He also said Herring had never offered him any money to commit the slaying. Webb reportedly though Herring should be acquitted. Reportedly, before Webb gave his testimony, he was served with a subpoena by two IRS agents for allegedly failing to file a federal income tax return in 1977.

The testimony of a Senate aide and a former foreman of a federal grand jury came through for Herring on Thursday.

Kim Pearson, an aide to Senator Oran Hatch, testified Herring's allegations have not been proven or disproven. Pearson, staff counsel on the senate subcommittee investigating the alleged Carter - Vesco scheme, said the committee is focusing on Herring's difficulties in appearing before the federal grand jury.

Also testifying for Herring Thursday was Ralph Ulmer, the forman of a past federal grand jury investigating the Vesco affair. Ulmer's testimony offered no enlightment on the murder charge, but did reveal the fact of Herring's appearance before a federal grand jury (concerned with the Carter - Vesco affair) and exposed the indignation Ulmer felt toward the Justice Department for its inept handling of the probe.

Joseph K. Judge, an FBI agent from Orlando, Florida, and formerly involved in the Washington field office investigation of the alleged government conspiracy theory, testified Friday that Herring's "documentation" was not substantiated. Judge said there were "slivers of truth in Herring's scheme" but that he had reviewed the files and found "no mention of the name David Hill." Herring's defense attacked Judge's validity, determining that Judge was only one of about 75 FBI agents who worked on the Vesco case and was not aware of all the evidence.

Herring's defense asked for and received 21 days in which to file written motions. The jury was dismissed. A statement was overheard in the courtroom that" ... if it takes 20 years, this thing won't be over till they get the one who did this ..."

Baled Burley Tobacco Eligible For Price Support

Price support will be available for all burley tobacco packed in bales from the 1981 and subsequent crops, according to Hoke Leggett, vice president of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation.

Leggett said price support will continue to be available on burley tobacco tied in "hands", the traditional manner.

CCC announced June 24 that it was preparing to take this action and asked for comments on the proposal. Leggett said the comments received indicated farmers could save money by packing burley tobacco for market in bales.

As an experiment, CCC began with the 1978 crop to make price support available on a small amount of burley tobacco packed in bales. In 1980, farmers were permitted to obtain price support on up to 25 percent of their burley tobacco marketed in this fashion.

As in the past, individual bales of burley tobacco are required to be identified by a uniform identification tag 1-5/8 inches wide by 3-1/4 inches long attached with a wire tie showing at least the following information: (1) warehouse registration number; (2) basket ticket number; and (3) number of bales of the lot.

Further information and a copy of the final regulatory impact analysis is available from Robert Tarczy, analysis division, room 3754-S, USDA-ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C., 20013, or phone (202) 447-6733.

LIFE HEALTH

The Next Move

Untold thousands of people throughout the world live a life of misery because "nothing can be done" to relieve the unhealthy conditions which have beset their bodies.

Symptoms prevail, in spite of repeated treatments of one kind or another.

Those sufferers know that good health results when all parts of the body are functioning normally; but they can find nothing which restores that normal function.

Dr. Glen Rumble Chiropractor

A simple, wise move could bring an end to a vast majority of the suffering the people of the world endure. In many cases, it's simply a matter of enlightenment. They just do not know of the science of chiropractic and the principle of adjusting the body's nervous system so the body can yield to nature's healing from within.

In many, many, cases, a scientific chiropractic examination followed by gentle, competent chiropractic adjustments can relieve nerve pressures which interfere with nature's proper function. By correcting the cause of the disorder, chiropractic makes it possible for nature to heal the affected parts by restoring normal nerve power.

Radiant health can result from one simple, wise move to chiropractic care. Another Health and Life Article from the Office of

VA Accepts Certified Statements

The Veterans Administration reminds veterans and their dependents that they shouldn't let lost documents prevent them from applying for VA benefits.

"Some veterans who can't locate birth or marriage certificates don't apply for benefits because they believe these documents are essential," VA regional director W. H. Highfill, Jr., said.

But, Highfill pointed out, VA accepts certified statements from applicants in instances where documents needed to establish eligibility for benefits are lost.

In the case of a marriage, Highfill said, this policy applies only to the first marriage for each partner, and there must be no contradictory information on file with the agency.

In years past, VA required formal documentation to support claims for compensation and education benefits for veterans, widows, and orphaned children.

SS Back Payments Limited

It is important for people who plan to apply for Social Security benefits to do so two or three months before they want benefits to begin, or, at least as soon as possible after they become eligible, R. L. Kelly, Social Security manager in Norton, said recently

This is because payments for months before the month the application is made are limited by law. The general rules are.

*Workers 65 and over, widows, widowers, and parents 62 and over Back payments are limited to no more than six months, but none before the month the person becomes 65 for workers, or 62 for widows, widowers, and parents

*Workers under 65 and widows and widowers under 62 in general, no payments can be made for months before the month of application.

*Disabled workers, widows, and widowers Back payments can be made for up to 12 months before the month of application, but not before the 6th full month of disability

Mr. Kelly said that people applying for benefits, especially those applying for reduced benefits before 65 for workers or before 62 for survivors should apply as soon as possible when they become eligible so they will not miss out on any possible benefit checks

Three Chickens In Every Pot

We are what we eat and what we eat may be as much the product of the test tube as the field and farm.

Take the chicken!

Back in 1930, the typical chicken was a tough, overaged bird. She didn't go to the pot until she stopped laying eggs. People ate an average of only 16 pounds of chicken apiece per year then.

Over the next 50 years, scientists bred a new kind of bird specifically for the dinner table--plump and tender. Agronomists developed higher yielding hybrid corn, resulting in a more plentiful supply of feed for poultry flocks. Nutritionists plotted perfectly balanced feeds complete with essential vitamins.

By 1980, scientists and good farm management had made it possible for one farmer to produce as many as 250,000 broilers a year. What's more, the modern poultry producer can raise this tenderer bird to eating size in six to seven weeks compared with the three to four months it took 50 years ageo.

The repercussions of the scientists' handiwork have been even greater on the farm than on the dinner table. Though we are eating four times as much chicken as our grandparents were, farmers are actually producing ten times as much chicken.

Most of the increase feeds the 100 million more Americans who make up the population today, and the rest--800 million pounds per year--is exported.

How U.S. Farm Exports Convert 1 Barrel Of Oil Into 10

American farm exports are transforming 1 barrel of oil into 10 barrels of oil.

This is the way it works.

In 1980, American farmers used the equivalent of 103 million barrels of oil to produce and ship the U.S. Agricultural commodities that were exported overseas.

U.S. farm exports generated $41 billion in cash receipts in 1980.

At the same time, this country spent $80 billion to buy 2.3 billion barrels of foreign oil to fill out U.S. energy requirements.

Consequently, American farm exports paid for slightly more than half of the oil imported into this country. In short, the 103 million barrels of oil used to grow and ship the farm products that were sold to other countries in 1980 made it possible to buy more than 1 billion barrels of imported oil. That's a 1 to 10 cost-benefit ratio.

That's how America's farmers turned 1 barrel of oil into 10.

Pennington FHA/HERO Learns Beauty Tips

Techniques for applying make-up were presented at the Pennington FHA/HERO meeting last week by Mrs. Elizabeth Weaver.

Four members, Beth Daughtery, Lisa Hall, Ella Mae Lee and Michelle Pauley volunteered to participate in the program.

The girls were given a sample tray of cosmetics and with the use of mirrors they applied these cosmetics as Mrs. Weaver explained step by step the process of making ones self have a natural beauty.

She discussed the importance of first giving your face a thorough cleansing. She also expressed the fact that today many teenagers choose not to wear make up and in this case their personal budget would be smaller.

Paula Ewing won the door prize.

ODP Customers To Benefit From New Transmission Facilities

Construction is expected to be completed early next year on a new transmission line and related facilities which will strengthen reliability of service to customers of Old Dominion Power Company and also provide additional capacity for growth in the area.

Harold Armsey, general manager of ODP at Norton, said that 70 percent of the towers for the 16 miles of 500 kilovolt (KV) line has been completed and 30 percent of the conductor is in place. Construction began last January on the line, which will cost an estimated $6.4 million.

The line is being built between Pocket, Virginia, and the Virginia-Tennessee border where it will connect with the existing high voltage grid of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

A substation, which will cost an estimated $5,000,000, is being constructed near Pocket in conjunction with the transmission line. Armsey said the substation will provide terminal facilities for this line, as well as for a double circuit (161-69KV) to Imboden which is scheduled for completion in 1983.

"The substation will provide the equivalent of a power plant in the area, without the physical presence of such a facility," Armsey said.

"We look forward to the line being in service early next year," he added, "because it will improve reliability of service and provide additional capacity for the growth that is expected in southwestern Virginia.

"We foresee tremendous growth occurring in ODP's service area," Armsey added. "The coal industry, for example, is demonstrating its future by making huge investments in new plant, and the electric utilities must also make tremendous investments if they are to meet the demand for electricity in the future."

Armsey said that ODP is unique, "in that we are a small utility by comparison, but we are also part of a national power grid. This is important to reliability of service because interconnections with other utilities provide a ready source of backup power when needed."

At its western end, the new line will eventually connect with Kentucky Utilities Company, which also has interchange agreements with 10 miles of high voltage line being built by TVA to connect with its power plant at Phipps Bend.

Armsey said that ODP's new transmission line will have remote switching capabilities through a central dispatching center operated for the KU/ODP system. He said this feature will make it possible to shorten the duration of service interruptions by automatically switching to an alternate source.

The stockpile of materials needed for the line included 1,200,000 feet of conductor; 1,350 tons of steel; and 21,000 insulators.

"Sizeable expenditures are required at this time for ODP to be ready with the power when it's needed for new homes, new businesses, industrial expansion and for more jobs for the people of southwestern Virginia," Armsey concluded.

Mineral oil should not be used to make salad dressing. It interferes with absorption of fat-soluble vitamins like A,D and K and should not be used on or in foods.

Bob Sword of Jonesville brought to our attention a reprint of the Civil War Chronicle dated January 24, 1864 in which the following story appeared:

Gets 27 Wagons

Jonesville, Va., Jan. 3—This mountain town in southwest Virginia shook with artillery and rifle fire today in a short, but violent, fight. Confederate cavalry under Gen. William E. Jones clashed with Union troops escorting a wagon train.

In bitter cold weather, that took the life of at least one Confederate soldier today and brought frostbite to many more, the Southern troops routed the train escort and captured 27 six-mule team wagons and three artillery pieces. Union casualties totaled 383.

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Trading up a storm at a refund convention

By June Fuller

My neighbor Wendy and I drove for eight hours to reach Rochester by 5 p.m. Friday evening for the start of the first New York State Refunders Convention.

This was Wendy's first convention. Before we started out she had a case of pre-convention jitters.

"What should I wear? What should I bring with me?" Wendy asked. "And how do you trade refund forms at a convention?"

"Just dress casually and comfortably," I told her. "Bring along all of your extra refund forms in a photo album. Put all of your extra coupons in a big envelope. I'll pack a big picnic basket full of food for the late-night trading sessions."

You might think that all those hours on the highway would have worn us out but just walking into the hotel and seeing other refunders was enough to pep us up. We dropped the luggage in our room and charged back downstairs.

At the convention registration desk, Wendy and I each received a big plastic bag full of refund publications, refund forms, coupons and other goodies. But there was no time to look them over.

We could hardly restrain ourselves as we walked into the convention hall and first gazed upon 200 refunders scurrying from table to table trading up a storm.

"Where do we start?" Wendy asked, nervously.

I spotted a table with several empty seats and nudged her in that direction. We tried to look casual as we quick-stepped across the room. We both sat down, smiled and waited for an opening. Finally an album of forms became free.

"Is anyone looking at that album?" I asked as I pushed my own album to the center of the table.

Wendy watched and soon did the same thing.

We traded refund forms one-for-one; when one of the others found a refund form in my album that she wanted, I tried to find one that I wanted in hers.

Wendy was all rapturous smiles.

"I love it, I love it," she whispered to me. "There are more refund forms here than I have ever seen in my whole life!"

Soon we were ready to move to another table and start trading all over again. As the evening wore on I collected the names of other conventioneers so I could trade with them by mail in the future.

By the time Judy Caruso, the convention organizer, brought the first trading session to a close around midnight, Wendy and I had barely managed to trade with about a third of the other conventioneers.

"Do we have to go to sleep now?" Wendy moaned.

"Sleep! Who's talking about sleep?" I answered.

Back on the 14th floor where most of the conventioneers had their rooms, the trading continued until the wee hours. Can you imagine refunders wandering through the hotel corridors clutching albums and suitcases full of refund forms until 3 a.m.?

I'll tell you more about the convention in next week's column.

Here's a refund form to write for: Toni Lightwaves $1 Cash Refund Offer, P.O. Box 4429, Maple Plain, Minn. 55348. This offer expires Dec. 31, 1981

Spider Hunting Warmth

Spiders are common household pests in the fall. After spending the summer catching flies and months, adult spiders look for a safe and warm place to spend the winter.

Homeowners frequently encounter the eight-legged critters around widows, doors, houseplants and in basement and garage clutter.

William H. Robinson, Extension entomologist at Virginia Tech, said that most of us have terrible misconceptions about spiders. "They're pictured to be poisonous, even deadly, and likely to attack at any time," he laughed. "The only dangerous spiders we have in Virginia are the brown recluse spider and the black widow spider."

The brown recluse is not common. The black widow is common but reports of its biting people are infrequent.

"Spiders for the most part are beneficial insects," said Robinson, "eating other spiders and insects."

There are a number of spiders commonly found around houses. They include:

--Golden garden spiders have a rather flat head and thorax region covered with whitish hair. These spiders are black with yellow markings.

--Large orb weavers are found about homes in the fall. Their legs are usually shorter and their body not as big as the golden garden spider.

--Wolf spiders are usually large, hairy spiders that are not associated with webs. They look much worse than they really are.

--Jumping spiders do just that - jump! They are small, usually black with red or white markings, and often found in windows They rarely bite.

--House spiders have "dirty" white and gray markings on the abdomen. They build complicated webs in corners, under tables, chairs, etc.

--Sheet web spiders have a pair of dark bands across their yellowish head-thorax and abdomen region. They are common on shrubs and weeds around the house

Robinson advised that spider control is best done on a one to one, as needed basis. A general spray for spiders is not recommended unless the infestation seems severe. "Tolerate what you can, spray with an aerosol what you can't," he said.

For more information on spiders and other insects, contact your local Extension office.
